EARLY DATA ON PICKENS COUNTY, ALABAMA

Two great explorers walked upon the soil of (now) Pickens County, Alabama Bienville and DeSoto.

Pickens County was formed from a part of Tuscaloosa County, while Alabama was still a Territory. Alabama was admitted into the Union on March 2, 1819. The County of Pickens was made a county in the second Session of the new state - December 19, 1820.

The first Court was held in the house of Jacob Dansby, near Pickensville, which town remained the county seat until 1830 when Carrollton was made the permanent seat.

The first election preecinet was held at the house of _____Cox, near Coldfire Creek, others were established as the County grew, and the next voting place was at the house of Charles M. Holland.

A majority of the early emigrants were from South Carolina, from the upper District of York, Fairfield and Abbeville, especially the ones who settled near Pickensville, Yorkville and Bridgeville. And before 1820 there were more new comers from North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and even from Virginia. All of them mostly from the most respectable families of those states.

Early Methods of Transportation in Pickens County

The first settlers in Pickens County had to come down the Old Indian trails; those from South Carolina came thru Tennessee, then down the Tennessee River thru North Alabama. Some came over the Military Roads cut by the United States troops during the Indian Wars. These settlers came down from Ditto's Landing in North Alabama, to Mud Town (now Birmingham), thru Jones Valley into Tuscaloosa County, part of which was made into Pickens County, then across Sipsey swamp to a bluff half a mile north of the Tombigbee River. By 1823 the population of Pickens County was said to have been 5,000. The wealthier ones settled on the broad terraces along the creeks and rivers. The Tombigbee River had long been an important highway. Steamboats soon made their trips on the Tombigbee, later some of these boats were destroyed by explosions or collisions. Bad roads limited the contacts of many of the settlers, but soon the roads were widened from trails to serve vehicles, which soon brought mail services, carried by a four-horse post-coach three times a week from Tuscaloosa to Pickenville in 1837.

Ways of traffic changed with the years, by 1865 the steamboats had disappeared from the rivers, and never again regained its pre-war (C.S.A.) status.

There was not a foot of train rail in Pickens County until 1897, though efforts had been made for rail service before and just after the War Between the States. The one begun by the Southern General, Nathan B. Forrest never reached Pickens County. The final advent of the railroad brought changes, towns developed along the tracts. Time marched on bringing drastic changes - now (1960) with paved roads, automobiles, airplanes - transportation has changed again there is not a single passenger train serving Pickens County, though there is some freight service.

About 1898 only two preachers were ordained there - Matthew Lyons and R. M. Humphries. Matthew Lyon was first a printer, then editor of the "Register", next a lawyer and Registrar in Chancery, afterwards a clergyman and later a teacher.

OBITUARY

Died at Reform, Pickens County, Alabama on the morning of the 31 st day of March 1857. after a protracted illness, Mrs. Elizabeth Gardner, consort of Daniel Gardner, Esq. The subject of this obituary was born the 9th day of March 1792 in Fairfiled District South Carolina and removed to this county in 1832, where she has since resided, She has been a member of the Baptist Church for the last 26 years and had the privilege of seeing all her children become members, with the exception of one, who died when a youth. In the death of Mrs. Gardner, her husband has been deprived of a kind and affectinate wife, her children of a fond and devoted parent; her servants of a good mistress and Society of a useful member. She expressed to the writer of this-who was frequently with her during her last illness-her willingness to died and preferred death to recovery. Thus when her work was done and as with humblw submission to the will of the Lord - she was preparing to move from her earthlly residence to another spherep the message came from Heaven saying "Come up higher." The church on earth has lost a praying member, but the Church Triunphant has received a new leaf and a new voice in singing the praises of the Lord."

THE DUNCAN HOTEL

The Duncan Hotel is said to have been built by Jim Rozell in 1870-80 and one of the last historic land marks of early Reform. It had 20 large rooms and wide verandas and was owned and operated by Thomas Jefferson and Eliza Duncan for more than 50 years.

T. J. DDuncan owned the three main hotels in the county, the other at Aliceville and Carrollton, at the same time and never let the arrival of guests interfere with his checker game. He would point to the register, with "Sign your name here-go upstairs and pick you a room." One with no baggage - a dollar in advance. If he found someone to play checkers with him all night, he wa ready to announce breakfasr with-"Come and get it." When the railroads brough more guests, and if they had to sleep on the floor, he still charged the regular rate $1.00 per night.

One of the present owners, Mrs. F. L. Orr says people still come asking for the good food Mrs. Duncan served. Mayor W. E. Farris and F. L. Orr, the present owners~~now~~, only offer room service.

One of the oldest houses in Pickens County, is the Stinson home, in the Spring Hill Community. The house was built about 1840 by a Mr. King and was purchased by the Stinson family before the War Between the States. Mr. and Mrs. Neal Stinson and Miss Sarah Mae Stinson are the ~~third~~ and fourth generations to reside there. It was made of heart pine and put together with pine and oak pegs.

FOX HUNTING COUNTRY

Palmetto, eight miles north of Reform, Alabama is one of the best fox hunting spots. Its hardly more than a wide spot on the road on Highway #17. There used to be a Post Office there until John H. Blankhead ran for the U. S. Senate and promised the voters they would have mail service right to their front door.

Palmetto has 150 inhabitants and almost as many dogs, but not many more people than when it was first settled in 1819. Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson were the first settlers there. Their son, Dr. B. F. Wilson was a member of the Alabama Senate in 1857.

The Basel Story family and Dr. Sam Hill, were two of the early arrivals in 1820. Rollin Richardson's father gave the town its name - from where he came - "Palmetto, South Carolina."

Old Trinity Methodist Church is where the old time camp meetings are still carried on. Mt. Tabor Baptist is the other church.

Palmetto was an educational center long before the War Between the States. The school that stood on Academy Hill was operated for several years after that war. Today the Palmetto High School is rated as one of the best in Pickens County. Near the school on a cold night the wail of the fox hounds may sound echoing thru the pine thickets just back of the school. The Palmetto Men's Club is planning to incorporate the town, but the residents still live an unhurried life - saying - "We live longer, that way."
