Features and Departments of a City Directory

Your new, improved City Directory is the most complete and comprehensive catalog ever published of the inhabitants, business concerns and institutions of your city. It is much more than just an alphabetical list of names and addresses.

Your City Directory Contains:

- 1 An Alphabetical list of names and addresses of every resident, business concern and institution, plus wife's name and if a widow the deceased husband's initial, and the occupations of all. Principal officers or owners and a description of businesses are included as well.
- 2 A Householders' Directory including a Street and Avenue Guide. This section lists every street and where intersecting streets appear. It lists numerically every location on each street, naming the householder or business at each number and whether the person is a homeowner or renter and if he has a telephone. Similar information is provided on office and public buildings and their occupants.
- 3 A Classified Business Directory—listing every business, classified as to type, and showing names and addresses. It also lists every profession, club, society and association, hospital and cemetery, labor organization, library, park and playground and school.
- 4 A “Yellow Section” or Buyers' Guide, where the advertiser may explain in greater detail the services or products he has to offer.
- 5 A Statistical and Historical Story of your city; plus miscellaneous other information.

LOWELL

INCORPORATED A CITY IN 1836

A Progressive Community

INDUSTRIALISTS!

From every point of view this city's advantages are manifest to you.

SPACE

Conveniently located; substantially constructed; well-lighted properties; small and large areas are now available and reasonably rated.

WATER

For industrial processing, apparently of an unending quantity, the softness of which gives to it an unusual rating for manufacturing purposes.

POWER

Electric, gas and water supplied at rates relatively lower than those of cities that are comparable.

TRANSPORTATION

Express, rapid freight and motor truck schedules afford frequent despatch throughout the day and night.

Successful manufacturing demands general workers who are well-schooled; craftsmen with technical knowledge; persons with disciplined minds and administrators with vision; to bring to profitable fruition any industrial promotion. Lowell prides herself in the thought that she can supply these particular types.

INTRODUCTION

R. L. POLK & CO., publishers of more than 800 city, county, state and national Directories, presents to subscribers and the general public, this the 1956 edition of the Lowell City Directory.

Confidence in the growth of Lowell's industry, population and wealth, and in the advancement of its civic and social activities, will be maintained as sections of this Directory are consulted, for the Directory is a mirror truly reflecting Lowell to the world.

The enviable position occupied by R. L. POLK & CO.'S Directories in the estimation of the public throughout the country, has been established by rendering the best in Directory service. With an unrivaled organization, and having had the courteous and hearty cooperation of the business and professional men and residents, the publishers feel that the result of their labors will meet with the approval of every user, and that the Lowell Directory will fulfill its mission as a source of authentic information pertaining to the city.

POPULATION

The population of Lowell at the time the U. S. Census was taken in 1950 was 97,249.

FIVE MAJOR DEPARTMENTS

The five major departments are arranged in the following order:—

I. THE ALPHABETICAL LIST OF NAMES of residents and business and professional concerns the first major department is included on white paper. This is the only record in existence that aims to show the name, marital status, occupation and address of each adult resident of Lowell, and the name, official personnel, nature and address of each firm and corporation in the city.

II. THE BUYERS' GUIDE, separately paged, on tinted paper, is the second major department, and contains the advertisements of leading manufacturing, business and professional interests of Lowell and vicinity. The advertisements are indexed under headings descriptive of the business represented. This is reference advertising at its best, and merits a survey by all buyers eager to familiarize themselves with sources of supply. In a progressive community like Lowell, the necessity of having this kind of information immediately available, is obvious. General appreciation of this fact is evidenced by the many reference users of this City Directory service.

III. THE CLASSIFIED BUSINESS DIRECTORY, the third major department, is printed on yellow paper. This department lists the names of all business and professional concerns in alphabetical order under appropriate headings. This feature constitutes an invaluable and indispensable catalog of the numerous interests of the community. The Directory is the common intermediary between buyer and seller. As such it plays an important part in the daily activities of the commercial and professional world. More buyers and sellers meet through the Classified Business Directory than through any other medium.

IV. THE DIRECTORY OF HOUSEHOLDERS, INCLUDING STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE, the fourth major department, is printed on green paper. In this section the numerical streets are arranged in numerical order followed by the named streets arranged in alphabetical order; the numbers of the residences and business concerns are arranged in numerical order under the name of each street, and the names of the householders and concerns are placed opposite the numbers. The names of the intersecting streets appear at their respective crossing points on each street. Special features of this section are the designation of tenant-owned homes and the designation of homes and places of business having telephones.

V. THE NUMERICAL TELEPHONE DIRECTORY, the fifth major department is included on white paper.

MUNICIPAL PUBLICITY

The Directory reflects the achievements and ambitions of the city, depicting in unbiased terms what it has to offer as a place of residence, as a business location, as a manufacturing site and as an educational center. To broadcast this information, the publishers have placed copies of this issue of the Directory in Directory Libraries, where they are readily available for free public reference, and serve as perpetual and reliable advertisements of Lowell.

THE LOWELL DIRECTORY LIBRARY

Through the courtesy of the publishers of the Lowell City Directory, a Directory Library is maintained in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, for limited free reference by the general public. This is one of more than 500 Directory Libraries installed in the chief cities of the U. S. and Canada by members of the Association of North American Directory Publishers, under whose supervision the system is operated.

The publishers appreciatively acknowledge the recognition by those progressive business and professional men who have demonstrated their confidence in the City Directory as an advertising medium, with assurance that it will bring a commensurate return.

LOWELL

Incorporated a town March 1, 1826; a city in 1836; the third city incorporated in Massachusetts

Lowell in the beginning of the 19th century was a village containing forty-five or fifty houses.

Lowell's natural advantages soon attracted artisans, as well as farmers. In 1796, the Pawtucket canal was built primarily for transportation purposes, but in 1820 it was harnessed to furnish power to the textile mills beginning to flourish here. These cotton mills were built to supply cloth for the American trade, replacing that formerly imported from England.

In 1855 a steam railway was built, a necessity because of the growing importance of Lowell as a business center.

Lowell in Nation's History: Two Massachusetts governors resided here: General Benjamin F. Butler and Hon. Frederick T. Greenhalge. Among other Lowell citizens who have been pre-eminent in public affairs are Hon. Charles H. Allen, the first governor of Porto Rico and assistant secretary of Navy under President William McKinley; Hon. William A. Richardson, secretary in Grant's cabinet, Lucy Larcom, the poetess, and his Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell.

Education: Lowell's excellent school system and other educational advantages compare very favorably with other cities of its size in the country.

The Lowell High School: A modern building, splendidly equipped, giving training for further study in college, and normal and scientific schools. It has a very extensive commercial course and an equally important household arts course. A very beautiful auditorium, with a seating capacity of 2,000; two gymnasiums, one for boys and one for girls, permits dramatic and physical development. The school promotes a very successful athletic program and has a prize-winning band of seventy-five pieces.

Lowell's Public School System includes: Six Junior high schools, fourteen grammar schools, twenty-four primary schools, two mixed grade schools, sixteen kindergartens, one vocational school.

The Catholic Archdiocese of Boston supervises in this city 20 parochial schools from kindergarten through college preparatory in Keith Academy for Boys and Keith Hall for Girls. There is also a well known private school for girls, Rogers Hall, which has also a junior department called the Belvidere School.

Lowell is fortunate in having a State Teachers' College. It is a very beautiful building occupying spacious grounds and giving training to teachers in elementary and secondary schools. It has an enrollment of approximately 438 students. Lowell has also the distinction of having one of the first and finest textile schools in the country, the Lowell Technological Institute, which is the largest institution of its kind devoted to textile research and ranks well with all the higher collegiate institutions giving technical training. It has an enrollment of approximately 750.

Industry: Lowell's mills, monuments of industry, are known the world over. But not alone on a foundation of textile supremacy does Lowell base its claims to greatness. In recent years so many industries have settled here, and other classes of goods are so extensively made, that Lowell can be better described at present as the "City of Diversified Industries" and as such, is advancing steadily as a progressive municipality.

All of the products from Lowell's several hundred manufacturing establishments obviously cannot be named here. The following alphabetical list serves to indicate the great diversity of its products:

The city of Lowell is well served by these public utility corporations. The Locks and Canals Corporation; the Lowell Electric Light Corp; and the Lowell Gas Company, furnishing water, light and power, and light and heat respectively in good measure and at reasonable rates. The Boston & Maine and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads furnish transportation in freight and passenger service and many inter-state bus lines use the city as a terminal.

Lowell is an ideal location for industries of every type. The city's transportation needs are furnished by the Eastern Mass. Street Railway Company and an up-to-date bus service transports workers from their homes to the down-town shopping area and industrial plants. Telephone and Telegraph service is furnished by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Union.

One daily newspaper with national and international news service, one Sunday newspaper, and a Tri-weekly published French newspaper, give the city its news. Lowell's trading population is estimated at 250,000 persons and the city is an ideal shopping center for a number of cities and towns north of Boston.

Lowell is a tourist center. It receives many visitors on their way to the celebrated White Mountains.

Industrially, the city has tremendous advantages for any manufacturing business. Its close proximity to the large markets in the East; its excellent transportation facilities; its contented and non-migratory labor, all serve as an inducement to the manufacturer seeking a location with such attributes. Its supply of good water for power and process is not only excellent but plentiful and practically unlimited. Soft water is becoming more and more important in the industrial world today and Lowell has, in the Merrimack and Concord Rivers, an almost endless supply of such water.

"The trend of the city as a whole is definitely upward" says a report of the Department of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Division of Statistics in its Census of Manufacturers for the City of Lowell.

The Lowell Chamber of Commerce is now, and has always been playing a prominent part in the raising of the industrial status of the community. The organization's willingness to aid the city's industries and all classes of its citizens has established for it in the community a confidence among employers, employees, municipal authorities and business men that is a notable phase of the municipality.

The Chamber of Commerce will welcome inquiries and is desirous of contacting manufacturers interested in knowing about the city's possibilities for the successful and profitable operation of their businesses. A manufacturer seeking a New England location should place the city of Lowell foremost on his list and write to the Lowell Chamber of Commerce, at 45 Merrimack Street, Lowell, Mass., for full particulars.
