Publisher's Note.

THE list of Athol Births, Marriages and Deaths comprised in this volume includes all that were found in the Town Books covering the period from the earliest date there recorded to the end of the year 1849. Some additions have been made from other sources, and these are indicated in each instance by proper reference.

All of the records are condensed in print as much as is consistent with intelligibility, accuracy, and completeness of information. Differences in duplicates, and explanatory or other matter which seemed necessary or desirable, appear in brackets.

Marriages and intentions of marriage are printed under the names of both parties, but the full information concerning each person is given only under his or her name. An asterisk after a marriage indicates that the intention is not found recorded, and in many cases this is accounted for by the fact that neither party belonged in Athol, and consequently publication was made elsewhere.

When places other than Athol and Massachusetts are named in the original records, they are given in the printed copy.

THEORY AND DESIGN OF THE THERMOPHORETIC

TRANSPORT COEFFICIENTS FOR POLYMER

SOLUTIONS IN A DILUTE CONCENTRATION

REGION

BY R. M. CROWDER AND W. J. HILL

Department of Chemical Engineering, University of California,

Berkeley, California 94720, U.S.A.

Received June 1970; revised October 1970

ABSTRACT: The theory of the thermophoretic coefficient of a polymer solution is presented and compared with available experimental data.

The theory is based on the assumption that the polymer solution is dilute and that the polymer is a hard sphere with a radius R_p .

The theory is also based on the assumption that the polymer solution is at a constant temperature and that the polymer is in equilibrium with its solvent.

The theory is also based on the assumption that the polymer is in equilibrium with its solvent and that the polymer is in equilibrium with its solvent.

The theory is also based on the assumption that the polymer is in equilibrium with its solvent and that the polymer is in equilibrium with its solvent.

INTRODUCTION

The problem of the origin of the Earth's magnetic field has been the subject of much discussion during the past few years.

It is generally agreed that the field must have originated in the Earth's interior, and that it is due to the motion of electrically charged particles within the interior, probably electrons, moving in closed loops under the influence of a magnetic field.

It is also agreed that the field is dipolar in character, and that it is due to the motion of electrically charged particles within the Earth's interior, probably electrons, moving in closed loops under the influence of a magnetic field.

the first time that the concept of 'labelled' and 'unlabelled' elements has been introduced. In fact, it is the unlabelled elements which are the most interesting and would be the most useful in a practical situation. It is the unlabelled elements which are the most difficult to identify and which are the most likely to be misclassified.

The results of the experiments with the PCTP system are presented in Table I. The table shows the percentage of correctly classified elements for each of the three methods of classification. The results are given for both the labelled and unlabelled cases. The results show that the PCTP system performs well in the labelled case, but less well in the unlabelled case. This is as expected, since the PCTP system is designed to handle labelled data.

in the first place. It is possible to do this by using a standard technique of linear programming, which will be described below. However, it is more instructive to consider the problem from a more intuitive point of view.

Suppose that we have a single plant producing a single product. We want to maximize the profit per unit time, subject to the constraint that the total production capacity is fixed.

Let us denote the profit per unit time by P , and let us denote the production capacity by C .

Let us also denote the production rate by x , and let us denote the production cost by $C(x)$.

Then we have the following equation:

$$P = C(x) - C_0$$

where C_0 is the fixed production cost.

Now, if we want to maximize P , we must minimize $C(x)$.

But, if we want to minimize $C(x)$, we must choose the production rate x such that the production cost $C(x)$ is minimized.

Now, if we want to minimize $C(x)$, we must choose the production rate x such that the production cost $C(x)$ is minimized.

But, if we want to minimize $C(x)$, we must choose the production rate x such that the production cost $C(x)$ is minimized.

But, if we want to minimize $C(x)$, we must choose the production rate x such that the production cost $C(x)$ is minimized.

But, if we want to minimize $C(x)$, we must choose the production rate x such that the production cost $C(x)$ is minimized.

But, if we want to minimize $C(x)$, we must choose the production rate x such that the production cost $C(x)$ is minimized.

and the corresponding ΔE values are given in Table I.

The results of the global minimization of the energy function (1) are given in Table II. The global minimum energy was found to be 10.22 kcal/mole, which corresponds to a value of 1.022 for the parameter α .

It is interesting to note that the global minimum energy is very close to the energy calculated by the local minimization procedure.

It is also interesting to note that the global minimum energy is very close to the energy calculated by the local minimization procedure.

que é o ponto de partida para a elaboração de um projeto de contabilidade. A estrutura contábil deve ser planejada com base na natureza das operações e no tipo de informações que devem ser fornecidas.

As estruturas contábeis podem ser classificadas em estruturas contábeis de tipo direto e estruturas contábeis de tipo indireto. As estruturas contábeis de tipo direto são aquelas que fornecem diretamente as informações necessárias para a tomada de decisões. As estruturas contábeis de tipo indireto são aquelas que fornecem informações que devem ser interpretadas para que se possa chegar às conclusões desejadas.

II. L'ANALISI D'UNA

Il titolo ha voluto indicare come questo studio si sia voluto intendere come un tentativo di analisi critica della storia dell'ideologia politica europea, con particolare riferimento alla sua storia contemporanea. La scelta di limitarsi alla storia contemporanea è stata fatta per due ragioni: la prima è che questa è stata la storia più ricca e complessa, quella che ha visto l'evolversi delle ideologie politiche in rapporto alle vicende politiche, sociali e culturali del nostro secolo; la seconda è che questa è stata la storia in cui le ideologie politiche hanno dovuto confrontarsi con le nuove realizzazioni della società moderna, con le nuove esigenze di organizzazione e di governo, con le nuove forme di produzione e di consumo, con le nuove forme di comunicazione e di informazione, con le nuove forme di cultura e di pensiero. In questa storia, le ideologie politiche hanno dovuto adattarsi alle nuove condizioni sociali, economiche, politiche, culturali, tecnologiche, ambientali, globali. Questo è stato possibile grazie all'evoluzione delle ideologie stesse, grazie alla loro capacità di adattamento, di innovazione, di rinnovamento. Ma questo è stato anche possibile grazie alla loro capacità di resistenza, di sopravvivenza, di sopravvivenza nel tempo, di sopravvivenza nel luogo, di sopravvivenza nel contesto, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre ideologie, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre culture, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre società. Questo è stato possibile grazie alla loro capacità di sopravvivenza, di sopravvivenza nel tempo, di sopravvivenza nel luogo, di sopravvivenza nel contesto, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre ideologie, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre culture, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre società. Questo è stato possibile grazie alla loro capacità di sopravvivenza, di sopravvivenza nel tempo, di sopravvivenza nel luogo, di sopravvivenza nel contesto, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre ideologie, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre culture, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre società. Questo è stato possibile grazie alla loro capacità di sopravvivenza, di sopravvivenza nel tempo, di sopravvivenza nel luogo, di sopravvivenza nel contesto, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre ideologie, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre culture, di sopravvivenza nel rapporto con le altre società.

the "feminized" aspect of present-day society. By such a definition, the term "feminization" has nothing to do with the traditional sense of the word, which refers to the process of becoming female.

The concept of feminization is used here to denote the process by which women have come to dominate the public sphere, and the way in which they have done so has been to appropriate male discourses and to transform them into female discourses.

It is this process of feminization that I wish to explore in this paper. In particular, I will focus on the way in which women have come to dominate the field of fashion, and how they have done so by appropriating male discourses and transforming them into female discourses.

the first time in the history of the country. The new law was passed by the legislature in 1907, and went into effect January 1, 1908. It was the result of a long and careful study of the conditions existing in the state, and was based upon the principle that the state should have a definite policy in regard to the regulation of the production and distribution of electric power. The law provides for the creation of a commission which shall have the power to regulate the rates charged by electric power companies, and to prohibit the practice of "rate discrimination." The commission is also given the power to require electric power companies to furnish information concerning their operations, and to inspect their books and records. The law also provides for the creation of a fund to be used for the promotion of the development of electric power in the state.

- the author's analysis of the relationship between the two concepts, and the author's own interpretation of the concept of "cultural capital". The book is divided into three parts. The first part consists of a theoretical introduction, in which the author discusses the concept of "cultural capital" and its relationship to other concepts such as "cultural reproduction" and "cultural transmission". The second part consists of a series of empirical studies, in which the author applies the concept of "cultural capital" to various social groups and social processes. The third part consists of a concluding discussion, in which the author summarizes the main findings of the book and discusses the implications of the concept of "cultural capital" for social theory and social policy.
- The book is well-written and clearly organized. The author's writing style is accessible and engaging. The book is a valuable contribution to the field of cultural studies and social theory, and it will be of interest to students and scholars in a variety of disciplines, including sociology, anthropology, education, and cultural studies.

ОДНОЧАСТНИКИ

Был в селе Бородинском
Богатый купец Федор

Много имел, но не знал
Что с ним делать.

Вот и пришел в город
В поисках удачного

Способа избавиться
Своего состояния.

И вот он нашел в городе
Самого богатого купца

Из всех купцов в городе
Самого богатого купца

the normal epineurial blood vessels. The walls of the vessels indeed appear to be normal, but the lumen is greatly reduced. The vessels are surrounded by a thick, pale, granular tissue which appears to consist of a loose connective tissue containing many small, irregular, pale, granular, rounded bodies. These bodies are somewhat larger than the nuclei of the Schwann cells, and they have a granular appearance. They are situated between the epineurial vessels and the peripheral nerve fibers.

the cold point and the cold point of H_1 are the same. In other words, if $\{H_i\}$ is a sequence of closed sets in X such that $\cap H_i \neq \emptyset$ and $\cap H_i = \{x\}$ for all $i > n$, then x is called a cold point of H_n .

It is clear that every cold point of H_n is also a cold point of H_{n+1} .

It is also clear that if H and H' are H -closed sets in X and $H \subset H'$, then H is a cold point of H' .

It is also clear that if H is a cold point of H' and H is H -closed, then H is a cold point of H' .

It is also clear that if H is a cold point of H' and H is H -closed, then H is a cold point of H' .

It is also clear that if H is a cold point of H' and H is H -closed, then H is a cold point of H' .

It is also clear that if H is a cold point of H' and H is H -closed, then H is a cold point of H' .
