The story of this parish census is interesting. Its inception really dates back to an act of the memorable Continental Congress. At a session held Tuesday, December 26, 1775, "The Congress took into consideration the report of the Committee on the State of the Treasury, and thereupon came to the following resolutions:

"Whereas an estimate hath lately been formed of the public expence already arisen, and which may accrue in the defence of America, to the 10 day of June next, in pursuance whereof this Congress, on the 29 day of November, resolved that a farther sum of three millions of dollars be emitted in bills of credit,

Resolved, Therefore that the thirteen United Colonies be pledged for the redemption of the bills of credit so directed to be emitted.

That each colony provide ways and means to sink its proportion of the said bills, in such manner as may be most effectual, and best adapted to the condition, circumstances, and equal mode of levying taxes in each colony.

That the proportion or quota of each respective colony be determined according to the number of inhabitants, of all ages, including negroes and mulattoes in each colony.

That it be recommended to the several assemblies, conventions, or councils, or committees of safety of the respective colonies, to ascertain, by the most impartial and effectual means in their power, the number of inhabitants in each respective colony, taking care that the lists be authenticated by the oaths of the several persons who shall be entrusted with this service; and that the said assemblies, conventions, councils, and committees of safety, do respectively lay before this Congress a return of the number of inhabitants of their respective colonies, as soon as the same shall be procured."¹

In response to this resolution the General Assembly of Connecticut at its May session, 1776, enacted,

"That the selectmen in the respective towns in this Colony, at or before the first day of September next, shall take and transmit to his Honor the Governor a particular and exact account of all the persons in their respective towns in this Colony, as well negroes or slaves for life as white persons, distinguishing the number of those who are under the age of twenty years from those who are above that age, the sexes, or whether married or single, those in the militia, and all able bodied men who do not belong to the militia, also all those who are now in actual service, thereby to enable his Honor to prepare a compleat answer to a letter lately received from the Hon^{ble} John Hancock, Esq^r, President of the Continental Congress²; and that this act be forthwith printed, and distributed by the Representatives in the present Assembly³; and that the account or whole number of the persons in each town be attested on oath by the selectmen thereof, to have been faithfully and truly made and completed."⁴

² This letter cannot be found. The one sent to the General Court of Massachusetts reads as follows:

"Philadelphia 24 Jan^r 1776

Hon:^{ble} Gentlemen

I have the honor to transmit you several Resolutions pass'd in Congress, to which beg leave to refer you — The Money orderd in consequence of the Accounts you were pleased to transmit to your Delegates, sets off this day, of w:^{ch} Mr Cushing is so kind as to take charge. I hope it will arrive safe, and that the conduct of your Delegates in this instance will meet your Approbation —

As I am now called upon to attend public bussiness, I beg leave to refer you to Mr Cushing for further particulars —

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season I have the honour to be, Gent:
Your most obed:^t Serv:^t

JOHN HANCOCK President "

Hon. The Assembly

³ Mr. Bates, the librarian of the Connecticut Historical Society, has called my attention to the fact that the accounts of Ebenezer Watson of Hartford show that he printed for the Colony a "Resolve for numbering the people of this colony," and also "Additions to resolve for numbering" [the people of this colony], by the middle of June, 1776.

⁴ Colonial Records of Connecticut, Vol. XV, pp. 312 and 313.

It was in pursuance of this resolution that Josiah Willard (Aug. 9, 1739—April 1, 1818), a member of one of the oldest and most influential families in Newington, took the census of the parish.

A few years ago, the original manuscript containing the census from which my father, the late Roger Welles, transcribed the copy here printed, was in the possession of Mr. William A. Willard of Hartford, but is now unfortunately missing.

One or two other facts however in regard to taking the census in Connecticut, we do know.

The original resolution presented to the Lower House, with the exception of the precise date and the last clause which were added in the Upper House, was "Submitted by us your Honor's Humble Sev^{ts}."

"Jed ^h Elderkin Daniel Sherman Marshf ^d . Parsons Oliver Stanley"	}	Comm ^{ee}

Of this Committee Jedidiah Elderkin, Deputy for Windham, was also a Member of the Council of Safety, Daniel Sherman was Deputy for Woodbury, Marshfield Parsons, Deputy for Lyme and Oliver Stanley, Deputy for Wallingford.

The scheme according to which the census should be taken, is outlined in Document 110, Volume IV, entitled Revolutionary War, in the Archives at the State Library, Hartford.

As some may be curious to know what it was, an exact copy is here given:—

How faithfully Josiah Willard performed his task can be seen by turning to his census.

The missing dates supplied by me and printed in italics, are to be found, unless otherwise stated, in the Wethersfield Records of Births, Marriages and Deaths. A few other facts have been inserted which, it is believed, will enhance the value of the census to the genealogist and local historian.

PRIVATE RECORD OF DEATHS 1784-1795

The "Annals of Newington" show that the deaths entered on the records of the Congregational Church there, are missing from August 31, 1772, to November 23, 1804.

A private record of deaths during that interval in the possession of M. Lewis Stoddard of Newington, is hereunder given: it is unfortunate that the list is so meagre:—

Seth Kilborn's wife died Feb. 22, 1784¹
 Penelope Camp died April 15, 1784
 Jonathan Curtis died June 5, 1784
 Eunice Andrus died Jan'y 23, 1785
