INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

Although the Swedes were not the original discoverers of the Delaware Bay and River, they were the first colonists who made a permanent settlement on its western shore. Henry Hudson, under a commission from the Dutch East India Company, having failed to find a nearer route to China by the Northern Seas, turned his course southward to explore the coast of North America. In the prosecution of this object, he sailed into the Delaware Bay, above Cape Henlopen, on the 28th of August, 1609, but, believing the navigation to be dangerous on account of sand-bars, did not go up the river. In the following month he anchored off Manhattan Island, and subsequently ascended the river which still bears his name. In October, of the same year, he returned to Holland with a report and chart of his discoveries. In the next year, 1610, some merchants of Amsterdam, acting as partners, freighted a ship and sent her to Manhattan to trade with the natives. This adventure proving profitable, they obtained from the States-General exclusive authority for four years to trade on the North River and its vicinity. In 1614, the Dutch built Fort Amsterdam on the southern point of Manhattan, and, at a later period, Fort Orange on an island near Albany. At these places they enjoyed a monopoly of trade with the Indians for several years. In 1621, the States of Holland granted a charter for twenty-four years to the West India Company, with exclusive powers and privileges. The business of the company was commercial. To successfully prosecute it, colonization was necessary. Hitherto the Dutch had only established trading-posts in America; but from this time efforts were made to settle the country, both on the Hudson and the Delaware,* or South River, as it was then called. It was under the auspices of this Company that the first Dutch colonists landed on the shores of the Delaware, in 1623. They came from Holland under the leadership of Cornelius May. They brought with them merchandise and the means of defense, and sailed up the river as far as Gloucester Point, New Jersey, about four miles

* So called in honor of the English peer of that name who entered the bay one year after its discovery by Hudson.

south from Philadelphia. Here May landed and built Fort Nassau. This adventure was not profitable. De Vries, it is conjectured, came over from Holland in the spring of 1631, with a ship and a yacht, laden with cattle, grain, seeds and agricultural implements. His people settled near Cape Henlopen, on Lewes Creek, which he named Hoorn-kill, probably after Hoorn, a port in north Holland. He built a trading-house, or fort, and leaving one of the emigrants in command returned home. This colony was destined to be of short duration. Soon after the departure of De Vries, a quarrel arose between the Dutch and the Indians, which speedily terminated in the slaughter of all the former, thirty-two in number.

De Vries came over again in 1633, to see the charred remains of his fort on Lewes Creek and the bones of his murdered countrymen, and sailed up to Fort Nassau, only to find it in the possession of the natives, its former occupants having mostly removed over to Fort Amsterdam. Thus, it will be seen that from the date of Hudson's discovery, 1609, up to the time of De Vries' second visit, every attempt of the Dutch to plant a colony on the Delaware had ended in failure and disappointment. Their settlements on Manhattan Island, and on the North River, in the meantime, had been more prosperous, and continued to grow in population and wealth until all their possessions in America, called New Netherlands, were finally surrendered to the English, under the treaty between the States-General and England, of the 9th of February, 1674.

Gustavus Adolphus, the soldier-king of Sweden, and the champion of the Protestant cause in Europe, in the early part of the seventeenth century, had projected a plan of sending out a colony to America, which he did not live to carry into execution, having fallen in the battle of Lutzen, in 1632, in the zenith of his fame; but his distinguished Chancellor, Oxenstiern, faithful to the memory of his king, and having confidence in the success of the enterprise, prevailed on Queen Christina, the daughter of Gustavus, to give it her patronage. Peter Minuit, who had been Governor of New Amsterdam, and had lately quarrelled with the Dutch Company and been dismissed from his office, was selected to take charge of the expedition, and under his direction two vessels, the "Key of Calmar" and the "Griffin," were equipped for the service. They were stored with provisions, with arms and ammunition, and with merchandise for trade. They arrived in the early spring of 1638, and sailed up the Delaware. The colonists disembarked at "The Rocks," on Minquas Creek, where they at once erected a fort, naming it, in honor of their youthful Queen, Fort Christina.

By the public records at Stockholm, it appears that in 1640, several companies of emigrants left Sweden for the new colony. One ship, called the Fredenburg, laden with men, cattle, and implements of husbandry, was licensed by the Swedish authorities to proceed to New Sweden, as they called the country on the west side of the Delaware. Peter Minuit, the first Governor, died in 1641, and was succeeded by Hollendare, a native Swede and a soldier by profession, who was soon followed by John Printz, a lieutenant-colonel in the service of the Queen. Governor Printz came out with a little squadron of two ships of war and a transport, having on board soldiers and a large number of emigrants, and arrived at Christina on the 15th of February, 1643. In seeking a location for his colony he found a spot, a short distance above where Chester now stands, called by the Indians, Tenacong, since known as Tinicum, and, still later, as The Lazaretto. In his commission he was styled Governor of New Sweden. His instructions, dated at Stockholm, August 15, 1642, point out, in detail, his official duties. Among other things, he is directed:

"1st. To promote, by the most zealous endeavors, a sincere piety towards Almighty God, in all respects. To maintain the public worship according to the doctrines and rites of the National Church. To support a proper ecclesiastical discipline. To urge instruction and virtuous education of youth and children. To administer justice according to Swedish laws in decision of controversies, and penalties on offenders—even capital, on atrocious malefactors—but not without a scrupulous examination, and the approbation of his counsellors, whom he was to choose amongst the wisest and best men in the colony. To preserve, so far as practicable, the manners and customs of Sweden, accommodating them, in some cases, to existing circumstances. To promote diligently all profitable branches of industry." Particular attention is to be given to agriculture, and to the raising of cattle and sheep. He is also to create a traffic for peltry, with the Indians, and to explore the country for valuable kinds of woods and metals.

"2d. Relating to the Dutch and English. With the first mentioned he was to cultivate a friendly intercourse, but positively to deny their pretended right to any part of the land on the west side of the river, purchased by the Swedes from the Indians; * * * * * and he was authorized, if all friendly negotiation proved fruitless, to repel force by force." * * * * * "Some English families, about sixty persons, having settled in the preceding year, (1641) on Ferken's Creek," (now Salem) * * * * * "he may receive them under allegiance to the Swedish Crown, but rather by gentle means endeavor to effect their departure, as more expedient for the interest of her Majesty, and of the Company."

Soon after the arrival of Printz, the struggle began between the Dutch and the Swedes for the control of the territory on the west shore of the Delaware, from the Schuylkill to Cape Henlopen, the former claiming by right of discovery and settlement, the latter by settlement and purchase from the Indians. The Dutch also bought land from the natives and erected Fort Cassimir, at the place where New Castle now stands. Printz, apprehensive of trouble from this fort, and perhaps to solicit aid from the home government, returned to Sweden in 1652, or 1653, leaving his son-in-law in temporary command of the colony. Before his departure, Printz had built Fort Elfsborg, at the mouth of Salem Creek, on the east side of the Delaware, but this was abandoned, after the erection of Fort Cassimir, on the pretence that it was untenable on account of the mosquitoes, and was called, in ridicule, Fort Mosquito. He had also built Fort New Gottenburg at Tinicum.

Printz was succeeded by Governor Rising, who came over in a man-of-war, with a military engineer, officers, and soldiers. Rising captured Fort Cassimir, the garrison being unprepared for defense, and capitulating on favorable terms.

About the middle of August, 1655, Governor Peter Stuyvesant, with a squadron of seven ships and transports, containing six or seven hundred men, sailed from New Amsterdam and arrived in the Delaware, on the 30th. On the 1st of September he recaptured Fort Cassimir, and on the 14th took possession of Fort Christina, without opposition, the Swedes being practically defenseless against the superior forces of the Dutch. All the other possessions of the Swedes, on the Delaware, fell into the hands of the Dutch at this time, and thenceforth the Swedish colony existed only in history.

John Paul Jaquet was the first Dutch Governor on the Delaware. The country was divided into two colonies; one of these, including Christina, and extending from Christina to Bambo-Hook, was called the "Colony of the Company," and the other, extending north, up the Delaware, to the extent of the settlement, was called "The Colony of the City." Lands in the "Colony of the City," were conveyed in Amsterdam, by the Burgomasters and Council; deeds for land in the Company's Colony were executed by directors and commissioners. Jacob Alrich, December 19, 1656, was appointed Governor of the City Colony, by the Burgomasters and Council, and fixed his residence at New Amstel.* October 28th, 1658, William Beekman was appointed Governor over the Company's Colony, to reside at Altona, now Wilmington. He administered the affairs of the Company, regulated the trade, levied the customs payable on all vessels arriving at New Amstel, and superintended the Swedes.

The number of Swedish families in the colony at this time was 130, as ascertained by an official return, and they made a majority of the whole population. Allowing six persons to a family, there were probably not more than 1200 Europeans on the Delaware in 1659, including women and minors.

At first there was an attempt made to drive out the Swedes. Governor Stuyvesant ordered them to remove, notwithstanding that some of them had been in the country for more than twenty years, had cleared lands, built houses and planted orchards. They were a quiet, peaceable and inoffensive people. The parent government had declined in military power and national influence, and was no longer able to aid them in regaining the control of the country. They refused to go, and Governor Beekman not having any inclination to enforce Stuyvesant's order, nothing more was heard of it. In a few years the Dutch and Swedes, by family alliances, formed one people. The language of the Dutch had such affinity to the Swedish, that their children soon understood the religious services in the Swedes' Church and finally joined in their worship. The Dutch had no regular ministry among them. The Swedes, on the contrary, were careful to maintain public worship as regularly as their isolated situation would admit; and constituting so much the larger portion of the population, especially about Christina, the rising generation of the Dutch lost their national language and character so entirely, that, in 1697, Rudman, who had just arrived from Sweden, as a missionary, says: "We live scattered among the English, yet our language is preserved as pure as anywhere in Sweden." (Ferris' Original Settlements on the Delaware, 110.)

On August 27, 1664, New Amsterdam was surrendered to the English, and the remainder of the New Netherlands was soon subjected to the same authority. Colonel Nicholls assumed the administration of the territory on the west side of the Delaware, as Governor, under the Duke of York, to whom it had been granted by Charles II. on March 12, 1664. The Dutch, in August, 1673, recaptured all the New Netherlands, and once more in possession of their old domain in America, reestablished the government under their own officers. But, in the following year, on the conclusion of the war between England and the States-General, by the treaty of Westminster, made February 19, 1674, the country was restored to the English.

On the 4th of March, 1680, Charles II. granted to William Penn the province of Pennsylvania, and on the 24th of August, in the same year, the Duke of York conveyed to Penn the "territories of Pennsylvania," or "the three lower counties on Delaware." Sir Edmund Andross was the last Governor, under the Duke of York, who exercised authority over Delaware, his administration ending on the establishment of the Proprietary Government. Courts had been established in each of the Counties, and the Governor, as the deputy of the Duke, issued patents for locating lands, and executed deeds.

Penn first landed at New Castle, on the 24th of October, 1682, and after formally taking possession of the country, proceeded to Upland, now Chester, and on the 4th of November summoned an Assembly, to consist of an equal number of members for the province and the three lower counties, according to the 16th article of the frame of government which had been made before his departure from England, with the approval of the authorities there. At this Assembly an act of union was passed, annexing the three lower counties, at their own request, to the province, in all matters of legislation. Also an act of settlement, confirming certain laws agreed on in England, with some alterations, was passed in form. The Dutch, Swedes, and other foreigners were then naturalized, and the Assembly adjourned, after a session of three days. The Legislature was composed of a Provincial Council and Assembly, called the General Assembly, the members of which were elected by the freemen of the Province and Territories, three for each county for the Council, and nine for the Assembly. The counties were named Philadelphia, Bucks, and Chester; New Castle, Kent, and Sussex. The Governor and Provincial Council were to prepare and propose to the General Assembly all bills which they should jointly assent to, "not inconsistent with the powers granted by the King's letters patent to the Proprietary and Governor aforesaid."

Thus was instituted, under favorable auspices, the government of Penn.

In 1684, Governor Penn was compelled to return to England to look after his own and the interests of his infant colony, and delegated his powers for two years to a commission, of which Thomas Lloyd was President. This commission was afterwards renewed from time to time, as Penn did not revisit the Province until the autumn of 1699. In the meanwhile, dissensions took place between the Province and the Territories, growing out of the jealousies and differences of sentiment between them, which finally culminated in a separation.

The principal grievance of the Representatives of Delaware, as appears by their protest, dated at Philadelphia, the first of the second month, 1691, seems to have been "the encroachments made upon their rights and privileges by the Province, in imposing officers upon them, without their consent or approbation." Later still, they complained of the burthens imposed upon them by the union with the Province, in that their part of the expenses of the government was greatly increased, without any corresponding benefit, and finally, after the rising of the General Assembly, on the 28th of October, 1701, the Province and Territories never again joined in acts of legislation. Penn endeavored to reconcile the opposing bodies, but without success, and at last consented to their separation, giving to each its own government, in case they could not agree. Penn sailed for England again at the close of the year 1701, having constituted Andrew Hamilton his deputy, and James Logan, secretary.

Hamilton died in December, 1702, and the greater part of his administration had been employed in endeavoring to effect a union between the Province and the Territories, under the new charter of privileges granted by Penn just before he left the country, and under which a way was opened for the return of the Territories; but the latter still complained that they were outnumbered and outvoted in the Assembly. They expressed their willingness to reunite in legislation with the Province, under the new charter, dated at Philadelphia, the 28th of October, 1701, as they understood it: "That is to say: If the Province will join with us in representing the same by four members out of each county, so that our representatives may be equal in number, conform to the second article of the said charter, and the ancient use and practice of this government." The new charter had left the choice of union or separation open for three years, and this proposition of the Territories was made the 13th of April, 1704. The offer was refused by the Province.

As exhibiting the comparative wealth of the Territories with the Province, the sums raised by a tax of one penny in the pound, in the fifth year of the reign of William and Mary, for the support of the government, show no great disparity between the two. The amounts paid by the different counties were as follows:

John Evans, on the death of Hamilton, was appointed Deputy Governor by the Proprietor, with the Queen's royal approbation, and arrived in the Province, in December, 1703. Failing, like his predecessor, to effect a reunion, he, in the latter part of 1704, met the Assembly of the lower counties, at New Castle, which was the first to act independently of the Province, and thenceforward the separation was complete. The first law recorded under his administration was "An act about seven years possession," and was "enacted by the honorable John Evans, Esq., with Her Majesty's Royal approbation, Lieutenant-Governor of the Counties of New Castle, Kent, and Sussex, on Delaware, and Province of Pennsylvania, by and with the advice and consent of the freemen of the said Counties, in General Assembly met, and by the authority of the same." This was in 1704. And in this style the legislation of the Counties was conducted under successive Lieutenant-Governors, until John Penn was appointed "Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Counties," &c., in 1773. The last act to which he gave his official approval, passed October 28, 1775, was a supplement to "An act for the more effectual ascertaining and fixing the limits of the several counties within this government, and for remedying some inconveniences that may arise by the late establishment of the boundaries and divisional lines between the same and Maryland.

The Colonial government ended with the Declaration of Independence by the Congress of the United States, on the fourth of July, 1776, and with remarkable promptitude a Convention was called and a State government organized under a Constitution entitled "The Constitution or System of Government, agreed to and resolved upon by the Representatives in full Convention of the Delaware State, formerly styled the Government of the Counties of New Castle, Kent, and Sussex, upon Delaware, the said Representatives being chosen by the Freemen of the said State for that express purpose." This instrument bears date the 20th of September, 1776, and the first election for members of the General Assembly was held on the 21st of October following, in the court-houses in the several counties. The first session of the new legislature met at "New Castle-on-Delaware," October 28, 1776.

The Council of Delaware, the minutes of whose proceedings, from 1776 to 1792, are contained in the following pages, was a part of the legislative body of the State, corresponding to what is now called the Senate. It was organized under the Constitution of 1776, and continued in existence until the Constitution of 1792 went into operation. It was composed of nine members, three from each county, who were required to be freeholders and twenty-five years of age, and were elected by the people in such manner that one-third of the Council was elected every year. The other branch was called the House of Assembly, containing seven members from each county, elected annually. The Legislature was known as the General Assembly of Delaware. A President, or Chief Magistrate, was chosen on joint ballot by both houses, and in case of his death, inability, or absence from the State, the Speaker of the Council exercised the powers of President until a new appointment by the General Assembly.

A Privy Council, of four members, was chosen by ballot, two by each House, whose duties appear to have been to advise with the President in relation to embodying the militia, calling special meetings of the General Assembly, in making appointments to certain offices, and in filling vacancies in others until a new election.

Some few omissions will be observed in the printed pages, which could not be supplied with accuracy, owing to the accidental mutilation of the original manuscript journal, but enough has been preserved intact to form a record of historical value.

John McKinly was the first President chosen for the prescribed term of three years, from February, 1777, but his administration was cut short by his capture by the British, at Wilmington, at the close of the battle of Brandywine, on the 11th of September, in the same year. On March 30, 1778, it is recorded, that, "Whereas his Excellency John McKinly, our worthy President, taken by the enemy in September last, still remains a prisoner, with little prospect of exchange shortly, and the Speaker of Council, who acts as Vice-President, requesting to be relieved from the duties of that office," etc., thereupon the two houses, on the next day, by joint ballot, elected Cæsar Rodney for the full term of three years. He was succeeded by John Dickinson, on November 13, 1781, who continued in office until his election as President of the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania. Governor Dickinson, as we learn from his valedictory to the legislature, had designed before this to remove his family to Wilmington and make that place his permanent residence. This purpose was afterwards carried out. He resided in Wilmington during the latter years of his life, and on his death was interred in the burial ground attached to the Friends' Meeting House, at the corner of 4th and Washington streets. The Vice-President filled the office until February 1st, 1783, when Nicholas Vandyke was elected, who served a full term, and was succeeded by Thomas Collins, on whose death, Joshua Clayton was elected, and he was the last President or Governor under the Constitution of 1776.

Among the many interesting subjects and measures brought before the Council, not the least important were the joint resolutions in relation to the calling of a Convention to ratify the Constitution of the United States, which were adopted, November 10, 1787. An election for Delegates to the Convention was ordered for Monday, the 26th of the same month, and the Convention was to assemble at Dover, on the Monday following. As a fact of history, the Convention was held, and ratified the Constitution, without a dissenting voice, on the 7th of December, but the journals of the Convention have been lost, and we have no further record of its proceedings than that the ratification was duly certified to Congress. One of the joint resolutions, just mentioned, requests the particular attention of the Convention to "the proposition submitted to the General Assembly, by petition from divers of the freemen resident in the upper part of this State, of ceding to the United States a district within the State for the seat of the Government of the United States, and for the exclusive legislation of Congress."

On October 25, 1788, George Read and Richard Bassett were elected to represent the State in the Senate of the United States. They were the first Senators from Delaware.

If the limits of this note permitted a more detailed reference to the many matters of historical interest contained in the "Minutes," it would be a pleasing task to make mention of some incidents connected with the progress of the Revolutionary War, the recruiting of troops, furnishing supplies, etc.; of the wise and judicious legislation of those early days, and of the reputation and ability of the men who served in our state and national governments. It will be observed by the most casual reader that, in the orderly conduct of business, in the careful deliberation given to every measure, in provident care for a most uncertain future, in the dignified tone and scholarly style of their public papers, and in the prompt and efficient discharge of official duty, the legislators of 1776-92, will bear a favorable comparison with any of later times, either in or out of the State.

MINUTES OF THE COUNCIL OF THE DELAWARE STATE.

NEW-CASTLE-ON-DELAWARE,

MONDAY, October 28th, 1776.

At a meeting of the Council, one of the branches of the Legislature for the Delaware State, it appears, by the returns of the Sheriffs and Inspectors of the Counties of New Castle, Kent and Sussex, that on the 21st day of October, instant, at the usual places of election for the said counties, the following gentlemen were chosen members thereof, with the number of votes annexed and following each name, to wit :

Gentlemen:

The propositions delivered to us by your committee respecting the appointment of Delegates from this State to Congress by joint ballot, and also a Council of Safety, to act during the recess of the Legislature, were taken immediately under our consideration. As to the first, the Council have concurred; as to the last, to wit: the appointment of a Council of Safety, we could have wished that some reason had been assigned in the proposition to show the necessity of forming such a power upon our own authority. We can conceive a case that may justify such a measure, to wit: the adjournment of the General Assembly before the appointment of a President and Privy Council under the present Constitution. If this should be the intention of the House of Assembly, and their reason for proposing the appointment of a Council of Safety, we shall think it our duty to join such a provision for the weal of the State in the recess of the General Assembly; therefore we wish to have this business explained.

Ordered, That Mr. Polk wait on the House of Assembly with this message.

Which, by order, was read and ordered to lie on the table for consideration.

The Council would have taken up this last business, but understood some directions had been given to individuals, and therefore avoided doing anything in it that might interfere with what the House of Assembly had done; and for this further reason, that a grant of money for the carrying it into execution would be necessary.

Mr. Dingee, being returned, reported that he had waited on the House of Assembly according to the order aforesaid.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and proposed sundry amendments to the report of the committee appointed to confer with a committee of Assembly to adjust and settle the accounts of the Military Treasurers, &c., to wit:

As to Col. Collins, nothing allowed for the transportation, &c., of money.

As to Capt. Porter, forty shillings added, which was omitted by mistake of committee.

As to John Clowes, 40s. added.

And the same being taken into consideration,

Ordered, That Mr. Bassett wait on the House of Assembly with the following verbal message, to wit:

The Council having considered the amendments proposed by the House of Assembly to the report of the Committee for Public Accounts, to wit:

The taking off £6 : 4 : 0 from the allowance made to Colonel Thos. Collins, for expenses attending the delivery of part of the bills of credit, lately signed by him; the addition of 40s. to the allowance made to Capt. Alex. Porter, and the addition of the like sum to Mr. John Clowes, for their attending the printing of the same bills of credit; as to the two last amendments the Council accede thereto.

As to the first, they apprehend the committee have misstated the service for which that allowance was made. The Council are informed that the greater part of the charge arises from the carriage of the bills from the press to the house of the signer, where it might be expected they ought to have been delivered by the attendants of the press, who undoubtedly should have been allowed therefor. The remaining part of the charge to Dover, it is urged, was for that part of the moneys belonging to the office in Sussex. For these reasons the Council are of the opinion such a charge is just, and submit it to the reconsideration of the House.

The Council propose an alteration in the sum allowed for commissions on the £500, in the first part of the report, to Brigadier McKinly, this sum being paid under an order drawn by him, as Chairman of the Council of Safety of New Castle County, on Col. Collins in favor of Lieutenant Kamford, Col. Collins being allowed commissions thereon, £7 : 10, the sum to be deducted.

Mr. Bassett reported that he waited on the House of Assembly according to the order aforesaid.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the resolutions following, to wit:

“On motion, by order,

“The report of the committee appointed to devise the best “method of supplying the inhabitants of this State with salt, was “read the second time, and, being debated and amended, was “agreed to, as follows, to wit:

“That they are of opinion the most certain and expeditious
“method of procuring a speedy supply of salt would be to au“thorize and empower some careful and prudent persons at the “Town of New Castle to purchase one or more cargo or cargoes
“of salt from on board vessels bound to Philadelphia, or after “their arrival there, at the lowest prices for which the same can “be procured, and to distribute, to the quantities they shall buy,
“from time to time, equally between the several Counties of this “State, and cause the proportion for each County to be delivered
“to some member of the Council of Safety in such County, who,
“with the advice and assistance of the other members of the said “Council, residing in said Counties respectively, shall cause the “same to be delivered out to the inhabitants thereof in proportion
“to their several wants.

“That 4,000 bushels of salt are now wanted to supply the immediate necessities of the people, and that the commissioners appointed to buy it ought to be supplied with £2,500 for that purpose, and that it should be retailed out to the inhabitants at so small an advance as would be only sufficient to reimburse the State.

“Resolved, That Messrs. Zachariah V. Lenvington and Joseph Tatlow, of the Town of New Castle, be and they are hereby appointed commissioners to carry the foregoing resolutions into execution ; and that they be authorized to borrow, from any person or persons who will lend the same on the credit of this State, any sum or sums of money, not exceeding £2,500, to be repaid, with interest at six per cent., in three months.

“Resolved, That certificates, signed by the said commissioners, expressing therein the sums borrowed, to be upon the above terms and for the above purposes, shall be sufficient vouchers to entitle the lenders to the repayment thereof by this State.

“Resolved, That the said commissioners render an account of their proceedings in the premises to the General Assembly of this State at the next session.”

Read and concurred in.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the resolution following, to wit :

“Resolved, That the balance of public money remaining in the hands of Thos. Collins, Esq., Military Treasurer for the County of Kent, be paid into the hands of the Speaker of this House, whose receipt shall be a sufficient discharge to the said Military Treasurer for the same ; and that the Speaker be accountable for the disposal thereof.”

For the consideration and concurrence of the Council.

Read and concurred in.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and returned the resolution of Council expressing the appointment and powers of the Delegates to Congress, with the concurrence of the House of Assembly thereto, and delivered to the Chair the following verbal message, to wit :

“That the Speaker of the Assembly has delivered several of the printed resolutions of Congress relating to the reenlistment of the army, and forty blank commissions, received from the President of the Congress, together with eight copies of the Articles of War, to Col. Samuel West, one of the commissioners appointed to repair to the army.

“This House will do their part in satisfying the commissioners for their expenses to be incurred in the service of the State.

“The Assembly have taken measures for securing the blankets, linen and woollen cloth, purchased in consequence of the directions of the Council of Safety, and hope the same may be sent to the camps some time next week ; to pay for which they have passed the resolution sent to the Council for their concurrence.”

Ordered, That Mr. Bassett wait on the House of Assembly with the concurrence of Council to their resolution respecting the most certain and expeditious method of procuring a speedy supply of salt ; and also their resolution respecting the payment of the balance of the public money in the hands of Col. Collins to the Speaker of the House of Assembly.

Mr. Bassett returned and reported that he had waited on the House of Assembly according to the order aforesaid.

A member of the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered a verbal message that the House of Assembly had postponed the consideration of that part of the report made by the Committee of Accounts as objected to by the Council in their message till the next sitting of the General Assembly.

To which the Council agreed.

Ordered, That a member of Council wait on the House of Assembly and inform them that the Council concurred in the other parts of the report.

In answer to which, it is proposed that the whole expenses should be severally ascertained and defrayed by orders, to be drawn by the Speakers of both Houses, on the several Trustees of the Loan Office in this State.

And the Council concurred.

The Council took into consideration the expenses of their session, and thereupon

Council met.

The Speaker reported from the chair that he had issued notices requiring the attendance of Jacob Bennett, John Trip and Levi Potter, agreeable to the order of Saturday.

It appearing to the House that Jacob Bennett and John Trip were sick, their non-attendance is excused till their recovery.

Mr. Dingee, a member of this House, not having attended during the sitting thereof, and a sufficient reason not being assigned for his absence, Ordered, That the Speaker write to Mr. Dingee requiring his attendance in this House forthwith, and that a messenger be sent with such letter.

The committee to whom the Honorable Mr. Hancock's letter and resolutions of Congress were referred, brought in their report, which, by order, was read and referred till to-morrow.

Adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY, A. M., January 15th, 1777.

Council met, and resumed the consideration of the report of yesterday referred to this day, which was agreed to, as follows :

Your committee, to whom the Honorable Mr. Hancock's letter and resolutions of Congress of the 11th, 27th, 30th and 31st of December last was referred, do report, that they have taken the same into consideration and are of the opinion that the resolution of the 11th of December aforesaid, recommending the appointment of a day of solemn fasting and humiliation, is highly proper to be complied with, and propose Thursday, the 27th of February next, as a proper day, and that a proclamation issue for that purpose, in the following form, to wit:

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS the just war into which the United States of America have been forced by Great Britain is likely to be still continued by the same violence and injustice which have hitherto animated the enemies of American freedom; and whereas it becomes all publick bodies, as well as private persons, to reverence the Providence of God, and look up to Him as the Supreme Disposer of all events and the Arbitrator of the fate of Nations;

Therefore the General Assembly of the Delaware State do appoint Thursday, the 27th of February next, to be observed by all ranks of people within the same as a day of solemn fasting and humiliation, to implore of Almighty God the forgiveness of the many sins prevailing among us, and to beg the countenance, protection and assistance of His Providence in the prosecution of this just and necessary war, and a happy and speedy conclusion of the same.

And it is recommended to Christians of all denominations within this State to assemble for publick worship and to abstain from servile labor and recreation on said day.

Signed by order of the General Assembly.

Given at New Castle, ——— of January, 1777.

Your committee are also of opinion that the resolution of Congress of the 27th of December, recommending the march of the new levies of this State for the Continental army, by companies or parts of companies, be also complied with; and that it be recommended to the commanding officer of the Delaware Battalion to issue orders to the respective captains thereof to march their companies to Philadelphia, to receive further orders from the commanding officer there, and, if not yet complete, to cause so many as may be already enlisted immediately to repair there, under a proper officer or officers, provided the number shall amount to thirty-five, leaving one or more officers to recruit, in order to fill up the companies; and that a sum of money be provided for the subsistence of the companies so marching till they arrive at Philadelphia, which, your committee think, will render the appointment of a commissary, to proceed there for the purpose of procuring provisions, unnecessary.

Your committee are further of opinion that the resolution of Congress of the 30th of December, prohibiting the exportation of bacon, salted beef and pork, soap, tallow, and candles, be also complied with and strictly observed by the inhabitants of this State, and that the said resolution be published within the State for their information.

Your committee do likewise recommend that the resolution of Congress of the 31st of December, by which the restrictions heretofore imposed upon the exportation of staves, or other lumber, except to Great Britain, Ireland and the British Islands, or any place under the dominion of Great Britain, is taken off, be also published within this State.

Ordered, That the foregoing resolutions of Council be transcribed and sent to the House of Assembly for their consideration and concurrence, and that Mr. Vandyke deliver the same, together with the President's letter and resolutions of Congress aforesaid.

Adjourned till 3 o'clock.

EODEM DIE, P. M.

Council met.

Mr. Vandyke reported that he had waited on the House of Assembly and delivered the resolutions of this day, with the President's letter, according to order.

Mr. Dingee appeared in the House and assigned the indisposition of his wife as an excuse for his non-attendance hitherto, which was admitted.

Mr. Dingee being informed of the contents of the written paper, subscribed by Jacob Bennett and delivered to this House on Saturday last, wherein mention is made of five persons, supposed to be inhabitants of this State, going on board a British ship of war with live stock, one of which persons passed there by his name, requested that the said Jacob Bennett, and all other persons who had any knowledge of that transaction, might be summoned before this House, to give evidence thereof, at some future day, and that in the meantime his attendance in Council be dispensed with, as he did not choose to continue his seat here while under such a suspicion.

Resolved, That Mr. Dingee's attendance in Council be dispensed with till further order.

Ordered, That the Speaker issue other summonses, directed to Jacob Bennett, John Trip and Levi Potter, and summonses for Griffith Minshall, Jun., John Marshall and Joseph Poole, requiring their attendance on this House on Friday next, at 11 o'clock, to give evidence of their knowledge of the charge against Mr. Dingee, at which time he is ordered to attend.

The House taking into consideration the condition of the Militia of this State, and it appearing that there had been for some considerable time past almost a total neglect of the attendance of associators on muster and review days, and a general omission to levy the penalties and taxes imposed by the articles and rules made for the better governing of the Militia by the late House of Assembly, and that the said articles and rules required some attention and amendments for their more effectual execution, therefore,

On motion,

Ordered, That a committee of four be appointed to bring in a bill for the more effectual establishing a Militia in this State. The members chosen are: Mr. Vandyke, Mr. Sykes, Mr. Cantwell and Mr. Wiltbank.

The House resuming the resolution of the House of Assembly for the appointment of a committee to settle and adjust the accounts of the officers and privates of the 2d Delaware Battalion, raised for the Flying Camp, previous to their being passed by the Commissary of Musters;

Ordered, That Messrs. Sykes and Vandyke be a committee from this House, to join with the committee named by the House of Assembly in the business aforesaid.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, January 16th, 1777.

Council met.

Mr. Sykes, one of the persons appointed to procure a Great Seal for this State, agreeable to the resolve of this House of the 2d of November, delivered at the table the following report from that committee, to wit :

"The committee appointed to get a skillful engraver to make the Great Seal of this State, which was agreed upon by both Houses, now report that they could procure no person capable of executing the work to undertake it at this time, being engaged in other very important business for the safety of their country. That upon consulting an ingenious gentleman in the art of heraldry, they are humbly of opinion that the Great Seal agreed upon would be more suitable for a medal than the seal of a State, and therefore submit the same to the consideration of both Houses."

The House, taking the same into consideration, are satisfied with the reasons assigned for not carrying the resolutions aforesaid into execution, and resolved that the said committee be discharged.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the following resolutions of that House for concurrence of Council, to wit :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

“ MONDAY, January 13th.

“ On motion,

“ Resolved, That the former vote respecting a Great Seal be rescinded.

“ On motion,

“ Ordered, That Messrs. Cook, Robinson and McKean be a committee to confer with a committee of Council on the subject matter of a device for and making of a Great Seal for this State, and also to fix upon a seal which shall be held and deemed to be the Great Seal pro tempore until the Great Seal to be agreed upon by both Houses be made.”

Which, being taken into consideration, was concurred in.

Resolved therefore, That the resolution of the 2d of November last respecting a Great Seal be rescinded.

Ordered, That Messrs. Cantwell and Wiltbank be a committee from this House to confer with the committee of Assembly on the subject matter of forming a Great Seal and fixing a seal pro tempore.

Ordered, That Mr. Vandyke wait on the House of the Assembly with the concurrence and appointment aforesaid.

Who, being returned, reported that he had delivered the same according to order.

The report of the proceedings of the commissioners appointed to repair to the army to nominate officers for the battalion to be raised as the quota of this State to serve during the war, being resumed,

Ordered, That the same be referred to a committee of three to report thereon. The members chosen : Mr. Cantwell, Mr. Sykes, and Mr. Vandyke.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

FRIDAY, January 17th, 1777.

Council met.

The witnesses ordered to be summoned respecting the charge against Mr. Dingee, a member of this House, his being on board a British ship of war on or about the 30th of December last, all attending except Levi Potter, who was out of the State and not summoned,

Ordered, That notice be given to the Honorable the Speaker of the House of Assembly, and such of the members thereof as are in town, that the examination of the witnesses is to be had forthwith, that they may be present if they think fit.

The Speaker of the Assembly, with a number of the members of that House, attending, were admitted accordingly. Mr. Dingee also attending by order.

The Council proceeded to the qualifying and examining Jacob Bennett, John Trip, Griffith Minshall, Jun., John Marshall, and Joseph Poole, severally and apart, respecting their knowledge of Mr. Dingee's being one of the five persons who had come on board the Pearl, ship of war, belonging to his Britannic Majesty, while they were prisoners there, all of whom having deposed that Mr. Dingee was not one of the persons aforesaid, nor had been on board the said ship of war during the time they were prisoners, to their knowledge or belief, Thereupon the Council are unanimously of opinion that the suspicion of Mr. Dingee's being one of the persons who had come on board the British ship of war aforesaid during the time the witnesses aforesaid were prisoners is groundless.

Ordered, That Mr. Dingee take his seat as a member of this House.

The committee appointed to confer with a committee of the House of Assembly on the subject matter of a device for and making a Great Seal for this State, and also to fix upon a seal to be used instead thereof pro tempore, brought in their report,

Which was read and referred for consideration.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

“ Resolved, That Mr. McKean, Mr. Stout, and Mr. Lea be a “ committee to confer with a committee of Council respecting “ the contents of the aforesaid resolutions of Congress, and to “ report certain additional clauses to the above mentioned bill ; “ for the more effectual supporting the credit of the Continental “ currency, and also for the preventing and punishing the coun- “ terfeiting tickets in the Publick Lottery set on foot by Con- “ gress ; and that the Council be desired to appoint a committee “ to join herein, and to make report as soon as possible.”

And thereupon

Resolved, That the mode pointed out by the House of Assembly for carrying the resolutions of Congress into execution would, in the opinion of this House, be irregular and productive of confusion. Ordered, That the following message, drawn up at the table, be transcribed, signed by the Speaker, and sent to the House of Assembly, that is to say :

Gentlemen :

The Council have taken into consideration the resolution of your House of yesterday proposing the appointment of a committee of their body, to join a committee named by you, for the framing additional clauses to a bill, passed at our first meeting in this session, entitled "An act to render certain bills of credit a legal tender within this State, and to prevent the counterfeiting the same and other bills of credit," in consequence of certain resolutions of Congress of the 14th instant, and though we wish to do everything on our part to render those resolutions more effectual within this State, we apprehend the mode pointed out by you for doing so by a joint committee would be irregular and productive of confusion. This business, as also all other acts of legislation, should take their rise in the one House or the other, and, when determined upon, be referred to the other for consideration. We therefore hope you will reconsider your resolution so far as the same relates to the request that the Council should appoint a committee to join the committee of your House in the first stage of this business.

Gentlemen :

As you have rejected the first amendment proposed to the bill entitled "An act to render parts of divers acts of Assembly and certain law proceedings more conformable to the present Constitution," without assigning the reasons of your dissent, and the Council still retaining their opinion that the amendment is a necessary one to make the recital, in which the amendment is proposed, correspond with the enacting clause providing the remedy, either the one or the other requires an amendment; therefore, to save time, as the session is so near a conclusion, the Council do propose to the House of Assembly a conference of two or more members from each House upon the subject matter of this amendment.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door was admitted and returned the bill aforesaid with the concurrence of the House to the amendments made and agreed to by the committee of conferees.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered at the Chair the bill entitled "An act for printing and emitting £15,000 in Bills of Credit of this State to be let out on loan, and for striking the further sum of £10,000 in such bills for the use of this State and for providing a fund for sinking the same," with divers amendments thereto proposed, for the consideration and concurrence of Council.

Also, the following resolution, to wit :

" IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,
" SATURDAY, P. M., February 22, 1777.

"Resolved, That the President, or Commander-in-Chief, be "impowered to draw on the Trustees of the Loan Office for this "State, or any of them, for such sums as have been agreed by "the General Assembly to be due to any person or persons upon "the reports of the committee on accounts liquidated, he taking "receipts for said draughts, out of the sum of £10,000 to be "struck and given for the defence and use of this State in pursu- "ance of an act, passed this session, entitled 'An act for printing "and emitting £15,000 in Bills of Credit of this State to be let "out on loan, and for striking the further sum of £10,000 in "such bills for the use of this State and for providing a fund for "sinking the same.'"

The Council took into consideration the amendments proposed by them to the House of Assembly to the bill entitled "An act to punish treasons and disaffected persons, &c.," and the amendment proposed to the 14th amendment, and do adhere to the same ; as to the amendments proposed concurred in.

On motion,

Ordered, That a committee be appointed to draw up a message to the House of Assembly assigning the reasons for adhering to their amendments proposed to the bill aforesaid, and Messrs. Sykes and Bassett were appointed for the purpose.

The committee appointed to draw up a message to the House of Assembly laid one on the table, which was read, and, after some amendments made, transcribed and signed by the Speaker, and is as follows, to wit :

Gentlemen :

The Council have reconsidered the several amendments proposed by them to the bill entitled "An act to punish treasons and disaffected persons, and for the security of the Government," and not agreed to by the House of Assembly, and do adhere to them severally for the following reasons, that is to say :

As to their 5th amendment, for that the word High, proposed to be struck out in the amendment, is not used in the Statute of 25th of Edward the 3d, stiled the Statute of Treason in Great Britain, the form whereof is evidently made the basis of the present clause, and justly so, as that statute hath been esteemed a good and equitable law between the governor and governed, and the construction thereof clearly ascertained.

As to their 7th amendment, for that it tends to take off the dangerous consequences attending the misconstruction of words or expressions used in common conversation, and preserves freedom of speech and privilege of freemen, whereas the clause to which this amendment is proposed, in the opinion of the Council, will encourage a race of informers, the pest of society, and who always were the engines of tyrants in every State. It is to be hoped that the just cause in which all America is embarked is not to be injured by the speeches of rash, foolish or wicked individuals, or at least they are not to be so much apprehended as the effects of so dangerous a precedent in the infancy of our Government.

The 8th amendment is adhered to as a consequence of the 7th.

As to their 11th amendment, for that, they are of opinion, an increase of the fine and time of imprisonment would equally tend to prevent a breach of the law, and the execution thereof by no means be so disagreeable to humanity. It is frequently found, by experience, that ignominious and disgraceful punishment hardens more offenders than they reclaim.

As to their 13th amendment, because they do conceive that the oath or teste prescribed in the system of government, and recited in this clause, contains, in substance, the whole of the additional teste proposed in the bill, and the Council apprehend it would be wrong, without some evident necessity, thus early to add or diminish from that form held out to the people, more especially as the teste prescribed in the system of government, and no other, was taken by the members of the General Assembly, who are in the first department in the State, with whom the people have intrusted their lives, liberties and properties. The Council therefore cannot think it necessary that those persons who are to fill the inferior departments should be obliged to take any other.

These reasons weigh strongly with the Council. Many others might be adduced; but they flatter themselves that when the House of Assembly review the parts of the bill particularly objected to they will adopt the amendments proposed by the Council.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered at the Chair the following resolutions, to wit:

“IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

“SATURDAY, P. M., February 22d, 1777.

“The House took into consideration the state of the Fort on “Xtiana River, in the Borough of Wilmington, together with the “publick powder and other military stores kept in the magazines “in the said fort, and, on motion,

“Resolved, That the said fort, together with the powder and “other military stores be put under the command and care of a “Fort Major, two Sergeants and twelve privates, to be immedi- “ately raised, paid and supported at the expense of the State, “until discharged by the General Assembly thereof.

“That the pay of the said troops per kalender month be as follows:

|-----|---|---------------------------|
| “To | { | Fort Major, 18 dollars. |
| | | Each Sergeant, 8 dollars. |
| | | “ Private, 5 “ |

“That in lieu of rations, each person be allowed 10s. per week “for his subsistence, and the commanding officer to have double “that sum.

“Resolved, That Capt. Ralph Walker, of the Borough of Wil- “mington, be appointed Fort Major (instead of Mr. Charles West,

"late Fort Major, who is rendered incapable of that office), and
"that he be commissioned by the President and Commander-in-
"Chief accordingly ; which said Fort Major shall forthwith inlist
"the number of persons above mentioned, who, from the time
"of inlistment, shall receive the pay and subsistence aforesaid.

"Resolved, That the said Fort Major take under his care and

“to enable him to carry into execution his intention of erecting

“County,) he, the said John Jones, giving bond, with sufficient “sureties, for the payment of that sum at the expiration of five “years from the date of said bond.

“bushels ; and that he should be bound and obliged to deliver,
“in each and every year during the term aforesaid, at the manu“factory aforesaid, for the use of this State, the quantity of three “thousand bushels of salt, manufactured therein at the rate afore-
“said.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident—That all men are created equal ; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights ; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed ; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes ; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies ; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former system of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation, till his assent should be obtained ; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them. He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected ; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise, the state remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States ; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners ; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers, to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws ; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation :

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us. •

For protecting them by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States :

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world :

For imposing taxes on us without our consent :

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury :

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences :

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies :

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our governments :

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with the power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people,

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world, for the recitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

The foregoing declaration was, by order of Congress, engrossed, and signed by the following members :

Council met.

The committee appointed to draw up a message to the House of Assembly laid one on the table, which was read, and, after some amendments made, was transcribed and signed by the Speaker, and is as follows, to wit :

A MESSAGE FROM THE COUNCIL TO THE ASSEMBLY.

Gentlemen :

As the committee of conferees appointed by the two Houses on the subject matter of the four first amendments proposed by the Council to the bill for the more speedily completing the quota of troops to be raised in this State for the Continental army have come to no determination thereon, and the advantage which might arise to the United States by the filling up said quota of troops must be totally lost should no mode to effect the same be adopted by the General Assembly at their present sitting, the Council think it necessary to recede from their said proposed amendments; but at the same time, in justice to themselves, deem it their duty to inform your honorable House of the reasons which induced them to propose said amendments, and which still strongly impress their minds, to wit:

That the exemptions from all service in the Militia on a recruit being procured by any two persons will induce many to offer considerable sums in addition to the bounty allowed by Congress, which will effectually put an end to the enlistment of men by any commissioned officer of said battalion, except for such who may wish to purchase exemptions.

That such exemptions will tend to discourage the Militia, as the procuring recruits in that mode can only be adopted by those who may be in easy circumstances. This will occasion dissatisfaction and murmuring among others who are not so fortunate as to be able to take advantage thereof.

That every step having a tendency to discourage the bulk of the people, or lessen their confidence in a number of their fellow-citizens, ought to be carefully avoided, as the success of the present righteous struggle chiefly depends on unanimity and confidence being supported among all ranks of people. The mode prescribed in the bill may, for many reasons, not be so injurious in a large and populous State. Our case is different. We have a long and extended frontier and few to guard it. Every exertion must be made to spirit up that few. The numbers are such that they will not bear much diminution, particularly of those of whom most may be expected.

That if a number of suitable persons in this State, in addition to the officers of the Delaware Battalion, were authorized to recruit and a bounty given to them, with a further allowance for the subsistence of recruits, the quota of troops for this State might be made up, and a defection in the Militia not risked.

Ordered, That Mr. Baning wait on the House of Assembly with the bill and forgoing message.

Who, being returned, reported that he had waited on the House of Assembly according to order.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered at the Chair

Ordered, That Mr. Baning wait on the House of Assembly with the bill.

Who, being returned, reported that he had delivered the bill according to order.

Ordered, That Mr. Vandyke wait on the House of the Assembly with the two foregoing bills and amendment proposed to the former.

Mr. Vandyke, being returned, reported that he had waited on the House of Assembly according to order.

"An act for the holding the General Assembly at Dover, in the County of Kent,"

"Gentlemen :

"I herewith send you some resolutions of the Honorable Congress of the 19th ultimo, transmitted to me by the President, recommending measures to the Legislative and Executive authorities of this State and the State of Maryland to avert the imminent danger of an insurrection in the Counties of Somerset and Worcester, in the State of Maryland, and to prevent their being joined by disaffected persons in the County of Sussex, in this State, and to enact laws appointing commissioners to take charge of the estates of such as may be removed. In consequence whereof, with the advice of the Privy Council, I wrote to some principal gentlemen in the County of Sussex and to the commanding officers of the Militia adjacent to Worcester County, desiring them respectively to make the most speedy and strict inquiries respecting the danger apprehended from Sussex County, and that they would, as soon after as possible, let me know the result. In answer to which, I have been informed by those gentlemen severally that the inhabitants of that county are very quiet, and that they imagined the suspicion as to them was not well founded, save one of the gentlemen, who refers me to be informed by Mr. John Clowes, a member of the House of Assembly, with whom I have had an opportunity to converse on that subject, but from whom you can much better immediately receive that information."

MINUTES OF COUNCIL

OCTOBER 1855

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

COUNCIL OF THE DELAWARE STATE.

At a meeting of the Council at the Town of Dover, in the County of Kent, on Monday, the twentieth day of October, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, a sufficient number of members to compose a House not attending, adjourned from day to day till

THURSDAY, October 23, 1777.

The following members appeared in the Council, viz :

For New Castle County—George Read, Nicholas Vandyke.

For Kent County—Thomas Collins, John Baning.

For Sussex County—John Jones.

The return of the Sheriff and Inspectors for the County of New Castle of the election of a Counsellor to fill the vacant seat of Richard Cantwell, Esq., who had the smallest number of votes at the General Election in October, 1776, being delivered at the table, it appears that the annual election for the said county was held on the first day of October, instant, at the Academy, in the Town of Newark, in the County of New Castle, in pursuance of a proclamation issued for that purpose by the Honorable Thomas McKean, Esquire, Speaker of the late House of Assembly and President of the State, in the absence of President McKinly and the Vice President, by reason that the situation of the British fleet and army at and near the Town of New Castle rendered it impracticable to hold the election there. Mr. Peter Hyatt was chosen a member of the Council for New Castle County in the place of Mr. Cantwell, and Mr. Hyatt appeared in the House.

The return of the Sheriff and Inspectors for the County of Kent being laid on the table, it appears that Richard Bassett, who had the smallest number of votes at the former General Election for the said county, was reelected a member of the Council for the County of Kent on the first day of this instant October. Mr. Bassett appeared in the House.

On motion,

Agreed unanimously that the Speaker of the Council be chosen annually.

Then the Council proceeded to the choice of a Speaker, and George Read, Esquire, was unanimously chosen.

The Speaker in the Chair, Mr. Benjamin Vining was appointed Clerk and Nathaniel Smithers, Jun., Messenger and Doorkeeper.

Mr. Bassett and Mr. Hyatt, the two members chosen at the last General Election, took the oath and subscribed the declaration prescribed by the twenty-second article of the Constitution of this State. [See note on page 10.]

The Speaker laid on the table a letter from the Honorable Thomas McKean, Esq., late Speaker of the House of Assembly and President of the State, in the absence of Mr. President McKinly and the Vice President, which, by order, was read the first time.

FRIDAY, October 24, 1777.

The committee of Council to whom a letter from the Honorable Thomas McKean, Esq., late Speaker of the House of Assembly, President and Commander-in-Chief of the Delaware State, was recommitted, do now report—

As the Representatives of the several Counties in the State did not form themselves into a House for transacting of the public business, the Council, on their part, were induced to adopt the measures contained in said resolutions to prevent the persons of the inhabitants near the water from being seized and taken prisoners and their property plundered by the crews of the enemy's ships of war, which then were in the Delaware; to put a stop to the illegal and pernicious trade carried on with the enemy by the inhabitants of this State; and to remove the complaints made by the Militia of non-payment for former services, which the Council were apprehensive would not only tend to delay the raising said troops, but also prevent the Militia from turning out in cases of emergency.

The Council now recommend it to your honorable House to take the said resolutions into your consideration, and make such further provision in the premises as you may judge necessary, consistent with the Laws and Constitution of the State.

EODEM DIE, P. M.

Col. Jones, who had been absent, now appeared in Council.

The committee to whom the resolve of the House of Assembly of Wednesday last, for the appointment of a Committee of Accounts for the present year, was referred, do now report it as their opinion that the following message be sent to the House of Assembly, to wit :

Gentlemen :

The Council have taken your resolution of Wednesday last, for the appointment of a Committee of Accounts for the present year, into consideration, and are of opinion that the whole business cannot be well executed by one committee. By the generality of the appointment, accounts between this State and the United States, future accounts of the Militia within this State, Loan Office accounts, Military Treasurers' accounts, with some others, will be included. This, we apprehend, was not intended by you ; but, if so, we cannot consent thereto. To state the accounts of expenditures by this State for and in behalf of the Continent will be a tedious business, requiring knowledge, attention and care, and it may be too burthensome to exact any other service of the committee who may be appointed for that purpose. Therefore we submit it to you whether it is not necessary to appoint committees severally for the several services.

Which being agreed to,

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and signed, and that Mr. Jones deliver the same to the House of Assembly.

And the same being taken into consideration, an answer was drawn up at the table, and ordered to be transcribed and signed by the Speaker, and is as follows, to wit:

AN ANSWER FROM THE COUNCIL TO A MESSAGE FROM THE ASSEMBLY.

Gentlemen:

The Council, when they sent the bill entitled “A supplement to an act entitled ‘An act for printing and emitting fifteen thousand pounds in Bills of Credit of this State, to be let out on loan, and for striking the further sum of ten thousand pounds in such bills for the use of this State, and for providing a fund for sinking the same,’” intended the same as an amendment to the bill sent from the House of Assembly entitled “An act empowering the President, Vice-President, or Commander-in-Chief to draw out of the Loan Office of Kent County the sum of five thousand pounds, part of the sum emitted by an act entitled ‘An act for printing and emitting fifteen thousand pounds in Bills of Credit of this State, to be let out on loan, and for striking the further sum of ten thousand pounds in such bills, for the use of this State, and for providing a fund for sinking the same,’” as appears by the verbal message delivered by the member of the Council who returned the original bill, together with the amendment. The Council were induced to this proceeding, (tho’ not strictly regular,) merely for the saving of time. From the notice sent by your House, on Monday last, of their intention to adjourn, and the conference of the committees thereon, the Council apprehended that some of the usual forms of proceeding must be dispensed with, or otherwise much of the business before both Houses would be left unfinished ; however, we do not mean or wish to establish it as a precedent, and if the House of Assembly shall think it necessary to return the two bills thus sent, the Council will proceed on the bill from your House in the usual mode.

Ordered, That Mr. Bassett deliver the same to the House of Assembly.

Who, being returned, reported that he had delivered the same according to order.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and returned the bill directing the choice of Assessors for the present year in the County of New Castle, and reviving the Levy Court and Court of Appeal for the County of New Castle, and for reëstablishing the process in the Supreme Court throughout the State, and for occasional adjournments or removals of the Courts from the County Towns, with an amendment, which, being agreed to, was made therein.

Ordered, That Mr. Vandyke wait on the House of Assembly with the said bill and inform them that the Council acceded to the amendment proposed.

Mr. Vandyke returned and reported that he delivered the bill and message according to order.

Mr. Craghead, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the following resolution, to wit :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

“ FRIDAY, December 19th, 1777.

“ The House resumed the consideration of one of the resolutions of Council of the 29th of October, referred to in a message from the Council of the 10th instant, which has not been acted upon by this House, and is as follows, to wit :

“ That a committee of three persons be appointed to receive, examine, and adjust the accounts of expenses which have accrued and become due to the Militia of the Counties of New Castle and Kent for former service, viz : Robert Bryan, Robert Armstrong, and Thomas Montgomery, gentlemen ; and also

“that a committee of three persons, viz : John Jones, John Rodney, and John Clowes, gentlemen, be appointed in the County of Sussex, to receive, examine, and adjust the accounts of expenses which have accrued and become due to the Militia of said County for former service, and make report thereof to the President, who is to pay the same accordingly.

“And thereupon

“Resolved, That this House concur in the said resolution.

“Ordered, That the above be transcribed, and that Mr. Craghead wait on the Council and deliver the same.

Ordered also, That Mr. Craghead inform the Council that this House intends, to-morrow, in the afternoon, to adjourn to some future day.”

Which, by order, was read the first time.

The memorial of Ephraim Blaine, Deputy Commissary General of Purchase for the Continental Army, was read the first time and ordered to be delivered to the Assembly for their perusal. Col. Jones is appointed for this purpose, who, being returned, reported that he had delivered the same according to order.

Adjourned till to-morrow, 10 o'clock, A. M.

SATURDAY, A. M., December 20th, 1777.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

On motion,

The resolution of Council of the 29th of October, with the concurrence of the House of Assembly, delivered the last evening, was read, and, upon consideration, the following message was drawn up at the table and agreed to be sent to the House of Assembly, to wit :

Gentlemen :

We received a resolution by member of your House last evening concurring in a resolution of the 29th of October last, for the appointment of two several committees for adjusting the accounts due to the Militia of the State for former service, and referred to, among other things, in our message to you of the 10th instant, but without any alteration in the form of that part of the resolution respecting the report to be made by these committees. When the Council adopted this resolution, it was a doubt with them whether your House could or would have been formed in the course of the year, and therefore extremely uncertain when a General Assembly would meet ; but this being obviated, this Council took an early opportunity to lay the whole before you, wishing you to make further provision and supply the irregularity of a proceeding adopted from necessity. But as the House of Assembly have not done more than return a general concurrence, the Council beg leave to recommend to the Assembly a reconsideration of that resolution, and submit whether it is not necessary to direct the report to be made to the General Assembly, in order the allowances therein may receive such approbation as is usual in such cases, and that it may be a voucher in the State's account against Congress, without which sanction, we doubt, it will not be considered a proper voucher. The demand of the State will be considerable, and a risque of this sort should be avoided while in our power. We beg leave, also, to remind you that you have not acted upon all the resolutions of the 29th of October last. A material one is omitted, to wit : that which recommends it to the President to draw for the balance of the ten thousand pounds emitted for the support of the State and apply the same to discharge the debts to be ascertained by the committees aforesaid.

Ordered, That Mr. Baning deliver the same.

Who, being returned, reported that he had delivered the same according to order.

Adjourned till 3 o'clock, P. M.

EODEM DIE, P. M.

Resolved, That Messrs. Cæsar Rodney, James Sykes, and Eleazar M. Coombs be a committee to state an account of the monies advanced by the State, or on the credit thereof, for recruiting the Delaware Battalion in the two last campaigns, and of the expenditures of the same; and also to state an account of expenditures by this State for and in behalf of the United States, and that the said committee be empowered to send for persons, papers and things.

On motion,

Resolved, That the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas for Kent County do deliver the ancient Seal of the said County, dated '83, used in his office, unto the Vice-President or Commander-in-Chief of the State, the same seal being established as the Great Seal of this State, until a new one is made and delivered to the Commander-in-Chief, and then it is ordered that the seal aforesaid be redelivered to the Prothonotary.

WHEREAS the two months limited for the service of the 600 Militia ordered to be raised by a resolution of the Council of the 29th October last, for the protection and defence of the State, is near expiring, and the present situation of the public affairs in the State requires that a standing body of the Militia be kept up ; therefore

Mr. Stout, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted, and returned to the Chair the resolution of the Council for the appointment of Cæsar Rodney, James Sykes, and Eleazar McCombs, to be a committee to state an account of the monies advanced by this State, or on the credit thereof, for recruiting the Delaware Battalion in the two last campaigns, and of the expenditures of the same, and of the expenditures of this State in behalf of the United States. Also the resolution of Council for the delivery of the ancient Seal of Kent County to the Vice-President. And also the resolution of Council for continuing 600 Militia in the service of the State for other two months, unless sooner discharged by the Commander-in-Chief, with the concurrence of the House of Assembly to each of the said resolutions.

The bill entitled "An act to remedy the loss of divers Public Seals of Office in the County of New Castle," and the bill entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for printing and emitting fifteen thousand pounds in Bills of Credit of this State, to be let out on loan, and for striking the further sum of ten thousand pounds in such bills for the use of this State, and for providing a fund for sinking the same,'" being severally examined and compared, the Council agree that the same be enacted into laws.

Which, by order, was read the first time.

By special order the same was read the second time, and several amendments were proposed and agreed to. The said message and amendments are as follows, to wit :

1. In the general account for New Castle County, No. 1 and line 4 from the top, dele the words [bounty in Jerseys,] and insert instead thereof [pay and retained rations in September, 1777.]
2. After the charge, in same account, by Capt. William Robinson, No. 3, insert [of which, it appears by his account, that he received of George Latimer, the Paymaster, £ 72 : 10 : 0.]
3. After the charge, in same account, by William Woodland, No. 14, insert [of which, it appears by his account, that he received of George Latimer, the Paymaster, £ 10 : 0 : 0.]
4. After the charge, in same account, by Leonard Vandegrift, No. 20, insert [of which, it appears by his account, that he received of Captain Peter Hyatt £ 3 : 0 : 0.]
5. In the same account, under the head Col's Cantwell's Battalion, No. 4, Captain William Moody's Pay-roll, £ 158 : 10 : 10, deduct 35s., a charge of three weeks' service of John Moaris.
6. In the general account for Kent County, No. 1 and line 2d from the top, dele the words and figures [Charles Eustace, for medicines for said troop, £ 20.]

The said message follows in these words, viz :

Gentlemen :

The reasons inducing the Council to propose to your honorable House the amendments to the report of the committee for adjusting the accounts of the Militia of New Castle and Kent Counties for past services, herewith sent, are as follow, to wit :

As to the first amendment, for that the charge, as stated in the general account, is not warranted by the voucher, it being for pay and retained rations, instead of a bounty in Jerseys.

As to the second amendment, the Council conceive it necessary to show upon the face of the general account the sum that the party charging hath already received ; otherwise he may receive a certificate from the President for the whole sum there carried out, which will entitle him to the payment thereof, therefore he will be in part paid twice for the same service.

As to the third and fourth amendments, the same reasons as in the second.

As to the fifth amendment, it appears by the information of one of the field officers of that battalion, Major Vandyke, that the charge of 35s. made for John Mearis, in Captain Moody's account, for three weeks' service, is wrong, and ought not to be allowed, he never having performed any such service.

As to the sixth amendment, it appears that the same charge is made and allowed in Captain Carty's account, therefore ought not to be separately made by Doctor Charles Eustace.

Ordered, That the same be transcribed, and that the message be signed by the Speaker.

Ordered, That Mr. Hyatt deliver the same, with the amendments and Militia accounts, to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Hyatt, being returned, reported that he had delivered the same according to order.

Adjourned till Monday morning, 10 o'clock.

"sensible of the honor done me by the appointment ; but, as I
"am too conscious of my own inability to suppose your expectation will be answered by my acceptance, I hope I shall be "excused. I think, nevertheless, that at a time like this it is the "duty of every member of society to take such part in the civil line as shall be assigned him by government, if tolerably qualified; therefore, if the General Assembly cannot fix upon some other person more equal to that important duty, I shall, tho' with the greatest diffidence, accept—in full confidence, however, that your honors will afford me every necessary aid in the due execution of the laws and otherwise supporting the civil government as now established under the authority of the people; and as the provision made for the President is by no means an ample one, that the General Assembly would not wish to add to the sacrifice I have already made by much more than ought to fall to the share of any one member of the community.

FRIDAY, A. M., April 10th, 1778.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the following resolutions of that House, viz :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

“ THURSDAY, P. M., April 9th, 1778.

“ WHEREAS the honorable the Continental Congress, on the 22d day of November last, among other things did resolve as follows, viz :

“ And whereas the obstruction of the course of justice in any State may not only prove injurious to its citizens, but also to the circulation and credit of the currency of such State, and of the United States,

“Resolved therefore, That it be recommended to the several States forthwith to take effectual care that justice be duly administered within their respective jurisdictions, as well for the recovery of debts as for the punishment of crimes and misdemeanors.”

“And this House, taking the said recommendation into consideration, after some time spent thereon, came to the following resolutions :

“1. That nothing so effectually tends to the preservation and happiness of a State, and the peace and advantage of the inhabitants, as the impartial administration of justice and due execution of the laws, which blessing can only be obtained or enjoyed by a wise and judicious appointment of persons to fill the several Courts of judicature in the same.

“2. That it appears to this House that the late appointment of Judges and Justices for some of said Courts hath not produced the said salutary effects, inasmuch as the place of residence of some is by no means calculated for the most easy and convenient administration of justice ; others of them, so appointed, have neglected to accept of the places to which they were appointed, and, being unfriendly to the freedom and independence of the United States, and the Government of this State in particular, have fled to the open enemies thereof ; and many of them that did accept have neglected to enforce the laws of the State, to punish treason and traitorous practices, to preserve the peace, to punish harbourers of deserters, to prevent discriminating between Continental Currency and the Bills of Credit emitted under the authority of the King of Great Britain, and too generally neglected to attend the Courts of Justice, thereby causing much confusion and dissatisfaction among the inhabitants of this Government ; and some of them have been convicted of a breach of the penal laws of the State, thereby rendering themselves unworthy of so important a trust.

“3. That the appointment of two of the Judges of the Supreme Court of this State who inhabit any one county thereof is inconvenient, and tends to discourage persons who think themselves aggrieved by the determinations of inferior judicatures from seeking redress.

“4. That it is the opinion of this House that the resignation

"of William Killen and John Cook, Esquires, of their commissions of Justices of the said Supreme Court (as they both reside in the same county), is the only legal way whereby the Legislature of this State may be enabled to remedy the inconvenience mentioned in the last resolution, by the appointment of one person residing in each county to be Justices of the said Court.

"5. That the Clerk of this House forthwith send copies of the two last resolutions to William Killen and John Cook, Esq'rs.

"6. That the General Assembly address the President of this State, desiring him to displace such of the present Judges and Justices of this State as he shall have good reason to believe have been guilty of any of the misdemeanors above recited."

Which resolutions were, by order, read.

The Council now resumed the consideration of the bill for regulating and limiting the prices of sundry articles of produce, &c., and after some time spent therein, ordered to lie over for further consideration.

Mr. Craghead, a member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and returned to the Chair the Militia accounts of this State and the six amendments proposed thereto by the Council, three of which that House acceded to, and the remaining three they disagreed to, and the Council thereupon receded therefrom.

The House of Assembly also proposed the following addition to be made to the general account of the Militia of Kent County, to wit :

[46. William Hudson, per account, £5 : 10 : 1.]

To which the Council agreed.

The committee appointed to take into consideration a resolve of Congress of the 3d of September last respecting the importing or otherwise procuring a supply of arms, tents, &c., now delivered their report at the table, which, by order, was read the first time.

Mr. Hall, a member from the House of Assembly, attending at the door, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the following message from the Assembly to the Council, viz :

Gentlemen :

"The House of Assembly have taken into consideration the amendments proposed by your honorable House to the bill entitled 'An act for the further security of the Government,' and are sorry to say they cannot accede to divers of the same amendments, and therefore propose to your honorable House, as the most expeditious way of determining this business, the appointment of committees of both Houses to confer on the subject matter of the said amendments, who may report thereon."

Which, by order, was read the first time.

By special order the same was read the second time, and, on motion,

Resolved, That an answer to the said message be drawn up.

Which was accordingly done at the table, and is as follows, to wit :

Gentlemen :

The Council have considered your message of this day relative to the amendments proposed by the Council to the bill entitled "An act for the further security of the Government," and cannot concur in your proposition of committees of conference at this stage of the business, as we apprehend the more regular and expeditious mode would be for your honorable House to have sent the bill back to the Council with your accession to such of said amendments as your House concur in, and the reasons which induced you to reject the others. Those, perhaps, might induce the Council to recede from the amendments which you reject. If not, then a conference might be regularly brought about.

Which, by order, was read and approved of.

Ordered, That the same be signed by the Speaker of the Council.

Which was done accordingly.

Ordered, That Mr. Clowes wait on the House of Assembly with the said answer.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

SATURDAY, April 11th, 1778.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

Mr. Clowes reported that he had delivered to the House of Assembly the answer from the Council to the message of the Assembly agreeable to the order of yesterday.

The resolutions of the House of Assembly respecting the administration of Justice, Judges, and Justices were, by order, read the second time, and thereupon

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to take the said resolutions into consideration and report thereon.

On motion, Messrs. Vandyke, Jones, and Collins are appointed a committee for this purpose.

The report of the committee appointed to take into consideration the resolve of Congress of the 3d of September last, respecting the importing or otherwise procuring a supply of arms, tents, &c., was now, by order, read the second time, and, after some consideration had thereon, that part of the report which related to the fitting out vessels for the importing of arms, &c., was disapproved of, and the other parts were referred to the same committee, to draw up a set of resolutions, founded thereon, to be adopted by the Council, and make report in the afternoon.

On motion of Mr. Hyatt for leave of absence till Tuesday next, the same is granted to him.

On motion of Mr. Conwell for leave of absence till Monday next, the same is granted to him.

Ordered, That the Militia accounts of this State, together with the papers and vouchers, be returned to the House of Assembly in order to be signed by the Speaker of that House, and that it be recommended to that House to provide for the payment and discharge of said accounts.

Mr. Jones is appointed to deliver the same to the House of Assembly; who, being returned, reported that he had delivered the same according to order.

Adjourned till Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

MONDAY, April 13th, 1778.

The Council met, but a sufficient number of members to form a House not attending, the Council adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

TUESDAY, April 14th, 1778.

The Council met. Present all the members except Messrs. Hyatt, Conwell, and Clowes.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair "An act for establishing a Militia within this State," which, by order, was read the first time.

The same member also delivered to the Chair the bill for the further security of the Government, and the amendments proposed thereto by the Council, some of which the House of Assembly had acceded to, and disagreed to the others; with an answer from the House of Assembly to a message from the Council, assigning their reasons for disagreeing to the same, which follows in these words, viz :

"Gentlemen :

"When we proposed to your honorable House the appointment of a committee of conference on the subject matter of the amendments proposed by you to the bill for the further security of the Government, we had in view the dispatch of business only ; but as you were not pleased to agree with our proposed conference, we now send you the said bill, with our reasons for not acceding to such of your amendments as have been rejected by this House.

"Your proposed amendment for leaving out the word [May], in the 13th line of the first page, and inserting instead thereof the word [July], we cannot agree to, because we think it is now time

“for every inhabitant of this State to determine within himself “whether he will be for or against it. But as the first of May is “too short a time to carry the law into execution, we now pro“pose an amendment to the amendment proposed by your hon“orable House, by leaving out the word [July] and inserting
“instead thereof the word [June].

“Your 6th proposed amendment, for leaving out the word “[defend], this House cannot accede to, because we think every “person who receives protection from the laws of this State
“ought to render his service in defence thereof.

“Your 7th amendment, for leaving out the words [and the “Constitution thereof as now established], we cannot agree to,
“because the Constitution of this State hath pointed out a way
“by which the same may be altered.

“Your 27th amendment, for leaving out the whole of the 6th
“enacting clause after the word [jurymen] and inserting instead “thereof [and under the aforesaid disabilities shall remain, &c.,]
“this House have not acceded to, because they are of opinion a “line of discrimination ought to be drawn between those who “now acknowledge their allegiance to this State and the Govern“ment thereof and those who refuse or neglect to do the same ;
“and every inhabitant of this State who shall neglect or refuse to “acknowledge his allegiance thereto, in the time limited by the “laws thereof, will not be entitled to the immunities and protec“tions of the same so long as he shall neglect giving testimony
“of his attachment and fidelity to the Constitution of this State,
“and ought not to be permitted to enjoy the privileges derived
“from its laws, until he give satisfaction that he hath not injured
“the freedom thereof.

“Your 32d amendment, proposing the leaving out of the “whole of the 10th enacting clause and instead thereof inserting
“[And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the Justices
“of the several Counties, &c.,] this House cannot agree to, for
“the same reason by them given for not acceding to the 27th “amendment.

“The other amendments proposed by your honorable House
“are acceded to by the House of Assembly.”

Which, by order, was read the first time.

The committee appointed to draw up a set of resolutions, founded on the report of the committee appointed to take into consideration a resolve of Congress of the 3d of September last, respecting the importing or otherwise procuring a supply of arms, &c., now delivered a set of resolutions at the table, which, by order, were read and approved of, and are as follows, viz :

Resolved, That the President be empowered to procure, on loan or purchase, for and in behalf of this State, any number of arms and quantity of ammunition that he may think necessary for the defence of the State the ensuing campaign.

Resolved also, That the President be requested to apply to the commanding officer of the Delaware Battalion for leave to detain under his enlistment a certain John Watkins, by trade an armourer (a soldier in said battalion), for the purpose of repairing the arms in the hands of the Militia, and also those belonging to the State.

Resolved also, That the President be requested to appoint one or more persons whose business shall be to enter into a contract with the said John Watkins for his labor and the use of his tools, at any sum not exceeding £15 per month and a soldier's Continental ration per day, and to provide a shop in or near the Town of Dover for the said Watkins to work in, and to superintend him in the said business.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, A. M., April 15th, 1778.

The Council met. Present all the members.

The answer from the Assembly to the message from the Council, setting forth their reasons for disagreeing to some of the amendments to the bill for the further security of the Government, was now read a second time, and the Council proceeded to the consideration of the amendments disagreed to by the House of Assembly severally, and, upon the question,

The Council receded from the 3d amendment and agreed to the month of June being inserted instead of the month of July.

As to the 6th, 7th and 27th amendments, the Council adhered to the same.

As to the 32d amendment, the Council adhered to the first and last part thereof, but receded from the clause requiring the members of Assembly and officers, &c., to take the oath, &c., within one month, &c.

As to the 33d amendment, the Council adhered to the same, with the alteration of the month of July for June, to make the same correspond with the first clause in the bill.

And thereupon Messrs. Collins and Vandyke were appointed a committee to draw up a message to the Assembly containing reasons for adhering to the amendments as aforesaid.

The committee to whom the resolutions of the House of Assembly of the 9th instant, respecting the administration of justice, &c., were referred, now delivered their report at the table, which, by order, was read the first time.

FRIDAY, A. M., April 17th, 1778.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

The Council proceeded in the consideration of the resolutions respecting the administration of justice, and agreed to further amendments.

Adjourned till 3 o'clock, P. M.

EODEM DIE, P. M.

The Council met.

Mr. Hyatt now reported the delivery of the papers given to him in charge to the House of Assembly according to the order of yesterday.

The committee appointed to draw up a message to the House of Assembly, stating the reasons of the Council for adhering to their amendments to the bill for the further security of the Government, disagreed to by the House of Assembly, now brought one in, which, being read and agreed to, is as follows, viz :

Gentlemen :

The Council, taking into consideration as well those amendments which they had proposed to the bill for the further security of the Government, and disagreed to by your honorable House, as the amendments proposed by your House to our third amendment, do recede from their 3d amendment and agree to insert the word [June] instead of the word [May], as in the bill.

As to their 6th amendment, they adhere to the same, for that the word [defend] may be construed by some to extend to bearing arms ; and although it is very just that whoever has protection under a government is bound to defend the same, yet that defence is not to be required but agreeable to law founded on the principles of the Constitution. It is well known that some inhabitants of this State are conscientiously scrupulous to bear arms in any case, and under the 10th article of the Bill of Rights are not to be compelled to yield personal service if they will pay an equivalent for the same.

As to their 7th amendment, they adhere to the same, for as much as the greater part of the articles of the Constitution are subject to an alteration by an express provision in the 30th article thereof, and no person should be compelled to support it as now established.

As to their 27th amendment, they adhere to the same, for that the words following the word [jurymen], in that clause of the bill, are too general and uncertain; and as it is not the intention of the House of Assembly, appearing from the 9th clause of the bill, to prevent those who do not take the test by the time limited therein when the disabilities are to take place from taking it any time after, the Council cannot foresee any advantage which can arise to the State by obliging such persons to produce vouchers.

As to the 32d amendment, the Council adhere to that part of it which proposes the leaving out of the bill the 9th enacting clause, the same being provided for in their 27th amendment, adhered to as aforesaid; and they also adhere to the latter clause, as proposed therein, which provides for persons under age at the time limited in the bill for taking the test to take the same within three months after, except as to the word [July], in the 3d line of the clause, instead of which insert the word [June], to make the same correspond with the first clause in the bill; but the Council recede from that part of the said amendment which directs members of Assembly and officers to take the oath, &c., within one month after publication, &c., rendered unnecessary by adopting the word [June] in the third amendment.

As to the 33d amendment, the Council adhere thereto, with the alteration of the word [July], in the 5th line of the clause, to the word [June], for that it is a necessary provision in consequence of the 27th amendment adhered to, and for that the clause which it is to supply is inaccurate and defective.

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and signed by the Speaker, which being done,

Ordered, That Mr. Conwell deliver the said message and bill, with the list of amendments, to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Clayton, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair a message from the President to the House of Assembly, founded on a letter which he had received from Governor Johnson, of Maryland, requesting that some of the Militia of this State might join and act with the several companies ordered by the State of Maryland for the purpose of covering the Continental stores purchased in these two States in their removal to the magazines, together with Governor Johnson's letter, which, by order, were read.

The same member also delivered the following resolution of the House of Assembly, founded on the President's message and Governor Johnson's letter, viz :

"IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,
"THURSDAY, P. M., April 16th, 1778.

"Resolved, That upon consideration of the present circumstances of the State, this House cannot expediently concur in the above mentioned message of his Excellency the President, and that Mr. Clayton wait on the Council and lay before them the said message and the letter therein referred to."

Which, by order, was read the first time.

The committee of the Council appointed to confer with a committee of the House of Assembly on a resolve of Congress of the 22d of November last, respecting the opening of subscriptions for the loan of money to the United States on Continental Loan-Office Certificates, now delivered their report at the table, which, by order, was read the first time.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

SATURDAY, A. M., April 18th, 1778.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

Mr. Conwell reported that he had delivered to the House of Assembly the message and bill, with its amendments, according to the order of yesterday.

The resolution of the House of Assembly, founded on the President's message and Governor Johnson's letter, was read a second time, and the following alteration or amendment was proposed and agreed to, viz :

Resolved, That it be recommended to the President to afford such aid from the Militia of this State, to act in conjunction with those of the State of Maryland, in covering the Continental stores purchased in this State and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland in their removal to the magazines, as he shall think may be spared from the State, having regard to the protection of the inhabitants and their property on the shore of the Delaware, and the reinforcing of General Smallwood, agreeable to his prior requisition.

Ordered, That Mr. Conwell return the resolution aforesaid, with the amendment aforesaid, for concurrence.

Adjourned till 3 o'clock, P. M.

EODEM DIE, P. M.

Mr. Peery, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the bill for the further security of the Government, with the amendments of the Council thereto.

The same member also delivered to the Chair the following answer from the House of Assembly to a message from the Council, to wit :

"Gentlemen :

"The House of Assembly have taken into their consideration your message of yesterday containing the reasons of your honorable House for adhering to divers amendments by you proposed to the bill for the further security of the Government, and cannot accede to any of the amendments therein mentioned to be adhered to by the Council, and therefore propose to your House the appointment of committees of both Houses to confer on the subject matter of the said amendments, to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon, who may report thereon."

Which, by order, was read, and the Council thereupon acceded to the proposition of the House of Assembly for the appointment of a committee of conferees on the subject matter of the amendments proposed by the Council to the bill for the further security of the Government, and named Messrs. Bassett and Baning on the part of the Council.

Ordered, That Mr. Conwell wait on the House of Assembly with the concurrence and appointment aforesaid.

The committee appointed to draw up a message to the House of Assembly, stating the reasons which induced the Council to reject the 2d and 6th resolves of the House of Assembly respecting the administration of justice, &c., now delivered one at the table, which, by order, was read the first time.

By special order the same was read a second time and ordered to be transcribed and signed by the Speaker, and follows in these words, to wit :

Gentlemen :

The Council have considered your resolution respecting the administration of Justice, Judges, &c., and have rejected the second and sixth for the following reasons, to wit :

The second, for that the same contains general charges against the officers of the State, and the allegations therein we conceive ought to have been communicated to the Council, by way of message, requesting that a mode of removal might be adopted by the General Assembly, or a joint committee of both Houses.

The sixth, because the officers to be removed on the address of the General Assembly ought to be named, otherwise the President would be obliged to inquire what persons should be removed, which would be to make him the judge, and not the General Assembly, to whom that right properly belongs under the Constitution of this State.

We apprehend that by the 23d article of the Constitution three modes are pointed out by which officers may be displaced, to wit: By impeachment before the Legislative Council ; conviction at common law, or on the address of the General Assembly. By the last, the General Assembly have a power to call such persons before them, inquire into their conduct, and, if they appear improper for such offices, to supercede them by a new appointment and address to the President to commission the persons so appointed.

The Council have proposed amendments to the third, fourth,

The first of these was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful navy, which was able to project its power into the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

The second was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful army, which was able to project its power into the interior of the continent. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

The third was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful economy, which was able to project its power into the world. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

The fourth was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful population, which was able to project its power into the world. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

The fifth was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful culture, which was able to project its power into the world. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

The sixth was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful technology, which was able to project its power into the world. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

The seventh was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful military, which was able to project its power into the world. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

The eighth was the fact that the United States had a large and powerful economy, which was able to project its power into the world. This was a significant advantage, as it allowed the United States to control the flow of trade between the Americas and Europe.

and fifth resolves, which are transmitted to your House herewith; the others they have acceded to.

Ordered, That Mr. Conwell wait on the House of Assembly with the foregoing message and resolves of the House of Assembly, with the amendments proposed thereto by the Council.

"Gentlemen :

"The Assembly have considered your message of the 18th of April, likewise the amendments proposed to their resolutions respecting the administration of justice, &c., and are of opinion that the reasons given by the honorable Council are insufficient to induce us to accede to the first and second amendments proposed ; therefore cannot recede from our second resolution, because the allegations therein mentioned we believe to be self-evident and well-attested facts, known to have been committed by several of the Judges and Justices in some of the counties within this State, and therefore were alleged generally, that those guilty of the facts mentioned therein may be more properly pointed out in an address to the President by the General Assembly ; neither has the honorable Council denied the facts therein mentioned, and if wholly rejected would make the resolutions testify that the appointment of two Judges of the Supreme Court, who resided in one county (though gentlemen of character), was the only grievance or inconvenience that hath been or now doth exist in the Executive Department, and that justice in every other part hath been duly administered, which, we believe, cannot be verified.

"The Assembly adhere to their third resolution, because no reason appears to them or is assigned by the Council for altering the same.

The same member likewise delivered to the Chair the Militia bill and the amendments proposed thereto by the Council ; some whereof the House of Assembly have rejected, and to others they have agreed, with an additional amendment proposed thereto by the House of Assembly, and the following message, to wit :

"Gentlemen :

"The House of Assembly, having considered the amendments proposed by your honorable House to the act entitled " 'An act for establishing a Militia within this State,' do agree to many of them, but cannot approve of all, the House still being of opinion that it is necessary to have two sub-lieutenants as well as one lieutenant in each county to carry into due execution the Militia law, have therefore rejected the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 12th, 17th, 27th, 40th, 45th, and 46th amendments, because, by admitting them, the advantages expected from those officers would be lost to the Militia.

"The House have disagreed to the 37th amendment, because they do not perceive any advantage from the variation of expression therein proposed by your honorable House. The 71st amendment is rejected, as being merely consequent to the 37th,

"The House agree, in part, with the Council in the 47th amendment, and propose, as an amendment to it, to leave out the particle [a], before the word [colonel], and adding the letter [s] to the end of the word [colonel]. That part of the proposed amendment for leaving out all the words following the word [regiments], in the fifth line of the 15th enacting clause, the House cannot agree to, as depending on the first amendment proposed by Council and rejected by the Assembly.

"The House have disagreed to the 61st amendment, because they are of opinion that the fine, as it stands in the bill, does not, by any means, exceed the offence that a commissioned officer would be guilty of in neglecting to attend his duty on alarms. The same reason influenced the House in rejecting the 62d amendment.

"The House, apprehending that the 21st section of the bill has already provided for the government of the Militia of this State, at all times and places, as well within as without the State, by such articles of war only as may be established by the General Assembly, and also apprehending that the honorable Continental Congress have fully provided, in their articles of “The 81st amendment the House of Assembly cannot accede to, because they conceive that sufficient provision is made for preventing any imposition and injustice in 14th section, 15th page. They further conceive that if the amendment proposed was agreed to, such delays might and would happen in the courts of law as would defeat the intention of the act.

The same member also delivered to the Chair the following notice of that House, to wit :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

“ On motion,

“ Resolved, That it is the intention of this House to adjourn

“ this resolution.”

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, A. M., May 6th, 1778.

The Council met. Present all the members, except Mr. Jones.

Mr. Clark, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair “A bill to increase the number of the Justices of the Peace in each of the Counties of this State.”

The Council now resumed the consideration of the Militia bill and such of the amendments which had been proposed by the Council to the House of Assembly and either disagreed to by the Assembly generally or further amendments proposed and have receded from several of their said amendments, whereupon a second paper of amendments was proposed by the Council to the amendments of the House of Assembly, and an answer from the Council to the message of the House of Assembly of yesterday, stating their reasons for adhering to their other amendments, was drawn up at the table, which, being read and approved of, is as follows, viz :

Gentlemen :

Upon a review of the Militia bill and such of the amendments which had been proposed by the Council to your honorable House, and either disagreed to by you generally or further amendments proposed, the Council have receded from their several amendments which were made for the purpose of excluding the appointment of such officers as sub-lieutenants, upon the supposition that they may be, as you suppose, necessary officers for carrying the law into due and immediate execution, or lest any failure in the execution might be imputed to such an alteration in the bill. But the Council cannot agree to your fourth amendment, proposing the leaving out of the word [schoolmasters], mentioned in our 31st amendment, as we consider the very few engaged in that service so necessary for the education of the youth of the State that every encouragement should be given to them to pursue that business with the strictest attention. Every parent who reflects upon or regards the welfare of his offspring, every guardian of the rights of a free people, must wish to encourage and promote learning; and such has been the fatal effects of the times on schools and seminaries of learning in this State that we think it worthy the attention of the Legislature to afford at least the proper exemption to the teachers in them. But lest this exemption might be improperly used by setting up pretended schools, we have proposed an addition after the word [schoolmasters], as in No. 4 of our second amendments.

The Council adhere to their 37th amendment, as well as to the transposing of the paragraph, for that by our amendment it will be connected with a provision of the like nature as to the lengthening of the time for the election of the company officers ; for that the Council think it too short as it stands in the bill.

As to the 44th amendment, the Council are of opinion that the amendment proposed thereto by your House will raise the fine beyond the abilities of most of the poorer delinquents to pay ; it will rather tend to prevent the execution of the law than further it. An additional amendment is proposed for dividing the quantum of the fine, and doubt not that it will appear so to your honorable House on further consideration. As to our 47th amendment, we apprehend that we have acceded to it in the form the House of Assembly intended it should be, though somewhat different from the form pointed out in your amendment thereto.

The Council have acceded to the first part of your amendment stated in No. 8, but they cannot agree to the latter part thereof, as they are of opinion that persons qualified to do the duties of lieutenants or sub-lieutenants could not be had to accept of a temporary appointment by the President, subject to a sudden removal by the General Assembly; and the Council apprehend it necessary to strengthen the hands of the Executive Department, to render it useful, and give a necessary influence for the due execution of the laws.

As to the clause in our 81st amendment, providing an appeal from the determination of a single Justice upon a fine that may amount to one hundred and seventy pounds or more on a single person, we cannot recede therefrom, as we think it a very necessary guard against the fallibility of such a judicature and consistent with the spirit of our laws, which we ought not to loose sight of lest precedents of this sort should take place and destroy that liberty and property we are so anxiously contending for and seeking after. The delay cannot be great, unless we suppose the Courts of Justice, upon the appeal, shall not think themselves bound by the express provision made for a speedy determination, which is not to be inferred; for, if so, the same suspicion will lie against the single Judge, who will otherwise act without control or review.

The Council adhere to their 82d amendment, for that they have their doubts as to the operation of the Militia law upon the prior act for the more speedily completing the quota of troops to be raised in this State for the Continental army; and if the Judge or Judges, who are to determine thereon hereafter, should doubt also, they will be subjected to difficulties which will be removed by adopting our amendment; and as the House of Assembly, from their reason assigned for rejecting the amendment, shew expressly that it is not their intention to invalidate that act, they can have no objection to remove the doubts of the Council by acceding to the amendment.

As to the 10th amendment, proposed by the House of Assembly to be added to the 13th section of the bill, the Council agree to the same, but have thought it just and necessary that a further addition should be made there, as set down in the further amendment accompanying this answer, No. 7, providing for such among us who may be conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms in any case, agreeable to the spirit as well as the express words of the roth clause in our declaration of rights, for that the Council are of opinion that the several fines that those sort of people will be subjected to under the present law will be a full equivalent for their protection and defect of personal service, independent of the accumulated fine for not going out upon a second call of the same class in any one year.

The Council think it unnecessary to particularize each of their further amendments, as those unnoticed depend on the like reasons assigned on their similar amendments, and therefore refer your honorable House to the further amendments set down in their second paper of amendments delivered with the answer.

Ordered, That the said answer and amendments be transcribed and sent by Mr. Hyatt to the House of Assembly.

The committee to whom was referred the petition from sundry inhabitants of Murtherkill and Jones' Hundreds, praying the aid of the Legislature in establishing guards, &c., now made their report, which, by order, was read the first time.

And, by special order, the same was read a second time, and thereupon resolved, as follows, viz :

1. That the President or Commander-in-Chief be authorized and empowered forthwith to raise three companies in this State, to wit : one company in the County of New Castle, to consist of sixty men, non-commissioned officers and privates, under the command of one captain and two lieutenants ; one company in Kent County, to consist of seventy-five men, non-commissioned officers and privates, under the command of one captain and two lieutenants ; and one company in Sussex County, to consist of forty men, non-commissioned officers and privates, under the command of one captain and one lieutenant. The said captains and lieutenants to be appointed and commissioned by the President or Commander-in-Chief.

2. That the said officers and men shall be entitled to and receive Continental pay and rations, and shall be subject to the rules and articles of war, provided for the regulation of the Militia of this State, during their continuance in this service.

3. That the President or Commander-in-Chief be empowered to discharge the whole, or any one, or any part of the said companies when he shall think proper.

4. That the said companies be stationed near to or along the shores in the respective counties of this State, in such places and in such manner as the President or Commander-in-Chief shall from time to time think fit to order and direct.

5. That the duty of the said companies respectively shall be to prevent the enemy and refugees from landing in the State; to apprehend, take up and secure any person or persons going to, coming from, or trading with the enemy or the said refugees, together with all their goods, merchandise and provisions, and the teams and boats in which the same be, and to render a true account thereof to the President or Commander-in-Chief, and deliver the same to his order or appointment.

6. That the President or Commander-in-Chief be empowered to appoint one or more suitable persons in each county to furnish the company of such county with the rations allowed; and that it be recommended to the House of Assembly to make provision for the execution of the aforesaid plan.

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and sent by Mr. Hyatt to the House of Assembly for their concurrence.

Mr. Waples, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair an account of Thomas Wilds, Goaler of Kent County, for expenditures on behalf of several prisoners and deserters in his custody, together with his petition to the General Assembly for the payment thereof, and the proceedings of the House of Assembly on the said petition.

On motion, by order, the bill to increase the number of Justices of the Peace, &c., was read the first time.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

1. The first of these is the fact that the patient is not in any way in the habit of doing anything but what he is told to do.

8. The eighth is the fact that the patient is not in any way in the habit of doing anything but what he is told to do.

THURSDAY, A. M., May 7th, 1778.

The Council met. Present all the members, except Mr. Jones.

Mr. Hyatt now reported that he had delivered to the House of Assembly the several papers given in charge to him according to the order of yesterday.

The report of the committee appointed to draw up an answer to the message of the House of Assembly of the 23d of April, was, by order, read a second time, and several amendments were proposed and agreed to. The said answer is as follows, viz :

Gentlemen :

The Council have considered your message in answer to theirs of the 18th April last, respecting their amendments to the resolves of your House relative to the administration of justice, &c., and cannot help expressing their surprise at your persisting to call upon the Council to join in a general charge of guilt upon officers of justice, holding commissions for different terms during good behaviour, without knowing the particular persons alluded to therein, or they, or any of them, called upon or heard as to the matters alleged. This conduct we hold to be incompatible with the station we are in as the Supreme Court of Judicature with respect to the trial of offenders against the State, and we do conceive it the indispensable duty of Courts and Judges to condemn none unheard. We apprehend it is immaterial whether those facts be well attested or not. In the present stage of the business it is sufficient that they are alleged by the Assembly. This is a foundation for an inquiry. The persons charged are, by the Constitution and tenure of their offices, entitled to a hearing before conviction. The exercise of this power belongs to the General Assembly, and not to the President, therefore highly improper to be pointed out in an address to the President, as you propose in your message, until some hearing thereon, agreeable to the principles of our Constitution.

It is also improper for the Council to deny the facts mentioned in your second resolve, for their truth or falsehood ought regularly to be inquired into before the persons accused, if they choose, on being summoned, to appear. The House of Assembly may either impeach the officers before the Council, or resolve that they be called on to answer the charges against them; it would, therefore, be ill-judged by the Council to make themselves a party in the question by a denial of the facts. It is sufficient that we have pointed out a mode in our message, now before your House, to which we beg leave to refer you.

We do not think that a total rejection of the second resolve, in which the grievances are pointed out, would make the resolutions testify that the only grievance existing is the appointment of two Justices of the Supreme Court in one county, and that justice in every other part has been duly administered. Nevertheless, if the House of Assembly conceive it will receive such construction, the Council will have no objection to the total leaving out of the first resolve and the preceding preamble, which, we do admit, are not necessary to precede the resolution respecting the Judges of the Supreme Court.

The Council proposed an amendment to your third resolve, for that, in their opinion, the reason therein mentioned does not exist. The Clerks of the Supreme Court in the respective counties of this State may, and usually have, all kinds of remedial writs in their hands calculated for removing the determinations of inferior judicatures, so that the want of a Judge resident for this purpose doth not appear so proper for the foundation of the subsequent resolve; therefore the Council cannot, for a reason which they know does not exist, agree to request the Justices of the Supreme Court who reside in one county to resign their commissions; yet, for a reason which at present does exist, they have concurred in such a request, and it must be a matter of small moment to your honorable House whether our concurrence with you proceeds from the same cause or motive or no, as the same end will be effected.

The Council have not at this time agreed to your proposition of a committee of conference on the subject matter of the second resolve aforesaid. We flatter ourselves that your House, on a reconsideration of the amendments and the principles on which they were proposed, will be inclined to adopt them.

Ordered, That the foregoing answer be transcribed and sent by Mr. Hyatt to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Hyatt, being returned, reported the delivery of the same according to order.

On motion, by order, the bill to increase the number of Justices, &c., was read a second time, and an amendment was proposed and agreed to.

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and sent by Mr. Hyatt, together with the said bill, to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Hyatt reported the delivery thereof according to order.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

FRIDAY, A. M., May 8th, 1778:

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

Mr. Derrickson, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair two messages from the House of Assembly to the Council, which were read, and are as follows, viz :

"Gentlemen :

"This House have received the answer of the Council to a message from this House respecting the amendments to sundry resolutions of this House, of the 9th of April last, for the administration of justice, and have acceded to the same amendments."

"Gentlemen :

"The House of Assembly have taken into their consideration the Militia bill and the second paper of amendments, with the message accompanying the same, and have disagreed to the 7th amendment proposed in the said second paper, and still continue to adhere to their resolution of rejecting divers of the amendments proposed by the Council in the first paper, &c.;

“but for the dispatch of business the House of Assembly propose to your honorable House the appointment of committees to confer on the subject matter of those amendments.”

The same member also returned to the Chair the resolution of the Council for the establishing of guards, &c., concurred in by the House of Assembly, who proposed an additional resolve thereto, which was read and concurred in, and is as follows, viz :

“Resolved, That his Excellency, the President, be empowered and required to draw out of the Loan Offices of this State, or any of them, such sum or sums of money as he may deem necessary for the carrying into execution the aforesaid resolution for raising the said three companies of guards, and that this House will devise ways and means for replacing the same.”

Ordered, That Mr. Hyatt return the same to the House of Assembly, concurred in by the Council.

Mr. Hyatt, being returned, reported that he had delivered the same according to order.

A message from the President, inclosing a resolution of Congress recommending the passage of a law offering pardon to such of the inhabitants or subjects of the State as have levied war against any of the States, or adhered to, aided or abetted the enemy, and shall surrender themselves by a limited time, was delivered at the table.

On motion, by order, the foregoing message and resolution were severally read the first time. The said message is in these words, viz :

“Gentlemen of the Legislative Council :

“I just received a packet from the President of Congress, inclosing a resolution of that honorable body recommending to the several States the enacting laws, &c., for granting pardons, &c. I have sent your honors, with this message, a copy of the above-mentioned resolution for your consideration.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

Mr. Derrickson, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and returned to the Chair the Militia bill, with the several amendments of each House to the said bill; and also delivered the bill to increase the number of Justices, &c., signed by the Speaker of the House of Assembly.

The message from the House of Assembly, respecting the appointment of committees to confer on the subject matter of the amendments to the Militia bill, was, by order, read a second time, and thereupon the following answer to the said message was drawn up at the table, viz :

Gentlemen :

The Council have taken into consideration your message of yesterday, and would gladly embrace every method calculated for the dispatch of the public business, particularly the bill for establishing a Militia, and have no other objection to the appointment of a committee of conference as to the disputed amendments proposed to that bill than the declaration of your House, in their message proposing such a conference, that you still continue to adhere to your resolution of rejecting those amendments. The Council apprehend the design of such a conference is to hear the reasons for and against the points in dispute between the two Houses, and have the opinion of this select part of them thereon reported. If your honorable House consider the points open for discussion, and that your conferees are not absolutely bound to reject every of those amendments proposed, we are ready and willing to have them discussed and reported upon by such a committee; and that no delay may be, the Council have named Messrs. Vandyke and Bassett the conferees on this occasion, on the supposition that the committee to be appointed by you will be at liberty, as aforesaid.

Resolved, That Mr. Vandyke wait on the House of Assembly with the foregoing answer and inform them of the said appointment.

Mr. Lewis, a member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and returned to the Chair the foregoing answer, concurred in by the House of Assembly, and the following appointment of that House, viz :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

“ SATURDAY, P. M., May 9th, 1778.

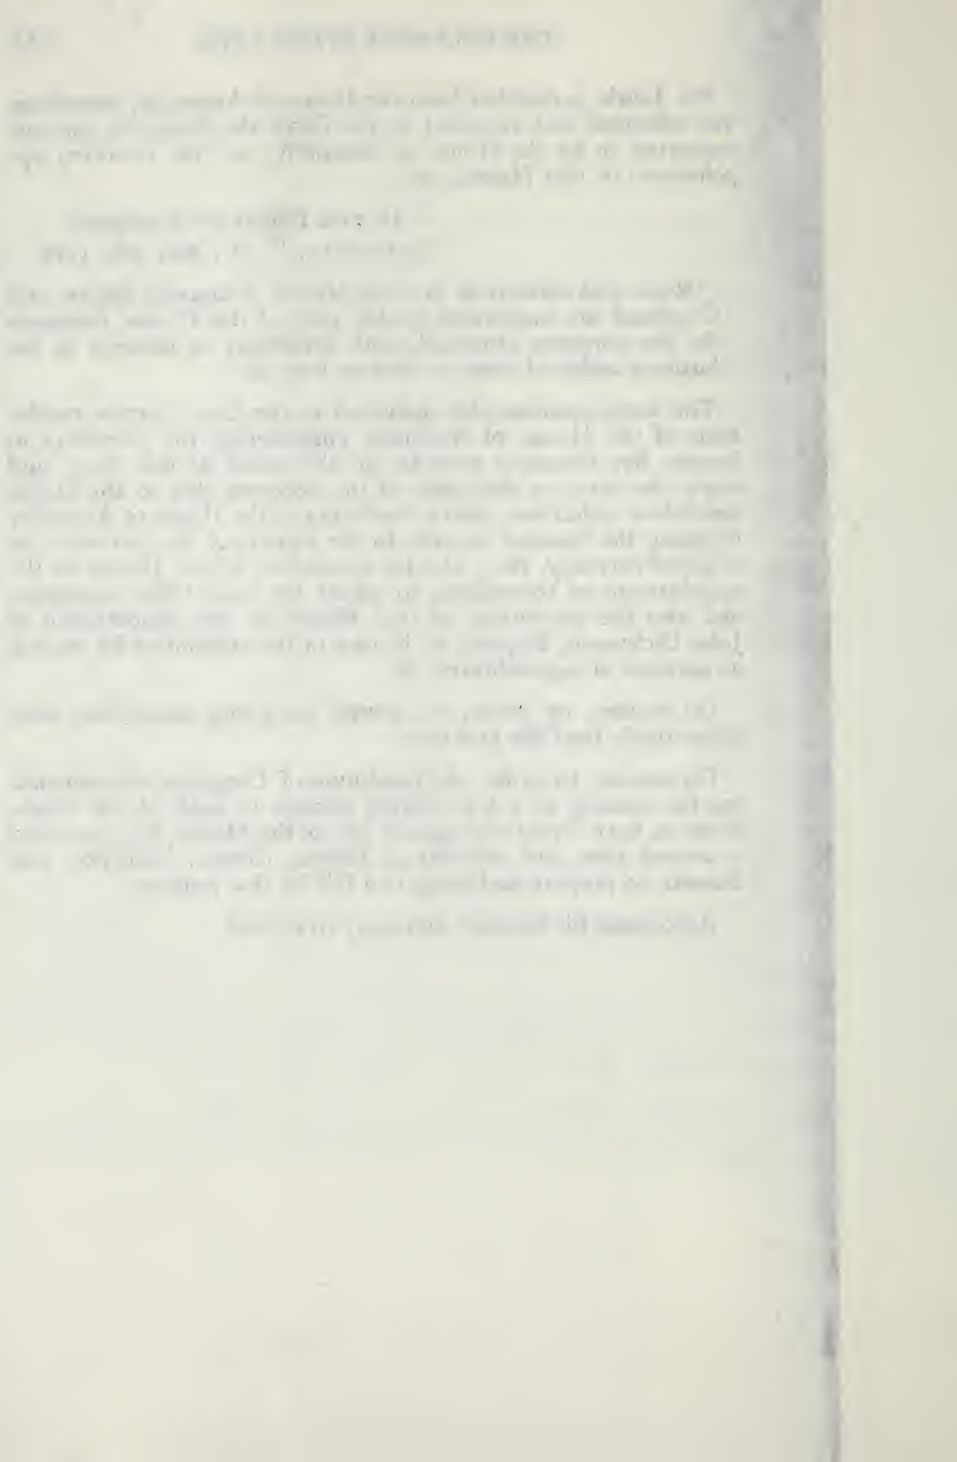

“ Read and concurred in ; and Messrs. Patterson, Bryan, and Craghead are appointed, on the part of this House, conferees for the purposes aforesaid, with directions to proceed in the business assigned them as soon as may be.”

The same member also delivered to the Chair certain resolutions of the House of Assembly empowering the President to borrow five thousand pounds, on the credit of the State, and apply the same in discharge of the accounts due to the Militia heretofore called out ; also a resolution of the House of Assembly directing the Speaker to write to the signers of the last emission of paper currency, &c. ; also the resolutions of that House for the appointment of committees to adjust the Loan Office accounts ; and also the resolutions of that House for the appointment of John Dickinson, Esquire, to be one of the committee for stating an account of expenditures, &c.

On motion, by order, the several foregoing resolutions were respectively read the first time.

On motion, by order, the resolution of Congress, recommending the passing of a law offering pardon to such of the inhabitants as have levied war against any of the States, &c., was read a second time and referred to Messrs. Clowes, Vandyke, and Bassett, to prepare and bring in a bill for that purpose.

Adjourned till Monday morning, 10 o'clock.

MONDAY, May 11th, 1778.

The Council met. Present all the members, except Messrs. Clowes, Conwell, and Jones.

The committee appointed to confer with the committee of the House of Assembly on the subject matter of the amendments to the Militia bill, now delivered their report at the table, which was read and agreed to, and thereupon the following message, founded on the said report, was drawn up at the table, viz :

Gentlemen :

Upon the report of the conferees on the subject of the several amendments to the Militia bill in dispute between the two Houses, the Council have agreed to the report, as follows, to wit :

That the further amendment, as proposed by the House of Assembly in their second paper of amendments, be adopted after striking out the word [white], as mentioned therein, and added to the 31st amendment, proposed by the Council in their first paper. That the 81st amendment of the Council in their first paper shall be a part of the bill upon striking out the words [except in extraordinary cases, of which the Court shall judge]. That the 82d amendment of the Council, mentioned in their first paper, shall stand and be inserted in the bill ; and that the 7th amendment of the Council, in their second paper, be receded from. So that, if your House shall approve of the report of the conferees as afore-said, the bill may be immediately engrossed and enacted into a law.

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and sent by Mr. Hyatt to the House of Assembly, together with the Militia bill and its several amendments.

Adjourned till to-morrow morning, 10 o'clock.

TUESDAY, A. M., May 12th, 1778.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

Mr. Hyatt now reported the delivery of the several papers committed to his charge according to the order of yesterday:

On motion, by order, the bill to enable Charles Pope, his heirs, &c., to erect a bridge over Duck Creek, was read the first time.

By special order the same was read a second time, and, for the better information of the Council, thereupon

Resolved, That a committee of two be appointed to go to the place where the said bridge is proposed to be erected and view and report their opinion thereon.

Messrs. Collins and Hyatt are appointed, on the part of the Council, for this purpose, and thereupon a message from the Council to the House of Assembly, proposing the appointment of a like number of the members of that House to join the said committee of the Council, was drawn up at the table, and follows in these words, viz :

Gentlemen :

The Council, upon the best information they have been able to obtain respecting the propriety of giving privilege to Lieutenant Colonel Charles Pope to erect a bridge over Duck Creek at the distance of twenty feet above the public wharf there, as proposed in the bill now before us, have reason to apprehend that the public as well as private interest may be considerably injured by placing the said intended bridge so near the same wharf, and below other wharves, storehouses and landing places heretofore much used for lumber of all kinds, and from the nature and situation of the ground along the creek below the public wharf always must be useful and necessary. The Council have also reason to believe that liberty of erecting a bridge across Duck Creek aforesaid above all the wharves, storehouses and landing places not more than ten or twelve rods distance higher up the creek, might be granted to Colonel Pope without apparent injury to the public or private interest, and nearly as convenient for him ; but, as neither the petitioner for the bridge or any of those against it, save one, and him on this day, have attended this House to enable them to determine satisfactorily thereon, the Council are desirous of the best information, and therefore propose to your honorable House the appointment of two or more of the members of each House to proceed to the place where, and view, and report their opinion thereon. This may be done in the course of an evening or morning, with but little trouble or loss of time, and for this purpose the Council have named Messrs. Hyatt and Collins on their part.

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and sent by Mr. Bassett to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Bassett, being returned, reported the delivery thereof according to order.

A member from the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the bill to increase the number of the Justices of the Peace, &c., signed by the Speaker of the House of Assembly.

Ordered, That the same be signed by the Speaker of the Council.

Which was done accordingly.

On motion,

Resolved, That the President or Commander-in-Chief affix the Great Seal of this State to the bill entitled "An act to increase the number of the Justices of the Peace in each of the Counties of this State."

On motion, by order,

The resolution of the House of Assembly, directing the Speaker to write to the signers of the last emission of paper currency, was read a second time and concurred in, and follows in these words, viz :

"IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

"FRIDAY, A. M., May 1st, 1778.

"WHEREAS it appears to this House that some of the monies
"emitted by an act of General Assembly of this State, entitled

"An act for printing and emitting fifteen thousand pounds in Bills of Credit of this State, to be let out on loan, and for striking the further sum of ten thousand pounds in such bills for the use of this State, and for providing a fund for sinking the same,' are still in the hands of several of the signers of the said currency in the County of New Castle ; therefore

"Resolved, That the Speaker be desired to write to the several signers of the said emission of paper currency within the said County of New Castle, requiring them to deliver such of the said monies as remain in their hands of the said emission to the Trustee of the Loan Office of the said county, agreeable to the said act, and that they make report of the sums in their hands respectively to the President of this State forthwith."

On motion, by order,

The resolution of the House of Assembly for borrowing the sum of 7,500 dollars upon the credit of the State, was read a second time and concurred in, and is as follows, viz :

"IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

"MONDAY, April 20th, 1778."

"The House resumed the consideration of the late Vice-President's message of the 13th of March last, and thereupon

"Resolved, That the sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars be borrowed upon the credit of this State, and that the President sign certificates to the person or persons lending the same.

"That this House will devise ways and means for the repayment of the said sum to the lender or lenders thereof, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum until the same be repaid.

"That the said sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars be put into the hands of Thomas Rodney, Esquire, for the purpose of completing the purchase of clothing for the Delaware Regiment ; and that the said Thomas Rodney be accountable for the expenditure thereof to the General Assembly, or to the President or Vice-President of the State for the time being in the vacation of Assembly, in order that the State may have the sum expended refunded by Congress."

Ordered, That Mr. Bassett wait on the House of Assembly with the two last mentioned resolutions concurred in respectively by the Council, and also the bill for increasing the number of the Justices of the Peace in each county of this State, signed by the Speaker of the Council, and the resolution for affixing the Great Seal to the same.

Mr. Bassett reported that he had waited on the House of Assembly and delivered the said papers according to order.

Mr. Molleston, a member of the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair a "Bill for raising one hundred and twenty thousand dollars for the service of the present year, by a general tax;" and also delivered the resolutions of the House of Assembly for the appointment of a State Treasurer, a Clothier General, and a Commissary General of Prisoners for this State, and then withdrew.

The resolutions of the House of Assembly, empowering the President to borrow five thousand pounds, on the credit of the State, and apply the same in discharge of the accounts due to the Militia heretofore called out, were, by order, read a second time and concurred in, and are as follows, viz :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,
“ SATURDAY, A. M., May 9th, 1778.

“ On motion,

“ Resolved, That the President or Commander-in-Chief of this State be authorized and empowered to borrow, on the credit of the State, the sum of five thousand pounds, and that he sign certificates to the person or persons who may lend the same, and this House will devise ways and means for the repayment to the lender or lenders thereof, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum until the same shall be repaid.

“ Resolved also, That the sum so to be borrowed be applied by the President or Commander-in-Chief, in such manner as he shall think best, in discharge of the accounts due to the Militia heretofore called out.”

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

THURSDAY, A. M., May 14th, 1778.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

The Council now proceeded in the consideration of the bill for the further security of the Government, and thereupon a second paper of amendments to the same was proposed, agreed to, and ordered to be transcribed and sent to the House of Assembly for their consideration and concurrence, with the following message, viz :

Gentlemen :

The Council now send you the bill for the further security, of the Government, with a second paper of amendments. By the report of the committee of conferees it appears that it was agreed between them that the words in dispute in the sixth amendment, proposed by the House, should be struck out of the bill and the words [and Constitution], mentioned in the 7th amendment, retained, and the words [the, as now established], struck out, which the Council have agreed to. You will perceive by the second paper of amendments that the Council have proposed an amendment to their 27th amendment, which, they hope, will be satisfactory and remove all objections ; but they beg leave to remind you that the 1st of June, the time limited for completing the administration of the test in the first instance, will be rather too short, either for the body of the people of the State to know the contents of the law, or the ministerial officers therein to perform their duty under it.

Ordered, That Mr. Hyatt return to the House of Assembly the resolution empowering the President to borrow five thousand pounds, on the credit of the State, and apply the same in discharge of the accounts due to the Militia heretofore called out, with the concurrence of the Council thereto ; and also the bill for the further security of the Government, with its several amendments, and the foregoing message.

Gentlemen :

The Council do agree to pass the bill for raising 120,000 dollars in the Delaware State for the service of the year 1778, by a general tax, into a law as soon as the blank therein for the name of the State Treasurer shall be determined upon a ballot by the two Houses, which the Council are ready to go into when it may be convenient to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Craghead, a member of the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair "The act for establishing a Militia within this State ;" and also the "Rules and articles for the better regulating of the Militia within the same," respectively signed by the Speaker of the House of Assembly.

the 12th instant, sent for our concurrence, are of opinion that, as to the first, it is unnecessary, as such an officer as State Treasurer will be expressly appointed by the tax bill, now before us; therefore, as to that officer, all that is wanting is to appoint the time of balloting for him. As to the second resolution, for the appointment of a Clothier General for the Delaware Regiment, we apprehend this was done by the appointment of Thomas Rodney, Esquire, in the resolutions, framed in your House and concurred in here, for the borrowing seven thousand five hundred dollars, on the credit of the State, and applying it for the purchase of clothing for that regiment, to which we beg leave to refer you. As to the third resolution, for the appointment of a Commissary of Prisoners, we agree to the same, and that such officer be elected by joint ballot.

The Council have been desirous of consulting Mr. Dickinson, as to his willingness to undertake the business of a committeeman of the general accounts between this State and the United States, but have not had the opportunity since the coming of your resolution for his appointment to this House; but as that gentleman complains much of his want of health, we are induced to think he will decline the appointment, or that his indisposition will delay the immediate going on with this business, therefore we have proposed another person to be inserted in his stead, to wit: Mr. Daniel Robertson, one conversant in accounts, and residing in the Town of Dover.

The Council have returned the resolve for the appointment of committees for settling the accounts of the General Loan Office, disagreed to in the form it now stands, as each committee is to consist of three persons only, and two of these three are to be named by the House of Assembly, and the other by the Council, by an express provision in the late act for the emitting of an additional sum of twenty-five thousand pounds in Bills of Credit in this State, which the Council apprehend was not attended to by your honorable House.

Ordered, That the several foregoing resolutions, together with the transcribed amendment and the above message relative thereto, be also sent by Mr. Conwell to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Conwell, being returned, reported the delivery of the several papers committed to his charge, according to order.

Mr. Adams, a member of the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and returned to the Chair the bill to prevent the inhabitants of this State from dealing and furnishing the enemies thereof with supplies, &c., with three amendments proposed thereto by the House of Assembly, which were read and severally disagreed to ; and thereupon a message from the Council to the House of Assembly, showing the reasons of their disagreement to the said amendments, was drawn up at the table, read and approved of, and is as follows, viz :

Gentlemen :

The Council having taken into consideration the three several amendments proposed by your honorable House to the bill to prevent dealing and furnishing the enemy with supplies, &c., have unanimously disagreed to them for the following reasons, to wit :

As to the first, for that no Prince or State, other than the French King, hath, as yet, to our knowledge, publicly avowed the independence of the United States, or entered into any treaty of commerce or alliance with them, and consequently ought not to be admitted to the same freedom of trade with our enemies in our ports as is especially stipulated in favor of the subjects of the French King by the 25th and 26th articles of the treaty of commerce lately entered into between the said King and the United States ; and we apprehend that by the said first amendment all neutral powers, so far as respects this State, will be considered as privileged to carry supplies, even to the port of Philadelphia while in the possession of the enemy, which we conceive ought not to be.

As to the second amendment, for that, by the resolve of Congress of the 23d of March, 1776, declaring what captures shall be adjudged prizes, express provision is made for the payment of seamen's wages, and the reason which, we presume, and have reason to believe, induced Congress to do so, operates with us to reject your said amendment, to wit: That seamen are a set of people extremely necessary and wanting in the service of the United States; that they are seldom much attached to any service, and that we ought not to consider those sailing in merchant vessels as enemies or parties in this dispute, but by paying their wages, though their ships are captured, we shall bias them to our cause and service, and make them more indifferent as to the fate of the vessels they may be in; besides, by this exclusion, as proposed, the seamen of wrecked vessels would be put upon a different footing from seamen of captured vessels, who will be entitled to their wages under the resolve of Congress.

As to the third amendment, for that the words therein proposed to be inserted in the bill are merely relative, and have not a proper subject of reference, as no special mode for division of the moiety allotted to the first possessor, or manner in which the prize should be secured, is pointed out, other than in the sentence where the amendment is proposed to be placed.

Ordered, That the said message be transcribed and sent by Mr. Bassett to the House of Assembly.

Mr. Bassett, being returned, reported the delivery thereof according to order.

Mr. Lockwood, a member of the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and returned to the Chair the resolution of the Council empowering the President to commission lieutenants and sub-lieutenants under the Militia law, with the concurrence of the House of Assembly thereto.

Ordered, That the bill for raising 120,000 dollars within this State for the service of the present year, by a general tax, and also the bill for the further security of the Government, be now respectively signed by the Speaker of the Council, which was accordingly done.

On motion, by order,

The account of Thomas Wilds, Goaler of Kent County, against the Delaware State, with the petition and proceedings of the House of Assembly thereon, were read the first time and ordered to lie over for consideration until to-morrow.

Adjourned to 10 o'clock to-morrow.

TUESDAY, A. M., May 19th, 1778.

The Council met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

On motion,

Resolved, That the President and Commander-in-Chief affix the Great Seal of this State to the following bills, to wit :

1. "An act for the further security of the Government," and
2. "An act for raising 120,000 dollars in the Delaware State for the service of the year 1778, by a general tax."

Ordered, That Mr. Baning return the foregoing bills, signed by the Speaker of the Council, to the House of Assembly, and also deliver the foregoing resolution for affixing the Great Seal thereto, for their concurrence, and the following message, viz :

Gentlemen :

We send you the bill for the further security of the Government, and also the bill for raising 120,000 dollars in the present year, by a general tax, signed by the Speaker of the Council, and recommend that some speedy method be adopted for furnishing the respective counties with copies of these bills when sealed and enacted into laws. Of the first of these not less than 54 copies will be wanted for the use of the Justices of the Peace in the several counties, and that forthwith, that they may be enabled to perform the duties required of them therein, and avoid the heavy penalty they are liable to for an omission of any of those duties, and there is but about six weeks allowed for the completing this business. As to the second act, three copies should be immediately made and sent to the Clerk of the Peace of each County, with directions to notify the Justices of the Peace that the special court ordered therein may be held on or before the tenth day of June next, otherwise the law will loose its operation.

Mr. Baning, being returned, reported the delivery of the several papers aforesaid according to order.

The Council now took into consideration the account and petition of Thomas Wild and the report of the committee of the House of Assembly thereon, and agreed to the said report, which follows in these words, to wit :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,
“ WEDNESDAY, P. M., May 6th, 1778.

“ On motion,

“ The House resolved itself into a committee of the whole to.
“ take into consideration the petition and account of Thomas “ Wild, Goaler of Kent County, and after some time spent “ therein the Speaker resumed the chair and the chairman re“ ported from the committee that they had allowed to the said
“ Thomas Wild the sum of ninety-six pounds nineteen shillings
“ for the following services, viz :

|---|---------|
| “ For subsisting five persons of the United States, . | £74 9 0 |
| “ For subsisting sundry deserters from the army of | |
| “ the said States, | 22 10 0 |

“ £96 19 0

“ Which said report was agreed to by the House.”

Thereupon

Resolved, That it be recommended to his Excellency, the President, to transmit a copy of the said Thomas Wild's account, for subsisting the British prisoners aforesaid, to Congress, or the Commissary General of Prisoners, as he may think fit, that this State may be repaid the same by Congress, and for this purpose that the original account be lodged with the President.

Resolved also, That the original account of the said Thomas Wild, for subsisting deserters as aforesaid, be lodged with the President, and that he be required to transmit a copy thereof to the proper officers of the respective regiments to which such deserters belonged, that stoppages may be made out of their pay respectively, and this State enabled to charge the same to the United States.

Ordered, That Mr. Collins wait on the House of Assembly with the above resolutions for their concurrence, and return the account and petition of the said Thomas Wild and the report of the committee of the House of Assembly agreed to by the Council.

The committee appointed by the Council to view the place where the bridge mentioned in the bill before the House, upon the petition of Charles Pope, is proposed to be built, now reported that they had proceeded to the said place, and are of opinion that a bridge erected over Duck Creek there will be of public as well as private utility, if a road shall be opened from the north end thereof to the road leading from Salisbury town to the Thoroughfare, and that this ought to be done by and at the expense of the petitioner, as soon as the said bridge shall be erected; that the nearer the said bridge shall be placed to the upper side of the public wharf there, it will do the least injury to the owner of the land on the south side of the creek, and best answer the purpose of the petitioner; but that the same ought to be a drawbridge, to preserve an useful navigation above the place where, &c.

The Council met.

Mr. Armstrong, a member of the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the following verbal message, viz :

"Gentlemen :

*"As your honorable House have concurred in a resolution of
"the 12th instant, for the appointment of a Commissary General
"of Prisoners, the Assembly propose that nomination of persons
"to be balloted for to fill that office be made at the same time
"that the General Assembly proceed in the nomination of per-

"Esquire, in the resolution of both Houses of the 20th of April last, for the borrowing seven thousand five hundred dollars on the credit of the State, &c. ; but are of opinion that the appointment of Mr. Rodney is only temporary, and for the special service of completing the clothing of the Delaware Regiment at present. If the Council should view this matter in the same light the House of Assembly does, and are of opinion that the appointment of a Clothier General is necessary, this House propose likewise to put in nomination, at the same time, persons to be balloted for to fill that office."

Whereupon, in answer thereto, the following message was prepared and sent to the House of Assembly by Mr. Conwell :

Gentlemen :

The Council can put no other construction on the resolution of the 20th ultimo, mentioned in your verbal message of this afternoon, than is expressed therein, to wit : "That the said sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars be put into the hands of Thomas Rodney, Esquire, for the purpose of completing the purchase of clothing for the Delaware Regiment ;" and however temporary this appointment may be considered to be, yet the business is not begun, and we apprehend that the appointment of a Clothier General, whose duty must be the same, will supercede this act, so recently done, which would make our proceedings rather exceptionable, and this is what we wish to avoid, for the Council think with the Assembly that such an officer is necessary, and have no other objection than what is above expressed.

Mr. Conwell, being returned, reported the delivery of the above message according to order.

The Doorkeeper informed the Chair that the House of Assembly were waiting to be admitted, and they were admitted accordingly.

The Council and House of Assembly being met in the Council Room to put in nomination three persons to be balloted for as Justices of the Supreme Court, in the stead of William Killen, John Cook, and John Evans, Esquires ; a Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas and Orphans' Court, in the room of Thomas Tilton, and also a Commissary General of Prisoners for the State, agreeable to the order of the day,

The first of these is the fact that the United States is a young nation. It is only about 150 years old, and its history is therefore a history of rapid growth and change. "The House of Assembly have taken into consideration the amendments proposed by your honorable House to the bill to enable Charles Pope, his heirs, executors or administrators, to erect a bridge over Duck Creek, and have acceded to the first. Your second amendment this House have not agreed to, because they conceive it would be a particular hardship upon the said Charles Pope to oblige him to lay out a road, at least a mile through his lands, without receiving any compensation by way of damages, as they apprehend that the bridge intended to be erected by him will be of public utility. EODEM DIE, P. M.

The Council met.

Mr. Derrickson, a member of the House of Assembly, attending, was admitted and delivered to the Chair the Fee Bill, with the amendments proposed thereto by the Council, severally acceded to by the House of Assembly, except that part of the first which relates to the allowance to the Justices of the Courts of Common Pleas, &c., and an additional clause, proposed by way of amendment to the said bill by the House of Assembly, accompanied with a message from that House to the Council relative to the same.

The same member also delivered to the Chair a resolution of the House of Assembly for filling up the blanks, left for the commissioners' names, in the bill for a free pardon, &c.

On motion, by order, the message relative the amendments proposed by each House to the Fee Bill, was read the first time, and is as follows, viz :

" Gentlemen :

" The Assembly have taken into consideration the amendments proposed by your honorable House to the bill for regulating and establishing the Fees of divers Civil Officers of this State, and for other purposes therein mentioned, and have agreed to all the said amendments except that part of the first which makes the fees allowed to the Justices of the Courts of Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts and the Registers for the Probate of Wills double the sums allowed the said Justices and Registers by an act of Assembly of this State, passed the third day of November, one thousand seven hundred and seventy, entitled 'An act for regulating and establishing Fees,' which they have rejected, because they conceive the salaries the said Justices, by an act of Assembly of this State, passed the twenty-second day of February, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, when added to the sums allowed by the first recited act, will make ample provision for defraying

"the expenses incurred by the said Justices while attending the "business cognizable before their Courts, and because they con-
 "ceive the office of Register for the Probate of Wills is a lucra-
 "tive post, and the execution thereof not necessarily attended
 "with any great expense.

"The Assembly have also added another clause to the bill for "defraying the expenses incurred by the Justices of the Supreme "Court during the sitting thereof, and for allowing them fees for "services by them to be done, for which no provision hath here-
 "tofore been made, which they flatter themselves will be acceded
 "to by your honorable House.

"Signed by order of the House,

"Dover, June 24, 1778.

SAM. WEST, Speaker."

On motion, by order,

The resolution of the House of Assembly for filling up the blanks, left for the commissioners' names, in the bill for a free pardon, &c., was read and concurred in, and is as follows, viz :

"On motion,

"Resolved, That the blanks, left for the names of the commis"sioners, in the bill entitled 'An act of free pardon and oblivion,
 "and for other purposes therein mentioned,' be filled up as fol"lows, viz :

"For New Castle County—William M. Clay, Gentleman.

The first of these is the fact that the United States is a young nation. It is only about 150 years old, and its history is therefore a history of rapid growth and change. The second is the fact that the United States is a large nation. It covers a vast area of land, and its population is one of the largest in the world. The third is the fact that the United States is a diverse nation. It is made up of many different peoples, languages, and customs, and this diversity has been one of its strengths.

The fourth is the fact that the United States is a nation of immigrants. It has been built by people from many different parts of the world, and this has given it a unique character. The fifth is the fact that the United States is a nation of pioneers. It has a long history of exploration and discovery, and this has helped it to become a world power.

The sixth is the fact that the United States is a nation of freedom. It has a long history of fighting for its rights, and this has helped it to become a model for other nations. The seventh is the fact that the United States is a nation of progress. "Gentlemen :

"The House of Assembly are at a loss to know the reason which induced the Council to conclude they had rejected the proposition of your honorable House for putting in nomination, this afternoon, persons to be balloted for as Clothier General, no such thing being contained in the verbal message of the Assembly. As the Council gave no reason for rejecting the mode of appointing a Clothier-General adopted by the Assembly, this House apprehended the Council would not so suddenly request the reasons why this House disagreed to the aforesaid proposition of the Council. The Assembly did not reject the same proposition, but, for want of sufficient time for consideration of that business, had come to no determination thereon, which induced this House to take no notice of that part of the Council's message. But this House, still anxious to forward the public business, are ready to receive the Council to put in nomination persons to be balloted for as Delegates in Congress, and as Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas and Orphans' Court for the County of Kent.

"Dover, January 14, 1779."

Mr. Read, in his place, made his excuse for non-attendance at an earlier day, which was admitted.

On motion,

Resolved, That a message from the Council, in answer to the foregoing message from the House of Assembly, be drawn up, which was accordingly done, read and-agreed to, and follows in these words, viz :

Gentlemen :

Your House not taking any notice, in their verbal message of yesterday, delivered by Mr. Derrickson, of the proposition made by the Council in their preceding message, delivered by Mr. Bassett, to put in nomination a person to be balloted for as Clothier-General for this State, at the time proposed for nominating persons to be balloted for as Delegates to Congress and a Chief Justice of the Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts of Kent County, induced the Council to suppose their proposition rejected, otherwise they apprehend the House of Assembly would have gladly embraced the opportunity of doing that at one meeting of the two Houses which will require another meeting, and, of course, a delay of time perhaps unnecessarily.

The Council were induced to dissent to your resolve for the appointment of the Clothier-General, for that it is an office of trust, and may be of profit, or at least some salary must be allowed for the service to be performed by him, and as such he ought to be chosen in the manner that all other officers of the State, under like circumstances, heretofore have been, as appears by the joint resolutions of the two Houses on their respective minutes. However the Council are not so tenacious as to the time when this nomination of persons for a Clothier-General shall be, for if the House of Assembly wish to have it postponed, and the other nominations to be now made, the Council will meet them forthwith for the purpose.

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and sent to the House of Assembly by Mr. Banning.

Mr. Davis, a member of Assembly, was admitted and delivered the Chair a resolution of the House of Assembly empowering the Speakers of both Houses to draw for seven hundred and fifty pounds, and interest, in favor of Vincent Loockerman.

On motion, by order, the foregoing resolution was read the first time.

By special order the same was read the second time, concurred in, and is in these words, viz :

“ IN THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY,

“ FRIDAY, A. M., January 15th, 1779.

“ Mr. Speaker laid before the House a certificate to Vincent

"Loockerman of the loan of seven hundred and fifty pounds to this State, given by the Honorable George Read, Esq., late Vice-President thereof, on the sixteenth day of December, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, in pursuance of joint resolutions of the General Assembly, and the said Vincent Loockerman requesting the payment of the same, with the interest thereof,

Resolved, That the Speakers of the Council and House of Assembly draw an order on the State Treasurer in favor of the said Vincent Loockerman for the said sum of seven hundred and fifty pounds, with the interest for the same, at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the said sixteenth day of December, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven."

Resolved also, That this State consider themselves justly entitled to a right, in common with the other members of the Union, to that extensive tract of country which lies to the westward of the frontiers of the United States, the property of which was not vested in or granted to individuals at the commencement of the present war; that the same hath been or may hereafter be gained from the King of Great Britain or the native Indians by the blood and treasure of all, and ought therefore to be a common estate, to be granted out on terms beneficial to the United States.

Resolved also, That the courts of law established within this State are competent for the purpose of determining all controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed within the same, and that they now, and at all times hereafter, ought to have cognizance of all such controversies; that the indeterminate provision, proposed in the 9th Article of the Confederation, for deciding upon controversies that may arise about some of those private rights of soil, tends to take away such cognizance, and is contrary to the Declaration of Rights of this State, and therefore ought to receive an alteration.

The Council then, taking into consideration the strong and earnest recommendations of Congress forthwith to accede to the present plan of Confederacy, and the probable disadvantages that may attend the further delaying a ratification thereof,

Resolved, That, notwithstanding the terms of the Articles of Confederation aforesaid are considered as in divers respects unequal and disadvantageous to this State, and the objections in the report of the committee of this House and the resolves made thereon are viewed as just and reasonable and of great moment to the welfare and happiness of the good people thereof, yet, under the full conviction of the present necessity of acceding to the Confederacy proposed, and in firm reliance that the candor and justice of the several States will in due time remove, as far as possible, the objectionable parts thereof, the Delegates appointed to represent this State in Congress, or any one or more of them, be authorized, empowered and directed, on behalf of this State, to subscribe and ratify the said Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union between the several States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, and that the said articles, when so subscribed and ratified, shall become obligatory on this State.

And, on motion, leave was given to bring in a bill to empower the Delegates of this State to ratify the said articles. A bill for this purpose being laid on the table, was, by order, read the first time.

Gentlemen :

The Council have reconsidered the two last amendments proposed by the Council to the amendments proposed by the House of Assembly to the bill for the quartering of soldiers, returned as rejected by your House, and are of opinion that the third amendment is a necessary one, for that no person but a Justice can billet any soldier, &c., by the bill, therefore the expressions "or if the person so billeting them be a Justice," in the 6th and 7th line of your first amendment, are improper, as they imply a power of billeting in other than a Justice or Justices ; but, by adding the word [single], as in our amendment, those expressions will have their proper reference to the billeting authorized by the third section of the bill, and for these reasons the Council are induced to adhere to their third amendment aforesaid.

The Council, by their fourth amendment, intended effectually to exclude Quartermasters and their deputies from exercising the power of quartering, which they were doubtful might not, in strict military speech, be considered to be included in the term military officers; but if the House of Assembly shall be of opinion, after knowing our reasons for the fourth amendment, that the same is unnecessary, and that their constituents may be well secured against the exertion of a dangerous power by those of the staff of the army, the Council will recede from the said fourth amendment.

Ordered, That Mr. Baning deliver the said message to the House of Assembly, together with the bill for the quartering of soldiers, &c., and its several papers of amendments.

The first of the century, the United States was a young nation, and its people were full of energy and ambition.

However, there were many problems in the United States at that time. The country was not united, and there were many different groups of people. Some people wanted to be free, and some people wanted to be ruled. There were many different ideas about what the United States should be, and there were many different ways of doing things. This made it difficult to build a great nation, and it took many years to do so.

Gentlemen :

The Council having under their consideration the supplement to the embargo act, sent from your House, beg to be informed how it hath appeared to your honorable House that there is "just cause to fear that unless a prohibition of the exportation of provisions from this State be extended to the States of Maryland and Virginia many of the inhabitants of this State will suffer." As this House have as yet a different sentiment of the quantity of provisions to be spared from the State, but lest the fears above expressed may prove real and great distress ensue to our constituents, we think it our duty, though thus late in the session, to proceed on this bill if from your state of the fact it shall in any wise appear dangerous to omit it, and at the same time we beg to know why the States of Maryland and Virginia only are excluded, and the States of Pennsylvania and New Jersey left open, as it hath and will probably happen that the exportation to Pennsylvania alone will exceed that of all the rest.

The Council, by the fifth section of the Constitution, are judges of the qualification and election of their own members, but not of the members of the House of Assembly ; and as the remonstrants address themselves particularly to your honorable House, the Council cannot think themselves bound thereby to scrutinize the election of their members.

“instant, appoint Messrs. Polk and Cantwell a committee to join,
“with a committee of this House, in an inquiry into the facts al“leged in the remonstrance complaining of undue practices at

“the last general election in Kent County, by not stating all the “steps taken by the two Houses previous to the appointment of “your members as above mentioned, impliedly, at least, reflects
“some degree of censure on this House, for it must be under“stood from your said message that the remonstrance you men“tion to be directed particularly to the House of Assembly was “not delivered to your honorable House with the proposal (not “request, as you are pleased to term it), but some time after the “appointment aforesaid had taken place, the contrary of which “you well know to be the fact. Your acquaintance with the

“might have furnished your House, in the first instance, with “the reasons you appear at last to act upon.

“In answer to the other part of your message this House will “only add, that they do not presume to dispute your power or “right, under the section of the Constitution pointed out in your “message, to judge of the qualification and election of your own “members, and to determine what obligations you are under to “scrutinize the election of such members; but we would suppose
“that every report to a House of Representatives ought to be “considered and determined on, yet you certainly must deter“mine how binding that obligation is on your body.

“Signed by order of the House of Assembly.

Mr. Stidham, a member of Assembly, was admitted and presented to the Chair a message from the President to the General Assembly, inclosing sundry acts of Congress, therein referred to, and the report of the committee of the House of Assembly to whom the said message and papers were referred.

On motion, by order,

The President's message, and its inclosures, were severally read, and the said message is in these words, viz :

"Gentlemen of the General Assembly :

"Since the last sitting of the Legislature I have received the following acts of Congress, which merit your attention, to wit :
"Two of the fourteenth of June last, one recommending to the State to exempt drivers of waggons from Militia duties while in service, the other for ascertaining their wages ; two of the twenty-third of July, one for regulating the Hide Department, the other for the better preservation of buildings and other property belonging to the United States ; one of the seventeenth of August, on the subject of further provisions for the army ; one of the twenty-first of the same month, on the subject of an embargo ; one of the twenty-fifth of the same month, against restrictions on the inland trade between the States ; and another of the tenth of September, for providing clothing for the troops ; and likewise, a circular letter from the President of Congress, dated the ninth instant, inclosing divers acts of Congress of the sixth and seventh, for supplying the Continental Treasury. All of which I have directed the Secretary to lay before your Honors, for your perusal and consideration.

"I beg leave to inform the General Assembly that since the expiration of the law for laying an embargo, I have, with the advice of the Privy Council and at the request of Congress, continued, from time to time, the prohibition contained in the said act, until such order therein may be taken by the Legislature as they may deem expedient.

"Its being acknowledged that a well-regulated Militia, composed of the substantial inhabitants, is the best security of a free State, and the inattention to the discharge of Militia duty by great numbers of the subjects of this State, induces me to recommend to your Honors' consideration such amendments to the Militia law as may tend to answer the good purposes intended by the act.

"Gentlemen—The provision heretofore made for those in the exercise of civil government, from the present depreciated state of our currency, is so inadequate to the services enjoined them, that I fear, from the information given me by the Chief Justice, a general neglect of duty will take place, unless some further provision is made. I am therefore induced to recommend a matter so necessary to the safety and well-being of the State to your Honors' serious consideration.

"Dover, October 22d, 1779.

CÆSAR RODNEY."

Gentlemen :

The Council conceive the bills to prevent forestalling and engrossing, and for other purposes therein mentioned, and for introducing economy in the purchasing supplies for the Army of the United States of America, to be very useful and important in their nature, and do not view the amendments proposed by them and rejected by you of such consequence as to delay the passage of them ; therefore, rather than they should be delayed, the Council recede from their proposed amendments, but farther beg leave to observe, that with respect to their last amendment proposed to the bill for introducing economy in the purchasing supplies, &c., they are still strongly impressed with an idea of the propriety and usefulness of the said amendment; for that it appears to them that one great design of the said bill is that the officers under it should not make use of the public money for their own private emolument or advantage, and that the solemn oath of the party to that purpose they consider a stronger tie, and more likely to prevent a breach of the law in that instance than any other thing. The Council would therefore wish your honorable House would reconsider the said amendment, and, if it should appear in the same point of view to you as it does to them, make no doubt but you will readily accede to the same.

Ordered, That Mr. Cantwell wait on the House of Assembly with the bill to prohibit the exportation of provisions, as rejected by the Council, and another bill proposed in lieu thereof by the Council; the resolutions of the House of Assembly for the appointment of Commissioners to attend a convention in Philadelphia for fixing a general limitation of prices, and also the resolution for the appointment of an Auditor General, with the concurrence of the Council respectively thereto.

Mr. Cantwell, being returned, reported the delivery thereof according to order.

On motion, the Council took into consideration the amendments proposed by them to the bill for the amending the laws for establishing fees, and the additional paper of amendments proposed to the same bill by the House of Assembly, and the same being considered and debated, the Council adhered to their amendments, and agreed that a message, stating the reasons of their adherence, should be sent to the House of Assembly; whereupon the following was accordingly drawn up at the table, read, and ordered to be transcribed, viz :

Gentlemen :

The Council adhere to their amendments proposed to the bill for amending the laws for establishing fees, and of course reject your additional amendments, and are extremely sorry they find themselves constrained so to do. The reasons inducing the Council to adhere to their amendments, among many others that might be advanced, are, that they conceive, whenever it is thought necessary by the Legislature to increase officers' fees, that it ought to be general and not partial, which, they apprehend, would be the case were they to recede from their amendments proposed and give a passage to the bill. The Council are fully convinced of the necessity of such a bill, and therefore would willingly give up any matter, rather than that it should be lost, that was consistent with their idea of justice. But they humbly conceive it would argue partiality in them, at the same time they are providing for other officers of less consequence not to provide for the officers filling the several Courts of Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts in this State, when, in their opinion, those officers are as necessary, and those courts rather of more consequence than any others in the State. We could wish your honorable House would reconsider the amendments proposed, and if the same idea should impress your minds that does theirs upon this subject, they make no doubt but you will readily accede to their amendments.

Signed by order of the Council,

JOHN CLOWES, Speaker.

On motion, by order,

The President's message, and its inclosures, were severally read, and the said message is as follows, viz:

"Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

"A circular letter of the twenty-sixth of February last, which "I have received from the President of Congress, with an act of
"that honorable body of the twenty-fifth of the same month,
"calling upon the several States to procure their respective
"quotas of supplies for the ensuing campaign, have, from the "importance of the subject, determined me, with advice of the “Privy Council, to convene you before the time to which you

“adjourned; both because a speedy compliance with that act,
“and vigorous exertions in carrying the same into execution, “appear to be equally obvious and essentially necessary. I have “therefore directed the Secretary to lay these papers before your “Honors for your immediate consideration; and also to lay be“fore you two acts of Congress of the thirteenth and fourteenth
“of January last, the former containing regulations to be adopted
“relating to prisoners of war, whether taken by the Continental “troops or captured by the arms of any particular State, either
“by sea or land, in order to obviate many difficulties occurred
“for want of these general regulations; the other recommending
“to the Legislature of each of the United States to make pro“vision, where the same is not already done, for conferring like “immunities on the subjects of his most Christian Majesty as are “granted to the subjects of these States by divers articles in the “treaty of amity and commerce; and likewise a recommendation
“to the several States to set apart Wednesday, the twenty-sixth
“of April next, as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer.

“I must also entreat the attention of your Honors to an act
“of Congress, of the eighteenth instant, calling on the several “States to bring in the Continental Currency, by monthly taxes,
“or otherwise, as may best suit their respective circumstances,
“and making provision for other bills to be issued in lieu thereof,
“under certain restrictions, accompanied by a circular letter, ad“dressed from the President of Congress, on that subject, both
“which the Secretary will lay before you for your perusal and “consideration, together with an act of Congress, of the twen“tieth instant, recommending the revision of such laws as have “been passed making the said currency a tender in discharge of “debts and contracts. As the two last mentioned acts are of the “first importance to the inhabitants of America, I have no doubt
“but they will meet your most serious attention.

“Gentlemen—I have this day received from the President of
