VITAL RECORDS

OF

NEWTON,

MASSACHUSETTS,

TO THE YEAR 1850.

PUBLISHED BY THE
NEW-ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, AT THE CHARGE OF THE EDDY TOWN-RECORD FUND.

BOSTON, MASS.,

1995.

EL9628.6

THIS publication is issued under the authority of a vote passed by the NEW-ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, 6 November, 1901, as follows:

Voted: That the sum of $20,000, from the bequest of the late Robert Henry Eddy, be set aside as a special fund to be called the Eddy Town-Record Fund, for the sole purpose of publishing the Vital Records of the towns of Massachusetts, and that the Council be authorized and instructed to make such arrangements as may be necessary for such publication. And the treasurer is hereby instructed to honor such drafts as shall be authorized by the Council for this purpose.

Committee on Publications.

C. B. TILLINGHAST,	FRANCIS EVERETT BLAKE,
CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON,	DON GLEASON HILL,
EDMUND DANA BARBOUR.

Editor.

HENRY ERNEST WOODS.

THE TOWN OF NEWTON, Middlesex County, was established December 15, 1691, from the town of Cambridge Village, sometimes called Little Cambridge.

June 21, 1803, an island in Charles River was annexed to Newton.

April 23, 1838, a part of Newton was annexed to Roxbury.

April 16, 1849, a part of Newton was annexed to Waltham.

The town of Newton was incorporated as a city in 1873.

Population by Census:	1765 (Prov.),	1308;
1776 (Prov.),	1625 ; 1790 (U. S.),	1360 ;
1800 (U. S.),	1491 ; 1810 (U. S.),	1709 ;
1820 (U. S.),	1850 ; 1830 (U. S.),	2376 ;
1840 (U. S.),	3351 ; 1850 (U. S.),	5258 ;
1855 (State),	6768 ; 1860 (U. S.),	8382 ;
1865 (State),	8975 ; 1870 (U. S.),	12825 ;

1895 (State),	27590 ; 1900 (U. S.),	33587.

EXPLANATIONS.

1. WHEN places other than Newton and Massachusetts are named in the original records, they are given in the printed copy.

2. In all records the original spelling is followed.

3. The various spellings of a name should be examined, as items about the same family or individual might be found under different spellings.

4. Marriages and intentions of marriages are printed under the names of both parties, but the full information concerning each party is given only in the entry under his or her name. When both the marriage and intention of marriage are recorded, only the marriage record is printed; and where a marriage appears without the intention recorded, it is designated with an asterisk.

5. Additional information which does not appear in the original text of an item, i.e., any explanation, query, inference, or difference shown in other entries of the record, is bracketed. Parentheses are used only when they occur in the original text or to separate clauses found there—such as the birthplace of parents, in late marriage records.

6. In 1853 the town appointed a committee to collect vital records, which were added to a copy of the existing records. Entries in this copy, not found in the original records, are designated with a dagger.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry must be clearly documented, including the date, amount, and purpose of the transaction. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

Secondly, the document outlines the procedures for handling discrepancies. If there is a difference between the recorded amount and the actual amount received or paid, it is crucial to investigate the cause immediately. This could be due to a clerical error, a misunderstanding, or a potential fraud. Once the cause is identified, appropriate steps should be taken to rectify the situation and prevent future occurrences.

Thirdly, the document stresses the need for regular audits. Audits are essential to ensure that the records are accurate and that the procedures are being followed correctly. They also provide an opportunity to identify areas for improvement and to strengthen internal controls.

Finally, the document concludes by stating that maintaining accurate records is not only a legal requirement but also a best practice for any organization. It helps in making informed decisions, managing cash flow, and ensuring the overall financial health of the organization.

The first of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of financial crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to borrow money from abroad, and this had led to a sharp increase in the national debt. The government had also been forced to raise taxes, and this had led to widespread discontent among the people.

The second of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of political crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to resign several times, and this had led to a period of instability.

The third of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of military crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to fight several wars, and this had led to a period of military expansion.

The fourth of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of economic crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to raise taxes, and this had led to a period of economic hardship.

The fifth of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of social crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of social problems, and this had led to a period of social reform.

The sixth of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of cultural crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of cultural problems, and this had led to a period of cultural reform.

The seventh of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of religious crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of religious problems, and this had led to a period of religious reform.

The eighth of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of philosophical crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of philosophical problems, and this had led to a period of philosophical reform.

The ninth of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of scientific crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of scientific problems, and this had led to a period of scientific reform.

The tenth of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of technological crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of technological problems, and this had led to a period of technological reform.

The eleventh of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of artistic crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of artistic problems, and this had led to a period of artistic reform.

The twelfth of these is the fact that the British government had been in a state of literary crisis since the end of the American War of Independence. The government had been forced to deal with a number of literary problems, and this had led to a period of literary reform.

The first of these is the fact that the British had been defeated at the Battle of Yorktown. This was a decisive victory for the Continental Army, led by General George Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to evacuate the area and retreat to the sea. This marked the end of the American Revolutionary War.

The second fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of Saratoga. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Burgoyne. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The third fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The fourth fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The fifth fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The sixth fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The seventh fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The eighth fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The ninth fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

The tenth fact is that the British had been defeated at the Battle of the Clouds. This was a significant victory for the Continental Army, led by General Washington, over the British forces, led by General Cornwallis. The British were forced to retreat and the Continental Army was able to secure the Hudson River.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and most difficult in the history of science.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various theories of the origin of life. It is shown that the most plausible theory is that of the spontaneous generation of life from non-living matter.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the evidence in favor of the spontaneous generation of life. It is shown that the evidence is very strong and that it is in complete agreement with the theory of spontaneous generation.

4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the objections to the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that the objections are all unavailing and that the theory is completely correct.

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the implications of the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that the theory has far-reaching implications for our understanding of the origin of life and for the history of the earth.

6. The sixth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the future of the study of the origin of life. It is shown that the study is still in its infancy and that there is much work to be done.

7. The seventh part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the conclusions of the study. It is shown that the theory of spontaneous generation is the only one that is in complete agreement with the evidence.

8. The eighth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the significance of the study. It is shown that the study is of great importance for our understanding of the origin of life and for the history of the earth.

9. The ninth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the bibliography. It is shown that the bibliography is very extensive and that it covers a wide range of subjects.

10. The tenth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the index. It is shown that the index is very complete and that it covers all the subjects mentioned in the paper.

11. The eleventh part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the appendix. It is shown that the appendix is very useful and that it contains a great deal of valuable information.

12. The twelfth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the conclusion. It is shown that the conclusion is very clear and that it is in complete agreement with the evidence.
