Presentation.

Since last I had the pleasure of presenting a Directory to the people of Topeka and its vicinity, two years have dropped their golden days from the calendar of time.

In the seasons that have come as they were promised six thousand years ago, with "seed-time and harvest," changes have taken place in our social, commercial and political relations, but, taken in their entirety, peace and plenty, health and happiness have been supreme, and calm content has sat like a brooding dove beneath our roof-tree.

It may be that some—many, perhaps—would prefer that the wheels of enterprise roll round with more rapidity; who regret that the magnificent machinery of our sugar and starch mills has rusted away in idleness; that the tall towers of the cotton factory have been dismantled, stone by stone, its solid walls razed to the earth, and only an unsightly pile of debris left to mark foundations laid to defy the elements and the ages; and that the woolen mill, from which so much of prosperity was hoped, stands sad and silent, an eloquent reproach and a mute appeal to the genii of force and energy who might, but will not, throw open their doors and set in motion their wealth-producing powers.

It may even be that some who have caught a spirit of enterprise from more progressive influences would delight to turn our calm, serene dove into a screaming eagle, to tear her from her moss-grown nest, to set her a-wing and drive her to face the world with swift, tireless pinion till she shall overtake the great procession that long since passed her by; for all our little world are not philosophers.

I do not feel myself divinely or humanly called to write a history of Topeka, or Kansas, partly because in this community of kindly hearts and friendly interest there would be little to tell that is not already well known, but mainly because to an abler pen than mine, to a clearer brain, a more facile and brilliant imagination, has been allotted this pleasant task. It will follow this page, complete to date, in its author's well-known and inimitable style.

There are many new features to the present volume of my Directory, which I feel sure must claim your attention and merit the sincere approval of all, and which should make the book conspicuous and welcome not less in the home than in the counting-room, office and library. To one, the gallery of home faces, I particularly allude. Their introduction is specially intended to more closely identify the professional and business men of the city with the people generally.

They are the men who have stood firmly by us through the heat of battles long and hotly fought; men who never failed us in emergency; men to whose tireless energy we owe all the advancement we have made; to whose tact, or culture, or judgment, or genius, or generosity, or self-sacrifice, or all combined, the city and State are under obligations that can never be canceled, and whose lineaments may be already engraven on the tablets of your hearts or memories, or whom, never having met, you will now look upon with new interest and affection, and a sentiment of personal relationship.

I refer to and present them with pride, not only because of their great worth, but to ask where and in what other city, East or West, North or South, regardless of age or size, can a hundred men, chosen at random, with no reference to looks and in no way superior to or above the average of the community in which they live, present so many faces distinguished by physical and intellectual beauty? My only regret is that space renders it impossible to multiply them indefinitely.

Thanking you sincerely for your appreciation of my previous efforts, I offer this, my latest and best work, with only the hope that it may be received with the same flattering kindness that has welcomed its predecessors.

Very respectfully,

In addition to $100,000 deposited with the State Treasurer of Kansas, the KANSAS MUTUAL LIFE keeps on deposit with said officer the full reserve all policies in force.

Topeka, Reviewed.

BY JOSEPH G. WATERS.

THE historian who deals in statistics and percentages, does it, not that he expects the stuff to be read, but solely that his presumptuous fabrications may bear the similitude of truth. Figures are the sugar-coating to make us swallow a lie. Rows of statistics are tabulated falsities. It is the existence of such fundamental things that makes the tariff and silver questions so attractive to an audience toward the close of an unusually protracted campaign. In a directory, exactness is neither necessary nor desirable. The percentage of population to each name on its page, varies with the depravity of each compiler; and unless he is a versatile liar and has a boundless stomach for exaggeration, the newspapers denounce him before he has got through distributing the first edition of his book.

In these pages that follow are the names of living men and women; of people who yet own their sands of life. It is the one Western directory hinat does not affect the reader with the sadness resident in insurance mortuary tables. In a neighboring town, where they worship God and drink whisky according to the dictates of their own consciences, a stranger picked up, for the diversion of an idle and rainy half-hour, the book that in Topeka would not pass as the cadaver of any one of Radges' directories. He read it through, and was heard to exclaim that it read like tombstone inscriptions in a graveyard; and he also remarked that he felt the same solemn impressions on concluding its perusal, as the stiff does on the marble slab at the morgue with the water trickling down the small of his back onto his toes, and not a caller to identify or weep over the remains. There is but one City of Topeka on the earth. Of course this trope of speech has reference to geographical position, size, and facilities for getting to market. Some one of our citizens may get weary of this level plane of happiness and prosperity, and shake our dust from his feet. Go where he may that man returns ! If, as missionary, he wanders to darkest Africa, his bile and diffused nicotine save him for the return trip. If as an adventurer, contesting with the French for a land grant in Madagascar, warships and cruisers figing the bunting of the United States escort him back and he gets his indemnit checks cashed at any of the dozen popular and prosperous banks of this city, and, pocketing the indignity and insult he suffered at the hands of Jean Crapeau, forgets them all when he finally domiciles himself here and gets ready to Le up for office. But, warship or cruiser to help or not, Waller will come back if it takes him twenty years to get here. His favorable recollections of Topeka will bring him. It is fate. Our police have learned that the fleeing criminal and fugitive from justice will return, if there is allowed him time for reflection and opportunity to spend his ill-gotten gains. The citizen may be jured by gold fields; but he returns with his experience, sunburn and freckles, as fast as the train will bring him. We have sent many citizens to the still farther west in search of silver, gold, mica, black jack, gold bricks, and other precious metals; and while they have brought back photographs and prospectuses of encouraging holes, the greater yield has been by staying at home and selling stock to our Eastern brothers, at a very reduced price, when we take into account the gorgeous lithographed certificates that memorandumed such transactions. And such is the destiny of return to Topeka, that very often, uninvited, many of these illustrated certificates of shares have returned too, for inquiry and investigation.

There is some subtle odor of the prairie; some sniff of landscape; some memory of plain, that stretches off into distance, growing faint and dim and blue, at the line of the horizon; some hope for office; some desire of the prodigal for his father's house, that tethers him to Topeka; some spell of the roaring Shunganunga; some fragrance of sewer; some lively touch remaining in the nostrils concerning our packing-house industry, that follows the wanderer, and pursues him into palace or ducal residence abroad, and makes him ill and homesick. And whether in Naples, Venice, Monte Carlo, or where else, the very Milky Way above brings to his suffused eyes the white-covered dairy wagons of Topeka, and away down in his soul he knows that its shining pathway bends over and leads to Topeka.

Subtle and occult forces are as easily recognized by results as if the machinery were visible and we saw the cogs whir and the great wheels spin. Topeka never loses a citizen, from any cause. Migration and death, assiduously worked, will decimate any town but Topeka. There is no such thing as permanent migration, and Topeka is even measurably victorious over death; for it would be a grim specter who would not hold it a serious second to any celestial location for an onling, summer resort, or opportunity for a statesman.

When a fire occurs, a suicide happens, or a floater is found, we have without cost the chariot races of the Roman over again. Away speed the fire teams to the conflagration, and away fly the undertakers' hoodlum wagons to pre-empt the corpse. Such things have been characterized as the Race of Death. The defunct will not escape; he will eventually take up a permanent residence here, if the warring factions permit the family to at last go on with the funeral.

In alien lands long may he roam,

Across the boundless earth and wide.

Just let him be, for he'll come home—

No other place dare he abide.

HE KANSAS MUTUAL LIFE has stood the test of time, and by its prompt payment of death lesses and fair dealing with the public has proven itself worthy of the patronage of the public.

RADGES' TOPEKA DIRECTORY.

Every other city of its size on the face of the earth has its slums: Topeka has none. Every other city on the face of the earth has its pauper population: Topeka has none. Our kodak fiends are compelled to go down to Kansas City, Kansas, for scenes of utter destitution; and an artist on the hunt of hopeless despair tinged with solitude, night, and misery, never saw in all his born days a more beautiful and bewitching, a more lean, lank, hungry, satisfying picture of dilapidated poverty, chronic helplessness, and grimy filth, than the residence portion of that town, that lines the river-bank with its aristocracy of mendicant citizenship.

Topeka has less of the criminal class, fewer persons who cannot read or write, than any other city of its size on the earth. The people in Topeka own their There is not a millionaire in the city. There has been less percentage of failures among our merchants than in any other town of our size in the United And while this is not the place for economics, theosophy, or politics, but for facts only, we have this strange and remarkable-statement to make: Topeka is the only city of its size now on the earth, or ever has been on the face of the globe, that has not one open saloon within its borders; and this has been its condition for the last ten years. Our resubmission friends declare that it will be the last city of that kind on the face of the earth. There are lots of our people who believe in prohibition. The Methodist church has changed its requirement from six months on probation, to six months on prohibition. Give me some Boanerges, such as I have in mind, in the saddle, with some object just above the horizon that claims attention and is of interest to him in the shape of a good fat office, and up from the heather, cavorting down the dirt road, suddenly appear about three hundred thousand of that fraternity, riding in farm wagons without spring seats, to the polls, to vote against any resubmission of that question. This historian is not biased, gored, nor prejudiced. There will be joints, boot-leggers, and spasmodic cellars where liquor may be bought; but the millennium is easy, and give us another one before this law is busted. To appease the resubmissionists, I hope it may be busted, and that quickly. the Social Purity Society, the Methodist Church, the Y. M. C. A., the W. C. T. U., and the Topeka Club, I hope it may continue so long that Gabriel at the last day will find it impossible to obtain a single horn. There's nothing like being considerate to both sides when you have got a book to sell.

There are many concurring things to help make Topeka the delightful and attractive city that it is.

Kansas is a beautiful State; her climate is exquisite; her soil as exhaustless and prolific as the inundated Nile lands. Her harvest of corn this year is over four hundred millions of bushels. Suppose one bird should be compelled to carry this crop, kernel by kernel, to the dog star! But you can make the computation yourself. There has been every kind and sort of crop raised in the State this year, and we are in a series of fat years. All kinds of stock do well here, and I figure that the yield this year in this State is correctly given as follows:

400,000,000 bu. corn	$80,000,000
Hay (half as much)	40,000,000
Stock	60,000,000
Butter, eggs, and poultry	. 10,000,000
All the lesser crops	50,000,000
Hell raised by calamity-howlers	000,000,000
	$240,000,000

Topeka is situated easy of access to all parts of the State, and no man in the State who reads a newspaper or patronizes a postage stamp, but what takes a periodical visit to Topeka. Kansas people travel, and visit, and go, and keep coming, traveling, and going.

Kansas has formulated a code of laws which, in my judgment, is as near the attainment of human needs and civilized life as is within the power of man to This is no idle statement; the school, the family, the home and the laborer are protected, and the bowelless corporations likewise restrained. The most vicious and rasping trust law is on our statute books. And Topeka is the capital of this magnificently infernal State; for there is just enough of the varying elements in her composition to justify hurling a mild aperient of diluted anathema with the compliment to her great achievements and greater expectations, and which any man who knows her is compelled to utter if he opens his mouth. The people of all the Western States are unusually intelligent; for they have come from everywhere, and this admixture of fresh blood, vigor and political methods from many lands, with the courage and adventure that brought them here, is bound to make a bright people. And Topeka has obtained the pick of the lot. Twelve suicides happened this year in the city within a period of ninety days. They were all strangers who sacrificed life rather than go back to the beggarly elements of the world and give up Topeka. The schools of Topeka are her pride; magnificent buildings, thoroughly equipped, and with at least 300 teachers in its different schools, institutions and colleges; a gem of a public library, that we always take a stranger to see, and which has been and will continue to be, a very gracious help to the poor boy and girl of the city, many happy hours of the day, and will be the means of opening up to them the avenues of art, science and skilled mechanics, that otherwise would be shut books to them. And to the continued, patient, unwearied exertions of one man for nearly a quarter of a century, we owe it all. The library would have stumbled and fallen, if Edward Wilder had thrown up the sponge and quit. It is housed in an elegant building, and in these miserably depressed times is supported by a city tax that is not felt by our citizens. This town lives on barbecued meats, I tell you. Bethany College is at the head of all Western schools for girls. Good old Bishop Vail made it his life-work. It has girls from almost every State and Territory, and by the hundreds. And the remarkable thing in its career is that no escapade, scandal, rumor or suspicion has ever stained its history.

And newspapers and newspaper quarrels until your feet grow weary. If a newspaper dies, two come from the hydra-headed monster as its successors. They all try to put fat on their ribs during a political campaign. It is their trade season. One of them is an Africo-American and its editor is a classic on the perversion of the United States language, to the purpose of a misfit. Unlike Browning, there is nothing between the lines or under them; and considering his nightmare and folly, the false syntax, decrepit etymology and skewed intention, Macaulay and Addison are not trotting in the same class.

Churches of every kind, with and without spires, mortgages and pastors. The prevailing religion is a good square orthodoxy, with brimstone in the firebox. There are infidels, heathen, and Unitarians also. There is more room in the churches than is needed, and I attribute the difference between the supply and demand to arise solely by reason of dampness in the church-walls.

There is everything in this town: Axminster and sawdust clubs, society clubs, social clubs, dancing clubs, business clubs, intellectual clubs; and the man who does not belong to a club is either secretary or recorder of a fraternal aid society, of which there are two thousand in round numbers. Whenever a man gets out of work here he founds a new order and lives on the proceeds as founder. And they all go back to the remote past for title; the Pyramids, Sphynxes, Druids, recently domesticated in Kansas, lead strangers to think that Egypt has taken out naturalization papers. But antiquity has its limits, and the line is drawn at politicians. No old fossils go here. Office, emoluments and political honors are open without handicap to the world. As encouragement to the man who has expectant or kindly eyes on Kansas, truth compels the remark that some mighty mean men have occasionally slipped into office here. Come anyhow, and take pot-luck with us.

We have a poet who sings mellifluously and well of peace, but talks war. The high school flung its banner out, and got 'Gene Ware to come and spout. He told them what its glories are, and then they up and cheer our Ware. He asked them all what we are for; some for scads, but he's for war; dead loads of wounded, maimed and slain; let bugles sound the charge again. He trod the English lion's tail, and then for England wished to sail; and there upon the Irish sea, with shotted guns make Erin free. Oh! Ware, beware! Mind what you say; it's told the boys, that very day, ten fights they had upon the street, and every one they chanced to meet was asked, as high their voices ran, where they could find an Englishman. Ware's trouble is just simply here: the man is bold, and has no fear; for into war he'd not be tricked, if just for once he had been licked.

We must venture a word on the industries of Topeka. We have had a cotton mill, built 200 years before it could obtain the cotton to bale, and it is now a crumbling ruin. It will soon be a relic. It is located two miles from any railroad, and seems to have had an eye to the restoration of traffic by Conestoga wagons. The ground around it, once platted to accommodate the human hive of its industrial army, has been restored to the stirring-plow.

We have a woolen mill-a great big building, and empty as a beer-keg returning to Kansas City. The machinery was shipped two years ago, and the railroads have a tracer now on the hunt for it. When it arrives and there is an adjustment of some slight differences about mechanics' liens, laborers' wages, and pay for land, lumber and material, and contributions from stockholders, it will begin. Our experiences suggests that textile fabrics are not fashioned to our hand.

We had a starch factory, a cracker factory, a match factory, an implement factory, and ordinary vicissitude or a trust took each one of them in. We are certain it was not the horizontal reduction of the tariff that leveled them.

But we have many prosperous industries. The coffin factory and the morgue are live concerns and do a healthy, prosperous business. Kansas cottonwood, fashioned into shape, planed, glued, and covered with black broadcloth, is shipped all over the West, and many a fine old Arkansas gentleman, when he becomes aware that his double-breasted wooden overcoat came from Topeka, Kansas, will just deliberately kick the dashboard out.

We have a wholesale grocery house here that ranks second or third of all the houses engaged in that line in the Missouri valley.

In the printing and book-binding business we have three of the largest and most complete establishments in the country. Their trade extends to and takes in the northwest quarter of the United States, and continues to increase at a rapid pace. One of these institutions has become widely noted through its voluminous legal blanks originally introduced about twenty-five years ago by a sprouting limb of the law who, while waiting for clients, devoted all his time in framing legal blanks and forms, which have been circulated so numerously and widely since that the State could raiment itself with his blanks concerning estrays. Many an old citizen of Kansas, as he breaks sod on resurrection day, will be pleasurably surprised at seeing some fragment of the bleached anatomy of that gifted pettifogger lying around bearing his publisher's imprint.

The courts all sit here: the Supreme Court, the Kansas Court of Appeals, the District County Court, the United States Circuit Court, the United States District Court, the Probate Court of Shawnee county, which, since the now judge has mounted the woolsack, has taken enough jurisdiction to make it really a judicial tribunal. As part of the judiciary the police court is not counted in the estimate. It has no bowels of compassion. No mercy there goes unstrained. There is but one precedent ever quoted in that court with effect, and that is usually followed by a fine. But as a flourishing industry it is a success. have forgotten the big court of all. Beyond and over and above all this rami-fied and intricate mesh-work of justice is the court of final resort, over which, by the grace of God, His Honor, long a celebrated and distinguished lawyer, presides. Beyond this court there is no redress; if the litigant is still dissatisfied, he has such arrows in his quiver as secession, anarchy, revolution, and the new silver party, with which he must be satisfied. But, however this may be, may all the centuries turn pale and be gathered into the bosom of their fathers, before this eminent jurist's light shall fail us, and his presence be withdrawn.

The foundry and iron interests of the city are prosperous and growing, and have been. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company is, however, the Great Thing for Topeka, Kansas, and the principalities round about us. Two thousand men in the shops, and eight hundred in its general offices. They would make a respectable Topeka colony in heaven. Go where you will in Topeka, you strike it at every turn; among all classes it bobs up. A man marries, gets divorced or dies, shop; crackajack bicycles, general offices; it matters not what happens, the event is somewhere sandwiched between these two places. The crowds, excursionists, visitors, delegates, legislators, burglars, tramps, and all come in over its lines, and according as the traveler's wants and purse, he touches the velvet plush, satin and mahogany of a Pullman or participates in a milk-shake on the brake-beam.

We forgot Washburn College; an old-fashioned, conservative affair; more of the Puritan than Cavalier; uses stoves, and kerosene; has prayers in the chapel; and keeps down strictly to the business of having its students make a success of it. There is no vice open to its scholars, unless gum-chewing be a vice. It has a large number of students, and deserves all who can crowd its walls or tenant its campus.

Topeka is a city of superb hotels. The Copeland, Throop and National are as good as you deserve. They have every convenience and luxury; tomatoes and game in their season, and the visiting politician the whole year. Their landlords are ideal Bonifaces. The learned Irish cooks give you Latin for breakfast, and so mingle it in with the hash and entrees that an interpreter is necessary. The old-fashioned dinner at midday is an obsolete repast, and luncheon takes its place.

While we have lots of good things, we need a public park, convenient for use, where people can go and return the same day. We have not got it. The enterprise and public spirit of the citizen is best shown in parks and public commons. Topeka would be an earthly paradise if we had a broad, massive, elegant bridge, a few public fountains at the intersections of our streets, and a park. There is nothing else we could desire, unless it is a first mortgage or two.

Topeka is noted as a convention city. There are so many conventions, and so many kinds of particular gatherings, that the streets are filled with people wearing badges and emblems, or striving to prevent regalias and uniforms from suffering collapse. Conventions are good things; they are kindergartens of oratory. It is as a talking delegate that the art of elocution and stump-speaking is learned. It is by often appearing before the Grand Lodge of Antiquated Sun-Gazers, and participating in moving previous questions and early adjournments, that the young lawyer catches on and gets that grip on human utterance which designates him in after years as a rabble-rouser.

The temperance people make a pilgrimage to Topeka regularly twice a year to advise the Attorney-General, or to give out the programme for the next six months to the Governor. The county of Sedgwick is never called in asking for credentials. We have a daily paper whose editor starts a new party in defense of American liberty, announces the platform, takes a journey East to find a candidate, makes a judicious selection, hoists him to the mainmast and keeps him there until he vacates and gives place to the editorial reason for his defeat. Give him one plank in a political platform which he himself writes, let him nominate his own man, and, without a brass band, stump speech or voter to carry a single transparency, he can make it an exceedingly hot campaign with a look of apparent success plumb up to the time they commence to count the vote.

And another thing or two and we are done. We have forty miles of electric railway, which having the advantage of the finest streets in the world, is the best equipped and most sightly line of street railway on this habitable hemisphere. We have a Water Company that is an ornament and a dandy, if scrofula, tetanus, and ipse dixit count. With some of our people, and especially the writer of this, the original creation of water was a mistake on the part of the Almighty, if it has to be prostituted to such uses as its employment by this Water Company, as a means of revenue. We have ten miles of paved streets, and every street and avenue in the city is a broad, delightful thoroughfare, that a man does not have to unbutton his shirt-collar to breathe in. We own our electric light plant. And finally, here is a town that obeys the laws, believes in refinement, progress, art, civilization, and everything else that makes life worth having or living, domiciled in comfortable homes, too healthy to make the cemetery business profitable, where every prospect pleases and only the Water Company is vile, going ahead year after year, paying its expenses and living within its income, on legitimate revenues; while all aroundous, bogus metro polises, pretended commercial centers, and alleged emporiums of commerce, are arraying themselves in sackcloth and ashes, over the absence from their city treasuries of the saloon-keeper from Missouri. Some things can be done by anybody, and somebody can do anything it wants to, when it braces its heels, and cambers its backbone for a strain. The great heathen, barbaric world beyond our borders! Those who have never had the knowledge and sit in darkness, playing dominoes in a beer basement! Topeka wants you! Topeka awaits you! And her population, with a unanimity that sounds like one voice, greets you with, "WELCOME STRANGER!"

Street and Avenue Guide.

[COPVRIGHT. 1895, BY SAM. RADGES.]

THE houses throughout the city are numbered in aecordance with what is known as the Philadelphia or decimal system, the base or dividing-line for streets running north and south being Kansas avenue, the principal business thoroughfare, and First avenue for all streets running east and west.

Under this system, one hundred numbers are set apart for the houses between every two streets in the city—except Huntoon and King streets, which run parallel with the numerically-named streets. Commencing at First avenue with 100, numbers increase, with the odd figures on the west side, to 135, where Second street is reached; here 200 commences, and so on, increasing one hundred to the block, to the city limits. North of First avenue the numbers also commence at 100; at Crane street, 200, and on the north bank of the Kansas river at 500, allowing the intervening two hundred for the bend in the river in the eastern portion of the city; where there are streets north of Crane street, south of the river. At Kansas avenue, all streets running at right angles with it are divided east and west, the even numbers being on the north side of the streets. Commencing at 100 on the first twenty-five feet of ground fronting south, regardless as to the frontage of the building located thereon, the numbers increase two for each twenty-five feet of space in the block, 122 being reached at the intersection of the next street. Two hundred then commences on the opposite corner, and increases in like manner for the next block, and so on, increasing one hundred for each block, Topeka avenue being reached at 500 on the west, and the same number on the east side of the city at Jefferson street.

The simplicity of this system enables every person to readily locate any address, and it at the same time furnishes an idea of the distance to the locality. If the desired number is 320, on any street running east or west, it is on the third block from Kansas avenue, No. 720 on the seventh block, and so on; the hundreds designating the number of streets distant from Kansas avenue, and the tens and units the exact house in the block.

BELL SIGNALS.

Fire alarms are sounded upon the tower bell at Fire Department headquarters by striking the number of the signal station nearest to the fire, in the following manner: If for box 4, four distinct strokes and repeated; if for No. 13, one stroke, a short pause, then three strokes, and repeated, thus: I-III, I-III, etc.; and if for 22, II-II, II-II, etc.; 22 is sounded for all fires within the district bounded by Fourth, Ninth, Harrison and Monroe streets. Ten strokes, and repeated, followed by the number of the signal station nearest to the fire, is the second alarm, for a serious fire. Three strokes, followed by twelve, and repeated, thus: 3-12, 3-12, etc., is the general alarm for a very threatening and dangerous fire. This calls the entire fire department and a large detail from the police department. Two strokes, slowly, indicates "fire out."

Shawnee County.

[A complete directory of the tax-payers will be found following the business directory.]

Was organized in 1855, while Kansas was yet a Territory. It ranks as the second county in the State in population, and has an area of 558 square miles. The city of Topeka, on the Kansas river, in the central portion, is the county seat, as well as the capital of the State, and is one of the commercial centers of the State. In addition to the capitol, the buildings belonging to the State and located near the city are, the State Reform School, about two miles north from the city, and one of the insane asylums, a short distance west from the Capitol building. Rossville and Silver Lake, in the northwestern portion, are towns of much importance to the surrounding country. The towns of Auburn and Richland, in the southern and southeastern portions of the county, and Tecumseh, four miles east of Topeka, are also of considerable importance to their localities.

The railroads in the county are: The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; The Kansas, Nebraska & Dakota, of the Missouri Pacific system, crossing the eastern portion, north and south; The Union Pacific, crossing the northern portion, east and west; and The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, in the same direction, a little north of the center.

The total value of public school property in the county is over a half-million dollars, divided among one hundred and four organized school districts, and about the same amount is represented by private educational institutions.

State Government of Kansas.

The Territory of Kansas remained unorganized and almost unpeopled until the 30th of May, 1854, when President Pierce signed the famous Kansas-Nebraska bill, organizing the Territories of Kansas and Nebraska. In July, 1859, the Constitutional Convention met in Wyandotte, and on the 29th of July, signed the "Wyandotte Constitution." This was ratified by the people in October of the same year, but it was not, however, until January 29, 1861, that President Buchanan signed the act of Congress admitting Kansas under the Wyandotte Constitution; and then her existence as a State legally began.

The State of Kansas includes an area of 82,080 square miles, or 52,531,200 acres, and is larger than the whole of the New England States and Delaware and Maryland added; equal to North and South Carolina combined, and is twice as large as Ohio. According to the United States census, taken in 1860, the population was 107,206; in 1870, 364,399; in 1880, 996,096; in 1890, 1,427,096; and the estimated population at this time (January, 1896,) is not less than 1,600,000.

Elections.

Elections are held on the Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November, in each year. The Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Members of the House of Representatives are elected on the even year, for a term of two years. State Senators are elected every four years. Judges of the Supreme Court are elected in the even years for a term of six years, one being elected every two years. The State Printer is elected every two years by a joint ballot of the Legislature; and United States Senators are elected in like manner for a term of six years. A State Superintendent of Insurance is appointed by the Governor, by and with the approval of the Senate, once in four years, his term commencing in July after his appointment.

The gubernatorial term commences on the second Monday in January, following the election, and regular sessions of the Legislature are held biennially, commencing on the second Tuesday in January, in the odd years.

Legal Holidays.

Judge W. C. Webb to furnish the necessary facts, and in response received the following communication:

MR. SAM. RADGES, Publisher and Editor of Topeka City Directory:

You asked my opinion upon the two propositions following—first, what days have been established in Kansas as Legal Holidays; second, what days have been established as Legal Holidays by any act or acts of congress. I answer as follows:

As to Kansas: There are only three Legal Holidays authorized or recognized by law in this state, and they are as follows: DECORATION DAY, 30th May, was made a Legal Holiday by chapter 125, laws of 1886, (General Statutes of 1889, paragraph 3251.) LABOR DAY, the first Monday in September, was made a Legal Holiday by chapter 145 of the laws of 1891. WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, February 22d, was made a Legal Holiday by chapter 161, laws of 1895. It is a popular notion or belief that New-Year Day, January 1st—Independence Day, July 4th—Thanksgiving Day, as fixed annually by the President or Governor, and Christmas Day, December 25th, and Arbor Day, in April, are Legal Holidays; but the legislature of Kansas has never declared any or either of said days to be Legal Holidays. The section which stands as paragraph 481 of the General Statutes of 1889, in the act relating to bonds, bills, and promissory notes, was first enacted in 1868 as it now stands, except that in 1870, by chapter 37, the word preceding was substituted for succeeding next before the words "business day"; but this section applies to all Sundays as well as to the other days named, and simply regulates the time at which "day's of grace" allowed on commercial paper shall expire; but Sundays have never been declared or even recognized as Legal Holidays, and the section referred to does not declare any or either of the days named to be a Legal Holiday.

As to Acts of Congress: Congress has not at any time passed any act declaring any day to be a Legal Holiday throughout the United States. It is doubtful whether it has legal authority to pass such laws. Until very recently the legislation of Congress relating to "Legal Holidays" applied only to the District of Columbia. All laws relating to and governing the District of Columbia are passed by Congress. Prior to 1879 such laws were revised and published as "Revised Statutes of the District of Columbia." Section 993 of said Revised Statutes is as follows:

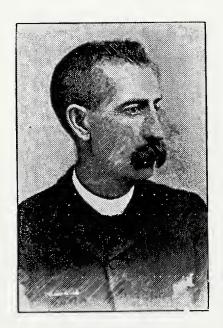

"Sec. 993. The following days, namely: The first day of January, commonly called New-Year Day; the Fourth day of July; the twenty-fifth of December, commonly called Christmas Day; and any day appointed or recommended by the President of the United States as a day of public fast or Thanksgiving, shall be Holidays within the District, and shall for all purposes of presenting for payment or acceptance, for the maturity and protest, and giving notice of the dishonor of bills of exchange, bank-checks, and promissory notes, or other negotiable or commercial paper, be treated and considered as is the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday."

By chapter 34, approved 31st January, 1879, said section 993 was amended by adding to the days therein declared to be Holidays, within the District of Columbia, "the 22d day of February," and said section 993 made applicable thereto for all purposes mentioned in said section. By chapter 391 of the acts of congress approved 18th June, 1888, the day "upon which the President of the United States is inaugurated, otherwise called Inauguration Day," is made a Legal Holiday in the District of Columbia for all purposes mentioned in said section 993; and by chapter 723 of the acts of congress approved 1st August, 1888, "the 30th day of May in each year, usually called Decoration Day," is made a Legal Holiday within the District of Columbia for all purposes mentioned in said section 993. By chapter 2 of the acts of congress approved 20th December, 1881, it is provided that "whenever any day set apart as a Legal Holiday within the District of Columbia shall fall on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, the next succeeding day shall be a holiday within the District of Columbia, for all the purposes mentioned in said section 993. By chapter 6, approved 22d December, 1892, and by joint resolution No. 15, approved 18th February, 1893, congress declared that every Saturday which under existing laws shall not become a Legal Holiday in its entirety in the District of Columbia, shall therein be a Legal Holiday from 12 o'clock at noon, for all purposes respecting the presentation for payment or acceptance or protest or notice of dishonor of all commercial paper whatsoever, and that all commercial paper which otherwise would be due and payable on such half-holiday Saturday in said District of Columbia shall be due and payable on the following Monday. All these statutes are limited in their operation to the District of Columbia.

By Joint Resolution No. 5, passed by congress and approved 6th January, 1885, it is provided, that "the employees of the navy yard, government printing office, bureau of printing and engraving, and all other per diem employees of the government, on duty at Washington or elsewhere in the United States, shall be allowed as Holidays, the 1st day of January, the 22d day of February, the 4th day of July, the 25th day of December, and such days as may be designated by the President as days for annual Thanksgiving, and shall receive the same pay as on other days; and by Joint Resolution No. 6, passed by congress and approved 23d February, 1887, "Memorial, or Decoration Day," of each year, is added to the days mentioned in said Joint Resolution No. 5.

In 1802 congress authorized the Secretary of War to so arrange the course of studies at the Military Academy that cadets should not be required to pursue their studies on Sunday; and in 1870 a like authority was given to the Secretary of the Navy respecting studies at the Naval Academy; and in 1867, chapter 176, section 48, in the act relating to proceedings in bankruptcy, congress provided that in certain cases when the last day for the doing of any act, or for any purpose, in said bankruptcy act should expire on a Sunday, Christmas-Day, or any day appointed by the President as a day of public fast or thanksgiving, or on the Fourth of July, such day should be excluded. These acts do not either directly or indirectly make any of the days mentioned a Legal Holiday. Such legislation is analogous in that regard to our own statute relating to "days of grace."

It will be seen that there is no legal authority in Kansas for the observance of any day as a Legal Holiday, except the three days first above mentioned, namely, the 22d of February, Washington's Birthday—the 30th day of May, Decoration Day—and the first Monday of September, Labor Day.

Yours, etc.,

W. C. Webb.

The Population of Topeka.

No better evidence of the increase or decrease in the population of a city can be had, than that obtained by a careful enrollment of its citizens by experienced canvassers for a revision of its Directory. Every house is visited, and every name taken is that of a bona fide resident over the age of eighteen years (excepting the names of married women who reside in the same house with their husbands, and not engaged in any business or profession). The same territory is covered from time to time, and necessarily shows more or less names as the population of the city fluctuates. The following table will convey a better idea of the relative population of Topeka now with that at the time the last Directory was issued, than could be obtained by merely giving the aggregate figures. It consists of the number of names under every letter in the alphabet in this and the Directory preceding it, as follows:

1893. *	1896.	1893.	1896.
A 404	475	0 209	222
B 1,244	1,485	P 685	717
C 1,114	1,121	Q 22	18
D 630	670	R 701	737
E 318	364	S 1,470	. 1,596
F 482	498	T 414	529
G 622	628	U 35	28
H 1,307	1,355	V 145	146
I 60	74	W 1,105	1,135
J 420	450	X
K 468	459	Y 77	64
L 554	573	Z 27	32
M 1,404	1,548
N 249	288	Total14,166	15,312

Which shows an increase of 1,146 names in precisely the same territory. The greatest gains are noted on the east side of the city, incidental to the growth of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe machine shops, and other manufacturing industries, and that portion of the city lying west of Kansas avenue and north of Sixth avenue. The southwestern portion of the city has suffered a slight decrease in its population, and nearly all the outlying additions, in every direction, have been on the decline. The First ward, or North Topeka, shows no material change, except in its suburbs, which show their percentage of shrinkage.

To summarize: The city of Topeka, including its environments, contains at this time (January 1, 1896), a population of 38,926, conservatively approximated; and if you doubt it, there is no law to prevent you from counting them.
