ENGLISH GOODWIN FAMILY PAPERS

being material collected in the search for the ancestry of

WILLIAM and OZIAS GOODWIN

Immigrants of 1632
and Residents of Hartford, Connecticut.

VOLUME I.

1921

PREFACE.

For several years searches were made in England in the attempt to trace the ancestry of William and Ozias Goodwin, early emigrants to New England, and who were of the company that settled the town of Hartford, Connecticut.

As an indication of the extensive researches made, it may be stated that abstracts were taken from 255 parish registers in 23 counties and from 1900 wills and administrations in the principal Probate Court, the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, and of the courts in 33 counties, also from other numerous sources as stated in the list of contents.

Among those engaged in the search were Col. Joseph L. Chester, Rev. Augustus Jessopp, D.D., William Brigg, Joseph J. Muskett, M.D., Oswald Barron, of England, and Capt. Charles H. Townshend, Henry F. Waters, Lothrop Withington and Frank Farnsworth Starr of America.

Of those above named, Mr. Starr is supposed to be the only one now living and to him has been entrusted the task of arranging the material and supervising the printing thereof. As he saw only a very small part of the records that were examined he should not be held responsible for any errors that may appear in these abstracts.

As a result of these investigations it is now known that William Goodwin was twice married. His first wife, to whom he was married November 7, 1616, was Elizabeth White, sister of John White of Hartford, Conn., and Hadley, Mass., and also of the wives of Joseph Loomis and John Porter of Windsor, Conn., as shown by entries on pages 37, 43, and 44 of this work. His second wife was Susannah, probably widow of Rev. Thomas Hooker of Hartford, Conn., and to whom Goodwin was married after December 9, 1654.*

On page 478 is a fac-simile of the signature of William Goodwin as a witness to the will of Samuel Emery of Black Notley, Essex county, England which was made April 20, 1627.

* County Court Record, vol. 2, pp. 59-61, State Secretary's Office, Hartford.

Goodspeed-3500 (3.Vols)

The reader will notice the similarity of this signature to those shown on page 40 of "The Goodwins of Hartford, Conn." Black Notley is only one and one half miles from Braintree where Goodwin is supposed to have resided at that date.

On page 1123 is a document showing the transfer in June, 1632, by John "Tailcott" and wife Dorothy, William "Goodwyn" and wife Elizabeth, of lands in Braintree and the adjoining parish of Bocking. In 1632 Trinity Sunday came on May 27. Also on pages 1174-77 will be seen extracts from the Commissary Court of Essex and Herts concerning William Goodwin, William Lewis, John Steele, John Talcott and William Wadsworth, all of whom later became residents of Hartford, Connecticut.

The English material has been found so extensive that a careful index has been made to render it easily accessible.

WILSON.

On the south side of the Vestry Door is a brass with the following inscription:—

Ephitaphium Anne Willson

Quoe.

An erthly lyffe with erth on erth, nott ledd in erthly wyse,
Now erth in erth doth lye a heape tyll erth frome erth aryse,
Nott soule but corps dyd yeld to death: now deadly fury past,
Eternall lyffe the soule enjoyes and fame in death doth laste,
What parent or what place of byrth: Myles Wilson, brystow
Towne,

In plesaunt place from worships race descend the daughter downe.

Lett place gyve place, lett parent passe: go fame whilest brithe is riffe.

Sownd once agayne thy troumpe of prayse: comend her godly lyffe,

Oh prayses yeld, for death and lyffe of her that lyves by fame,
Now skyes the soule, the grave ye corps, this stone conteyns her name.

Obiit 12 Noveber.

1569.

It will be seen that the above is an acrostic, the first letters of the lines making up the name Anne Wilson. The entry of the burial is found in the Register for 1569 "November, Ann Wilson the 20th day."

ON WALL OF CHANCEL:

(Mourning figure)

Beneath this marble are deposited the remains of

HARVEY GOODWIN ESQ.,

Attorney at law.

Soundness of judgement, and strictest integrity

a peculiar suavity of manners,

the humble faith of a Christian,

a heart overflowing with benevolence,

and a life given to deeds of mercy and charity,

were the characteristics of the man,

whose loss the town of Lynn deplores

and to whom more than 200 of his friends

anxious to perpetuate the lesson of his virtues have united to erect this monument of their esteem.

He died on the 16th of April 1819. Aged 63 years

J. J. Raven, D.D.

At the west end of this church, parts within the Tower, and covered here and there with benches are two flat stones of early 17th century work with wide marginal inscriptions, on each is a shield very much worn, but the fesse is perfectly visible, and in the base of one is also clearly to be distinguished "three ——— heads erased." They may be lions or anything else. I notice in Burke the following. "Gooding, Gooden or Goodwin of Whershed, Deback and Cheffield, county Suffolk. Or a fesse between six lions heads erased gules." With the usual allowance for bad spelling, I presume he means Whersted, Debach and Charsfield.

- I. Shield, much worn, of Goodwyn. "Here lyeth the Body of ——— youngest sonne of Robert Gooding ——— the 26th of January —39 (1639?).
- II. Shield much worn of Goodwyn. ——— Richard Gooding son of Robert Gooding who departed ———. Beneath the shield of this are some additional inscriptions much worn ——— "——— ding, son of the said Richard ——— who departed this life ——— 32."

Just outside in the yard, eastward of the south porch lies a stone evidently cast out of the church which has the wide marginal inscription and shield like the others, the latter also much worn.

- III. Shield much worn of Goodwyn. "Here lyeth the Body of — Robert Gooding late of this parish, Saltfiner, who departed this lyfe the xxvii day of August 1618, Aetatis 80."
(a long verse of poetry on this tomb)

"And whereas she promised to give me a hundred poundes at the daie of hir mariage and a hundred poundes within one yere towards the mariage of my daughters and Gwynne hir friende promised the performance of the same as I haue a bill of his hande to shewe for the performance of the same and that he wolde se it performed if that I wolde give him a Satten dublett which he hath received in earnest to performe his promise and as he further promised in the fleete before my cosen Yonge and one Smithe and in consideracon of the same I made hir an obligacon by the handes of Mighell Locke and I and my sonne bounde vnto her in two thousandes poundes that she shoulde haue all my lande out of the citie of London after my disceas and my wyves that shalbe at the houre of my deathe. This was done the night before they were married and delivered it as our two dedes vpon hir promises that she wolde pay vnto me the said two hundred poundes which she never did, nor noe peny thereof, but hath bestowed that litle she had vpon hir gownes of tuffte taffeta and kyrtles of satten and vpon sumptuous apparrell of hir husbnde in rydinge and roninge a brode and not to be ruled and to lyve with me as one of my children and familie and thus has she vndone hir husbnde and spent that litel she had which was but fortie poundes and xliij<sup>li</sup> came to hir handes from Mr. Alderman Harvey and from Mr. Parry which was all to litle to pay there riotous doings and charges so that I haue spent on them over and aboue six score poundes in redie money for the payment of wch I solde twentie poundes a yere in London for the discharge of the same, and when they sawe I beganne to cut them shorter she was gonne And therefore the bonde I made is not my dede and voide in lawe so sone as they were married, and although it were voide in lawe by reason she was the next daie married yet it is not voide in truthe and honestie if that she had paide me the saide two hundred poundes according to hir faithfull promise and in that consideracon I made the bonde and ment as truelie to a made it good if that she had paide the mony for the mariage of my daughters accordinglie for her mony she hathe married my son and for hir bonde she muste paie me two hundred poundes if she can recouer hir bonde which was not delivered as my dede vnlesse I had the mony accordinglie she knowinge by hir counsell before she was married the bonde to be voide as sone as the were married and that I might put them oute of my dore the next daye for aniethinge conteyned in that bonde I confesse the same and said what assurance haue I for my monie youe may cosen me thereof after you haue married my sone and paie me never a grote. I do not think ye wolde so doe, and she saide no god for byd, so saide I god for byde that I should turne youe out of my dores and to give my landes from my sonne and heire well saide she I will truste yo and I saide to hir againe that I wolde truste hir all tho I should lose all and yet I do not think so as appered for w<sup>t</sup> in sixteene daies after they were maried I bestowed sixscore poundes in furnishinge on them what reason were that after my decease and my wifes and hir husbandes, that she should haue an enioyne all my landes out of the cite of London during hir lyfe lease lande onlie excepted from all my children and she having none and not to pay me the saide two hundred poundes she promised for the marriage of my other daughters and therefore without payment of ij<sup>Cli</sup> to be distributed amonge my daughters vnmaried My will is that she shall haue noe assurance of lyving for terme of hir life after our deceasses vnles the lawe doe give it hir, and if the lawe doe give it hir then I trust the same lawe will give my saide daughters that are vnmarried the CC<sup>li</sup> with the damages for the withholding of the same euer synce which somes of money so recou'ed i frely give nowe among all my daughters porcion porcion like as well to them that are maryed as to them that are unmaryed anythinge in this will to the contrarie notwithstanding for she shall nowe truste to hir husbandes goodness, and myn she haue loste." Lease of Redinges not to be sold but to wife Anne Goodwyn paying Bishop of london his rent and to three daughters Jane Goodwyn, Dorrage Goodwyn and Margret Goodwyn £60 each, also ditto to Rychard Kynge and John Kinge my daughter two sonnes, also £60 to my daughter Whihill and her childe, all to be paide in fyvetene yeres and after said £300 is paide out of Redings, executors to make no forfeitures and to make rent £25 a yeare, the lease to sonne William Goodwyn if he be no letter or disturber of his mother and sisters but mayntayne them to his power etc. As to landes to sone William Goodwyn for life, farme house, Berehouse, myll house, barne and stable, ingresse, egresse and regresse, to orcharde on west side of same house and the little felde adioynning orcharde had with the Berehouse, garden winter felde, Chappell felde, hill felde, great Grove adioynning the hope yarde, the hop yarde with bottome newe stocked called Goodwyns vale, two feldes next Hollicks with wood landes, all on North side of Muswell grete Capitall House.
