PREFACE.

THIS compilation of "Documents Relating to the Territorial History of Maine" is the expansion of the results of a year's work under the direction of Professor Hart, in connection with the Seminary of American History and Institutions at Radcliffe College. With the belief that such a collection may prove a valuable aid to students of Maine history the work has been completed in its present form. In order to bring the series into reasonable limits it has been necessary to exclude all grants which led only to discovery or exploration, although England rests her claim to North America on the voyages of the Cabots. The beginning of the seventeenth century, under the patent to De Monts, witnessed the first permanent settlement within the limits investigated in connection with the present work. To bring together in chronological sequence documents that elucidate the leading facts, both in territorial development and the changes of government from 1603 to the present time, is the purpose of this compendium.

In selecting the sources from which these documents have been taken, the method adopted has been to choose what seemed the best available text; in all cases the original, if that has been accessible, otherwise an authentic transcript or reprint.

The head-notes which accompany each document are mainly designed to give a history of the sources as well as their bearing upon Maine history.

A special bibliography is also given in each case. The work of reading and investigation for that particular purpose has been materially lightened by the use of Dr. Justin Winsor's "Narrative and Critical History of America";

Channing and Hart's "Guide to the Study of American History"; and Hon. Joseph Williamson's "Bibliography of Maine."

In the titles of documents the terms charter, patent and grant are employed somewhat interchangeably in accordance with common usage or the reading of the text. No attempt has been made to discern a legal distinction between them.

A double set of dates is used until 1752, when the Julian calendar gave place to the Gregorian in England and Catholic Europe.

The work of compilation could not have been carried forward to completeness without many favors, some of which have already been suggested. The wide range of obligations makes it difficult to enumerate them all. Before all others, grateful thanks are rendered to Professor Hart, whose wise counsel and kindly assistance have guided the work at every stage; to the late Dr. Justin Winsor, librarian of Harvard University, for personal suggestions of great value on sources and authorities; to the Harvard College Library for the generous management which makes all books in the department of American History directly accessible to students of the Historical Seminary; to Mr. Hubbard W. Bryant, librarian of the Maine Historical Society, for access to the Archives; to Dr. Samuel A. Green, librarian of the Massachusetts Historical Society, for the privilege of examining "Colonial Letters and Papers," also for permission to make reprints from publications; to the Boston Athenæum for the privilege of consulting "The Acts of the Parliament of Scotland"; and to Mr. Edmund L. Barton, librarian of the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, for the opportunity to transcribe a notarial copy of the Pemaquid Patent.

Among other favors, Hon. Joseph Williamson has generously loaned advance sheets of his "Bibliography of Maine," with other papers of great assistance; Mr. Justin M. Leavitt, register of deeds for York County, courteously explained the condition and history of the "York Deeds," and arranged for the use of MS. volumes; at the Middlesex and Plymouth registries similar favors have also been extended. In the Boston Public Library, where much time has been spent, every opportunity has been given for consulting special libraries, especially the unsurpassed collection of United States Documents; the Massachusetts State Library has also afforded great facilities for studying legislative enactments of Massachusetts and Maine; and much kindness has been shown by the custodians of the Massachusetts Archives, which are so rich in Colonial documents.

A few extracts have been made from publications of the Prince and Gorges Societies, from "New Hampshire Documents," and from private sources; such favors are cordially recognized.

Finally, grateful acknowledgments are due to President Hyde, of Bowdoin College, and Hon. James Phinney Baxter, of Portland, for their kindness in examining manuscripts and valuable suggestions.

Errors and omissions will undoubtedly appear, but the aim of the compiler has been to present an accurate and painstaking study from the sources.

INTRODUCTION.

THE desire for fuller knowledge of the every-day life of people whom the world has known through their works has created a most interesting department in literature. By means of published letters, youthful ambitions are made known, and the course of circumstances which have shaped eventful lives is traced. In the history of an individual State, documentary sources furnish opportunities to indulge something of the same inclination. Such material, far from being the dry bones of a dead past, becomes by the aid of an intelligent imagination a living personality. The record of beginnings is not only interesting, but is important, when read in the light of events which have developed from seemingly insignificant sources. The history of an industrious and law-abiding State of the present day hardly suggests the varied and stormy past that documentary evidence plainly reveals. By such an agency the progress from a passive submission to usurping authority, to an active resistance in the struggle for individual rights, is clearly set forth. The territorial history of Maine presents many complicated questions, not only from conflicting elements involved in the struggle for supremacy within her boundaries, but also from her frontier position. In the number of eventful crises the record of Maine is hardly surpassed by that of any other State.

The value of a documentary work, which is brought within the limits of an octavo volume, and yet is sufficiently comprehensive to represent important facts in the history of a State, lies in the use that may be made of it by students who cannot have access to large libraries, or original records. The study of special topics is greatly facilitated by illustrative material, which is brought together in a compact form.

When access can be had to a good public library such a handbook by means of bibliographies will serve as a guide to supplementary reading. It is believed that each document included in this compendium has a bearing on the ever-shifting policy of rival powers that dealt with provinces in the ancient limits of Maine like tennis balls given or returned in the game for territory ; or it serves to illustrate the development of an independent government and the preservation of State rights.

One of the topics on which many students need information is the Great Council for New England which originated in the Northern, or Plymouth, Company under the first Virginia Charter, of 1606 [II.]. From the issuance of the Great Patent, in 1620, until its surrender in 1635 [VI.-XLV.] there are but few State papers directly relating to Maine that did not emanate from that body. In no other section of New England were so many grants conferred by the Great Council as within the limits of Maine, where from ignorance, or reckless disregard of geography, the Company issued, in quick succession, patents whose overlapping boundaries caused long and bitter controversies. It was remarked with grim humor that "it would require more lawyers to adjust the claims of rival adventurers than there were inhabitants in their whole territory." In the hope that a more intelligent acquaintance will be made, not only with that important Company, but also with the claims of original proprietors of the soil, it is attempted in this compilation to give some record of each grant under the Great Council, so far as it had relation to Maine territory. Where the original document itself, or an authentic transcript, has not been found, a minute to that effect is inserted from the Council records.

During the early Colonial period, not only Massachusetts Bay and New York ; the Dutch and the French ; Parliament and the King ; but Puritanism and Episcopacy, all struggled for precedence within the provinces of Maine and Sagadahoc. After Maine was consolidated with Massachusetts by the Royal Charter of 1691, her internal history was more peaceful, except for Indian wars. The number of documents presented by both English and French commissioners after the Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle [CV.] is evidence, however, of the involved relations between Maine and Nova Scotia in regard to territorial claims; such sources also indicate that boundary questions were destined to occupy a prominent place in later years. Vague ideas concerning the somewhat synonymous names of Acadia and Nova Scotia increased the difficulties of a settlement. On the west, claims of the neighboring province of New Hampshire gave rise to other boundary commissions which require an inspection of the Gorges and Mason charters.

The importance of public lands as an economic factor in the personal concerns of both Maine and Massachusetts is a subject which legislative documents exemplify. The "Massachusetts School Fund" still derives a portion of its income from the sale of public lands in Maine. School and ministerial funds were invariably provided for in grants by the Commonwealth to settlers. The usual arrangements were similar to those secured for such a purpose in the Bingham Deeds [CXV.]. One of these documents is inserted because it elucidates the principles by which townships were laid out in Maine; it also explains the origin of the two extensive areas known as Bingham's Purchases. The various reports of Commissioners, appointed under the Act of Separation to divide "in equal moities" the public lands belonging to the two States, are included for the benefit of those who wish to trace the history of townships [CXXXIII.-CXL.].

Certain public transactions suggest that eighteenth century legislation was not always in the line of the highest ideals of civic virtue, and indicate a change for the better in ethical standards. In 1786, a gigantic land lottery was arranged by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, for bringing money into the State treasury [CXII.]. Such questionable methods of raising funds to carry on public works, or to endow institutions, the nineteenth century has stricken from the statute books.

The study of civil government now occupies an important place in the curriculum of even a secondary school, and the formation of Good Citizenship clubs in many towns makes it desirable that opportunities should be afforded for the study of State papers. To a student in the history of American institutions all the steps in the formation of a sovereign State are no less interesting than important; much space is therefore devoted to the various proceedings by which Maine arose from the rank of "District" to that of a separate and independent State. The documents connected with the Act of Separation alone are numerous, and relate not only to property, real and personal, but also to provisions for the two Indian tribes which are still wards of the State. As late as 1837 it was necessary to secure the consent of Massachusetts in order that the Act of Separation could be so modified that greater freedom would be secured in the control of ministerial and school funds.

Interdependence of the two States is again exhibited during the Northeastern Boundary controversy. Personal interest on the part of Massachusetts in the disputed territory was hardly of less moment than that of Maine, and on those grounds the cooperation of Massachusetts was solicited by the Twelfth Legislature of the State of Maine [CXLVII.]. As an independent State the policy of Maine in settling public lands, and opening up the resources of the country, is suggested by two interesting enactments [CLX., CLXI.], which relate respectively to the construction of a great railway system, and the founding of the colony of New Sweden, in 1871.

A documentary work affords an excellent opportunity for the study of diplomacy. During several centuries there was hardly a negotiation between England and European powers but had an influence, direct or reflex, on Maine history. In the clearer light presented by State papers diplomacy often appears as little else than intrigue, which the solemn introductions and formal conclusions of treaties but thinly disguise. Designations like "their High Mightinesses," "the most Christian King," and "the Lord Protector of the Republic of England," are only surpassed by "James, by the Grace of God, King of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith," etc. As late as the Treaty of Paris, in 1783 [CX.], the long-extinguished claim to France was preserved in the official title of English sovereigns no less punctiliously than "Defender of the Faith" — a privilege maintained alike by Protestants and Papists.

Personal inspection of old documents is of itself an excellent object lesson in ancient usages. Several patents which were issued by the Great Council are now in the possession of the Maine Historical Society, and the First Plymouth Patent [VII.], as well as the New Plymouth, or "Warwick Patent" [XXI.], are readily accessible at Plymouth. The signatures and seals of Robert Warwick, the Puritan, and of the redoubtable Sir Ferdinando Gorges, make those personages more real. To see an ancient deed [LXVII.], with the outline across the top so "indented" that the fitting of it to its counterpart would establish its validity, is a sufficient commentary on the original signification of the term "indenture." Comparison of state or official documents, written by clerks in concise and even hand, with private letters from gentlemen of rank is convincing proof that many great men, like Hamlet, "once did hold it, as our statists do, a baseness to write fair."

If such sources are not available, the textual study of good secondary material has an educational value. Philology is enriched by a comparison of early texts with modern usage. The Great Patent of New England abounds in opportunities for word study. The meaning of "comfort" as a derivative from fortis is obvious from the context, "that it shall be lawful and free for all Princes to persecute with Hostility the said Offenders and every of their Procurers, Aiders Abettors and Comforters in that Behalfe"; "undertaker" is removed from the grim significance of our own times; an "adventurer" was not of necessity the reckless personage these later years consider him, while a "planter" was not an agriculturist, but the promoter or founder of Colonial enterprise. The condition of the English language in the seventeenth century is still further illustrated by ancient spelling with peculiar abbreviations and accent marks, as well as by methods of punctuation and capitalization which have grown obsolete. Apparent anachronisms are seen in the texts of royal charters to Sir William Alexander [IX., XIV., XVI.], which are contemporaneous with grants by the Great Council; the difference is explained by the fact that the less archaic form is a nineteenth-century translation of the original Latin text. The English text of the Patent of Acadia [I.] is, however, an illustration of a seventeenth-century rendering of the original French.

According to the somewhat liberal franchise of the Great Patent the tenure of early territorial rights was that of "soccage," or the plough [socca], which, for personal security was preferable to "knight's service," otherwise designated a per gladium comitatus, or sub capite. Charles Kingsley in "Hereward, the Last of the English," and Conan Doyle in "The White Company," have revived "soccage" and "socman" from early times. Not only illustrations of feudal tenure, but methods of conveyance, are better understood by aid of grants and records. Possession by "seisin," or "turf and twig" [XIV., XXXV., LXXXVI.] was the customary mode of legal transfer of property. A notable instance of the unique ceremonial was the "livery" by Worumbo at the Sagadahoc, which was performed with all due regard to ancient custom. Range of geographical knowledge is indicated in numerous grants that confer territory from "sea to sea," and by the so-called charter of Canada which "disponed" to Sir William Alexander "all and sundry islands, lying within the said river Canadà, from the said mouth and entrance, up to the head, fountain and source thereof, whersoever it be, or the lake whence it flows (which is thought to be towards the gulf of California, called the Vermilion sea), or within any other rivers," etc. . . . "and likewise all and sundry islands lying within the said Gulf of California; as also and whole the lands and bounds adjacent to the said Gulf on the west and south, whether they be found a part of the continent or main land, or an island (as it is thought they are) which is commonly known and distinguished by the name of California." The name of "Province of Maine" is first used in the grant to Gorges and Mason, 1622 [XI.]; its origin is not difficult to trace in the frequent use of maine as applied to "maine land," and "along the main."

Individual character is often revealed by a study of the sources. Documentary evidence alone shows that both in politics and religion Sir Charles La Tour was a trimmer between England on the one hand and France on the other [XLVIII., LVI., LIX., LXIII.], while Colonel Temple was uniformly loyal and so sincere that he was known as "honest Tom Temple." Such an estimate of these two commanders in Nova Scotia is corroborated by the "Calendar of State Papers."

By all these means the true local color of England and America in the seventeenth century is perceived; and through the atmosphere in which the makers of New England lived, Colonial history is studied in its true proportions. Reading between the lines, thoughts and purposes of that age of social, political and religious unrest are better understood, and it is easier to be tolerant of religious zeal so strangely tempered with a worldly prudence that the very document which sets forth the lofty design to convert the savages, makes hardly less apparent their hope of gain [II.]; or with the "perusal" of the Massachusetts Charter [XVII.], which led to the incorporation of Maine into Massachusetts.

Although the student, even in a Historical Seminary, cannot well have access directly to official documents now stored in that vast treasury of State papers, the new Record Office in London, or in the Depôt de la Marine et Colonies in Paris, much valuable material has been carefully transcribed for Historical Societies, or published in Collections of State Documents. The work of such skilful copyists as Brodhead and Sainsbury, Pulsifer and Shurtleff, is hardly less authentic than the original, and more reliable than the copy of an amateur from archaic MSS. To transcribe the seventeenth century chirography requires faithful apprenticeship and the habit of disciplined attention.

Within reach of any student in the provincial history of Maine there are deposited within the State Archives all transactions relating to the separation of Maine from Massachusetts, also copies of all transactions of the Land Office, and a transcript of the early records which were kept at York. Under the guardianship of the Maine Historical Society are rare papers which include carefully indexed volumes of MS. records of the Pejepscot and Kennebec Proprietors, the Gardiner and the Trelawny Papers; a series of certificated documents in support of the Mason claims ; and papers used by Thomas Barclay, commissioner under the treaty of Ghent, besides a mass of correspondence and valuable individual papers.

The history of the York Records is of especial interest. No trace has been found of the Commission to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, but the records of his brief administration are the oldest that relate to any organized government in Maine. Those early records were made up of judicial, legislative and other transactions ; a separate registry of deeds was begun in 1643. The Lease of Lands at Casco Bay [L.] was one of the earliest conveyances recorded by Roger Garde, the register of deeds, who also filled various offices in the province of Maine, at one time being the mayor of Agamenticus [York].

From the time when the province first came under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts until 1760, Yorkshire embraced the whole territory of Maine, and was the only place of registration. The "York Deeds" contain not only records of private conveyance, but grantees under the Great Council registered their "indentures" there to insure valid recognition of their claims. Museongus Grant [XXIV.] and the Covenant of Madokawando with Governor Phips [XCVI.], were recorded together in 1721/2, and the Pemaquid Patent [XXXIV.] was not recorded until 1737, when rival claims under both the Patent and the Brown Deed [XV.] were first contested. Registry of certain deeds of the territory in dispute, both at Suffolk and at Middlesex, show how active a conflict was aroused by the Drowne claimants at Pemaquid.

Early records at York were kept on quires of paper which were stitched together, but were unbound ; in 1731, the first volume had become so defaced that a transcript was made by the register, Joseph Moody, but the tattered original is still preserved, and with it a quaint index still tied as in olden time with a strip of cloth. The other volumes are in excellent condition, and are open for consultation; eleven volumes, as well as a volume of "Maine Wills," have been published under the direction of the Maine Historical Society, assisted by the State.

For years all the public records were deposited in the ell of a wooden house at York. Once during the Indian wars they were transferred to Massachusetts for safe keeping. In 1816, when the county seat was removed from York to Alfred, all the records were deposited in the fire-proof rooms provided for them. The special providence which has followed important manuscripts during so many defenseless years, when private malice or public intrigue often defeated rightful claims, which only recent discoveries have vindicated, proves that there are documentary romances quite as thrilling as those of individual lives. The finding of the long-lost Trelawny Patent [XXX.] and the royal charter of New Hampshire are sufficient proofs of the fitness of such a parallel.

The object of this introductory sketch on the value of work from the sources, is to demonstrate that such a method of study is not only quite as interesting as from a detailed narration, but is more of an intellectual incentive. Personal investigation teaches far more than appears on the surface; by such methods intelligent judgment in weighing evidence is acquired, imagination is awakened, and the mind is stimulated to explore new fields of research.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PATENT OF ACADIA TO DE MONTS BY HENRY IV. OF FRANCE.

NOVEMBER 8/18, 1603.

Sources.

The patent of Acadia granted by Henry IV. of France to De Monts, November 8/18, 1603, included all lands lying between the fortieth and the forty-sixth degrees of latitude. Under this commission the French established their first valid claims to lands within, or bordering upon, the State of Maine.

The original patent, or a contemporary copy, is in the Bureau des Marines et Colonies in Paris. It was printed by Marc Lescarbot, "Histoire de la Nouvelle France" (Paris, 1612), 433-439; and by the same author, "Nouvelle Edition" (Paris, 1618); also by Edwin Tross, editeur, a reprint of the first edition (Paris, 1866), II. 408-411. A transcript from Lescarbot is in the Massachusetts Archives under the rubric "Historical Documents, Collected in France for the Commonwealth," I. 443-445. Ben: Perley Poore, editor.

The patent has been many times printed from Lescarbot; by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I. 45-48; Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et ceux de sa Majesté Britannique, sur les possessions et les droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amerique" (Paris, 1755), II. 441-445; and extracts are in Thomas C. Haliburton, “An Historical and Statistical Account of Nova Scotia” (Halifax, 1829), I. Appendix 2, 203.

An abstract of the first English translation is in Samuel Purchas, “His Pilgrimes” (London, 1625), IV. 1619-20; another translation is in William D. Williamson, “The History of the State of Maine” (Hallowell, 1832), I. Appendix I. 651-654; also in William White, “A History of Belfast, with Introductory Remarks on Acadia” (Belfast, 1827), Appendix I. 89-97.

Both the French and the contemporary English translations in British State Papers, Colonial Series, 1574-1621, Vol. I. No. 10, are in Charles W. Baird, “The Huguenot Emigration to America” (New York, 1885), I. 341-347, which is the text adopted for these extracts from the patent of Acadia.

Henery by the grace of God Kinge of ffrence and Navarre. To our deare and welbeloved the Lord of Monts, one of the Ordinary Gentlemen of our Chamber, greetinge. As our greatest care and labour is, and hath alwaies beene, since our cominge to this Crowne, to maintaine and conserue it in the anntient dignity, greatnes and splendour thereof, to extend and amplifie, as much as lawfully may bee done, the bounds and limitts of the same. Wee beinge of a long time informed of the situaçon and condiçon of the lands and territories of La Cadia, moved above all thinges with a singular zeale, and devout and constant resoluçon w^{ch} wee have taken with the helpe and assistance of God Authour Distributour and Protectour of all Kingdomes and estates to cause the people w^{ch} doe inhabite the countrey, men at this pñte time barbarous, Atheists without faith or religion, to be conuerted to Christianity, and to the beliefe and profession of our faith and religion, and to drawe them from the ignorance and vnbeliefe wherein they are, havinge also of a long time knowen by the relaçon of the Sea Captaines, Pylotts, Merchants and others, who of long time have haunted, frequented, and trafficked with the people that are found in the said places, how fruitfull, commodious, and profitable may bee with vs, to our estates and subiects, the dwellinge possession and habitaçon of those countries, for the great and apparant profit w^{ch} may bee drawn by the greater frequentaçon and habitude w^{ch} may be had with the people that are found there, and the Trafficke and commerce w^{ch} may bee, by that means safely treated and negotiated. Wee then for these causes fully trustinge on your great wisdom, and in the knowledge and experience that you have of the qualitie, condiçon and situaçon of the said countrie of La Cadia: for the divers and sundry navigaçons, voyages, and frequentaçons that you have made into those parts and others neere and borderinge vpon it. Assuringe our selues that this our resoluçon and intention, beinge committed vnto you, you will attentively, diligently, and no less couragiously and valorously execute and bring to such perfeccion as wee desire: Have expressly appointed and established you, and by these presents signed with our owne hands, doe committ, ordaine, make, constitute and establish you, our Lievttenant generall, for to represent our person in the countries, territories, coasts, and confines of La Cadia. To begin from the 40 degree to the 46. And in the same distance, or part of it, as farre as may bee done, to establish, extend, and make to bee knowen our name, might and authoritie. And vnder the same to subiect, submitt and bringe to obedience all the people of the said land and the borderers thereof: And by the meanes thereof and all lawfull waies, to call, make, instruct, provoke and incite them to the knowledge of god, and to the light of the faith and Christian religion, to establish it there: And in the exercise and profession of the same, keepe and conserue the said people, and all other inhabitants in the said places, and there to commaund in peace, rest and tranquillity as well by sea, as by land : to ordaine, decide and cause to be executed all that w^{ch} you shall iudge fitt and necessary to bee done, for to maintaine, keepe and conserue the said places vnder our power & authority by the formes, waies and meanes prescribed by our lawes. And for to have there a care of the same with you to appoint, establish and constitute all Officers, as well in the affaires of warre, as for Justice and policie, for the first time, and from thence forward to name and present them vnto vs, for to bee disposed by vs, and to give lres, titles, and such provisoes, as shalbee necessarie. And accordinge to the occurrences of affaires your selfe with the aduice of wise, and capable men, to prescribe vnder our good pleasure, lawes, statutes, and ordinances conformable, asmuch as may be possible, vnto ours, specially in thinges and matters that are not provided by them. To treat and contract to the same effect, peace, alliance, and confederacy, good amity correspondency, and communicacō with the said people and their princes, or others, havinge power or commaund over them : To entertaine, keepe and carefully to obserue, the treatises, and alliances wherein you shall covenant with them ; upon condiçon that they themselves performe the same of their part. And for wont thereof to make open warre against them, to constraine and bring them to such reason as you shall think needfull, for the honour, obedience and service of god, and establishment, maintenance and conseruacō of our said authoritie amongst them : at least to haunt and frequent by you, and all our subiects with them, in all assurance, libertie, frequentaçon, and communicacō there to negoçiate and trafficke lovingly and peaceably. To give and graunt vnto them fovours, and priuiledges, charges and honours, w^{ch} intire power above-said, we will likewise and ordaine, that you have over all our said subiects that will goe in that voyage with you and inhabite there, trafficke, negoçiate and remaine in the said places, to retaine, take, reserue, and appropriate vnto you, what you will and shall see to bee most commodious for you, and proper for your charge, qualitie and vse of the said lands, to distribute such parts and porçons thereof, to give and attribute vnto them such titles, honors, rights, powers and faculties as you shall see necessary, accordinge to the qualities, condicions and meritts of the persons of the same Countrie or others. Chiefly to populate, to manure, and to make the said lands to be inhabited as spedily, carefully, and skillfully, as time, places and commodities may permitt : To make thereof, or cause to be made to that end, discoverie and view alonge the maritime Coasts and other Countries of the maine land, w^{ch} you shall order and prescribe in the foresaid space of the 40 degree to the 46 degree or otherwise, asmuch and as farre as maybee alonge the said Coast, and in the firme land. To make carefully to be sovght and marked all sorts of mines of gold and siluer, copper, and other Metalls and Mineralls, to make them to be digged, drawne from the earth, purified, and refined for to bee conuerted into vse, to dispose accordinge as wee have prescribed by Edicts and orders, w^{ch} wee have made in this Realme of the profit and benefitt of them, by you or them by whom you shall establish to that effect, reseruinge vnto vs only the tenth peny, of that w^{ch} shall issue from them of gold, silver and copper, leauinge vnto you that w^{ch} wee might take of the other said Metalls and Mineralls, for to aide and ease you in the great expenses that the foresaid charge may bringe vnto you ;

. And to the end no body may pretend cause of ignorance, of this our intention, and to busie himself in all, or in parte of the charge, dignitie, and authoritie w^{ch} wee give vnto you by these presents : We have of our certain knowledge, full power, and regall authoritie, revoked, suppressed and declared voide, and of none effect hereafter and from the present and all other powers and Comissions, lres and expediçons given and delivered to any person soeuer, for to discover, people and inhabite in the aforesaid extension of the said lands scituated from the said 40 degree to the 46, whatsoever they bee. And furthermore wee command and ordaine all our said officers of what qualitie and condiçon soever they bee, that after these pnts or the duplicate of them shallbee duely examined by one of our beloved and trustie Counsellors, Notaries, and Secretaries, or other Notarie Royall, they doe vpon our request, demandaund, and sute, or vpon the sute of any our Attorneys, cause the same to be read, published, and recorded in the records of their iurisdicçons, powers, and precincts, seekinge, as m[u]ch as shall apperteine vnto them, to quiet and appease all troubles and hinderance w^{ch} may contradict the same. ffor such is our pleasure. Given at ffountain-bleau the 8 day of November: in the yeare of our Lord 1603: And of our Raigne the 15. signed Henery: and vnderneath, by the Kinge, Potier; And sealed upon single labell with yellow waxe.

EXTRACTS FROM THE FIRST CHARTER OF VIRGINIA BY JAMES I. OF ENGLAND.

APRIL 10/20, 1606.

Sources.

By the First Charter of Virginia, given by James I., April 10/20, 1606, provision was made for two distinct companies with separate powers and government. The second, or Northern Company, established English territorial rights to the region bordering on the Gulf of Maine.

An extract from the charter was first printed by Samuel Purchas, "His Pilgrimes" (London, 1625), IV. 1683-84.

It was first printed entire by William Stith, "History of Virginia" (Williamsburg, 1747), 1-8. As Stith had access to the records of the Virginia Company his transcript was undoubtedly from the original document. Extracts both in English and French from the original are in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et ceux de sa Majesté Britannique" (Paris, 1755), II. 185-192; also in "Memorials of the English and French Commissioners Concerning the Limits of Nova Scotia or Acadia" (London, 1755), I. 545-552. The charter is also found in John Almon, "The Charters of the British Colonies in America" (London, 1775), 67-75; Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I. 51-58; Ben: Perley Poore, "The Federal and State Constitutions, Colonial Charters and Other Organic Laws of the United States" (Washington, 1877), 1888-93; John Alfred Poor, "A Vindication of the Claims of Sir Ferdinando Gorges" (New York, 1862), Appendix A, 93-97; Howard W. Preston, "Documents Illustrative of American History with Introduction and References, 1606-1863" (New York, 1886), 2-13; and Alexander Brown, "The Genesis of the United States" (Boston and New York, 1890), I. 52-63. The text adopted is from Stith's transcript.

GRANT OF EXCLUSIVE TRADE TO NEW NETHER- LAND BY THE STATES GENERAL OF THE UNITED NETHERLANDS.

OCTOBER 11/21, 1614.

Sources.

The Grant of Exclusive Trade to New Netherland, October 11/21, 1614, by the States General of the United Netherlands is found in E. B. O'Callaghan, editor, "Documents Relating to the Colonial History of the State of New York" (Albany, 1853-87), I. 11, 12, among papers collected by John Romeyn Brodhead from the Royal Archives at The Hague and translated by Dr. O'Callaghan. The source used by Mr. Brodhead is the minute on a half-sheet of paper, "File, Loopende." A duplicate document from the "Act Book of the States General" is also in the Royal Archives.

An extract is given by Albert Bushnell Hart and Edward Channing, "American History Leaflets," No. 16; also in "Report of the Regents of the University on the Boundaries of the State of New York" (Albany, 1874), 5, 6.

The limits assigned to the company of traders extended to the forty-fifth degree of latitude, which crosses the State of Maine from Passamaquoddy Bay westwards to a point above the Rangeley Lakes.

Earlier Resolutions from "Their High Mightinesses" "granting and allowing that the Petitioners alone have the right to resort to, or cause to be frequented the aforesaid newly discovered countries situate in America between New France and Virginia" with "Figurative Maps" are found in both the above named collections.

Which, being considered, We, therefore, in our Assembly having heard the pertinent Report of the Petitioners, relative to the discoveries and finding of the said new Countries between the above named limits and degrees, and also of their adventures, have consented and granted, and by these presents do consent and grant, to the said Petitioners now united into one Company, that they shall be privileged exclusively to frequent or cause to be visited, the above newly discovered lands, situate in America between New France and Virginia, whereof the Sea coasts lie between the fortieth and forty fifth degrees of Latitude, now named New Netherland, as can be seen by a Figurative Map hereunto annexed, and that for four Voyages within the term of three Years, commencing the first of January, Sixteen hundred and fifteen next ensuing, or sooner, without it being permitted to any other person from the United Netherlands, to sail to, navigate or frequent the said newly discovered lands, havens or places, either directly or indirectly, within the said three Years, on pain of Confiscation of the vessel and Cargo wherewith infraction hereof shall be attempted, and a fine of Fifty thousand Netherland Ducats for the benefit of said discoverers or finders; provided nevertheless, that by these presents We do not intend to prejudice or diminish any of our former grants or charters; And it is also Our intention, that if any disputes or differences arise from these Our Concessions, they shall be decided by Ourselves.

We therefore expressly command all Governors, Justices, Officers, Magistrates and inhabitants of the aforesaid United Countries, that they allow the said Company peaceably and quietly to enjoy the whole benefit of this Our Grant and consent, ceasing all contradictions and obstacles to the contrary. For such we have found to appertain to the public service. Given under Our Seal, paraple and signature of our Secretary at the Hague the XIth of October 1614.

GREAT PATENT OF NEW ENGLAND BY JAMES I. OF ENGLAND.

NOVEMBER 3/13, 1620.

Sources.

The Great Patent of New England was issued by James I. of England to the "Council established at Plymouth in the County of Devon, for the planting, ruling, ordering and governing of New England in America." By this grant the Northern, or Plymouth Company, was placed on an equal footing with the Virginia Company which had been reincorporated in 1609, and, with enlarged boundaries in 1612. The privileges of the Northern Company under the new patent were of a liberal kind, with a tenure "in free and common soccage, and not in capite, nor by knight's service." Not only were so many of the grants issued by the Great Council for New England modeled after the provisions of the patent of 1620, but many land titles in Maine were derived from that source. It is printed entire in this compendium. The name of New England which was officially given to the country by the patent was first applied by Captain John Smith in "A Description of a Voyage into New England" (London, 1616).

The grantor's copy is in the Public Record Office, Fetter Lane, London; it is simply an unattested copy of the words of the patent. The earliest published text, which is the source adopted for this reprint, is that of Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I. 103-118. Benjamin Trumbull, "Complete History of Connecticut" (New Haven, 1818), I. Appendix XXVI, 546-567, gives an authentic copy of the patent, which he says was "never before published in America," although Hazard had already printed it from the grantor's copy then in the "Chapel of the Rolls."

The document was also printed from the same source by John A. Poor, "A Vindication of the Claims of Sir Ferdinando Gorges" (New York, 1862); and by Francis Baylies, "An Historical Memoir of the Colony of New Plymouth" (Boston, 1866), I. 160-185; again by William T. Davis, "A History of the Town of Plymouth, with a Sketch of the Origin and Growth of Separatism" (Philadelphia, 1885), Appendix V. 137-145. It is also in Ben: Perley Poore, "The Federal and State Constitutions, Colonial Charters and Other Organic Laws of the United States" (Washington, 1877), 922-931.

Sexta decima Pars Paten de Anno Regni Jacobi, Angliae &c.

Decimo Octavo.

D. Con. Ludovico Duci Lenox, et al. Consiliar de Plymouth, Con new Colon de Newe-England, sibi et Successorib. JAMES by the Grace of God, King of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. to all whom these Presents shall come, Greeting, whereas, upon the humble Petition of divers of our well disposed Subjects, that intended to make several Plantations in the Parts of America, between the Degrees of thirty-foure and fourty-five; We according to our princely Inclination, favouring much their worthy Disposition, in Hope thereby to advance the in Largement of Christian Religion, to the Glory of God Almighty, as also by that Means to stretch out the Bounds of our Dominions, and to replenish those Deserts with People governed by Lawes and Magistrates, for the peaceable Commerce of all, that in time to come shall have occasion to traffique into those Territoryes, granted unto Sir Thomas Gates, Sir George Somers, Knights, Thomas Hamon, and Raleigh Gilbert, Esquires, and of their Associates, for the more speedy Accomplishment thereof, by our Letters-Pattent, bearing Date the Tenth Day of April, in the Fourth Year of our Reign of England, France, and Ireland, and of Scotland the fourth, free Liberty to divide themselves into two several Collonyes; the one called the first Collonye, to be undertaken and advanced by certain Knights, Gentlemen, and Merchants, in and about our Cyty of London; the other called the second Collonye, to be undertaken and advanced by certaine Knights, Gentlemen, and Merchants, and their Associates, in and about our Citties of Bristol, Exon, and our Towne of Plymouth, and other Places, as in and by our said Letters-Patents, amongst other Things more att large it doth and may appeare. And whereas, since that Time, upon the humble Petition of the said Adventurers and Planters of the said first Collonye, We have been graciously pleased to make them one distinct and entire Body by themselves, giving unto them their distinct Lymitts and Bounds, and have upon their like humble Request, granted unto them divers Liberties, Privileges, Enlargements, and Immunityes, as in and by our severall Letters-Patents it doth and may appeare. Now forasmuch as we have been in like manner humbly petitioned unto by our trusty and well beloved Servant, Sir fferdinando Gorges, Knight, Captain of our ffort and Island by Plymouth, and by certain the principal Knights and Gentlemen Adventurers of the said Second Collonye, and by divers other Persons of quality, who now intend to be their Associates, divers of which have been at great and extraordinary Charge, and sustained many Losses in seeking and discovering a Place fitt and convenient to lay the Foundation of a hopeful Plantation, and have divers Years past by God's Assistance, and their own Endeavours, taken actual Possession of the Continent hereafter mentioned, in our Name and to our Use, as Sovereign Lord thereof, and have settled already some of our People in Places agreeable to their Desires in those Parts, and in confidence of prosperous Success therein, by the Continuance of God's Devine Blessing, and our Royall Permission, have resolved in a more plentifull and effectual manner to prosecute the same, and to that Purpose and Intent have desired of Us, for their better Encouragement and Satisfaction herein, and that they may avoide all Confusion, Questions, or Differences between themselves, and those of the said first Collonye, We would likewise be graciously pleased to make certaine Adventurers, intending to erect and establish ffishery, Trade, and Plantacion, within the Territoryes, Precincts, and Lymitts of the said second Colony, and their Successors, one several distinct and entire Body, and to grant unto them, such Estate, Liberties, Priveliges, Enlargements, and Immunityes there, as in these our Letters-Pattents hereafter particularly expressed and declared. And forasmuch as We have been certainly given to understand by divers of our good Subjects, that have for these many Yeares past frequented those Coasts and Territoryes, between the Degrees of Fourty and Fourty-Eight, that there is noe other the Subjects of any Christian King or State, by any Authority from their Sovereignes, Lords or Princes, actually in Possession of any of the said Lands or Precincts, whereby any Right, Claim, Interest, or Title, may, might, or ought by that Meanes accrue, belong, or appertaine unto them, or any of them. And also for that We have been further given certainly to knowe, that within these late Yeares there hath by God's Visitation raigned a wonderfull Plague, together with many horrible Slaughters, and Murthers, committed amongst the Savages and brutish People there, heretofore inhabiting, in a Manner to the utter Destruction, Deuastacion, and Depopulacion of that whole Territorye, so that there is not left for many Leagues together in a Manner, any that doe claime or challenge any Kind of Interests therein, nor any other Superiour Lord or Souveraigne to make Claime thereunto, whereby We in our Judgment are persuaded and satisfied that the appointed Time is come in which Almighty God in his great Goodness and Bountie towards Us and our People, hath thought fitt and determined, that those large and goodly Territoryes, deserted as it were by their naturall Inhabitants, should be possessed and enjoyed by such of our Subjects and People as heertofore have and hereafter shall by his Mercie and Favour, and by his Powerfull Arme, be directed and conducted thither. In Contemplacion and serious Consideracion whereof, Wee have thought it fitt according to our Kingly Duty, soe much as in Us lyeth, to second and followe God's sacred Will, rendering reverend Thanks to his Divine Majestie for his gracious favour in laying open and revealing the same unto us, before any other Christian Prince or State, by which Meanes without Offence, and as we trust to his Glory, Wee may with Boldness goe on to the settling of soe hopefull a work, which tendeth to the reducing and Conversion of such Sauages as remaine wandering in Desolacion and Distress, to Civil Societie and Christian Religion, to the Inlargement of our own Dominions, and the Aduancement of the Fortunes of such of our good Subjects as shall willingly intresse themselves in the said Imployment, to whom We cannot but give singular commendations for their soe worthy Intention and Enterprize; we therefore, of our especiall Grace, mere motion, and certaine knowledge, by the Aduice of the Lords and others of our Priuy Councell have for Us, our Heyrs and Successors, graunted, ordained, and established, and in and by these Presents, Do for Us, our Heirs and Successors, grant, ordaine and establish, that all that Circuit, Continent, Precincts, and Limitts in America, lying and being in Breadth from Fourty Degrees of Northerly Latitude, from the Equinoctiall Line, to Fourty-eight Degrees of the said Northerly Latitude, and in Length by all

The Moyety or one halfe of all which Forfeitures wee do hereby for Us, our Heires and Successors, give and grant unto the said Councill, and their Successors to their own proper Use without Accompt, and the other Moyety, or halfe Part thereof, wee will shall be and remaine to the Use of us, our Heires and Successors. And we likewise have condiscended and granted, and by these Presents, for Us, our Heires and Successors, do condiscend and grant to and with the said Councill, and their Successors, that wee, our Heires or Successors, shall not or will not give and grant any Lybertye, License, or Authority to any Person or Persons whatsoever, to saile, trade, or trafficke unto the aforesaid parts of New-England, without the good will and Likinge of the said Councill, or the greater Part of them for the Time beinge, att any their Courts to be assembled. And wee do for Us, our Heires and Successors, give and grant unto the said Councill, and their Successors, that whensoever, or so often as any Custome or Subsidie shall growe due or payable unto Us, our Heires or Successors, according to the Limitation and appointment aforesaid, by Reason of any goods, Wares, Merchandizes, to be shipped out, or any Returne to be made of any goods, Wares, or Merchandizes, unto or from New-England, or any the Lands Territoryes aforesaid, than then so often, and in such Case the ffarmers, Customers, and Officers of our Customes of England and Ireland, and every of them, for the Time being, upon Request made unto them by the said Councill, the Successors, ffactors, or Assignes, and upon convenient Security to be given in that Behalfe, shall give and allowe unto the said Councill and their Successors, and to all Person and Persons free of the said Company as aforesaid, six Months Time for the Payment of the one halfe of all such Custome and Subsidie, as shall be due and payable unto Us, our Heires and Successors for the same, for which these our Letterspattent, or the Duplicate, or the Enrolment thereof, shall be unto our said Officers a sufficient warrant and Discharge. Nevertheless, our Will and Pleasure is, that if any of the said Goods, Wares and Merchandizes, which be, or shall be, att any time heereafter, landed and exported out of any of our Realmes aforesaid, that then such Payment, Duty, Custome, Imposition, or Forfeiture, shall be paid, and belong to Us, our Heires, and Successors, for the said Goods, Wares, and Merchandises, so fraudulently sought to be transported, as if this our Grant had not been made nor granted: And Wee do for Us, our Heires and Successors, give and grant unto the said Councill and their Successors for, ever, by these Presents, that the said President of the said Company, or his Deputy for the Time being, or any two others of the said Councill, for the said Collony in New-England, for the Time being, or any two others of the said Councill, for the said Collony in New-England, for the time beinge, shall and may, and att all Times heereafter, and from time to time, have full Power and Authority, to minister the Oath and Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy, or either of them, to all and every Person and Persons, which shall att any Time and Times heereafter, goe or pass to the said Collony in New-England. And further, that it shall belikewise be lawful for the said President, or his Deputy for the Time being, or any two others of the said Councill for the said Collony of New-England for the Time being, from time to time, and att all times heereafter, to minister such a formal Oath, as by their Discretion shall be reasonably devised, as well unto any Person and Persons imployed or to be imployed in, for, or touching the said Plantation, for their honest, faithfull and just Discharge of their Service, in all such Matters as shall be committed unto them for the Good and Benefitt of the said Company, Collony, and Plantation, as also unto such other Person or Persons, as the said President or his Deputy, with two others of the said Councill, shall thinke meete for the Examination or clearing of the Truth in any Cause whatsoever, concerning the said Plantation, or any Business from thence proceeding, or thereunto belonging. And to the end that no lewd or ill-disposed Persons, Saylor, Soldiers, Artificers, Labourers, Husbandmen, or others, which shall receive Wages, Apparel, or other Entertainment from the said Councill, or contract or agree with the said Councill to goe, and to serve, and to be imployed, in the said Plantation, in the Collony in New-England, do afterwards withdraw, hide, and conceale themselves, or refuse to go thither, after they have been so entertained and agreed withall; and that no Persons which shall be sent and imployed, in the said Plantation, of the said Collony in New-England, upon the Charge of the said Councill, doe misbehave themselves by mutinous Seditions, or other notorious Misdemeanors, or which shall be imployed, or sent abroad by the Governour of New-England or his Deputy, with any Shipp or Pinace, for Provision of the said Collony, or for some Discovery, or other Business or Affaires concerninge the same, doe from thence either treacherously come back againe, or returne into the Realme of Englande by Stealth, or without Licence of the governour of the said Collony in New-England for the Time being, or be sent hither as misdoers or Offenders; and that none of those Persons after their Returne from thence, being questioned by the said Councill heere, for such their Misdemeanors and Offences, do, by insolent and contemptuous Carriage in the Presence of the said Councill shew little Respect and Reverence, either to the Place or Authority in which we have placed and appointed them and others, for the clearing of their Lewdness and Misdemeanors committed in New-England, divulge vile and scandalous Reports of the Country of New-England, or of the Government or Estate of the said Plantation and Collony, to bring the said Voyages and Plantation into Disgrace and Contempt, by meanes whereof, not only the Adventurers and Planters already engaged in the said Plantation may be exceedingly abused and hindered, and a great number of our loveing and well-disposed Subjects, otherways well affected and inclined to joine and adventure in so noble a Christian and worthy Action may be discouraged from the same, but also the Enterprize itself may be overthrowne, which cannot miscarry without some Dishonour to Us and our Kingdome: wee, therefore, for preventing so great and enormous Abuses and Misdemeanors, Do, by these Presents for Us, our Heires, and Successors, give and grant unto the said President or his Deputy, or such other Person or Persons, as by the Orders of the said Councill shall be appointed by warrant under his or their Hand or Hands, to send for, or cause to be apprehended, all and every such Person or Persons, who shall be noted, or accused, or found at any time or times heereafter to offend or misbehave themselves in any the Affaires before mentioned and expressed; and upon the Examination of any such Offender or Offenders, and just Proove made by Oathe taken before the said Councill, of any such notorious misdemeaours by them committed as aforesaid, and also upon any insolent, contemptuous, or irreverent Carriage or Misbehavior, to or against the said Councill, to be shewed or used by any such Person or Persons so called, convened, and appearing before them as aforesaid, that in all such Cases, our said Councill, or any two or more of them for the Time being, shall and may have full Power and Authority, either heere to bind them over with good Sureties for their good Behavior, and further therein to proceed, to all Intents and Purposes as it is used in other like Cases within our Realme of England, or else at their Discretions to remand and send back the said Offenders, or any of them, to the said Collony of New-England, there to be proceeded against and punished as the Governour's Deputy or Councill there for the Time being, shall think meete, or otherwise according to such Laws and Ordinances as are, and shall be, in Use there, for the well ordering and good government of the said Collony. And our Will and Pleasure is, and Wee do hereby declare to all Christian Kings, Princes and States, that if any Person or Persons which shall hereafter be of the said Collony or Plantation, or any other by License or Appointment of the said Councill, or their Successors, or otherwise, shall at any time or times heereafter, rob or spoil, by Sea or by Land, or do any Hurt, Violence, or unlawfull Hostility to any of the Subjects of Us, our Heires, or Successors, or any of the Subjects of any King, Prince, Ruler, or Governour, or State, being then in League or Amity with Us, our Heires and Successors, and that upon such Injury, or upon just Complaint of such Prince, Ruler, Governour, or State, or their Subjects, Wee, our Heires, or Successors shall make open Proclamation within any of the Ports of our Realme of England commodious for that Purpose, that the Person or Persons having committed any such Robbery or Spoile, shall within the Term limited by such a Proclamation, make full Restitution or Satisfaction of all such Injuries done, so as the said Princes or other, so complaining, may hold themselves fully satisfied and contented. And if that the said Person or Persons having committed such Robbery or Spoile, shall not make or cause to be made Satisfaction accordingly within such Terme so to be limited, that then it shall be lawful for Us, our Heires or Successors, to put the said Person or Persons out of our Allegiance and Protection; and that it shall be lawful and free for all Princes to prosecute with Hostility the said Offenders and every of them, their, and every of their Procurers, Aiders, Abettors, and Comforters in that Behalfe. And also, Wee do for Us, our Heires and Successors, declare by these Presents, that all and every the Persons, beinge our Subjects, which shall goe and inhabitt within the said Collony and Plantation, and every of their Children and Posterity, which shall happen to be born within the Limitts thereof, shall have and injoy all Liberties, and ffranchizes, and Immunities of free Denizens and naturall Subjects within any of our other Dominions. And lastly, because the principall effect which we can desire or expect of this Action, is the Conversion and Reduction of the People in those Parts unto the true Worship of God and Christian Religion, in which Respect, wee would be loath that any Person should be permitted to pass that Wee suspected to affect the Superstition of the Chh of Rome, wee do hereby declare that it is our will and Pleasure that none be permitted to pass, in any voyage from time to time to be made into the said Country, but such as shall first have taken the Oathe of Supremacy; for which Purpose, wee do by these Presents give full Power and Authority to the President of the said Councill, to tender and exhibit the said Oath to all such Persons as shall at any time be sent and imployed in the said Voyage. And Wee also for Us, our Heires and Successors; do covenant and grant to and with the Councill, and their Successors, or any of them, shall at any time or times heereafter, upon any doubt which they shall conceive concerning the Strength or Validity in Law of this our present grant, or be desirous to have the same renewed and confirmed by Us, our Heires and Successors, with Amendment of such Imperfection and Defects as shall appeare fitt and necessary to the said Councill, or their Successors, to be reformed and amended on the Behalfe of Us, our Heires and Successors, and for the furthering of the Plantation and Government, or the Increase, continuing, and flourishing thereof, that then, upon the humble Petition of the said Councill for the time being, and their Successors, to Us, our Heires and Successors, Wee, our Heires and Successors, shall and will forthwith make and pass under the Great Seale of England, to the said Councill and their Successors, such further and better Assurance, of all and singular the Lands, Grounds, Royalties, Privileges, and Premises aforesaid granted, or intended to be granted, according to our true Intent and Meaneing in these our Letters-patents, signified, declared, or mentioned, as by the learned Councill of Us, our Heires, and Successors, and of the said Company and their Successors shall, in that Behalfe, be reasonably devised or advised. And further our Will and Pleasure is, that in all Questions and Doubts, that shall arise upon any Difficulty of Instruction or Interpretation of any Thing contained in these our Letters-patents, the same shall be taken and interpreted in most ample and beneficial manner, for the said Councill and their Successors, and every Member thereof. And Wee do further for Us, our Heires and Successors, charge and command all and singular Admirals, Vice-Admirals, Generals, Comanders, Captaines, Justices of Peace, Majors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, Constables, Customers, Comptrollers, Waiters, Searchers, and all the Officers of Us, our Heires and Successors, whatsoever to be from time to time, and att all times heereafter, in all Things aiding, helping, and assisting unto the said Councill, and their Successors, and unto every of them, upon Request and Requests by them to be made, in all Matters and Things, for the Furtherance and Accomplishment of all or any the Matters and Things by Us, in and by these our Letters-patents, given, granted, and provided, as they our said Officers, and the Officers of Us, our Heires and Successors, do tender our Pleasure, and will avoid the Contrary att their Perills. And wee also do by these Presents, ratifye and confirm unto the said Council and their Successors, all Priveliges, ffranchises, Liberties, Immunities granted in our said former Letters-patents, and not in these our Letters-patents revoaked, altered, changed or abridged, altho' express Mention, &c.

VII.

FIRST PLYMOUTH PATENT BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

JUNE 1/11, 1621.

Sources.

In respect to the First Plymouth Patent to John Pierce, "citizen and clothworker of London," June 1/11, 1621, it is interesting to note that it is the first grant of which any record is made by the Great Council under their charter of 1620. It is also believed to be the oldest State document in the United States.

For many years the patent was lost, and only after much search was discovered in 1741, among a mass of old papers in the land office, Boston; in 1853 it was deposited in Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth.

Although the patent was little more than a general commission to Pierce to establish himself anywhere in New England on land not already occupied by "any English," it has been claimed that a settlement was begun under its provisions at a place called Broad Bay within the limits of ancient Pemaquid. The document is accordingly printed entire.

The text adopted is that of Charles Deane, editor, the "Massachusetts Historical Society Collections" Series IV., II. 158-163, where it was first published. That text has also been carefully compared with the original document at Plymouth.

Another copy is found in John A. Poor, "A Vindication of the Claims of Sir Ferdinando Gorges" (New York, 1862), Appendix D, 118-120. It has also been printed by William T. Davis, "History of the Town of Plymouth, with a Sketch of the Origin and Growth of Separatism" (Philadelphia, 1885), 27, 28; and in "Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth" (Boston, 1883), 40-44.

EXTRACTS FROM THE CHARTER OF THE DUTCH WEST INDIA COMPANY, BY THE STATES GENERAL OF THE UNITED NETHERLANDS.

JUNE 3, 1621.

Sources.

The charter of the Dutch West India Company which was given by the High and Mighty Lords the States General, June 3/13, 1621, was on a purely commercial basis, and has been considered unfriendly to freedom. It was, however, in its terms no more of a restriction to the liberties of its subjects than other documents of that era.

The original "octroy" with amendments is, according to E. B. O'Callaghan, in the "Groat Placoat Book," or Book of Resolutions and Acts of the States, I., 566, a translation of which is in the State Library of New York; it is printed by him in "The History of New Netherland" (New York, 1848), I., Appendix A, 399-407; it is also in Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 121-123, and extracts are given in "Report of the Regents of the University of New York on the Boundaries of New York" (Albany, 1874), I., 6, 7. Various copies are found in early Dutch works.

The extracts in this collection are reprinted from the "History of New Netherland."

Text.

The States General of the United Netherlands, to all who shall see these presents or hear them read, greeting: Be it known, that We, knowing that the prosperity of these countries, and the welfare of their inhabitants, depend principally on navigation and trade, which in all former times by the said countries were carried on happily, and with a great blessing to all countries and kingdoms; and desiring that the aforesaid inhabitants should not only be preserved in their former navigation, traffic, and trade, but also that their trade may be increased as much as possible in special conformity to the treaties, alliances, leagues, and covenants, for traffic and navigation formerly made with other princes, republics, and people, which We give them to understand must be in all parts punctually kept and adhered to: And We find by experience, that without the common help, assistance, and interposition of a General Company, the people designed from hence for those parts cannot be properly protected and maintained in their great risk from pirates, extortion, and otherwise, which will happen in so very long a voyage We have, therefore, and for several other important reasons and considerations us thereunto moving, with mature deliberation of counsel, and for highly necessary causes, found it good, that the navigation, trade, and commerce, in the parts of the West Indies, and Africa, and other places hereafter described, should not henceforth be carried on any otherwise than by the common united strength of the merchants and inhabitants of these countries, and that for that end there shall be erected one General Company, which we, out of special regard to their common well-being, and to keep and preserve the inhabitants of those places in good trade and welfare, will maintain and strengthen with Our help, favor, and assistance, as far as the present state and condition of this country will admit: and, moreover, furnish them with a proper charter, and with the following privileges and exemptions, to wit: That for the term of four and twenty years, none of the natives or inhabitants of these countries shall be permitted to sail to or from the said lands, or to traffic on the coast and countries of Africa, from the Tropic of Cancer to the Cape of Good Hope, nor in the countries of America, or the West Indies, beginning at the fourth end of Terra Nova, by the Straits of Magellan, La Maire, or any other straits and passages situated thereabouts to the Straits of Anian, as well on the North Sea as the South Sea, nor on any islands situated on the one side or the other, or between both: nor in the western or southern countries, reaching, lying, and between both the meridians, from the Cape of Good Hope, in the east, to the east end of New Guinea, in the west inclusive, but in the name of this United Company of these United Netherlands. And whoever shall presume, without the consent of this company, to sail or to traffic in any of the places within the aforesaid limits granted to this company, he shall forfeit the ships and the goods which shall be found for sale upon the aforesaid coasts and lands; the which being actually seized by the aforesaid company, shall be by them kept for their own benefit and behoof. And in case such ships or goods shall be sold either in other countries or havens they may touch at, the owners and partners must be fined for the value of those ships and goods: Except only, that they who before the date of this charter, shall have sailed or been sent out of these or any other countries to any of the aforesaid coasts, shall be able to continue their trade for the sale of their goods, and come back again, or otherwise, until the expiration of their charter, if they have had any before, and not longer : Provided, that after the first of July, sixteen hundred and twenty-one, the day and time of this charter's commencing, no person shall be able to send any ships or goods to the places comprehended in this charter, although that before the date hereof, this company was not finally incorporated : but shall provide therein, as is becoming, against those who knowingly by fraud endeavor to frustrate our intention herein for the public good : Provided that the salt trade at Ponte del Re may be continued according to the conditions and instructions by Us already given, or that may be given respecting it, anything in this charter to the contrary notwithstanding.

charging and expressly commanding all governors, justices, officers, magistrates, and inhabitants of the aforesaid United Netherlands, that they permit the aforesaid company and managers peaceably and freely to enjoy the full effect of this charter, agreement, and privilege, without any contradiction or impeachment to the contrary. And that none may pretend ignorance hereof, We command that the contents of this charter shall be notified by publication or an advertisement, where and in such manner as is proper ; for We have found it necessary for the service of this country.

Given under Our great seal, and the signature and seal of Our recorder, at the Hague, on the third day of the month of June, in the year sixteen hundred and twenty-one

EXTRACTS FROM THE CHARTER OF NOVA SCOTIA TO SIR WILLIAM ALEXANDER BY JAMES I. OF ENGLAND.

SEPTEMBER 10/20, 1621.

Sources.

It has been claimed that the attention of Sir William Alexander was first directed to Nova Scotia by Claude La Tour, who had been in that country with Poutrincourt; in 1621 he was in Scotland where Sir William Alexander of Menstrie was then Secretary of State to King James. Through royal favor an extensive grant in Nova Scotia was given to Alexander, who had engaged to support La Tour in his rights established by settlement at Fort St. John's. The name Nova Scotia or "New Scotland" begins with the charter of 1621, and the western boundary, "the river commonly called by the name of Sancta Crux, and to the remotest source or fountain" has served as the basis of negotiations under different treaties.

The Latin text of the original charter is recorded in the "Great Seal Register," from which source it has been reprinted many times; the earliest is in a compendium by Samuel Purchas, "His Pilgrimes" (London, 1625), IV. 1871-72; and by Joannes de Laet, "Novus Orbis, sen Descriptiones Indiae Occidentalis " (Batav. apud Elzeverios, 1633).

Extracts in English and French translations were printed in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et ceux de sa Majesté Britannique, sur les possessions et les droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amerique" (Paris, 1755), II. 185-192; from which an extract was reprinted by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I. 134, 135. The text is printed in Latin in a "Statement on the Part of the United States of the Case Referred in Pursuance of the Convention of 1827," Appendix X. 74-82; by Sir Thomas Christopher Banks, "Copies and Translations of the Royal Charters (Confirmed in Parliament) . . . to the Right Honorable Sir William Alexander, Knight" (London, 1831), 1-9, with an English translation by "a Gentleman in London," 25-34; also by the same, "Baronia Anglica Concentrata," II. The Charter is printed entire from the "Great Seal Register" in "A Narrative of Law Proceedings," with an English translation (Edinburgh, 1836); also by the Bannatyne Club, David Laing, editor, "Royal Letters, Charters and Tracts, Relating to the Colonization of New Scotland, Etc., 1621-1638" (Edinburgh, 1867), 3-15. A translation of the Latin transcript of the Bannatyne Club was made by Rev. Carlos Slafter of Dedham, and printed by Edmund F. Slafter, editor, "Sir William Alexander and American Colonization" (Prince Society, 1873), 127-148; a translation is reprinted from John Palairt, "Description of English and French Possessions in North America," by William D. Williamson, "The History of the State of Maine" (Hallowell, 1832), I. Appendix 2, 655-657.

The text adopted for this compilation is the English translation printed by Sir Thomas Banks.

James, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King &c., and Defender of the Faith. To all good men of all his territories, clergy and laity, greeting, Know ye, that we have always been intent on embracing every occasion which might tend to the honour and advantage of our Kingdom of Scotland, for these causes, as well as on account of the faithful and acceptable service of our beloved Counsellor, Sir William Alexander, Knight to us rendered, and to be rendered, who, first of our subjects, at his own expense, endeavoured to plant this foreign colony, and sought out for colonization the divers lands circumscribed by the limits hereinafter designated. We, therefore, out of the opulence, prosperity, and peace of our natural subjects of our said Kingdom of Scotland, as other foreign princes have heretofore done in such cases, with the advice and consent of our right well-beloved Cousin and Counsellor, John, Earl of Mar, Lord Erskyn and Gareoch, &c., our High Treasurer, Comptroller, Collector, and Treasurer, of our new augmentations of this our kingdom of Scotland, and of the other Lords, our Commissioners, of the same our kingdom, have given, granted, and disposed, and, by the tenor of our present Charter, do give, grant, and dispose to the aforesaid Sir William Alexander, his heirs or assigns, whomsoever, hereditarily, all and singular the lands, continents, and islands, situate and lying in America, within the cape or promontory, commonly called Cap de Sable, lying near the latitude of forty-three degrees, or thereabout, from the equinoctial line, northward, from which promontory, toward the coast, verging to the west, to the harbour of Sancta Maria, commonly called Sanctmareis Bay, and thence northward, traversing, by a right line, the entrance, or mouth of that great naval station which runs out into the eastern tract of the land between the countries of the Suriqui and Steehimini, commonly called Surequois and Stechimines, to the river commonly called by the name of Sancta Crux, and to the remotest source or fountain on the western side of the same, which first discharges itself into the aforesaid river, and thence, by an imaginary right line, which might be conceived to proceed through the land, or to run northward to the nearest naval station, river, or source, discharging itself into the great river of Canada, and proceeding from it by the sea shores of the same river of Canada, eastward to the river, naval station, port, or shore, commonly known and called by the name of Gathepe, or Gaspie, and thence south eastward to the islands called Baccaloes, or Cap Britton, leaving the same islands on the right, and the gulph of the said great river of Canada, or great naval station, and the lands of Newfoundland, with the islands pertaining to the same lands, on the left, and thence to the cape or promontory of Cap Britton aforesaid, lying near the latitude of forty-five degrees, or thereabout, and from the said promontory of Cap Britton, toward the south and west to the aforesaid Cap Sable, where the circuit began, including and comprehending within the said sea coasts, and their circumferences, from sea to sea, all lands, continents, with rivers, torrents, bays, shores, islands, or seas, lying near, or within six leagues to any part of the same, on the western, northern, or eastern parts of the coasts, and precincts of the same, and on the south-east (where Cap Britton lies,) and on the southern part of the same, (where Cap de Sable is,) all seas and islands towards the south, within forty leagues of the said sea coasts of the same, including the great island, commonly called Isle de Sable, or Sablon, lying towards the Carbas, south-south-east, about thirty leagues from the said Cap Britton, in the sea, and being in the latitude of forty-four degrees, or thereabout; which lands aforesaid, in all time to come, shall enjoy the name of Nova Scotia, in America, which also the aforesaid Sir William shall divide into parts and portions, as to him may seem meet, and give names to the same, according to his pleasure:

MINUTES OF THE FIRST DIVISION OF THE GREAT
PATENT FOR NEW ENGLAND, BY THE GREAT
COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.JUNE 24, 1622.
JULY 4,Sources.

Although the first division of the Great Patent for New England, ^{June 24,} ~~July 4,~~ 1622, was never consummated it is here given entire because it throws light on the affairs of the Great Council.

The Records of the Great Council for New England were transcribed under the direction of W. Noël Sainsbury from the notarial copy in Her Majesty's Public Record Office, London, for S. F. Haven and were published by Charles Deane, editor, in American Antiquarian Society "Proceedings," 1867. The discovery of the Carew MS. in 1875 furnished means of verification of certain portions which Mr. Sainsbury made use of for a careful revision of his earlier transcript. Mr. Sainsbury's work as editor of "Calendar of State Papers" is so accurate that his text is uniformly adopted in this collection in preference to the work of other transcribers.

The First Division of the Patent was also published from the copy in the Public Record Office by John Alfred Poor, "A Vindication of Sir Ferdinando Gorges," (New York, 1862), Appendix D, 123, 124.

GRANT OF THE PROVINCE OF MAINE BY THE GREAT COUNCIL OF NEW ENGLAND.

AUGUST 10/20, 1622.

Sources.

The original grant of the Province of Maine to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, and John Mason, Esq., August 10/20, 1622, is in the "Colonial Entry Book," 59, 101-108, Public Record Office, London.

The text adopted is that of John Alfred Poor, "A Vindication of the Claims of Sir Ferdinando Gorges" (New York, 1862), Appendix D, 121-123, which is a transcript of the original record and is the source of all other reprints.

His text has been copied by Nathaniel Bouton, D.D., "Documents and Records Relating to the Province of New Hampshire. Provincial Papers" (Concord, 1867), 1, 10-15. It is also found in John Ward Dean, editor, "Capt. John Mason, the Founder of New Hampshire" (Prince Society, 1887), 121-123.

It is interesting to note that the name "Province of Maine" is first used in this document, and was inserted from that source in the royal charter issued in 1639 to Gorges; otherwise the grant of 1622 had little influence on Maine history, although some of the early historians evidently confused it with the Laconia grant of November 17/27, 1629.

MEMORANDUM OF THE GRANT TO CHRISTOPHER LEVETT. BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

MAY 5/15, 1623.

Sources.

For the grant of six thousand acres of land to Christopher Levett, by the Great Council, May 5/15, 1623, no documentary evidence has yet been found beyond the meager "memorandum" in the "Records of the Great Council" and in the "Calendar of State Papers," I. 45; contemporary writers, however, add a little more to our knowledge of Levett's connection with the early history of Maine. Samuel Maverick in "A Description of New England" in "New England Historical and Genealogical Register" (1885), p. 35, describes the grant in terms which are nearly identical with the memorandum of the Great Council; Edward Godfrey includes the grant (No. 15) in his "Cattalogue of Such Pattentes as I know granted for making Plantacons in New England." A fuller account is Christopher Levett's own work, "A Voyage into New England Begun in 1623, and ended in 1624" (London, 1628). The Conway Letters, transcribed from the MSS. in the Public Record Office, London, and published by the Massachusetts Historical Society, "Proceedings" XX., state that Levett was appointed "councillor" for New England; moreover, that he purposed to erect a city, which was to bear the name of his native city, York.

These, and many other facts which throw light on the history of Levett at Portland have been collected and published by James Phinney Baxter, editor, "Christopher Levett, of York, the Pioneer Colonist in Casco Bay," Gorges Society (Portland, 1893).

Political circumstances prevented the success of Levett's plans, and House Island in Casco Bay, where he built a house in 1624 was the only part of the grant which he occupied. There is, however, no doubt but Levett was the first English owner of the soil where George Cleeve founded Falmouth on the site of the present city of Portland.

Maverick says Levett's patent was purchased by the Company of Plymouth Adventurers, in ^{January 27} February 6, 1638; after the final division of the Great Patent Gorges conveyed the territory by deed to Cleeve and Tucker, "York Deeds," I, Part II, fol. 4, by whom it was held notwithstanding various controversies.

The brief memorandum here printed is from the text of W. Noel Sainsbury, "Records of the Great Council," Charles Deane, editor, American Antiquarian Society, "Proceedings," 1867, 94.

SECOND DIVISION OF THE PATTENT FOR NEW ENGLAND BY THE GREAT COUNCIL
FOR NEW ENGLAND.

JUNE 29, 1623
JULY 9,

Sources.

The second division of the Great Patent of New England was made at Whitehall, in the King's presence, Sunday, ^{June 29} July 9, 1623. The records of the Great Council state, "for that some of the adventurers excuse their non-payment in of their adventures because they know not their shares for which they are to pay, which much prejudiceth the proceedings, it is thought that the land be divided"

The division was never consummated but it has a geographical importance in connection with the early maps of New England where the divisions were marked according to the lots. The records say that the territory was "divided according as the division is made in the plot remaining with Dr. Goche."

Capt. John Smith "Generall Historie" (1624), says New England was "at last engrossed by twenty patentees, that divided my map into twenty parts and cast lots for their shares." Sir William Alexander first published the map of New England with the portions and names of the proprietors. Lescarbot had published a map in 1612 which Sir William Alexander's more nearly resembles than Smith's; his own, however, is more accurate, Sir William Alexander, "Encouragement to Colonies" (London, 1624); and in 1630 under a new title-page, but the same impression, "The Map and Description of New England."

The map entire or in part has been many times reprinted, first, in part by Samuel Purchas, "His Pilgrimes" (London, 1624), 1876; entire by John Wingate Thornton, "The Landing at Cape Ann" (Boston, 1854); by Samuel G. Drake, "Founders of New England" (Boston); David Laing, editor, "Royal Letters, Charters and Tracts" (Edinburgh, 1867); Prince Society Publications, Edmund F. Slafter, editor, "Sir William Alexander and American Colonization," heliotype facsimile, and elsewhere.

For the division itself the records for the day of drawing the lots were missing from the rolls in the Public Record Office, but were supplied by Mr. Sainsbury in 1875 from the newly discovered Carew MS., now believed to be the original records of the Great Council for New England.

The text adopted is that made under the direction of Mr. Sainsbury.

EXTRACTS FROM THE NOVODAMUS CHARTER OF NOVA SCOTIA BY CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.

JULY 12/22, 1625.

Sources.

The so-called Novodamus Charter of Nova Scotia, issued to Sir William Alexander by Charles I., July 12/22, 1625, is little more than a confirmation of the charter of James I., September 10/20, 1621. The boundaries of territories which were reaffirmed in nearly the same terms as the previous grants are here omitted. The preamble, which gives a good idea of the motives for encouraging colonization is inserted, also the novodamus clause which incorporates Nova Scotia with Scotland for the purpose of seisin. The charter was expressly designed to secure all rights and privilege which had become void through "non-entry."

The original text of the Novodamus Charter is in the "Great Seal Register," from which it was transcribed for Sir Thomas Christopher Banks, "Copies and Translations of the Royal Charters, (confirmed in Parliament) to the Right Honorable Sir William Alexander, Knight" (London, 1831), 11-23, translated "by a professional gentleman of Scotland," 5-18; by the same also, "Baronia Anglica Concentrata, II. ; again from the "Great Seal Register," "A Narrative of Law Proceedings" (Edinburgh, 1836), with an English translation in the appendix, which has been reprinted by Edmund F. Slafter, editor, "Sir William Alexander and American Colonization" (Prince Society, 1873), 217-231; and by the Bannatyne Club, David Laing, editor, "Royal Letters, Charters, and Tracts, Relating to the Colonization of New Scotland, &c. . . 1621-1638" (Edinburgh, 1867), 27-45. An extract from the Novodamus Charter was printed from the records in the Plantation Office, Whitehall, with a French translation also, in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et ceux de sa Majesté Britannique, sur les possessions et les droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique" (Paris, 1755), II., 226-275; reprinted by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 206-224.

The text from which these extracts are reprinted is the translation used by Banks.

Text.

Charles, by the Grace of God, King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, and Defender of the faith. To all good men of his whole land, clergy and laity, Greeting. Know y that we have always been intent to embrace every occasion that might tend to the honour and profit of our kingdom of Scotland, and have been of opinion that there is no acquisition either easier or more unprejudicial than what may be made by conducting new colonies into foreign and uncultivated realms, where conveniences for life and food are sufficient, especially if either those realms were before destitute of cultivators, or were settled in by Infidels, whom it is of the greatest concern that they be converted to the Christian faith, to the glory of God; but when both some other kingdoms, and not long since, this our (kingdom of) England, have laudably imposed their names on new lands, acquired and subdued by them, considering how numerous and dense this people, by the Divine blessing, at this time, are, and how they may be diligently exercised in any honourable and useful employment, lest, from sloth and indolence, they decline into worse, it may be expedient, and we have reckoned it an object of estimation, that many of them should be conducted into a new country, which they may fill with colonies, who, both by readiness and alacrity of mind, and by strength and ability of body, may dare to oppose themselves to whatsoever difficulties beset other mortals any where. We thence judge this undertaking to be exceedingly suitable to this kingdom, which calls for the transportation of men only, and women, beasts of burthen, and corn ; not so of money ; and may not make a disadvantageous return for the merchandize of the kingdom itself, at this time, when trade is so diminished. For these causes, namely, and on account of the faithful and grateful service rendered, and to be rendered to us by our well-beloved Councillor, Sir William Alexander Knight, who, at his own expenses, the first of those of our country, undertook the conducting of this foreign colony, and sought out divers lands, circumscribed within particular designed limits, to be inhabited, We, therefore, of our royal care for the propagating of the Christian religion, and for promoting the opulence, prosperity, and peace of our natural subjects of our said kingdom of Scotland, as other foreign princes in the like cases heretofore have done, with advice and consent of our well-beloved Cousin and Councillor, John, Earl of Mar, Lord Erskyn and Garenock, &c. our High Treasurer, Comptroller, Collector, and Treasurer of our new augmentations of this our kingdom of Scotland, and the remanent Lords our Commissioners of our said kingdom, have given, granted and disposed, and by our present charter give, grant, and dispose to the aforesaid Sir William Alexander, his heirs and assignees whatsoever heritably, all and sundry continents and islands, situate and lying in America

. And seeing by reason of the greart remoteness and distance of the said country and lordship of Nova Scotia, from our said ancient kingdom of Scotland, both that the said country can neither easily nor conveniently be reached except in the summer time ; and that the said country is altogether destitute of public scriveners and notaries, requisite for taking seisins, so that seisin, at all times, cannot conveniently be taken on the ground of the said country ; and also, respect being had to the great and manifold disadvantages which may result, by default, of timely seisin being taken upon this present Patent, and upon other Charters, and similar infeftments granted, and to be granted, of the foresaid lands and lordship of Nova Scotia, or any part thereof: Therefore that this, our present Charter, may be more effectual, and that seisin thereup may be more conveniently taken, it is necessary, that seisin of all and sundry the foresaid lands, of the said country and lordship of Nova Scotia, be taken within our said kingdom of Scotland, and on the grounds and lands of the same, in the most eminent place thereof, which can neither conveniently nor lawfully be done without an express union of the said country and lordship of Nova Scotia to the said kingdom of Scotland: Wherefore, and for the advantage and readier convenience of the aforesaid seisin, we with advice foresaid, have annexed, united, and incorporated, and, by our present Charter, unite, annex, and incorporate with our said kingdom of Scotland all and sundry the foresaid country and lordship of Nova Scotia, with the teinds and teind sheaves thereof included, and all and sundry parts, pertinents, privileges, jurisdictions, and liberties of the same, and others generally and specially above mentioned; and, by our present Charter, will, declare, decern, and ordain, that one seisin, now to be taken at our Castle of Edinburgh, as the most eminent and principal place of our said kingdom of Scotland, of all and sundry the said lands, country and lordship of Nova Scotia, or any part of the same, with the teinds and teind sheaves thereof, included, respectively, is, and shall be sufficient seisin for all and whole the foresaid lands, country and lordship of Nova Scotia, with the teinds and teind sheaves thereof included, or any part of the said lands and country aforesaid, and all the privileges, jurisdictions, and liberties thereof respectively, and others specially and generally above mentioned, notwithstanding the said lands, country, and lordship of Nova Scotia, are far distant and lie discontiguous from our said kingdom of Scotland;

BROWN DEED AT PEMAQUID BY SAMOSET AND UNONGOIT, SAGAMORES.

JULY 15/25, 1625.

Sources.

For the deed of land at Pemaquid to John Brown, by Captain John Somerset [Samoset] and Unongoit, Sagamores, July 15/25, 1625, the best text is undoubtedly found in a somewhat rare pamphlet in the Massachusetts State Library, entitled "An Order of Both Branches of the Legislature of Massachusetts to Appoint Commissioners to Investigate the Causes of the Difficulties in the County of Lincoln; and the Report of the Commissioners Thereon, with the Documents in Support Thereof" (Boston, 1811), 106, 107. A reprint of that text is found in John Wingate Thornton, "Ancient Pemaquid, An Historical Review," in "Maine Historical Society Collections," V., 191; also separately printed (Portland, 1857), 59, 60. Mr. Thornton says that the acknowledgment before Mr. Shurt entitles him to be considered "the father of American conveyancing." Another reprint is in John Johnston, "A History of the Towns of Bristol and Bremen in the State of Maine, Including the Pemaquid Settlement" (Albany, 1873), 54, 55.

The deed was recorded at Charlestown, December 26, 1720; in York County, August 3, 1739; and in Lincoln County, Lib. 74, fol. 6, June 12, 1810.

Text.

To all people whom it may concern. Know ye, that I Captain John Somerset and Unongoit, Indian sagamores, they being the proper heirs to all the lands on both sides of Muscongus river, have bargained and sould to John Brown, of New-Harbour, this certain tract or parcell of land as followeth, that is to say, beginning at Pemaquid Falls and so running a direct course to the head of New-Harbour, from thence to the south end of Muscongus Island, taking in the island, and so running five and twenty miles into the country north and by east, and thence eight miles north-west and by west, to Pemaquid, where first begun — To all which lands above bounded, the said Captain John Somerset and Unnongoit, Indian sagamores, have granted and made over to the above said John Brown, of New-Harbour, in and for consideration of fifty skins, to us in hand paid, to our full satisfaction, for the above mentioned lands, and we the above said Indian sagamores, do bind ourselves and our heirs forever, to defend the above said John Brown and his heirs in the quiet and peaceable possession of the above said lands. In witness whereunto, I the said Captain John Somerset and Unnongoit, have set our hands and seals, this fifteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord God, one thousand six hundred and twenty-five.

EXTRACTS FROM THE CHARTER OF CANADA TO SIR WILLIAM ALEXANDER, BY CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.

FEBRUARY 2/12, 1628/9.

Sources.

The charter in favor of Sir William Alexander "of the Country and Lordship of Canada in America," which was issued by Charles I. of England, February 2/12, 1628/9, extended the bounds of his territory to the Gulf of California, with full and absolute power of jurisdiction. The original Latin text, with the other royal charters to Sir William Alexander, is in the "Great Seal Register"; from that source it was first printed in "A Narrative of Law Proceedings" (Edinburgh, 1836), with an English translation in the appendix, which was reprinted by Edmund F. Slafter, editor, "Sir William Alexander and American Colonization" (Prince Society, 1873), 239-249. It was reprinted again from the "Register" by Sir Thomas Christopher Banks, "Copies and Translations of the Royal Charters (Confirmed in Parliament) . . . to the Right Honorable Sir William Alexander Knight" (London, 1831), 1-5, with translation by a "professional gentleman in Scotland," 19-23; also by the Bannatyne Club, David Laing, editor, "Royal Letters, Charters and Tracts, Relating to the Colonization of New Scotland, etc. . . . 1621-1638" (Edinburgh, 1867), 46-51.

The extracts reprinted in this compilation are from the text of Sir Thomas Banks.

Text.

Charles by the Grace of God King of Great Britain, France and Ireland, and Defender of the Faith. To all good men of his whole land, clergy and laity, greeting;

Know ye, that we, being perfectly mindful by what engagement our faithful and well-beloved Councillor, Sir William Alexander of Menstrie, Knight, our Principal Secretary for our kingdom of Scotland, and Hereditary Lieutenant of our country and dominion of Nova Scotia in America, has sustained great charges and expenses in his various undertakings, in the providing of ships, engines of war, ordnance and munitions, in the conducting of colonies; as also, in exploring, settling and taking possession of the said country; and, whereby, he, and our other subjects, who alongst with him were to find a settlement in the said country, might be assisted for the further diffusion of the Christian religion, in those parts of our dominions, its propagation therein, and the expected revealing and discovery of a way or passage to those seas, which lie upon America on the west, commonly called the South Sea, from which the head, or source of that Great River or Gulf of Canada, or some river flowing into it, is deemed to be not far distant; and since by the example already exhibited by the said Sir William in the exploring and settling of the said country of Nova Scotia terminating at the foresaid Gulf and River Canada, he has proposed establishments by him in those parts of the plantation which seem to be favourable to the propagation of the said religion, and tending only to the great honour and profit of our ancient kingdom of Scotland, whence it may come to pass that the said colonies to be planted by him and his successors, may by this means in process of time discover the foresaid way or passage to the said seas, much hitherto, for very weighty considerations, desired and so often by various persons undertaken. Therefore, and for exciting the more earnest resolutions of the said Sir William, his heirs, assignees, portioners and associates, to further progress in such and so great an enterprise, we have given, granted and disponed, and by our present charter, give, grant, and dispone to the foresaid Sir William Alexander, his heirs and assignees, heritably, for ever, all and sundry islands within the Gulf of Canada, lying between Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, at the mouth and entrance of the great river

Canada aforesaid, where it falls and enters into the said Gulf (including therein the great island Anticosti). Also we have given, granted, and disponed, and by our present charter, give, grant, and dispone to the beforenamed Sir William Alexander, all and sundry islands, lying within the said river Canada, from the said mouth and entrance, up to the head, fountain and source thereof, wheresoever it be, or the lake whence it flows (which is thought to be towards the Gulf of California, called by some the Vermilion Sea,) or within any other rivers flowing into the said river Canada, or in whatsoever lakes, waters, or arms of the sea, through which either the said great river Canada, or in whatsoever lakes, waters, or arms of the sea, through which either the said great river Canada, or any of the said other rivers pass, or in which they discharge themselves. And further we have given and granted, and by our present charter, give and grant to the foresaid Sir William, and his foresaids, fifty leagues of bounds on both sides of the foresaid river
Canada, from the said mouth and entrance, to the said head, fountain, and source thereof; also on both sides of the said other rivers flowing into the same; as also on both sides of the said lakes, arms of the sea, or waters through which any of the said rivers have their course, or in which they terminate; and in like manner we have given and granted, and, by our present charter, give and grant to the foresaid Sir William Alexander, and his foresaids, all and whole the bounds and passages, as well in waters as on land, from the foresaid head, fountain or source of (the river) Canada, wheresoever it is, or from whatsoever lake it flows, down to the foresaid Gulf of California, whatsoever the distance shall be found to be, with fifty leagues altogether on both sides of the said passage, before the said head of (the river) Canada, and Gulf of California ; and likewise all and sundry islands lying within the said Gulf of California ; as also, all and whole the lands and bounds adjacent to the said Gulf, on the West and South, whether they be found a part of the continent or main land, or an island (as it is thought they are) which is commonly called and distinguished by the name of California. Moreover we have given and granted, and by our present charter, give and grant, and for us and our successors, with advice and consent foresaid, perpetually confirm to the foresaid Sir William Alexander, his heirs and assignees whatsoever, heritably, all and sundry other lands bounds, &c. that shall be found conquered or discovered at any further time by him or his successors, their partners, associates, or others in their name, or having power from them, upon both sides of the whole bounds and passages foresaid, from the mouth and entrance of the said river Canada, where it discharges itself into the said Gulf of Canada, to the said Gulf of California, or the islands in the seas thereto adjacent, which are not yet really and actually possessed by others, our subjects, or the subjects of any other Christian Prince, or constituted Orders in alliance and friendship with us, with full and absolute power to him the said Sir William Alexander, and his foresaids, (and to no others,) their stewards, &c. . . .

EXTRACTS FROM THE CHARTER OF MASSACHUSETTS BAY, BY CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.

MARCH 4/14, 1628/9.

Sources.

The Charter of Massachusetts Bay, sometimes called the "Colony Charter," was issued by Charles I. to the Governor and Company of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, March 4/14, 1628/9.

The charter was brought to Massachusetts by Governor Winthrop in 1630, and is now in the custody of the Secretary of State for Massachusetts. John Endicott had brought with him to Salem in 1629 a duplicate charter which is in the Salem Athenæum. An engrossed copy on a parchment roll is in the Public Record Office, London. A transcript was prefixed to the "Records of the Governor and Company of the Massachusetts Bay in New England," and is in the printed edition (Boston, 1854), I., 3-20.

The first printed copy was made from a "dupl. parchment" by "S. Green for Benj. Harris, at the London Coffee House, near the Town House in 1689." As but few MS. copies existed Governor Hutchinson feared the charter might be irrecoverably lost, accordingly he printed it, from a copy attested by Governor Winthrop, in "A Collection of Original Papers, Relative to the History of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay" (Boston, 1769), 1-23. Another early text is by John Almon, "The Charters of the British Colonies in America" (London, 1775), 48-66. A reprint of the Maduit copy is in "Masere Papers," "Occasional Essays on Various Subjects, Chiefly Political and Historical" (London, 1809), 65-92. It is in Ben; Perley Poore, "The Federal and State Constitutions, Colonial Charters and Other Original Laws of the United States of America" (Washington, 1877), 932-942. The directors of Old South work have printed the charter entire in "Old South Leaflets" General Series, No. 7. A heliotype of one section of the original parchment is in the "Memorial History of Boston," I., 329.

By a liberal interpretation of the northern limits of the colony, the Province of Maine fell under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts, after the death of Sir Ferdinando Gorges; extracts relative to the bounds of Massachusetts Bay are accordingly included in this compilation from the "Massachusetts Records."

TREATY OF SUZA, BETWEEN LOUIS XIII. OF FRANCE AND CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.

APRIL 24,
 MAY 4, 1629.

Sources.

For the Treaty of Peace and Confederation between Louis
 XIII. of France and Charles I. of England, made at Suza in Piedmont, ^{April 24,}_{May 4,} 1629, the earliest text is undoubtedly that of M. J. Dumont, "Corps Diplomatique," V., Part II. 580, which was adopted by the French Commissioners, "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et ceux de sa Majesté Britannique sur les possessions et les droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique" (Paris, 1755), II., 1-5. The text is also printed by Leonare, "Recueil des Traites de Paix" (Paris, 1692), V.; and Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 319. An English translation is by John Rushworth, "Historical Collections" (London, 1680), II., 1629-1640, 25. No other English text having been found, that is the one adopted.

Text.

1. That the two Crowns shall remain agreed to renew the ancient Alliances betwixt them, and to keep the same inviolably, opening again the Commerce sure and free. And concerning the said Commerce, if there is anything to be added or diminished about the same, it shall be done on both Parts freely and willingly, as it shall be thought convenient.

2. And forasmuch as it should be difficult to make the restitution on the one and the other part of the divers Prizes, which during this War have bin taken, the two Crowns are agreed that there shall be made no Restitution. And there shall also not be granted any Reprisal by Sea, nor by any other ways whatsoever, for what is past between the two Kings and their Subjects during this last war.

3. Concerning the Articles and Contract of the marriage of the Queen of Great Britain, the same are to be confirmed faithfully. And as for the said Queen's Household, if there be anything to be added or diminished, it shall be done by mutual consent freely and willingly, as it may be judged fit and convenient for the service of the said Queen.

4. All former and ancient Alliances both of the one and the other Crown, shall remain in their full force, they receiving no Alteration by the present Treaty.

5. The two Kings being by this present Treaty reunited in the same good Affection and Intelligence where they were formerly in, shall imploy themselves, and endeavour mutually to give Aid and Assistance unto their Allies and Friends, according as by the Constitution of Affairs, and by the advantage of a common Good shall be required and suffered. And all this to the end thereby to procure an entire Quietness for Christendom ; for the good whereof the Ambassadors of the two Crowns shall receive Propositions and Overtures.

6. All these things being re-established and accepted on the one and the other Part, there shall be sent reciprocally extraordinary ambassadors, Persons of Quality, with the Ratification of the present Agreements ; the which shall bring with them the denomination of Ordinary Ambassadors, that are to reside in the one and the other Royal Court, thereby to confirm again the Union, and to hinder all occasions that might trouble the same.

7. And whereas there are yet many Ships abroad in the Sea with Letters of Mart, and Commission to fight against their Enemies, which cannot so soon have knowledge of this Peace, nor receive Order to abstain from all Hostility ; therefore it shall be agreed upon by Article, That whatsoever shall be taken during the space of two months after the signature of this present Treaty, shall be restored on the one and the other side.

8. The two Kings shall sign these present Articles on the 24th day of the month of April, which shall afterwards be consigned and delivered at the very same time by their Commandments into the hands of the Lords Ambassadors of Venise, residing near their Royal Persons, to be mutually delivered to the said two Kings at their prefixed day, as soon as each of them shall have knowledg of the other that they have the said Articles in their hands, and from the day of the signature, all Acts of Hostility both by Sea and Land shall cease, and Proclamations needful to this effect shall be published upon one day within the two Kingdoms. Given, &c.

His Majesty at the instance of the Queen, in regard of the Peace concluded between the two Crowns, is graciously pleased that certain Priests and Recusants, who then were in several Prisons, should be released, and delivered to the French Ambassador to be transported beyond Seas, notwithstanding any former Orders against such Releases and Deliverances.

LACONIA PATENT, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

NOVEMBER 17/27, 1629.

Sources.

In respect to the grant of the Province of Laconia to Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Captain John Mason, November 17/27, 1629, the original document is, according to Jenness, in "Colonial Entry Book," 59, 115-121.

The text adopted is the manuscript copy in the "Massachusetts Archives," III., 140-148, indorsed, "These are to certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the Original Entered upon record in the Office of the Lord's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations." It is the only source from which entire transcripts of the text have been made.

The manuscript was transcribed by Charles Wesley Tuttle, the proof compared and corrected by Mr. William B. Trask, editor "Suffolk Deeds," and published by John Ward Dean, editor, "Capt. John Mason, the Founder of New Hampshire" (Prince Society, Boston, 1887), 189-197.

Extracts transcribed from the original are given by John Scribner Jenness, "Transcripts of Original Documents in the English Archives, relating to the Early History of the State of New Hampshire" (New York, 1876), 3-7, and "The Isles of Shoals, an Historical Sketch" (New York, 1875), second edition, Appendix II., 180-182.

No settlements resulted from the Laconia grant, but the earlier historians confused it with the grant of the Province of Maine in 1622; for that reason the document is included in this compilation.

THE CHARTER OF PLYMOUTH COLONY BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

JANUARY 13/23, 1629/30.

Sources.

The original Charter for the Old Colony of Plymouth, with lands on the Kennebec, which was confirmed to William Bradford and associates by the Great Council, January 13/23, 1629/30, is in the Registry of Deeds at Plymouth. With the charter is the box in which it was brought from England, also the only known seal of the Great Council, but so imperfect that the device cannot be fully deciphered. The charter itself has become somewhat defaced, but the signature of the Earl of Warwick, then the president of the Council, from which circumstance the charter has been designated the "Warwick Charter," is still distinct.

After Governor Bradford assigned the charter to the freemen of the Plymouth Colony, March 2/12, 1641/2, according to provisions of the Act of Assignment, the charter was still kept in the possession of the Bradford family. After a time it was lost sight of, but in 1741, according to the diary of Josiah Cotton, it was found at Plympton, "after a deal of labor and cost." It was used in settling the boundary disputes between Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and in 1820 was lodged in the office of the Registry of Deeds.

A transcript of the charter, attested by Thomas Hinckley, the last governor of the Plymouth Colony, is in the Massachusetts Archives, Vol. 87, 123-129. The charter was first printed by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 298-303; other texts are William Brigham, "The Compact with the Charter and Laws of the Colony of New Plymouth" (Boston, 1836), 21-27; William T. Davis, "The History of the Town of Plymouth, with a Sketch of the Origin and Growth of Separatism" (Philadelphia, 1885), 41-43 ; and "The History of Plymouth County" (Philadelphia, 1884), 96-98. An abstract of the charter appears in "A forme to be placed before the Records of the several inheritances granted to all and every the king's subjects inhabiting with the government of New Plymouth," "Plymouth Records," I., 21-24, also in William Brigham, "Plymouth Colony Laws," 21-27.

The charter is printed entire in this collection because of its relation to Maine history. The territory on both sides of the Kennebec, and the tract of land which extended from the utmost of the "Comasecont" gave to the Plymouth settlers opportunity to establish trade with the Indians.

The text adopted is the manuscript in the Massachusetts Archives which is an authenticated transcript of the original document, and the earliest that has been preserved. An examination has been made of the worn original at Plymouth.

EXTRACT FROM THE MUSCONGUS PATENT BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

MARCH 13/23, 1629/30.

Sources.

The grant of lands at Muscongus to John Beauchamp and Thomas Leverett by the Great Council, March 13/23, 1629/30, has also been known as the "Lincoln Grant" from the English residence of one of the grantees, and later it was called the "Waldo Patent."

The patent was destroyed by fire about 1833 after it came into the possession of the Knox family. It had been recorded at York, "according to ye Origanall" January 17/28, 1721. Although the York record shows signs of carelessness, and is incomplete, it is the source from which other existing copies have been taken, unless that of William White, "A History of Belfast, with Introductory Remarks on Acadia" (Belfast, 1827), Appendix II., 98-100. An "abstract" was printed by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 304, 305; an attested copy is in Joseph Williamson, "History of the City of Belfast in the State of Maine, from Its First Settlement in 1770 to 1875" (Portland, 1877), 37, 38.

The text adopted is from the "York Deeds," X., fol. 236.

GRANT TO CLAUDE LA TOUR, BY SIR WILLIAM ALEXANDER.

APRIL 30
MAY 10, 1630.

Sources.

The grant of lands on the coast of La Cadie, extending from Canso to New England, was made by Sir William Alexander to Claude La Tour and son, ^{April 30}_{May 10}, 1630. Although the transaction was of so little importance to the grantor that no reference to it is found in his own works, it was nevertheless the basis of a subsequent grant by Cromwell to Charles La Tour; it is therefore included in this collection of documents, relating to Maine history.

The original French deed, with an English translation, was recorded in Boston, ^{August 24}_{September 3}, 1659, in order to secure an English registry, because Acadia had become subject to England by the advantages gained by Sedgwick in 1654. The document was first printed by Ebenezer Hazard "Historical Collections" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 294-298. The English translation is in "Suffolk Deeds," III., folio 276, and the French instrument of the same date is in folios 272-275. Among other documents proving the English claim to Acadia there is also recorded the patent by which Alexander conferred the title of baronet on La Tour, 1629/30.

The text adopted is the English translation in the "Suffolk Deeds."

NOTES ON THE LYGONIA GRANT BY THE GREAT
COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.JUNE 26
JULY 6, 1630*Sources.*

Of the grant of land by the Great Council ^{June 26}_{July 6}, 1630, under the title of the Province of Lygonia but little is known from contemporary records. The names of the grantees and the exact date are best supplied by a document in the possession of the Maine Historical Society, "Abstract of the Title of Edward Rigby to the Province of Ligoniam" (Pejepscot Papers, VII., 8 a), which is referred to by Charles Edward Banks in a series of able articles on "The Plough Patent" in "Maine Historical and Genealogical Recorder," 1885.

That a company was formed and sailed for New England in the ship Plough is known from John Winthrop, "History of New England," edited by J. Savage (Boston, 1825-26), I., 69-72; and from letters published in "Winthrop Papers" Massachusetts Historical Society, "Collections," Series IV. VII., 88, 89.

The name, Lygonia, was bestowed on the province in honor of Cicely Lygon, mother of Sir Ferdinando Gorges. The common designation, Plough Company, or Plough Patent, was probably from the ship which conveyed the company of "familists" to New England, although James Sullivan, "History of Land Titles in Massachusetts," suggests the tenure "in free and common soccage," or by the plough may have given rise to such an appellation.

In 1643, when the survivors of the original grantees sold the province of Lygonia to Sir Alexander Rigby, the patent which, according to Hubbard, had been in the hands of Richard Dummer, of Newbury, as agent of the company, was "ordered home," and no trace of it has since been discovered. In 1677/8, the purchase of the Province of Maine by Massachusetts extinguished all claims arising under the Plough Patent.

“ The Abstract of the Title of Edward Rigby ” was drawn up in 1686 by George Turfrey, who was the attorney of Edward Rigby, grandson of Sir Alexander Rigby. Banks draws attention to the disparity of statements between Turfrey and contemporary writers in certain particulars. The document however throws some light on the early history of the province of Lygonia, and is accordingly inserted under the belief that this is the first time it has been printed.

BLACK POINT PATENT, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL
FOR NEW ENGLAND.

NOVEMBER 1/11, 1631.

Sources.

For the patent to Thomas Cammock by the Great Council granting him fifteen hundred acres of land on the east side of the Black Point River (now Nonesuch), November 1/11, 1631, an authenticated copy of the original is among the "Trelawny Papers," in the archives of the Maine Historical Society. It was published in 1884 by James Phinney Baxter, editor "Trelawny Papers," Maine Historical Society, Documentary Series, III., 10-14. The patent was entered at York ^{September 26}_{October 6}, 1670, and is printed in "York Deeds," II., folios 87, 88.

Thomas Cammock was a nephew of the Earl of Warwick, president of the Great Council when the patent was issued. That circumstance doubtless gained other favors for Cammock. March 15/25, 1640/41, Thomas Gorges, the deputy of Sir Ferdinando Gorges, confirmed to him by a new deed all the lands granted by the Great Council, with Stratton's Island in addition, "York Deeds," II., folios 85, 86. A deposition of Francis "Robbinson" in 1670, concerning bounds of patent granted to Thomas Cammock on Mills River and Spurwink River in Maine, is in "Suffolk Deeds," VI., 217, and gives additional value to claims under the Black Point patent.

Cammock died at Barbadoes in 1643, and Margaret, his widow, afterwards married his friend, Henry Jocelyn, the first and only royal magistrate of Maine, who came into possession of the estate.

ABSTRACT OF THE GRANT TO RICHARD BRADSHAW, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

NOVEMBER 4/14, 1631.

Sources.

Of the grant of fifteen hundred acres of land on the Pashippscot (Pejepscot) to Richard Bradshaw by the Great Council, November 4/14, 1631, but little is known, and the manuscript records of the Council for New England give but a brief abstract. That the grant was never made use of for any occupation at Pejepscot is clearly established. Correspondence between John Winter and Robert Trelawny proves conclusively that Walter Neale gave Bradshaw possession of lands on the Spurwink in exchange for the head waters of the Pejepscot, and that this land was afterwards conveyed to Tucker; James Phinney Baxter, editor, "Trelawny Papers," Maine Historical Society, Documentary Series, III., 32; 206, 207; 228-230.

The abstract here printed is from Charles Deane, editor, "Records of the Council for New England," American Antiquarian Society, "Proceedings" (1867), 98. No other record has been found except in W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, I. 135.

Text.

Another Pattent granted & sealed the same day to Richard Bradshaw of New England, of 1500 Acres of Land, to be allotted above the hedd of Pashippscot, on y^e north Side thereof (not formerly granted to any other) with all Comodityes and priviledges proper for his necessary occasions, as by the Counterpart of y^e saide grant may appeare.

The consideration for and in respect of the charge he had been at in his liveing there some yeares before, & for y^t he purposed to settle himselfe there with other his friends & servants, & for y^t he is to pay 12^d for every hundred Acres of Land in use by the yeare (when it shall be demanded by the Rent-gatherer,) and the one fifth part of y^e Gold and Silver oare there shall be found to his Ma^{ty}, and another fifth part to the President & Councell, and not to alyen the same without consent first had and obtained.

TRELAWNY PATENT, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

DECEMBER 1/11, 1632.

Sources.

According to Willis the original patent for the grant of lands at Cape Elizabeth to Robert Trelawny and Moses Goodyear, December 1/11, 1632, was destroyed by the wife of a descendant of Robert Jordan, who had, with housewifely zeal, used it to keep her pastry from burning. In 1872, however, Mr. John Wingate Thornton, who was then in London, came most happily upon the clue to the original patent. By the generosity of the Rev. C. T. Collins Trelawny this document, and extensive correspondence between John Winter, governor of the Cape Elizabeth plantation, and Robert Trelawny, were presented to the Maine Historical Society. All these papers were carefully edited by James Phinney Baxter and published by the Historical Society in 1884 under the title of "Trelawny Papers."

The text adopted is that of the original patent, which the courtesy of Mr. Hubbard W. Bryant, librarian of the Society, has made accessible. It is also found in James Phinney Baxter, editor, "The Trelawny Papers," Maine Historical Society, Documentary Series, III., 1-9, with photographic facsimile to face page 9.

A Grant from the President and Council of New England to Mr. Robert Trelawny and Moses Goodyear of Lands in New England 7th Dec. 1631

XXXI.

ABSTRACT OF THE AGAMENTICUS GRANT, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

DECEMBER 2/12, 1631.

Sources.

Of the grant of land on the "easternmost" side of the Agamenticus River to Ferdinando Gorges, grandson and heir of Sir Ferdinando Gorges, Walter Norton and others, by the Great Council, December 2/12, 1631, no traces of the original document have ever been discovered. That such a grant was issued is evident from a study of W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, Vol. I., and Charles Deane, editor, "Records of the Council for New England," American Antiquarian Society, "Proceedings" (1867), 101, 102, 105. These fragmentary records are further corroborated by references to such a grant in conveyances of land recorded in the York Deeds.

On account of changes among the grantees a new patent of nearly the same tenure was issued March 2/12, 1631/2.

Under date of ^{March 22}_{April 1}, 1639, there is a brief record in "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, I., 266, of a renewal of the patent to Edward Godfrey and others. There is also a reference to the renewal of 1639 in Sir Ferdinando Gorges, "A Briefe Narration" (London, 1658), 38.

For the connection of Edward Godfrey with the province of Maine the best narration is Charles Edward Banks, "Edward Godfrey, His Life, Letters and Public Services, 1534-1664," Maine Historical Society, "Collections, IX., 297-335; also privately printed, 1887. To Godfrey belongs the distinction of being the first governor of Maine by virtue of election by the people.

This abstract of the Agamenticus grant is reprinted from the "Records of the Great Council," in American Antiquarian Society, "Proceedings" (1867), 101, 102.

ABSTRACT OF THE GRANT OF RICHMOND'S ISLAND
BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

DECEMBER 2/12, 1631.

Sources.

Of the grant of Richmond's Island, "with 1500 acres upon the Maine," by the Great Council, December 2/12, 1631, but a brief abstract is given in the Manuscript Records of the Great Council (Public Record Office, London), and occasional references in the works of contemporary historians.

Winthrop speaks of Bagnall as a turbulent fellow, and narrates his murder by the Indians, October 4/14, 1631. Although Bagnall's death occurred several months previous to the issuance of his grant, the news had not then reached England. The patent issued to Robert Trelawny one day earlier gave to him and his associates the "liberty to fowle, ffishe, and erect stages, Kayes and places for taking, saving, and preserving of fish" on Richmond's Island, and other islands in the vicinity. Correspondence published by James Phinney Baxter, editor, "Trelawny Papers," Maine Historical Society, Documentary Series, III., furnishes evidence that Richmond's Island at least was occupied by Winter as agent for Trelawny, and it was probable that the whole grant was held as part of the Trelawny possessions.

An interesting sketch of "Big Walt" is by Charles Edward Banks "Walter Bagnall," in "Maine Historical and Genealogical Recorder" Vol. I. (1884), 61-64.

The Abstract of the Grant of Richmond's Island here printed is from Charles Deane, editor, "Records of the Great Council," American Antiquarian Society, "Proceedings" (1867), 100.

Text.The second of December, 1631.

The L^d Gorges and S^r Ferdinando Gorges, according to y^e order of the first of this instant December, sett downe their opinions and gave ord^r for two Pattents to be drawne thereafter, y^e one for Walter Bagnall for a small island called by y^e name of Richm^d Island, with 1500 acres of ground more upon y^e Maine, to be allotted and chosen in any convenient place near unto y^e said Island as Capt. Walter Neale and Richard Vines, Gen^l, should thinke fitt, according to a Com^{on} of Survey to them and others in that behalfe directed, with all comodities & priviledges for his necessary occasions, as by his said Grant more at large appeareth. The consideration for and in respect y^t he had lived in New Engl^d for y^e space of 7 years and there planted and built some convenient houseing in y^e said Islands, and purposed by God's grace to settle himselfe and family there with other his friends and associates, and for that he is to pay the one fifth part of y^e Gold and silver oare there to be found to the King's Ma^{ty}, and one other fifth part to the President and Councill, and also to pay 2^d for every hundred acres of land in use by y^e yeare when it shall be demanded by the Rent-gatherer, and not to alyen y^e same without consent first had and obtained.

ABSTRACT OF THE GRANT OF CAPE PORPOISE, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

DECEMBER 2/12, 1631.

Sources.

For the grant of two thousand acres at Cape Porpoise to John Stratton, December 2/12, 1631, a reference to the transaction is found in W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Minutes of the Council," in "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, I., 137, in addition to the abstract in Charles Deane, editor, "Records of the Great Council," American Antiquarian Society, "Proceedings" (1857), 100, 101.

Although the considerations for issuing the grant were that Stratton had lived at Cape Porpoise three years and had expended £1000 on the settlement, it does not appear that he made the lands thus derived his permanent residence, for, according to J. B. Felt, "Annals of Salem," his name was on the list of inhabitants there in 1637. In "York Deeds," I., folios 85, 86, there is a record of the conveyance of Stratton's Islands to Thomas Cammock in 1640.

This abstract of the grant of Cape Porpoise is from the "Records of the Great Council."

Text.

There was another Pattent agreed upon for John Stratton for a proporcon of Land containing 2000 Acres, butting upon y^e south side of border of y^e River or Creeke called by the name of Cape Porpus, and on y^e other side Northwards Creeke mouth of Cape Porpus, into the south side of the Harbours mouth of Cape Porpus aforesaid, with all Comodityes & priviledges proper for his necessary occasions, as by his Said Grant more at large appeareth. The consideration for and in respect that he had lived in New England these 3 yeares last past, and had expended £1000 in transporting of Cattle and maintaining of servants in that employment, And for y^t he now purposeth to transport more cattle and to settle a plantacon there according to his grant, and for that he is to pay the one fifth part of y^e Gold and Silver Ore there to be found to the King's Mat^v, and one other fifth part to the President & Councell, and also to pay 11^d for every hundred acres of land in use by the yeare, when it shall be demanded by the Rentgatherer, and not to alien the same without consent first had and obtained; which said Pattents were signed by the Lord Gorges and S^r Ferdinando Gorges, and ready to pass the seale, and afterwards were left with M^r Walter Will^{ms} to be dispatcht by the Earle of Warwicke, Presid^t

GRANT OF PEMAQUID TO ALDWORTH AND ELBRIDGE,
BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

FEBRUARY 29, 1631/2.
MARCH 10,

Sources.

Of the patent of lands at Pemaquid to Robert Aldworth and Gyles Elbridge (Eldridge) by the Great Council for New England, ^{February 29} ^{March 10}, 1631/2, a certified transcript on parchment made in 1648 for notarial purposes is in the Library of the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, with two volumes of the records of its proprietors. In 1737 the patent was recorded at York, manuscript volume of York Deeds XVIII., fols. 112-114. An examination of the transcript shows marks of carelessness on the part of the recorder; whereas the notarial copy at Worcester conforms in spelling and general style with original documents of other grants by the Great Council.

An "abstract" denoted "original" is given by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 315-318; the text is printed entire from the York Deeds in "An Order of Both Branches of the Legislature of Massachusetts, to Appoint Commissioners to Investigate the Causes of the Difficulties in the County of Lincoln; and the Report of the Commissioners thereon with the Documents in Support thereof" (Boston, 1811), 33-39. A text based on the notarial copy is given by John Wingate Thornton, "Ancient Pemaquid, an Historical Review," in Maine Historical Society, "Collections," V., 207-214, also bound separately, (Portland, 1857), 75-82; another copy is found in John Johnston, "A History of the Towns of Bristol and Bremen in the State of Maine, Including the Pemaquid Settlement" (Albany, 1873), 70-74.

The source selected for this collection of documents is the notarial copy at Worcester.

CONCESSION OF THE RIVER AND BAY OF ST. CROIX TO COMMANDER DE RAZILLY, BY THE COMPANY OF NEW FRANCE.

MAY 14/24, 1632.

Sources.

The original concession in favor of Commander de Razilly, May 14/24, 1632, by the Company of New France, is in the Dépôt de la Marine in Paris. A certified copy was used by the commissioners under the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle, and is found both in the English and the French collections.

The Company of New France was formed in 1627 by Cardinal Richelieu, to put an end to the disturbances between the Recollets and the Roman Catholics, who were menacing the peace of the settlements. Their charter not only gave the company all New France, the fort and settlement of Quebec and all great rivers, both on the east and the west coasts of the continent, but also the right to confer titles of distinction.

Privileges conferred by the Company of New France often covered the same territory claimed under Sir William Alexander's grants.

EXTRACT FROM THE TREATY OF ST. GERMAIN BETWEEN LOUIS XII. OF FRANCE AND
CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.MAY 29
JUNE 8, 1632.Sources.

The treaty which was made at St. Germain-en-Laye ^{May 29} 1632, restored New France, Acadia and Canada, to ^{June 8} France. In accordance with the treaty France immediately took possession of Pentagoët, which was the first active movement in the controversy which lasted more than a century.

According to Leonard "Recueil des Traites de Paix" (Paris, 1692), V., the original document is in the Dépôt de la Marine in Paris. The copy used by the Commissioners is from Leonard, "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi, et ceux de sa Majesté Britannique sur les possessions et les droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique," II., 5-10.

In the Massachusetts Archives is a set of manuscripts collected by Ben : Perley Poore, under the title, "Historical Documents Collected in France for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts." He has inserted printed pages I., 547-554, from "Le Mercure Français," containing the text of the treaty of St. Germain. A certified copy from the original is in Thomas Rymer, "Foedera" (The Hague, 1745), VIII., Part III., 228. It was reprinted by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 319, 320; and Charles Lindsey, "An Investigation of the Unsettled Boundaries of Ontario" (Toronto, 1873), Art. III., with English translation, 107, 108.

Article III., which relates to the restitution of Acadia to France, is here reprinted from Lindsey's English text.

Text.

Art. III. On the part of the King of Great Britain, the said ambassador, in virtue of the powers with which he is vested, and which shall be inserted at the end of these presents, has promised and promises in the name of his said Majesty to give up and restore (rendre et restituer) all the places occupied in New France, Acadia and Canada by the subjects of the King of Great Britain, by whom these places shall be restored; and to this end the said ambassador shall deliver at the time of the signature of these presents to the commissioners of His Most Christian Majesty, in due form, the authority which he received from the King of Great Britain for the restitution of the said places, together with the orders of his said Majesty to all those who had command in Fort Royal, the Fort of Quebec and Cape Breton, for the restoration of the said places and forts given up into the hands of those whom it may please His Most Christian Majesty to appoint, eight days after these orders shall have been notified to those who command, or may then command; the said time of eight days being given to them to remove from those places and forts, their arms, baggage, merchandize or money, utensils, and generally everything that belongs to them; to whom and to all who are in the said places, the term of three weeks, after the expiration of the eight days, is given that they may during that time, or sooner if possible, retire to their vessels with their arms, munitions, baggage or money, utensils, merchandize, furs, and generally everything that belongs to them, for the purpose of going thence to England without remaining longer in this country. And as it is necessary for the English to send to those places to fetch their people and take them back to England, it is agreed that General de Coën shall pay the necessary expense of equipping a vessel of two hundred tons or two hundred and fifty tons burthen which the English shall send to those places ; that is to say, the cost of chartering a vessel for the passage to and fro, the provisions of the sailors who work the vessel as well as of those who being on land are to be taken away, the wages of the men, and generally all that is necessary for the equippage of a vessel of the said tonnage for such a voyage, according to the usages and customs of England ; and besides for the merchandize remaining unsold in the hands of the English, satisfaction shall be given, according to the cost in England, with thirty per cent of profit, in consideration of the risk of the sea and port charges.

DEPOSITION CONCERNING THE PEJEPSCOT PATENT
BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

JUNE 16/26, 1632.

Sources.

For the patent issued by the Great Council to George Way and Thomas Purchase, June 16/26, 1632, but a brief record exists in W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, I., 152, "Grant of the Council for New England to George Way and Thomas Purchase of certain lands in New England called the River Bishopscotte [Pejepscot], and all that bounds and limits the main land adjoining the river to the extent of two miles."

Other proofs that such a patent had been given are from conveyances recorded at York, "York Deeds," VIII., fols. 56-59 ; it was included in Edward Godfrey's "Cattalogue of Such Pattentes as I Know Granted for Making Plantacons in New England," which is a manuscript among the Colonial Papers in the Public Record Office, II., 16 ; still another proof is the indenture between John Winthrop and Purchase in 1639.

After the lands on the Androscoggin came into the possession of the Pejepscot proprietors, much litigation ensued until the final settlement of the controversy in 1814. At least one hundred depositions in proof of early claims are in Vol. VII., 492a, of the manuscript "Pejepscot Papers," of which seven volumes, carefully arranged, are in the possession of the Maine Historical Society.

Much information on the Pejepscot patent is given by John McKeen, "Early Settlements at Sagadahock," Maine Historical Society, "Collections," III., 316, 317; also by George Augustus Wheeler and Henry Warren Wheeler, "History of Brunswick . . . including the Ancient Territory known as Pejepscot" (Boston, 1878).

A deposition by John Archdale, who was in New England in 1664 as the agent of his brother-in-law, Sir Ferdinando Gorges, was for a long time in the possession of Isaac Story of Boston, and was printed by him from the original in the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register" (1859), XIII., 303. "Purchase's Patent of Lands in Maine" gives so good a summary of popular belief in Archdale's time that it is here printed from the "Register."

LIVERY OF LAND AT CAPE PORPOISE TO THOMAS CAMMOCK, BY WALTER NEALE, GOVERNOR OF PISCATAQUA.

MAY 23
JUNE 2, 1633.

Sources.

The deed of "livery" by Walter Neale, governor of Piscataqua, to Thomas Cammock, ^{May 23,} 1633, was an act of confirmation in behalf of the Great Council for lands given to Cammock by the patent of November 1/11, 1631.

Until the union with Massachusetts by the charter of 1691 the ceremony of "livery of seizin" was generally attended to in all conveyances within the province of Maine

The early volumes of "York Deeds" abound in records of this method of conveyance, familiarly known as "turf and twig." In the conveyance by Worumbo, the ceremony was performed according to the ancient custom of handing over to the new possessor a twig and some of the turf, to represent the complete transference of rights of ownership.

The deed of delivery to Cammock was recorded at York, ^{September 22,} 1670, and is found in "York Deeds," II., folios ^{October 2,} 84, 85. In 1853 the deed was in the possession of Mr. William S. Southgate, who printed it in Appendix A of his "History of Scarborough," Maine Historical Society, "Collections" III., 229.

The text adopted for this collection of documents is that of the "York Deeds."

RATIFICATION IN FAVOR OF THE VISCOUNT STIRLING, BY THE PARLIAMENT OF SCOTLAND.

JUNE 28,
JULY 8, 1633.

Sources.

The rights and titles of Alexander, Earl of Stirling, which had been confirmed to him by royal charters, were still further strengthened by an act of the Scottish parliament, <sup>June 28,
July 8</sup> 1633. Although the two crowns were united by the accession of James Stuart to the English throne, there were two distinct parliaments until the reign of Queen Anne, 1702-14.

An exact transcript of the original "Acta Parliamentorum Caroli I." was made for "The Acts of the Parliaments of Scotland, Printed by Command of His Majesty King George the Third, in Pursuance of an Address of the House of Commons of Great Britain" (1817). The "Ratification" is in Vol. V., 43. It was printed in a slightly modernized form from the same source by the Bannatyne Club, David Laing, editor, "Royal Letters, Charters, and Tracts" (Edinburgh, 1867), 81, 82; and by Sir Thomas Christopher Banks, "Copies and Translations of the Royal Charters, (confirmed in Parliament) . . . to the Right Hon. FINAL DIVISION OF THE PATENT FOR NEW ENGLAND, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

FEBRUARY 3/13, 1634/5.

Sources.

The division of the patent for New England by the Great Council took place at Lord Gorges' house in London, February 3/13, 1634/5. The territory upon the coast included within the limits of the patent was divided into eight parcels, each of which, except the last two, was to have an additional grant of ten thousand acres on the east side of Sagadahoc.

Parcel No. 6 was assigned to Captain Mason, No. 7 to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, and No. 8 to William, Lord Alexander; each of these lots relates to the territorial history of Maine. The division was confirmed to the proprietors by confirmatory grants from the king or from the Great Council.

The authoritative source is the "Records of the Great Council for New England," preserved in the Public Record Office, London, of which the only complete reprint is that of Charles Deane, editor, in American Antiquarian Society, "Proceedings" (1867), 114-118.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PATENT OF THE COUNTY OF CANADA TO WILLIAM, LORD ALEXANDER, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.APRIL 22
MAY 2, 1635.Sources.

William, Lord Alexander, who received the patent of Nova Scotia, ^{April 22}_{May 2}, 1635, was the eldest son of the Earl of Stirling. He, with his father, became a member of the Great Council but a short time before the division of the patent. A memorandum shows that his grant was one of the "deeds of feofment" under that division. Alexander's rights in Nova Scotia, under royal charter, were practically nullified by the treaty of St. Germain. The new grant from the Great Council was westward from the St. Croix, a circumstance which extended the name Nova Scotia to the Penobscot country.

The last meeting of the Great Council was held at Lord Stirling's house after the patent was surrendered. An "augmentation," which included the area on the east side of the Sagadahoc, granted to the other proprietors under the final division but never appropriated, was conveyed to the Earl of Stirling at that meeting.

The parchment deed of the "County of Canada" is preserved in the Public Record Office, London; it was printed for the Bannatyne Club, David Laing, editor, "Royal Letters, Charters and Tracts" (Edinburgh, 1867), Preface, 89-91, and reprinted by Edmund F. Slafter, editor, "Sir William Alexander and American Colonization" (Prince Society, 1873), 251-255.

GRANT OF MASONIA TO CAPTAIN JOHN MASON, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

APRIL 22, 1635.
MAY 2,

Sources.

The grant of New Hampshire, with that of Masonia, by the Great Council, ^{April 22}_{May 2}, 1635, was mainly to confirm to Captain John Mason the right to territory assigned to him at the meeting of February 3/13, 1634/5, when the great patent was divided. The portion to be known as Masonia was the "augmentation" east of the Sagadahoc to be added to his original grant of New Hampshire. On the same date a deed of nearly the same tenor was also issued by the Great Council.

Notarial transcripts of the original documents were recorded at York in 1667, and are found in "York Deeds," II., fols. 15-17. A transcript from the manuscript records at York was printed by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 384-387; also (ibid, 383), the "allotment" from the records of the Great Council. From Hazard the grant was reprinted by Nathaniel Bouton, compiler, "Records of New Hampshire, Provincial Papers," I., 33-36, and in New Hampshire Historical Society, "Collections," I., 313-317; it is also in Ben: Perley Poore, compiler, "The Federal and State Constitutions, Colonial Charters, and Other Organic Laws of the United States" (Washington, 1877), 1273, 1274. Mr. William M. Sargent, editor of the "York Deeds," transcribed both the grant and the deed of Masonia for John Ward Dean, editor, "Capt. John Mason, the Founder of New Hampshire" (Prince Society, 1887), 209-215.

The text adopted is that of the "York Deeds," to which all other texts are traced.

DECLARATION FOR RESIGNATION OF THE GREAT CHARTER, BY THE GREAT COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND.

APRIL 25
MAY 5, 1635.

Sources.

For "A Declaration of y^e Councill of New England for y^e Resignation of y^e great Charter & y^e Reasons moving y^m y^rto," ^{April 25}_{May 5}, 1635, the best text is that made under the direction of W. Noel Sainsbury of her majesty's Public Record Office, and published by Charles Deane, editor, “Records of the Council for New England,” American Antiquarian Society, “Proceedings” (1867), 123-126. An early manuscript copy is in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society, “Letters and Papers,” 1632-78, p. 2.

The Declaration was first printed in America from a manuscript copy by Ebenezer Hazard, “Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents” (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 390-392; it has also been printed by William T. Davis, “A History of the Town of Plymouth, with a Sketch of the Origin and Growth of Separatism” (Philadelphia, 1885), Appendix V., 145, 146.

The complaints against the colony of Massachusetts Bay, as stated in the Declaration, resulted in a writ of quo warranto, issued in June, 1635, by Sir John Banks, attorney-general. That document was printed from the “Danforth Papers,” by the Massachusetts Historical Society, “Collections,” 2d Series VIII., 97. There was no service of the writ in Massachusetts, and possession of the charter gave a security to the colony, a fact which, in subsequent years, proved dangerous to the settlements lying north of the Merrimac.

The text adopted here is that of the manuscript in the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Text.

Forasmuch as we have found by a long experience, y^t y^e faithfull endeavours of some of vs y^t have sought y^e advancement^t of y^e Plantation of N: E have not been wthout frequent & inevitable troubles of Companions to o^r vnder-takings from o^r first discovery of y^t Coast to y^e p^rsent by great charges & necessary expences, but also depriving us of diverse of o^r freinds & faithfull servants employed in y^t worke abroad, whilst o^rselves at home were Assaulted wth sharp litigious questions before y^e Lords of his Maj^{ties} most Hon^{ble} Privy Councill, by y^e Virginia Company, & y^t in y^e very infancy thereof, who finding they could not p^rvaile in y^t way, they fayled not to p^rsecute y^e same in the House of Parliam^t, p^rtending o^r said Plantation to be a greivance to y^e Co^monwealth, & for such p^resented it unto K: James of blessed memory, who althô his justice & Royal nature could [not] so relish it, but was otherwise pleased to give his gracious incouragement for psecution thereof, yet such was the times, as the affecçõs of the multitude were thereby disheartened, & so much the more by how much it pleased god about that tyme to bereave us of y^e most noble & principal props thereof, as y^e Duke of Lenox, Marquis Hamilton, & many other strong stais to y^s weake of Building Then followed y^e Clayme of y^e French Ambassadour, taking advantage of the Divisions made of the Seacoasts between o^r selves. to whome we made a just & satisfactory Answer (as it seemes) for y^t he rested contented therewith, & since y^t we have heard no more thereof. Neverthesse these crosses did draw upon us such a disheartned weakenesse, as there only remained a Carcas in a manner breathlesse, till y^e end of the last Parliamt. when y^r were certain y^t desired a Patent of some Lands in the Massachusets Bay to Plant upon, who p^rsenting the names of Honest & Religious men, easily obtained their first desires, but these being once gotten they used other meanes, to advance them selves & step beyond their first proportions to a second Grant surreptitiously gotten of other Lands also justly past unto Cap^t: Robert Gorges long before, who being made Govern^r of those parts, went in person & tooke an absolute seizure, & actuall possession of y^t country, by a settled Plantation he made, in the Massachusets Bay, w^{ch} afterwards he left to the charge & custody of his servants & certain other undertakers & Tenants belonging unto some of us, who were thrust out by those Intenders that had exorbitantly Bounded their Grant from East to West through all that main Land from Sea to Sea, being neer about three thousand Miles in length, with all riding over y^e heads of all those Lords & others that had their portions assigned unto them in his late Ma^{ties} presence, & wth his Highnesse approbation by lot, upon the South coast from East to West, some eighty or one hundred leagues long. But herewith not yet content, they laboured & obtained unknown to us a confirmation of all this from his Ma^{tie}, & unwitting thereof. by w^{ch} meanes they did not only Enlarge their first extents to the West limits spoken of, but wholly excluded themselves from y^e Publick Govern^t. of y^e Councill Authorized for those affairs. & made y^mselves a free people, & for such hold themselves at y^e p^rsent. Whereby they did rend in peeces the first foundation of the Building & so framed unto y^mselves both new Lawes, and new conceits of matters of religion, and formes of Ecclesiastical & Temporal Orders & government. Punishing diverse y^t would not approve thereof, some by whipping others by burning their Houses over their Heads & some by banishing & the like, And all this partly under other pretences, thô indeed for no other cause save only to make y^mselves absolute Masters of y^e Country, & unconscionable in y^r new Lawes. So as those complaints posting first unto o^rselves, y^t had no sufficient meanes to redresse or give satisfaction to y^e persons aggrieved, they were at last of necessity petitioners unto his Ma^{tie} who pittying y^r cases referred y^m to y^e Lords, to examine y^e truth thereof, & to consider of y^e meanes of reformation, who calling some of us to give acco^t, by w^t Authority, or by whose meanes these People were sent over, & conceiving some of us to be guilty thereof, w^e were called for from o^r houses farre remote in y^e country at unseasonable times to o^r great charge & trouble. But as innocence is confident, so we easily made it appear y^t we had no share in y^e evils comitted, & wholly disclaimed having any hand therein, humbly referring to y^r Lrd^{ps} to doe w^t might best sort wth y^r wisdoms who found matters in so desperate a case, as that they saw as that they saw [sic.] a necessity for his Ma^{tie} to take y^e whole buisnesse into his own hands, if otherwise we could not undertake to Rectify w^t was brought to ruine But finding it a taske too great for us to per-forme, we rather chose to resigne all into his Ma^{ties} hands to doe therein as he pleased, to w^m we conceived it did principally belong to have care of a buisnesse of so high a consequence as it is now found to be.

After all these troubles & upō these consideraçons it is now resolved y^t y^e Patent shall be surrendred unto his Ma^{tie}, wth reservation of all such lawfull rights as any is or hath been seized wth eyther before or since the Patent Granted to those of y^e Bay of Massachusets. And that it may please his Ma^{tie} to Passe particular Grants unto us of such proportions of Lands as we have mutually agreed upon & are recorded before in y^s Booke That we having his Ma^{ties} grants of the same under a settled Government, may the more cheerfully proceed in y^e planting of o^r severall Provinces, & wth y^e better courage & assurance prosecute y^e same to a full settling of the state of those countries, & a dutifull obedience of all such as shall come under us to his Majesties Lawes & ordinances there to be establish^{ed}, & put in execution by such his Maj^{ties} Lief^{ts} or Governo as shall be employed for those services, to y^e glory of Allmighty god, the Honor of his Ma^{tie}, & Publick good of his faithfull Subjects. And thus much we have thought fit to be Recorded,
& in convenient tyme published, y^t Posterity may Know y^e Reasons & necessities moving us to quit o^rselves of these inconveniences & dangers that might have fallen upon the Plantations for want of power in us to reforme the same.

EXTRACTS FROM THE CHARTER OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, BY CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.

AUGUST 19/29, 1635.

Sources.

The only certified copy which is known to exist of the royal charter of New Hampshire to Captain John Mason, August 19/29, 1635, is in a manuscript folio of 84 pages containing documents in proof of Mason's claims in New England. The collection, which is now in the possession of the Maine Historical Society, was formerly owned by Mr. Moses A. Safford, of Kittery, Maine. In 1887, when Mr. William M. Sargent was superintending the publication of the "York Deeds," these documents were brought to his notice ; and the royal charter, whose existence had long been denied, was thus discovered. Although the New Hampshire historians had claimed that such a charter had been granted, the evidence had been too slight to establish a basis of direct proof.

The charter, which was a royal confirmation of the grant by the Great Council, ^{April 22,} _{May 2,} 1635, was printed by Mr. Sargent, "York Deeds," II., Introduction, 20-39, from which text the following extract is reprinted. By permission of Mr. Sargent, it was also printed by John Ward Dean, editor, "Capt. John Mason, the Founder of New Hampshire" (Prince Society, 1887), 360-378.

INDENTURE OF LAND ON THE NEWICHEWANNOCK,
BY SIR FERDINANDO GORGES.

SEPTEMBER 17/27, 1635.

Sources.

The indenture between Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Captain John Mason for lands on the Newichewannock (Salmon Falls) River, September 17/27, 1635, is, according to William M. Sargent, editor of "York Deeds," another of the documents "bearing upon the unwritten history of Maine." The indenture is in the collection of "muniments" of the Mason titles, formerly in the possession of Mr. Moses A. Safford, of Kittery, Maine. Together with the royal charter to Captain Mason, it was printed in the introduction to "York Deeds," II., 39-42. Mr. Sargent calls attention to folios 174, 175, where reference is made to this indenture, which was never recorded because at the time of the transaction there was no place of record and Captain Mason died before Gorges established his court and registry. Although an indorsement says "it was made use of in the suit Allen vs. Spencer, tried at Wells, 1704," the conveyance was generally overlooked until Mr. Sargent brought it to light in 1887. By permission it was printed by John Ward Dean, editor, "Capt. John Mason, The Founder of New Hampshire" (Prince Society, 1887), 387-390.

The text adopted is that of Mr. Sargent in the "York Deeds."

CONCESSION OF ACADIA TO SIR CHARLES LA TOUR, BY THE COMPANY OF NEW FRANCE.

JANUARY 15/25, 1635/6.

Sources.

The concession of Acadia to Sir Charles La Tour, son of Claude La Tour, by the Company of New France, January 15/25, 1635/6, was doubtless a confirmation of a privilege conferred by De Razilly, under whom La Tour held command in the west of Acadia. Although La Tour professed himself a good Protestant while Acadia was under English supremacy, the new privileges accorded to him in 1635/6 show that he was then in sympathy with the Roman Catholic religion.

The original concession is in the Dépôt de la Marine, Paris, with the records of the Company of New France. The text adopted here is a certified copy of the original, in "Memorials of the English and French Commissaries Concerning the Limits of Nova Scotia or Acadia" (London, 1755), I., 709, 710.

LEASE OF LAND AT CASCO BAY TO GEORGE
CLEEVE, BY SIR FERDINANDO GORGES.JANUARY 27
FEBRUARY 6, 1636/7.Sources.

The lease of land at Casco Bay, together with that of Hogr Island, was made ^{January 27}_{February 6}, 1636/7, by Sir Ferdinando Gorges to George Cleeve and Richard Tucker for two thousand years. The document not only affords an interesting study of Gorges and his relation to the province of New Somersetshire, but it is also an important chapter in the record of a man who played a prominent part in provincial history.

The lease was first recorded at York, ^{May 24}_{June 3}, 1643, by Roger Garde, the first recorder of Gorges' province, and is found in "York Deeds," I., Part II., folios 4, 5, with a renewal from Sir Alexander Rigby of Lygonia, ^{May 23}_{June 2}, 1643; it was again recorded, ^{June 26}_{July 5}, 1660, by Edward Rishworth (Ibid., Part I., folios 95, 96). A grant from Edward Rigby, Esq., of one thousand acres adjoining the former grant, February 20/30, 1652/3, was recorded September 3, 1658 (Ibid., folios 74, 75). The lease was first printed by William Willis, "History of Portland," Maine Historical Society, "Collections," 1st Series, I., Appendix 233-235; and by James Phinney Baxter, "George Cleeve of Casco Bay, 1630-67" (Gorges Society, 1885), Appendix II., 216-222. In the latter book the conveyances from Sir Alexander Rigby are also included; the work itself is a careful narrative of the life and times of the founder of Portland.

The text adopted for this reprint is the transcript made by Roger Garde, in "York Deeds."

COMMISSION TO SIR FERDINANDO GORGES AS GOVERNOR OF NEW ENGLAND, BY CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.

JULY 23
AUGUST 2, 1637.

The royal commission to Sir Ferdinando Gorges as governor of New England, ^{July 23}_{August 2}, 1637, is in the Public Record Office, London, "Colonial Entry Book," III., 60. It was first printed by Samuel G. Drake, "Founders of New England," in the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register" (1860), XIV., 345, 346; afterwards by John A. Poor, "A Vindication of the Claims of Sir Ferdinando Gorges" (Popham Memorial Volume, New York, 1862), Appendix F, 127. An abstract is in W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, I., 256.

Manyfesting Our Royall pleasure for the establishing a generall Govern'mt in Our Territorye of New England for prevention of those evils that otherwise might Ensue for default thereof—

Forasmuch as Wee haue vnderstood and been credibly informed of the many inconueniences and mischiefs that haue growne and are like more and more to arise amongst Our Subjects allready planted in the parts of New England by reason of the severall opinions differing humors and many other differences springing up betweene them and daily like to encrease, and for that it rested not in the power of the Councill of New England (By our Gracious ffathers royall Charter established for those affaires) to redress the same, Without wee take the whole manageing thereof into Our owne hands, and apply therevnto Our immediate power and authority, Which being perceived by the principall undertakers of those businesses, They haue humbly resigned the said Charter unto us, that thereby there may bee a speedy order taken for reformation of the aforesaid Errors and mischeifs. And knowing it to bee a Duty proper to our Royall Justice not to suffer such Numbers of Our people to runne to ruine and so religious and good intents to languish for want of timely remedie and Soueraigne assistance Wee haue therefore graciously accepted of the said Resignation and doe approue of their good affections to a service soe acceptable to God and vs, And wee haue seriously aduised with Our Councill both of the way of Reformation and of a person meet and able for that employment by whose grauity, moderation and experience Wee haue hopes to repair what is amiss and settlem^t of those affaires to the good of Our people and honour of Our Gouvernm^t. And for that purpose Wee have resolved with Our selfe to imploye Our Servant fferdinando Gorges knight, as well for that Our Gracious ffather of blessed memory as Wee haue had for a long time good experience of his fidelity, circumspection and knowledge of his Gouvernem^t in martiall and civill affaires, besides his understanding of the State of those Countreys wherein he hath been an immediate mover and a principall Actor, to the great prejudice of his estate, long troubles and the loss of many of his good ffreinds and servants in making the first discovery of those Coasts, and taking the first seizure thereof as of right belongs to vs Our Crown and dignity, and is still resolved according to Our Gracious pleasure to prosecute the same in his owne person, Which resolution and most comendable affection of his to serve vs therin, as We highly approve, Soe Wee hold it a property of Our princely care to second him with Our Royall and ample authority Such as shalbee meet for an employment soe eminent and the performance of Our Service therin, wherof Wee haue thought itt fitt to make publick Declaration of Our said pleasure, That therby it may appear to our good Subjects the resolution Wee haue graciously to prouide for the peace and future good of those whose affection leads them to any such vndertaking, and withall to Signifye that Our further will and pleasure is, That none bee permitted to goe into any those parts to plant or inhabitt. But that they first acquaint Our said Gouverno^r therwith, or such other as shalbee deputed for that purpose during his abroad heer in England, And who are to receiue from him or them allowance to pass with his or their further directions where to sitt downe most for their perticuler commodities and publick good of our Service (Sauing and reseruing to all those that haue Joyned in the Surrender of the Great Charter of New England and haue Grants immediately to bee holden of us for their Severall plantations in the said Countrye, ffree liberty at all times hereafter to go themselues and also to send such Numbers of people to their plantacoñs as by themselues shall bee thought conuenient Heerby strictly charging and commanding all our Officers and others to whom it shall or may appertaine, to take notice of this our pleasure and to be careful the same bee firmly obserued as they or any of them shall answer the same at their vttermost perill. Giuen at the Court of Whitehall the 23. day of July 1637. and in the Thirteenth yeare of Our Raigne.

THE CHARTER OF THE PROVINCE OF MAINE, BY CHARLES I. OF ENGLAND.

APRIL 3/13, 1639.

Sources.

The Royal Charter of the province of Maine, to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, April 3/13, 1639, was designed to confirm allotment No. 7, according to the division of the Great Patent, February 3/13, 1634/5. The privileges under the new charter were as ample as those of the Bishop of Durham, a comparison which was a common formula in issuing proprietary grants. Maryland held the same rights of "County Palatine." The name "Province of Maine" is repeated from the grant of 1622. By reference to the early charters it is easy to arrive at a correct idea of the origin of the name, which has survived all the changes of colonial rule, and is perpetuated in the phrase "State of Maine."

The original charter, or a duplicate, is in the Public Record Office, London; an early transcript, in the "Massachusetts Archives," III., 152-178, is certified to be a true copy of the records; a transcript was also lodged in the "Records of the Inferior Court of York County, Massachusetts," I., 16-24. It has been printed by Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections, Consisting of State Papers and Other Documents" (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 442-455, also by James Sullivan, "History of the District of Maine" (Boston, 1795), Appendix I., 397-408. Another text is in a "Statement on the Part of the United States of the Case Referred in Pursuance of the Convention of 1827, Between the Said States and Great Britain to His Majesty, King of the Netherlands for His Decision Thereon," printed but not published (Washington, 1829), Appendix II., 82-93; and another is printed by James Phinney Baxter, editor, "Sir Ferdinando Gorges and His Province of Maine" (Prince Society, 1890), II., 123-148.

The text adopted is the manuscript copy of the original in the "Massachusetts Archives."

COMMISSION TO THOMAS GORGES AND OTHERS, WITH ORDINANCES, BY SIR FERDINANDO GORGES.

MARCH 10/20, 1639/40.

Sources.

The commission by Sir Ferdinando Gorges, March 10/20, 1639/40, for the government of the Province of Maine, is similar in tenor to the one issued the preceding September. Sir Thomas Jocelyn was at this time in England; accordingly Sir Ferdinando appointed in Jocelyn's place his cousin, Thomas Gorges, who was sent to the province.

A copy of the original commission is in the Public Record Office, London. A memorandum states that "ordinances lately expressed were renewed and sent into the Province of Maine with a copy of the patent." For expedition of suits Gorges gave to the secretary of the council his seal, without which no document would be valid.

The commission, with the ordinances, was transcribed into the book of records at York. From that source it was printed by James Sullivan, "History of the District of Maine" (Boston, 1795), Appendix VI., 413-417. Sullivan evidently mistook this commission for the preceding one; but the date, March 10, 1639, proves, according to the Julian calendar, that this is the later document.

The ordinances are reprinted, with the Commission, from Sullivan's text.

Text.

To all christian people to whom this present writing shall come; I Sir Ferdinando Gorges, knight, lord, and owner of the Province of Mayne in New England in America, doe send greeting in our Lord God everlasting:— Know yee, that whereas by my commission and ordinances, bearing date in September last past, I have made and established a councell in my said province for the due execution of justice there, according to the power unto me given by his majesties letters pattents, bearing date the third day of Aprill, in this present fifteenth yeare of his highness raigne. within my said province for their better direcccon and clearing of the truth in anie cause or matter which shall depend before them, and to doe and performe all other things unto the execution of justice in such manner and forme as by my said subscribed ordinances is ordained, and the said royall charter I am enabled or authorised; and doe alsoe give my said kinsman Thomas Gorges, Esq. and my said steward, general, or either of them, full power and authoritie to administer the oath of allegiance, according to the form now used in this his highness' realme of England, and the oath in the said subscribed ordinances inserted unto the rest of the said councellors, and after the administration thereof unto them, as aforesaid, I do will and authorize them or any two of them to administer the said oathes to the said Thomas Gorges and Richard Vines, and so to proceed unto the execution of justice according unto the power unto them given in the said subscribed ordinances, as by the said letters pattents, I am appointed or enabled. And forasmuch as there have bin sundry complaints unto me exhibited, of the piracyes, spoiles and other dangerous attempts that have bin made upon the inhabitants of my said province by the natives and other piraticall persons, contrary to the law of nations, and to the disheartening of other good subjects to plant therein; for prevention whereof, I do, by virtue of the power unto me given by the said letters pattents, authorize my said councell or any five or more of them, whereof the said Thomas Gorges or Richard Vines, Esqs. to be one, by commission under the publique seale of my said province, directed to the provost marshall or such other person or persons as they shall thinke meete, to leavy and take such forces as the said province will afford, and therewith to make head by land or sea against such piratts, and them to pursue by all good wayes and means out of the said province, and if it shall soe please God to apprehend, kill or take them, and being apprehended either according to martiall law to proceede against them, or otherwise to dispose of them as by my said councell or the greater part of them shal be thought meete at their next sessions or assembly to be held for publique determination¹ of causes within the said province, according to the said subscribed ordinances, which ordinances doe follow in these words :

And I doe further ordeyne that my said councell or anie three of them whereof the said Thomas Gorges or Richard Vines, to be one, shall heare, determine and order all complaints to them exhibited within the said province for controversies arising between party and party, touching breach of covenants, debts, detinues, assumpsits, bonds, bills, legacyes and all other causes and actions whatsoever that doth or may concerne any person or persons in their goods chattels or freeholds, within the said province, and to make such orders upon hearing thereof for the relief of the complainant as the justness of the cause shall require, and as to the lawes and statutes of this his highness' realme of England are agreeable, and to award such costs and damages to the plaintiffe or defendant upon hearinge thereof as they shall thinke meete. But I doe limitt and restraine the power before menconed for punishinge the offences before expressed and hearinge and determininge differences arisinge betweene party and party from extending to the punishinge, orderinge, or arbitrating any cause or offence which shall depend before my said counsell (saving such offences and causes as they shall punish and order according to the power unto me given by the said letters pattents, not exceeding or varyinge any thing from the same according to the intent and true meaning thereof. And I do further ordayne that my said counsell or any three of them as aforesaid, whereof the said Thomas Gorges or Richard Vines, Esqs. to be one, shall punish all persons that contemptuously refuse to give obedience unto such orders as my said counsell shall make at their sittings or sessions, and to impose fynes, and committ the parties soe contemninge them, to prison, until they give obedience thereunto : and that there may be an orderly course held, for summoninge of appearance to any that shall be called to answer before my said counsell, I have assigned this shorte forme of process to be there used : —

To A. B. of D. in the said province, greeting, These are to will and command you to come and appeare before us the counsell established for the Province of Mayne upon the first day of, &c. to answer to the complaint of E. Given under the seale of the secretary of our said counsell the day of, &c.

But in case of felony or any capitall offence, the warrant is to be directed to the provost-marshall or constable of the ce, and to be after this forme :

These are to command you, presently upon receipt hereof, to take with you a sufficient guard, and to use your best meanes for apprehending of A. B. and him to bringe before us to answer unto such matters of felony as shall be objected against him. Hereof fail not, &c. Given under the seale, &c.

And I doe further ordeyne that you appointe some able sufficient clarke, to register all your proceedings, and record all your orders of courte; and to assigne such other officers as shall be fitt, to attend your courte: and I doe alsoe ordeyne that if any person or persons shall contemne any of your orders, made according to the power unto me given by the said letters pattents, that you then assigne your provost martiall, to goe with a sufficient guard for apprehencon of such delinquents, and him or them to deteyne in safe prison, till you further determine of them; but in case resistance be made, then the provost martiall is to proceede to the killinge of such resisters as in like case of rebellion, you giving him warrant for soe doinge, which warrant is to be after this manner:

To the provost martiall, &c. Forasmuch as sufficient prooffe hath been made before us of the mutinous demeanors of E. D. contrary to the honour of justice, and to the breach of severall orders in that behalf provided, These are therefore strictly to charge and command you, to take with you a stronge guard well armed, and that you omit not to apprehend the said E. D. and him to bringe before us or some of us to be dealt withall accordinge to the nature of his cryme: and in case resistance, be made, or that he fortify his house against you, that you then omit not by fire or otherwise to proceed against him, as against a dangerous rebell.

But before this be granted, the court is to proceede unto a diligent hearing of the complainte and to be well assured of the proofes made of the matters he stands accused of, which done, sentence is to be given specyfieing the proofes whereupon the order is grounded: and for the execution of such orders, and keeping of prisoners, you are to make a provost martiall, who is to have a house built for that purpose at the common charge, for that it is for the publike good. And I doe further ordeyne that my said councellors before they procede to the orderinge or punishinge any of the offences or causes before expressed, shall take the oath of allegiance according to the forme now used in this his high[n]ess' realme of England for their loyaltie to his majestie, and also the oath hereafter expressed for the due execution of justice without respect of persons, which oath doth follow in these words:

I doe sweare to be a faithful servant and counsellor unto Sir Ferdinando Gorges, knight, my lord of the Province of Maine, and to his heirs and assignes, to doe and perform all dutiful respects to him or them belonginge, concealing their counsell, and without respect of persons to give my opinion in all cases according to my conscience and best understandinge, both as I am a judge for hearinge of causes, and otherwise freely to give my opinion as I am a counsellor for matters of the state, or commonwealth; and that I will not conceale from him and his said counsell any matter of conspiracy or mutinous practise against my said lord, his heires or assignes, but will instantly after my knowledge thereof discover the same unto him and his said counsell, and seeke to prevent it, and by all means prosecute the authors thereof with all severity, according to justice: and thereupon I kisse the booke.

And that all suites or causes that shall depend before my said counsell may proceed in an orderly manner without confusion or uncertainty, I do hereby nominate and appoint my said kinsman Thomas Gorges, Esq. to be secretary of my said councell, and have delivered him a seale for sealing of all processes or warrants which shall issue from my said councell; and doe ordayne that all processes or warrants which shall issue there without being duly sealed with the said seale, after the publishinge of these my ordinances, shall be utterly void and frustrate, and such persons as refuse to give obedience thereunto, not to be punished for their soe doinge. In witness whereof, I have hereunto put my hand and seale, the tenth day of March, in the fiftenth yeare of the raigne of our most gracious soveraigne lord, king Charles, annoue Domini, 1639.

COMMISSION TO LORD D'AULNEY CHARNIZAY, BY LOUIS XIV. OF FRANCE.

FEBRUARY, 1647/8.

Sources.

The commission to Lord D'Aulney Charnizay, February, 1647/8, by Louis XIV. of France, with the approval of his mother, the queen regent, extended the western limits of his territory as far as "North Virginia," or New England. The document was brought forward by the English commissioners under the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle, as a proof that Acadia and Nova Scotia were identical.

The commission is of further interest because of its connection with the controversy between Sir Charles La Tour and D'Aulney. It is believed that De Razilly, at the same time at which he made La Tour commander in West Acadia, appointed D'Aulney his lieutenant in East Acadia. While D'Aulney was always unwavering in his allegiance to the church of Rome, La Tour was ready at any time to change his religious belief for his own advantage.

Many papers which relate to the D'Aulney controversy, including the commission, are in the "Massachusetts Archives," from which source they were printed by the Massachusetts Historical Society "Collections," 3d Series, VII. The commission is also included in "Collection de Manuscrits Contenant Lettres, Mémoires, et Autres Documents Historiques" (Quebec, 1883), I., 120-124; and a copy from the original is in "Memorials of the English and French Commissaries Concerning the Limits of Nova Scotia or Acadia" (London, 1755), I., 571-576.

The text adopted is from the transcript in the "Massachusetts Archives," II., 492-498, which is an English translation.

SOCIAL COMPACT TO SECURE INDEPENDENT GOVERNMENT, BY WELLS, GORGEANA AND PISCATAQUA.

JULY, 1649.

Sources.

The "Social Compact" of Wells, Gorgeana and Piscataqua, in 1649, was a voluntary association to secure independent government. Although in 1646 the name of the Piscataqua plantation had been changed to "Kittery," the earlier designation was retained in the compact.

The document is preserved in manuscript among the ancient records of the Province of Maine, and was first published by the Massachusetts Historical Society, "Collections" (1792), 1st Series, I., 103. An abstract is in William D. Williamson, "History of the State of Maine" (Hallowell, 1832), I., 326.

PETITION TO PARLIAMENT, BY THE GENERAL
COURT OF THE PROVINCE OF MAINE.

DECEMBER 5/15, 1651.

Sources.

The petition to Parliament from the General Court of the Province of Maine, December 5/15, 1651, for protection under the commonwealth, was not granted. It occasioned so much uneasiness in Massachusetts, however, that it led the colony to "a perusal" of its charter in order to discover some grounds by which the authority it wished to exercise might be established by legal right. For that reason the petition is of importance in the documentary history of Maine. It also marks the beginning of the active struggle between the Episcopalian party in the Province of Maine and the Puritans of Massachusetts.

The petition was first printed from the manuscript records at York, by James Sullivan, "History of the District of Maine" (Boston, 1795), 322, 323; later by Charles Edward Banks, "Edward Godfrey, his Life, Letters, and Public Services, 1584-1664," Maine Historical Society, "Collections," IX., 338, 339.

LETTERS PATENT CONFIRMING SIR CHARLES LA
TOUR IN ACADIA, BY LOUIS XIV. OF FRANCE.FEBRUARY 25, MARCH 7, 1651/2.Sources.

The letters patent to Sir Charles La Tour, by Louis XIV. of France, ^{February 25}_{March 7}, 1651/2, confirmed to him the government of Acadia. They are similar in tenor to those issued to D'Aulney in 1647/8, after the banishment of La Tour. The death of D'Aulney in 1650 left Nova Scotia without a governor; and as La Tour in the meantime had been exonerated from any Protestant bias, he was adjudged a suitable person for the new commission. The boundaries included his old station at Pentagoët (Penobscot), and by his subsequent marriage with Madame D'Aulney, the widow of his rival, his position was still further strengthened.

The original letters patent were in the Plantation Office at Whitehall until the removal of the records to the present office in Fetter Lane. The transcript for the "Memorials of the English and French Commissaries Concerning the Limits of Nova Scotia or Acadia" (London, 1755), I., 576-579, is from that source, and is the text adopted.

THE COUNTY OF YORKSHIRE CREATED, BY THE GENERAL COURT OF MASSACHUSETTS.

NOVEMBER 20/30, 1652.

Sources.

For the circumstances which led to the creation of the County of Yorkshire by the General Court of Massachusetts, November 20/30, 1652, reference must be made to the "Records of the Governor and Company of the Massachusetts Bay in New England." ^{May 26}_{June 5}, 1652, the Court passed the following order about the north line: "Concerning the north lyne of this jurisdic^on, itt was this day voted, vppon prvsall of our charter, that the extent of the l^yne is to be from the northermost parte of the Riuer Merremacke and three miles more north, where it is to be found, be it a hundred miles, more or lesse, from the sea, and thence vppon a streight l^yne east & west to each sea."

In acordance with this liberal interpretation of the boundaries laid down in the "colony charter," John Sherman of Watertown, and Jonathan Ince, a student at Harvard College, were employed as "artists" "to finde out the most northerly part of Merremacke Riuer." They made return that on the first day of August, 1652, they found the latitude required to be 43° 40' 12" N., "besides those minutes which are to be allowed for the three miles more north which runn into the lake ['Winnapuscahit']."

A commission was immediately issued by Governor Endicott, with full power to settle the civil government to the most northerly limit of the patent. In November the town of Kittery acknowledged the government of Massachusetts, and the County of Yorkshire in western Maine was formally created, with the same rights and privileges that the inhabitants south of the Piscataqua enjoyed. Subsequently other settlements submitted to the authority of Massachusetts, and the name and power of Gorgeana were extinguished.

The special grant of privileges to Kittery is in "Massachusetts Records," IV., part I., 124-126; "York Deeds," I., folios 26, 27; Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections," etc. (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 573, 574; James Sullivan, "History of the District of Maine" (Boston, 1795), 335-337; and James Phinney Baxter, editor, "Baxter Manuscripts," Maine Historical Society, "Documentary Series," IV., 25-28.

The "Massachusetts Records" contain the earliest authentic copy, which is the text adopted.

EXTRACTS FROM THE TREATY OF WESTMINSTER, BETWEEN OLIVER CROMWELL, LORD PROTECTOR OF ENGLAND, AND LOUIS XIV. OF FRANCE.

NOVEMBER 3/13, 1655.

Sources.

By the treaty of peace between Louis XIV. of France and Oliver Cromwell, lord protector of England, made at Westminster, November 3/13, 1655, the English were virtually left in possession of Acadia. Although the treaty provided for commissioners to settle terms, including those as to "the right of either to the three forts of Pentacost [Pentagoet?] St. John, and Port Royal in America," these questions were not determined until the treaty of Breda.

The earliest text of this treaty is in Frédéric Léonard, "Recueil de Traités de Paix" (Paris, 1693). A Latin translation is in Jean Dumont, "Corps Universel Diplomatique du Droit des Gens" (Amsterdam, 1728), VI., Part ii., 121-124; this is reprinted in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et de ceux de sa Majesté Britannique, sur les Possessions & les Droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique" (Paris, II., 1755), 10-31. An English translation is in Charles Jenkinson, "A Collection of All the Treaties of Peace, Alliance, and Commerce, between Great-Britain and Other Powers," from 1648 to 1783 (London, 1785), I., 81-85. It is also entire (in English) in "A General Collection of Treatys of Peace and Commerce, Renunciations, Manifestos, and Other Publick Papers, from the Year 1642, to the End of the Reign of Queen Anne" (London, 1732), III., 149-160.

The text of Jenkinson is adopted for this reprint.

Text.

I. THAT from this time there be a firm peace between the Republic and France, and that the subjects of both nations be at liberty to travel through the dominions of each other, and that the judges and officers do take care that they be rather favoured every where, and all manner of justice be done them.

II. Neither party shall directly or indirectly assist such as are now, or shall be hereafter declared rebels, enemies, or adherents against the other.

III. All manner of hostilities shall cease, and whatsoever shall be taken after fourteen days next ensuing the publication of this treaty, shall be restored within three months after the parties interested shall demand the same, but if legal satisfaction be refused, either party may issue letters of marque and reprisal, to affect only the particular delinquents, not the effects of the subjects of either unconcerned.

XXIV. Whereas since the year 1640 many prizes have been taken on both sides, commissioners shall be appointed to settle the same at London, and if they do not determine in six months and a fortnight, the city of Hamburg shall be desired to delegate commissioners, whose arbitration shall be final, and their award made within four months; but if neither shall make an award, no force shall be used on either side until after the expiration of four months more.

XXV. The right of either to the three forts of Pentacost, St. John, and Port Royal in America, shall be determined by the same commissioners.

XXVI. In case of a war breaking out, the merchants shall have six months time to remove their effects.

XXVII. Contraveners of this treaty shall be obliged to make satisfaction, and refusing so to do, shall be deemed enemies to both parties, and punished accordingly, but the same shall not affect the league in any sense.

XXVIII. This league shall be ratified within a fortnight, and immediately after published and proclaimed, and it is agreed, that the Lords the States General shall be included herein.

EXTRACT FROM THE GRANT OF ACADIA, BY OLIVER CROMWELL.

AUGUST 9/19, 1656.

Sources.

The grant by Oliver Cromwell, lord protector of England, to Sir Charles La Tour, Sir Thomas Temple and William Crown, August 9/19, 1656, was made under the condition that La Tour should show right by purchase from Sir William Alexander. The grant by Cromwell was a recognition both of the conveyance by Alexander in 1630, and of the title of "baronet of Scotland," conferred on La Tour. Notwithstanding the fact that La Tour, who had held a commission from Louis XIV. of France, had been defeated in 1654 by Major Sedgwick, his religious convictions were sufficiently elastic for him to become a good Protestant again under the lord protector.

Although Cromwell defines the river St. Georges as the western limit, yet, after the cession to France "with undefined limits," by the treaty of Breda, a controversy began which continued for nearly a century.

The grant, in French, is in the Dépôt de la Marine in Paris, from which source it was printed in Ebenezer Hazard, "Historical Collections," etc. (Philadelphia, 1792), I., 616-619, and in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et de ceux de sa Majesté Brittanique, sur les Possessions & les Droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique" (Paris, 1755), II., 511-516. An abstract, in connection with other documents showing the title of England to Acadia, is in W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, 1574-1660, page 447. Extracts are in Thomas C. Haliburton, "An Historical and Statistical Account of Nova Scotia" (Halifax, 1829), I., 64; William D. Williamson, "History of the State of Maine" (Hallowell, 1832), I., 362; and Joseph W. Porter, editor, "Bangor Historical Magazine" (1889), IV., 161.

That portion of the grant which contains reference to the boundaries is taken from a translation "by the best French scholars," in the "Bangor Historical Magazine."

COMMISSION TO COLONEL TEMPLE, BY OLIVER CROMWELL.

SEPTEMBER 17/27, 1656.

Sources.

The commission by Oliver Cromwell, lord protector of England, to Colonel Thomas Temple, as governor of Nova Scotia, September 17/27, 1656, also gives the St. Georges as the western limit of territory under his command. The language of the commission conforms closely to that of the grant of August 9/19 of the same year. By reference to W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, 1574-1660, page 453, it appears that La Tour gave up all right and title to Acadia, September 20/30, only a few days subsequent to the date of the commission. In "Suffolk Deeds, III., 108-112, there is recorded a "Division of the Patent" between Temple and Crowne, made September 12/22, 1657, and confirmed February 15/25, 1657/8. From that time "honest Tom Temple" was both governor and proprietor of Nova Scotia until the Restoration.

The commission was entered at Boston, July 6/16, 1657, from the original document, in order that an English registry might give stronger validity to the title. It is in "Suffolk Deeds," III., 22-26, which is the only text noted.

JURISDICTION OF MASSACHUSETTS EXTENDED OVER
LYGONIA, BY THE GENERAL COURT OF MASSACHUSETTS.

OCTOBER 19/29, 1658.

Sources.

The year following the submission of Kittery to the authority of Massachusetts, Mr. Jonas Clarke and Mr. Samuel Andrews, "both well skild in the mathematticks, having had the comānd of shippes vppon seuerall vojages," were appointed to take observations in order to determine the northerly bounds of the patent at the sea coast. October 13/23, 1653, they found the required latitude, 43° , $43'$, $12''$, to cross "a greyish rocke at a high water marke, cleft in the midle . . . the līne doth runne ouer the northermost pointe of an iland . . . called the Vpper Clapboard Iland, about a quarter of a mile from the majne in Casco Bay, about fower or five miles to the northward of Mr Macworth's house."

The inhabitants of the settlements within the extended lines resisted for some time the efforts of Massachusetts to bring them under authority, but ultimately Black Point, Blue Point, Spurwink and Casco Bay (afterwards Falmouth), within the precincts of Lygonia, yielded submission. October 19/29, 1658, the General Court published an order which enlarged the privileges of the county of Yorkshire by providing for a county court at either Saco or Scarborough as well as at York. The jurisdiction which Massachusetts thus assumed over the ancient Province of Maine was continued, except for the short time when the royal commissions established provincial government in 1665, until the final separation in 1820.

The order of the General Court is in "Massachusetts Records," IV., part i., 360-362; "York Deeds," I., folios 78, 79; and Maine Historical Society, "Collections," I., 292-294, where it was first published by William Willis from the York records.

The text adopted is that of the "Massachusetts Records," which is an authentic source.

Text.

Whereas the county of Yorkeshire is large & very remote from Boston, the place where the Generall Courts & councill of this cõmonwealth of the Massachusetts doe vsually assemble, whereby it is more difficult to obtayne the presence & helpe of any of the asistants of the gouernment, as occasion from tyme to tyme doth require, wee, therefore, the cõmissioners of the Generall Court, considering the necessitie of a constant supply till the Generall take further order therein, do graunt & order as followeth : —

1. That, with the consent of the inhabitants of the aforesajd townes of Scarborow and Falmouth, wee doe constitute & appointe the right trusty Henry Jocelyn, Esq, Mr Robert Jordan, Mr George Cleaue, Mr Henry Watts, & Mr Frauncis Neale cõmissioners for the yeare ensuing, invested wth full power, or any three of them, for the triall of all causes (wthout a jury) wthin the libertjes of Scarborough & Falmouth not exceeding the value of fifty pounds, & euery one of the sajd cõmissioners haue graunted them magistraticall power to heare and determine smale causes as other magistrates and asistants haue, whither they be of a civil or criminall nature : any of the sajd cõmissioners may graunt warrants, sõmons, & executions, if neede require, & haue power to examine offenders, & cõmitt to prison, except bayle be tendered, according to lawe ; also, any three of the sajd cõmissioners haue power to impowre millitary officers vnder the degree of a captaine. The sajd cõmissioners are required to enioyne each toun to procure the booke of lawes ; also, any of the sajd cõmissioners haue power to minister oathes, according to lawe, and if they judge needefull, to binde offenders to the peace & good behaviour, or to solemnize marriage, according to lawe. Any three of the com̄missioners haue also power to receive in all such persons living wthin our l^jne as betweene this present t^jme & the last of September shall come in by their voluntary subscriptions: our meaning is, that they should not be barred from having the priviledges that their neighbors enjoy by occasion of their necessary absenc at y^e Court.

2. That when County Courts are called, &, through Providence hindering, that there is none of the Asistants present at Yorke or elsewhere, that the sajd county shall still proceed, & the acts thereof shall be valid notwthstanding, the associats of the county, or any three of them at least, being then present.

3. Wee doe order, that the associats chosen for this county, or any three of them, shall haue full power (wthout a jury) to try any such civill actions as shall not exceed the value of sixty pounds.

4. Itt is hereby ordered for the easing of charges & trouble in this county, being so remote from the excersise of authoritje in some considerable cases, that the three com̄missioners, or more, in each toun in this county, shall haue full power to graunt letters of administration, to receave probats of wills, to order such estates as County Courts haue power to doe in the like cases; provided, when any such acts are putt forth by the three com̄missioners of Scarborough & Falmouth, M^r Henry Jocelyn or M^r Robert Jordan are to be one of the three; for Saco & Cape Porpus, Cap^t Nicholas Shapleigh to be one; for Wells, M^r Abraham Preble to be one. Wee doe likewise graunt the toun com̄missioners of Yorke and Kittery to haue the same power therein; and those particcular gen^{tn}, M^r Henry Joselyn, M^r Robert Jordan, Cap^t Nicholas Shapleigh, M^r Edward Rushworth, or M^r Abraham Preble, or either of them, shall haue magistratticall power throughout the whole county of Yorkshire for this yeare ensuing, vntill others are chosen & sworne in their places; and the County Courts from tyme to tyme haue power to graunt & renew licenses for ordinarys for selling of wine & strong water, & for keeping of houses entertajnement, according to lawe.

5. And whereas henceforth there will be neede of more associats for County Courts then formerly, wee doe giue power & order, that there shall be fiue chosen yearely, whereas there were but three before, and that they may keepe a County Court at Saco or Scarborough, as at Yorke, in the moneth of September yerely, provided that the day and place be agreed on vnder the hand of three of the associates at least, signified to the recorder of the county, so that he may giue due notice thereof vnto the seuerall townes sixe weekes before the said Court at the least.

Signed,

SAMUELL SYMONDS,
THO: WIGGIN,
EDW: RISHWORTH.

The Court, having pyved this retourne of the com̄issioners appointed to setle y^e gouernment in y^e eastern parts, doe approve thereof, & thankefully accept their paynes & endeavors therein, & order it shall be recorded, & the bill of charges, w^{ch} is on file, & amounts to forty fower pounds fourteene shillings & eight pence, be sattisfied by the Tresurer.

PATENT CONSTITUTING A COUNCIL FOR TRADE, BY CHARLES II. OF ENGLAND.

NOVEMBER 7/17, 1660.

Sources.

By letters patent issued November 7/17, 1660, his majesty, Charles II., created a Council for Trade; December 1/11 a new patent was issued with especial reference to foreign plantations. At a meeting of the Council for Foreign Plantations the following March a committee was appointed under royal commission to visit the colonies. One result of the commission was the grant of 1664 to the Duke of York. Commissions were reissued at different dates until December 21/31, 1674, when the council was dissolved by royal decree, and all affairs of plantations were referred to a committee of the Privy Council.

Commercial interests were so important a factor in all relations between England and other countries as well as her colonies that the first of this series of patents is printed to illustrate the policy by which her ascendancy was gained.

The original patent is in the "Trade Papers, State Paper Office," XV., 12, now in the Public Record Office, London. From this source it was transcribed for Edmund Bailey O'Callaghan, editor, "Documents Relative to the Colonial History of the State of New York" (Albany, 1853), III., 30-32, which is the text adopted.

CHARLES the Second by the Grace of God, of England Scotland France and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith &c. Whereas by the good providence of God wee and our kingdomes are restored to peace and settlement after the unhappy revolutions of many yeares, wherein the greatest concernment of our Crowne and of our good people have many wayes suffered, and whereby evils and inconveniences have growne upp, especially in matters of trade manufactures and navigation, in w^{ch} these kingdomes have been famous in all ages; Wee have taken into our princely consideracôn the present state of affayres in relacôn to the trade and cômmerce of our owne kingdomes aswell as of other Nations & Governments, well weighing how considerable a part of our Crowne and Government doth arise from forraigne & domestick trade, and that they are the cheife imployment and maintenance of our people; Nature by a happie seituation and by a bountifull accomodacôn of ports and other extraordinary assistances having easily given us many eminent advantages above other nations. Wee therefore resolve upon most mature deliberation by all wayes possible to restore and advance the honour and interests of our severall dominions and to give the utmost encouragement and meanes to the industrie invencôn and adventure of all our lovinge subjectes, and to those good ends and purposes wee shall not only bend our earnest affections and consultations in our owne royall person, wee havinge had many extraordinary opertunities to informe ourselfe in matters of this nature, but shall very effectually recômend them to our Privie Councell and all our Ministers of State, that in all treaties and leagues with forraigne Princes and allies the securitie and prosperitie of trade and cômmerce shall be tenderly considered and provided for. And because every mistery or difficultye may bee the more easily discerned and encountered, and that every interest may bee righted, wee have thought fitt to erect and establish a COUNSELL of TRADE consisting of the persons hereafter named, who being diversly quallified and fitted thereunto, will wee doubt not consult and propose such things as may tend to the rectifying those errors which the corruption of late tymes have introduced. IT IS THEREFORE our will and pleasure and wee doe hereby of our especiall grace certyne knowledge and mere motion, authorize appoint constitute and ordayne our right trustie and right welbeloved Councillor Edward Lord Hide Lord Chancellor of England, our right trustie and right welbeloved Cousin and Councillor Thomas Earle of Southampton Lord Treasurer of England [and others] . . . to bee a standing Councell of Trade, to take into their consideracôn the Trade & Navigacôn of this kingdome, and what manner and by what ways and meanes the same may be encouraged regulated & improved, and they are hereby authorized to receave and prosecute all such propositions and overture for the regulacôn and benefitt of Trade and Navigacôn as shalbe offered to them by any other person or persons, and to view all such books records or other writings of publique use as they shall hold necessary for their better information and to send for any person or persons whom they shall think to bee of experience and abilitye or otherwise capable to bee advised with in any thing that tends to the prosecution of this our Cômmission. AND wee hereby require all officers and ministers whatsoever or any other of our lovinge subjectes who shalbee desired or shall receave any order or other summons from the said Councell of Trade, soe constituted by us, to advise or otherwise informe or assist the sayd Councell for the better understandinge and discovery of the matters cômmitted to their care, enquirie, and prudence, that every such person or persons doe yield a ready conformitie thereunto as they tender our displeasure for their disobedience unto us and the authoritie derived from us. AND when the said Councell shall have drawne their consultacôns and debates into any resolution or proposition w^{ch} they shall judge to bee for the regulacôn and advancement of trade manufactures navigacôn or any other publique good relateing thereunto, they may and are hereby directed and required to p^rsent and certifie the same their opinion and advice to us for our fu[r]ther consideracôn and determinacôn. AND because soe good and laudable service may the more effectually be carried on, Wee doe hereby authorize our said Comm^{rs} to nominate and appoint such a Secretary, Clarks, Messengers or other usefull attendants and to pay unto every such person as they the sayd Councell shall assigne thereunto out of our Exchequer by warrant from our High Treasurer for the time beinge, such reasonable sallaries or allowances as to them shall seeme meet and expedient. PROVIDED that all such payments or other incident charges relateing to the sayd Councell or the service thereof, shall not in the whole exceed the summe of one thousand pounds yearly. AND wee doe hereby further require the sayd Cômmissioners to meet and sitt at Mercer's Hall in our Cittie of London on Thursday the eight day of this instant November, and wee doe give them power to adjourne to any other place that shall to them appeare to be more convenient. AND wee doe lastly appoint and ordaine that the persons above named or any seaven of them shalbe a sufficient quorum to all the intents and purposes of this our cômmission and the instruccôns therein conteyned, or w^{ch} are annexed thereunto, or any further instruccôns w^{ch} shall from tyme to tyme be given to them by us. INDENTURE FOR THE PURCHASE OF LANDS ON

THE KENNEBEC RIVER, BY THE GENERAL
COURT OF PLYMOUTH.

OCTOBER 27
NOVEMBER 6, 1661.

Sources.

The original indenture made between the "General Court for the Jurisdiction of Plymouth" and Antipas Boyes and others, ^{October 27} ~~November 6~~, 1661, is in the possession of the Maine Historical Society. The parchment is still inclosed in the original leaden case, which is still further protected by the leather cover which has so long preserved the document in perfect condition. An early transcript from the "Ancient Records of Plymouth Colony," is among the manuscripts in the British Museum, "New England Papers," folio 14.

Although the deed was executed in 1661, it was not delivered until June 15/25, 1665, and was not recorded at York until ^{October 22} ~~November 1~~, 1719. It is found in "York Deeds," IX., folios 226-228. In 1753 owners of shares in the patent were incorporated under the name of "The Proprietors of the Kennebec Purchase of the Late Colony of New Plymouth," more familiarly known as the "Kennebec Company." The records of the "Proprietors," which have been carefully indexed by Rev. Edward Ballard, are in the archives of the Maine Historical Society.

The text adopted is that printed in "York Deeds."

COMMISSION TO FRANCIS CHAMPERNOON AND OTHERS, BY FERDINANDO GORGES.

JUNE 21
JULY 1 , 1664

Sources.

The commission to Francis Champernoone and others, ^{June 21,} _{July 1,} 1664, was an attempt by Ferdinando Gorges to restore the government of the Province of Maine according to its ancient prerogatives. Besides Francis Champernoone, whose name stands first on the commission, there were twelve other "loving friends," "inhabitants and residents" of the Province, to be associated with him as deputies and commissioners. The names of many of these have become well known from their connection with territorial history; one of them, John Archdale, who was for one year the deputy of his brother-in-law, Ferdinando Gorges, a few years later was governor of South Carolina.

The commission, with instructions, is among the ancient records at York. It is printed by James Phinney Baxter, editor, "Sir Ferdinando Gorges and his Province of Maine" (Prince Society, 1890), III., 303-306; instructions, ibid, 306-315.

The commission is reprinted in this collection from Mr. Baxter's text.

EXTRACTS FROM THE GRANT OF PEMAQUID TO JAMES, DUKE OF YORK, BY CHARLES II., OF ENGLAND.

MARCH 12/22, 1664/5.

Sources.

The grant to James, Duke of York, by Charles II., March 12/22, 1664/5, included the disputed portion from the St. Croix to the Kennebec, with the territory around the head waters of those rivers. When Henry, fourth Earl of Stirling, conveyed Long Island to the Duke of York in 1663, the principal negotiator was the Earl of Clarendon, whose daughter the Duke of York had married. It is believed that in transcribing the bounds from the charter of Alexander, which had been lent for that purpose, the earl included the description of the St. Croix and the Pemaquid country, thereby securing to his son-in-law a title to territory in Maine. Brodhead ("History of New York," II., 17) says that this instrument was the "most impudent ever recorded in the colonial archives of England."

The petition of William, Earl of Stirling, and other heirs-at-law of Henry the last Earl of Stirling, in 1760, for the restitution of the "County of Canada," throws some light on the history of the "Duke's Territory." This petition is in Massachusetts Historical Society, "Collections," 1st Series, VI., 186-189.

The original patent marked "Patent Roll, 16 Car., II., Part 8, No. 6," is in the Public Record Office, London. The parchment duplicate, which was given to the Duke of York as evidence of his title, is in the State Library at Albany, and the original record is in the office of the secretary of state of New York "New York Book of Patents," I., 109. Full copies are in the "Report of the Regents of the University on the Boundaries of the State of New York" (Albany, 1874), I., 10-21; and an abstract of the original parchment in the Record Office is in W. Noel Sainsbury, editor, "Calendar of State Papers," Colonial Series, 1661-1668, 191, 192.

The text is found entire in Leaming and Spicer, "The Grants, Concessions, and Original Constitutions of the Province of New Jersey" (Philadelphia, 1752), 3-8; John Romeyn Brodhead, "History of the State of New York" (New York, 1853), II., 651, 652; Edmund Bailey O'Callaghan, editor, "Documents Relative to the Colonial History of the State of New York" (Albany, 1858), II., 295-298; and Ben: Perley Poore, "The Federal and State Constitutions, Colonial Charters, and Other Organic Laws of the United States" (Washington, 1877), 783-785. A copy from the "New York Book of Patents" is in a "Statement on the Part of the United States, of the Case Referred, in Pursuance of the Convention of 1827 . . ." (printed but not published, Washington, 1829), Appendix XII., 100-103. An early manuscript copy of the grant is in "Massachusetts Archives," III., 303; it is printed by James Phinney Baxter, editor, "Baxter Manuscripts," Maine Historical Society, "Documentary Series," IV., 190-195.

The text adopted for extracts relating to Pemaquid is that of the "Regent's Report," 10-20 (left-hand pages only), which is a copy of the duplicate charter.

ABSTRACT OF THE TREATY OF BREDa, BETWEEN
CHARLES II. OF ENGLAND AND LOUIS XIV. OF FRANCE.

JULY 21/31, 1667.

Sources.

By the treaty made at Breda, July 21/31, 1667, between Charles II. of England and Louis XIV. of France, Acadia was resigned to France, and all claims which Cromwell had established on the basis of royal charters to Sir William Alexander were extinguished. February 17/27, 1667/8, Charles II. issued a proclamation by which Pentagoet, St. John, Port Royal, La Have, and Cape Sable were released in favor of France, according to the treaty of Breda. Notwithstanding the royal proclamation, however, Colonel Temple still retained possession of the country until the following year, when the king issued an order to him for the surrender of Acadia. Thereupon, July 7/17, 1670, Colonel Temple, "by reason of present sickness of Body upon myself," gave a command to Captain Walker for the restitution to France of all the country of Acadia.

There are numerous texts of this treaty. In 1667 it was deposited at the Hague, both in Latin and in Dutch. In French it is in Jean Dumont, "Corps Universel Diplomatique du Droit des Gens" (Amsterdam, 1731), VII., part i., 40-42, and is reprinted in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et de ceux de sa Majesté Britannique, sur les Possessions et les Droits Respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique" (Paris, 1755), II., 32-39. It was published in English in "A General Collection of Treatys, Declarations of War, Manifestos, and Other Publick Papers, Relating to Peace and War" (London, 1732), 127-134; an abstract is in "A Collection of Treaties of Peace and Commerce, Containing all those that have been Concluded from the Peace of Munster, inclusive to this time" (London, 1714), 101, 102; and another is in Charles Jenkinson "A Collection of all the Treaties of Peace, Alliance and Commerce Between Great Britain and Other Powers, from . . . 1648 to . . . 1783" (London, 1785), I., 186, 187.

The text adopted is that of Jenkinson, who used an authentic translation.

Text.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PEACE OF BREDÁ, BETWEEN
CHARLES II. OF ENGLAND AND THE STATES
GENERAL OF THE UNITED NETHERLANDS.

JULY 21/31, 1667.

Sources.

The "peace" between England and Holland was another of the treaties concluded at Breda, July 21/31, 1667. The terms of the peace arranged by Charles II. of England and the States General were on the basis of mutual restitution of all places taken during the late war. Thus, not only was the "Duke's Territory" of New York again in the hands of its former owners, the Dutch, but western Sagadahoc was for a time without any organized government.

The treaty was published "by authority" in England in 1686, and from that source extracts have been reprinted by George Chalmers, "A Collection of Treaties between Great Britain and Other Powers" (London, 1790), I., 133-150. In Latin, it is in Jean Dumont, "Corps Universel Diplomatique du Droit des gens" (Amsterdam, 1731), VII., part i., 44-53.

This reprint follows the text of Chalmers.

Text.

I. FIRST, that from this day there be a true, firm, and inviolable peace, sincere friendship, a nearer and straiter alliance and union between the Most Serene King of Great Britain, and the High and Mighty States General of the United Provinces of the Netherlands, and the lands, countries, and cities under the obedience of both parties, where-soever situate, and their subjects and inhabitants, of what degree soever they be.

II. Also, that for the time to come, all enmities, hostilities, discords, and wars, between the said Lord the King, and the foresaid Lords the States General, and their subjects and inhabitants, cease and be abolished ; and that both parties do altogether forbear and abstain from all plundering, depredation, harm-doing, injuries, and infestation whatsoever, as well by land as by sea, and in fresh-waters, everywhere ; and especially through all tracts, dominions, places, and governments (of what condition soever they be) within the jurisdiction of either party.

III. Also, that all offences, injuries, damages, losses, which his said Majesty and his subjects, or the foresaid States General and their subjects, have on either side sustained during this war, or at any time whatsoever heretofore, upon what cause or pretence soever, be buried in oblivion, and totally expunged out of remembrance, as if no such things had ever past.

Furthermore, that the foresaid peace, friendship, and alliance may stand upon firm and unshaken foundations, and that from this very day all occasions of new dissention and difference may be cut off ; it is further agreed, that both the parties, and either of them, shall keep and possess hereafter, with plenary right of sovereignty, propriety, and possession, all such lands, islands, cities, forts, places, and colonies (how many soever) as during this war, or in any former times before this war, they have by force of arms, or any other way whatsoever, gotten and detained from the other party, and that, altogether after the same manner as they had gotten and did possess them the 10/20 day of May last past, none of the same places being excepted. . . .

VI. But if after the 10/20 day of May, expressed in the precedent third article, or after the peace is made, or this treaty signed, either party shall intercept and get from the other any lands, islands, cities, forts, colonies, or other places whatsoever, all and every of them, without any distinction of place or time, shall be restored bonâ fide in the same state and condition wherein they shall be found to be at the time whensoever it shall be known in those places that the peace is made. . . .

IX. And whereas in countries far remote, as in Africa and America, especially in Guinea, certain protestations and declarations, and other writings of that kind, prejudicial to the liberty of trade and navigation, have been emitted and published on either side by the governors and officers in the name of their superiors; it is in like manner agreed, that all and every such protestations, declarations, and writings aforesaid, be abolished, and held hereafter for null and void; and that both the above-mentioned parties, and their inhabitants and subjects, use and enjoy the same liberty of trade and navigation, as well in Africa as in America, which they used and enjoyed, or of right might use and enjoy, at that time when the treaty of the year 1662 was subscribed. . . .

XI. That the said King of Great Britain, and the said States General remain friends, confederate, united, and allied, for the defence and preservation of the rights, liberties, and immunities of either ally and their subjects, against all whomsoever, who shall endeavour to disturb the peace of either's state by sea or land, or such as living within either's dominions, shall be declared public enemies to either. . . .

ORDER FOR SUBMISSION OF THE PROVINCE OF
MAINE, BY THE GENERAL COURT OF MAS-SACHUSETTS BAY.MAY 27
JUNE 6, 1668.Sources.

By an order of the General Court for the submission of the Province of Maine, Massachusetts resumed government over Gorges's original and entire province. After the report of the King's commissioners in 1665 the order of the General Court would seem, on its face, like an act of usurpation. However, a timely gift of masts, "as a manifestation of their loyalty and good affection," completely disarmed his majesty of any suspicion of dishonesty on the part of Massachusetts. He acknowledged the present in most gracious words, — "What they have now done has been exceeding acceptable; he will always look on them as part of his care to provide for their peace and welfare in all things He shall be ready at any time to receive any of their just desires and requests;" "Colonial Papers," Vol. XXIII.

The order was entered in the records of the "Governor and Company of the Massachusetts Bay in New England," and is found in the printed "Records," IV., part ii., 370, 371; it is also in James Sullivan, "History of the District of Maine" (Boston, 1795), 375, 376.

The text adopted is that of the printed "Records."

Text.

Whereas this colony of the Massachusetts, in observance of the trust to them committed by his maj^{ty}s royall charter, wth the free & full consent & submission of the inhabitants of the county of Yorke, for sundry yeares did exercise governmēt ouer the people of that county; and whereas about three yeares now past some interruption haue binn made to the peace of that place, & order there established, by the imposition of some who, pretending to serue his maj^{ty}s interest, wth vnjust aspersions & reflections vpon this gover^{mt} here established by his royall charter, haue vnwarrantably draune the inhabitants of that county to subjection vnto officers that haue no royall warranty, thereby infringing the libertjes of our charter, & depriuing the people there settled of their just priuiledges,—

The effect whereof doeth now appeare to be not only a disservice to his maj^{ty}, but also the reducing of a people that were found vnder an orderly establishment to a confused anarchy.

The premisses being duely considered, this Court doe judge meete, as in duty they stand bound to God & his majesty, to declare their resolution againe to exert their power of jurisdiction ouer the inhabitants of the sajd county of Yorke,—

And doe hereby accordingly, in his maj^{ty}s name, require all and euery of the inhabitants there settled to yeild obedience to the lawes of this colony, as they haue been orderly published, and to all such officers as shall be there legally stated by the authority of his maj^{ty}s royall charter, & the order of our co^mmissioners, whom this Court hath nominated and impowered to setle all officers necessary for the government of the people there, & to keepe a Court this p^sent summer the first Tuesday in July, at Yorke Toune, as haue been formerly accustomed.

And for that end wee haue co^manded our secretary to issue out warrants to the inhabitants there in their respective townes, to meet & choose jurors, both grand & petit, constables & other officers, for the service of the country, as the lawe requireth; the sajd warrants to be directed vnto Nathaniel Masterson, who is by this Court appointed the marshall of that county as f^ormerly, & by him the sajd warrants are to be deliuered to the seuerall constables, to be accordingly executed. A due observance whereof, wth an orderly returne, to be made to the Court, to be held as abouesajd, is heereby required of all persons respectively concerned, as as they will answer the contrary at their perill.

EXTRACTS FROM THE TREATY OF WESTMINSTER, BETWEEN CHARLES II. OF ENGLAND AND THE STATES GENERAL OF THE UNITED NETHERLANDS.

FEBRUARY 9/19, 1673/4.

Sources.

By the treaty of peace between Charles II., king of England, and the United Provinces of the Netherlands, made at Westminster, February 9/19, 1673/4, not only was the treaty of Breda renewed and in force, but all places captured by either party during the recent war were to be restored to the former proprietors. New Netherlands was again confirmed to the English, and the Duke of York was once more viceroy of the large territory of Sagadahoc.

The treaty was published in England "by authority" in 1686, and that text was followed by George Chalmers, "A Collection of Treaties between Great Britain and Other Powers" (London, 1790), I., 172-177. Another translation is adopted by Charles Jenkinson, "A Collection of all the Treaties of Peace, Alliance and Commerce, between Great-Britain and Other Powers, from . . . 1648 to . . . 1783" (London, 1785), I., 202-207.

The extracts given in the present collection were made from Jenkinson; a comparison with Chalmers shows no essential difference.

Text.

I. IT is agreed and concluded, that from this day there shall be a firm, sincere and inviolable peace, union and friendship, between the most serene and potent King of Great Britain, and the high and mighty Lords the States General of the United Netherlands, and their respective subjects, in all the countries, dominions and places whatsoever of both parties in Europe, or any other part of the world.

II. And to the end that this true union between the said most serene Lord the King of Great Britain and the said Lords the States General may the sooner take effect, it is agreed and concluded by them, that, immediately after the promulgation of the treaty of peace, all acts of hostility shall be prohibited on both sides; nor shall any writ, commission, or instruction be granted or promoted, or in any manner permitted by either party, privately or publicly, directly or indirectly, to infest, invade, attack or despoil the substance, dominions or subjects of either; but on the contrary, the subjects of both nations shall be strictly commanded, that in all places they behave themselves to one another peaceably and amicably. . . .

VI. It is agreed and concluded, that whatsoever countries, islands, towns, ports, castles or forts, have or shall be taken on both sides since the time that the late unhappy war broke out, either in Europe or elsewhere, and before the expiration of the terms above-mentioned for the cessation of hostilities, shall be restored to the former lord and proprietor, in the same condition they shall be in when the peace itself shall be proclaimed. After which time there shall be no spoil nor plunder of the inhabitants, no demolition of fortifications, nor carrying away of guns, powder, or other military stores, which belonged to any castle or fort at the time when it was taken.

VII. That the treaty of Breda concluded A. D. 1667, as likewise all other preceding treaties confirmed by that treaty, be renewed and remain in full force, as far as is consistent with the present treaty. . . .

XI. That the most serene King of Great Britain above-mentioned, and the said high and mighty Lords the States General of the United Provinces, shall sincerely and bona fide observe all and singular the articles contained and established in the present treaty, and cause them to be observed by their subjects and inhabitants; and they shall not contravene them directly or indirectly; nor suffer them to be contravened by their subjects or inhabitants; and shall ratify all and singular the conventions above-mentioned by letters patent drawn up in due form, signed with their own hands, and sealed with their great seals; and reciprocally deliver, or cause the same to be delivered, within weeks after the date of these presents (or sooner if possible) bona fide, really and effectually.

XII. Lastly, as soon as the said ratifications are exhibited reciprocally, and duly exchanged on both sides, the peace shall be proclaimed at the Hague within twenty four hours after the ratifications are so delivered and exchanged. Done at Westminster, the 9th day of Feb. A. D. 1673/4

ORDER FOR COMMISSIONERS TO HOLD COURT
AT PEMAQUID, BY THE GENERAL COURT OF MASSACHUSETTS BAY.

MAY 27
JUNE 6, 1674.

Sources.

The surrender of Acadia in 1670, by Colonel Temple, in accordance with the treaty of Breda, gave the French claims to the country westward to the Kennebec. Massachusetts immediately caused a new survey of the northern line of the charter, an adroit measure by which Pemaquid was included within the limits and jurisdiction of Massachusetts.

In pursuance of an order of the General Court, ^{May 27}_{June 6}, 1674, commissioners were appointed to keep a county court within the easterly limits of their patent, "according to God and the wholesome lawes of this jurisdiction." The region east of the Kennebec, while under the authority of Massachusetts, was called the "County of Devon."

Extracts relating to the court at Pemaquid are here reprinted from the "Massachusetts Records," V., 17.

EXTRACTS FROM THE GRANT OF PEMAQUID, RE- NEWED TO JAMES DUKE OF YORK, BY CHARLES II., OF ENGLAND.

JUNE 29
JULY 9, 1674.

Sources.

The grant of lands, including Pemaquid, renewed to James, Duke of York, <sup>June 29, July 9,</sup> 1674, is nearly identical with the conveyance of 1664/5. To remove any doubt of the validity of the Duke's title, either from want of "seizin" to the crown, or on account of the conquest by the Dutch after the treaty of Westminster, the title was confirmed to his royal highness by these further letters patent.

Subsequently a government was established at Pemaquid under the name of the "County of Cornwall," with the privilege of having one representative to the General Assembly of New York. In "York Deeds" IX., folio 241, there is a conveyance of land "within y^e bounds of New Town in or Near Sagadahoc in y^e County of Cornwall in y^e Collony of New York in America." On the accession of James II., the unusual privileges of the grant were merged in the crown.

The deed of renewal is in the office of the secretary of state, Albany, "New York Book of Patents," I., 1, and "New York Collections of MSS.," XXIII., 362. It is included in a "Statement on the Part of the United States, of the Case referred, in Pursuance of the Convention of 1827 . . ." (printed but not published, Washington, 1829) Appendix XII., 103-106. An extract is in the "Report of the Regents of the University on the Boundaries of the State of New York" (Albany, 1874), 21, 22. The deed is also printed in Ben: Perley Poore, "The Federal and State Constitutions, Colonial Charters, and Other Organic Laws of the United States" (Washington, 1877), 786-788. An early manuscript copy is in the archives of the Maine Historical Society, "Pejepscot Papers," VII., 39a.

The text adopted is that of the "Regents' Report," which is from a duly attested copy of the deed in the "New York Book of Patents."

COMMISSION TO JOHN RHOADES FOR POSSESSION OF ACADIA, BY THE GENERAL WEST INDIA COMPANY.

SEPTEMBER 11/21, 1676.

Sources.

By the commission to John Rhoades from the General West India Company, September 11/21, 1676, the conquest of Acadia in 1674 by Jurriaen Aernouts, master of the frigate "The Flying Horse," was rendered effective. John Rhoades, who was a native of England although a member of the buccaneering expedition, was allowed to take possession in the name of the company.

The original ordinance is in the possession of the New York Historical Society. A translation was first published by J. Watts de Peyster, in a paper read before the society March 3, 1857, entitled "The Dutch at the North Pole and the Dutch in Maine," 76; another translation was printed by Charles Wesley Tuttle, "The Dutch Conquest of Acadia, and Other Historical Papers" (Boston, 1889), Appendix XIII., 376, 377.

For further knowledge of John Rhoades and his connection with New England history, the "State Papers" in the Public Record Office, London, and "Massachusetts Records," V., will furnish abundant material.

TO ALL THOSE who shall see or hear these presents —
GREETING :

KNOW, THAT WHEREAS, in the year 1674, Captain JURRIAEN AERNOUTS, master of the frigate "The Flying Horse," from Curaçao, and charged with a Commission of his Highness the Prince of Orange, has conquered and subdued the coasts and countries of Nova Scotia and Acadie, in which expedition was also present and assisted, with advice and force, JOHN RHOADE :

THEREFORE WE, after consulting the demand of aforesaid RHOADE, to establish himself in the aforesaid countries, and to remain there, and to maintain himself, have consented and permitted, and do consent and permit hereby, that the aforesaid RHOADE, in the name and by the consent of the General West India Company, shall take possession of the aforesaid coasts and countries of Nova Scotia and Acadie, in whatever place of that district it may please him, to build houses and to establish, to cultivate, and to keep in repair, plantations ; that he may trade and negotiate with the natives, and all others with whom the State of the United Netherlands and the aforesaid Company is in peace and alliance ; in the first place, to send hither and thither his own goods and merchandize, after paying the duties to our Company ; in the second place, to defend and maintain himself against every foreign and domestic power of enemies. APPOINTMENT OF CORNELIS STEENWYCK AS GOVERNOR OF NOVA SCOTIA AND ACADIA, BY THE GENERAL WEST INDIA COMPANY.

OCTOBER 27, 1676.
NOVEMBER 7,

Sources.

The "appointment of the installation" of Cornelis Steenwyck by the directors of the privileged General West India Company of the United Netherlands, ^{October 27,} 1676, gave him jurisdiction over "the coasts and countries of Nova Scotia and Acadie, including the subordinate countries and islands, so far as their limits are extended, to the east and north from the River Pountegouycet [Penobscot]." A letter of instruction which accompanied the commission to Steenwyck cautioned him against any measures that would prejudice the previous commission to John Rhoades.

According to Brodhead, Steenwyck was a burgomaster of New Netherlands who held various positions under Dutch governors. His connection with Maine history was so brief that little or no mention has been made of it by most historians. That the possibilities impending at that time may be better understood, the commission which gave a Dutch governor to eastern Maine is here inserted.

The translation is from the original commission in the possession of the New York Historical Society. It was published by J. Watts de Peyster, in a paper read before the society March 3, 1857, entitled "The Dutch at the North Pole and the Dutch in Maine, 73-75; and another translation was printed by Charles Wesley Tuttle, "The Dutch Conquest of Acadie and Other Historical Papers " (Boston, 1889), Appendix XIII., 378-380.

APPOINTMENT OF THE INSTALLATION OF CORNELIS STEENWYCK,

AS GOVERNOR OF NOVA SCOTIA AND ACADIE.

The Directors of the Privileged General West India Company of the United Netherlands.

ALL those who shall see or hear these presents, GREETING :

KNOW, that we, being convinced that the wealth of this Company would be greatly increased by the cultivation of those lands and places under the jurisdiction of our aforesaid grantees, and that it will be useful that these aforesaid lands and places should not remain uninhabited, but that somebody be duly settled there, and populate the country; and afterwards thinking on expedients by which the navigation, commerce and traffic of the aforesaid Company, and of all others who belong to it, may after some time be increased and augmented; so is it that we, wishing to put our useful intention in execution, for the aforesaid and other reasons, by which we are persuaded; following the second article of our aforesaid grant, and by the authority of the high and mighty States-General of the United Netherlands, and upon mature deliberation of the Council, have committed and authorized, and we do commit and authorize, CORNELIS STEENWYCK, in the name of, and for, the High and Mighty and the Privileged General West India Company, to take possession of the coasts and countries of Nova Scotia and Acadie, including the subordinate countries and islands, so far as their limits are extended, to the east and north from the River Pountegouycet; and that he, STEENWYCK, may establish himself there, and select such places for himself, in order to cultivate, to sow, or to plant, as he shall wish.

MOREOVER, to trade with the natives of the country, and all others with whom the Republic of these United Netherlands and the aforesaid Company are in peace and alliance, to negotiate and to traffic in the goods and merchandizes belonging to them, send them hither and thither, and fit out ships and vessels for the large and small fisheries, to set the cargo ashore, to dry and afterwards to sell them, so as he shall think it best; and, generally, to sustain and to maintain himself and his family, by no other than honest means.

MOREOVER, that he, STEENWYCK, in the name of the High and Mighty, and of the General West India Company, will be admitted to make contracts and alliances and engagements with the natives of that country; also to build some forts and castles, to defend and to protect himself against every foreign and domestic force of enemies or pirates; and also to admit and to protect all other persons and families who wish to come under obedience to the Company, if they swear due faithfulness to the much esteemed High and Mighty, as their highest Sovereign Magistrate, to his Highness, My Lord the Prince of Orange, as the Governor-Captain and Admiral-General, and to the Directors of the Privileged West India Company.

THAT MOREOVER, the aforesaid STEENWYCK, with the title and power of Manager and Captain, will provide, deliver and execute every thing that belongs to the conservation of these countries, namely: —

The maintenance of good order, police and justice, as would be required according to the laws and manners of those countries; and principally that the true Christian reformed religion is practiced within the limits of his district, after the usual manner, that STEENWYCK, according to this, may place some one — if he is a free-born subject of our union — in his office; who, in name and authority, moreover, with the title and a power as aforesaid, may take possession of the aforesaid countries to establish himself there; and further, to do and execute all those things whereto STEENWYCK, himself, in aforesaid manner is authorized; all those things nevertheless, without expenses, charges, or any kind of burdens to the Company; and with the invariable condition that the aforesaid STEENWYCK, or the person whom he might place in his office, will be obliged to execute the present Commission and authorization within the next eighteen months, or that by negligence or failure thereof it will be in our faculty and power to give such a Commission and authorization to other persons than STEENWYCK, or his Lieutenant, without any reference to this present one.

MOREOVER, we have the aforesaid STEENWYCK, or his Lieutenant, so soon as they establish themselves within the limits of that particular, privileged and conceded district; and we do privilege and concede freedom and immunity of all rights and recognizances for the time of six years successively.

At last, and to conclude, that the aforesaid STEENWYCK, or his Lieutenant, within the limits of the aforesaid district, will have the right to distribute to others such countries and places for Colonies and farms as he shall think best; and that the managers and principals of those Colonies and farms, for the time of six years, shall be entirely possessed of the aforesaid rights and recognizances.

WE command and charge also our Directors, Managers, Captains, Masters of ships, and all our other officers who may belong to them, that they will have to acknowledge, to respect, and to obey, the aforesaid CORNELIS STEENWYCK, or his Lieutenant, as Manager and Captain, within the limits of the aforesaid district; and to procure, to give, and to afford him every help, aid, and assistance in the execution thereof, — seeing that we find it useful for the service of the Company.

JUDGMENT IN FAVOR OF FERDINANDO GORGES,
PROPRIETOR OF THE PROVINCE OF MAINE,
BY THE COUNCIL FOR TRADE AND PLANTATIONS.

JULY 20/30, 1677.

Sources.

To the petition of Ferdinando Gorges for an adjustment of rights and claims to lands north of the Merrimac river, the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations gave judgment July 20/30, 1677. Plots and counterplots among the interested parties had been in progress several years; Gorges and Mason had pressed their claims with urgency; and the Lords of Trade had been so zealous for the enforcement of the navigation acts that they employed Edward Randolph to investigate the condition of affairs in New England. Massachusetts, in self defense, had sent William Stoughton and Peter Bulkeley as agents to England to meet the demands of Mason and Gorges on the one hand, and to satisfy the Council for Trade on the other.

The report of the committee confirmed Gorges's right to the Province of Maine, and restricted Massachusetts to territory lying within the bounds of the patent, "within the space of three English miles to the northward of the said river called Monomak alias Merrimack."

For a history of the manuscript from which the "Order in Council" was printed, the best work is that of William H. Whitmore, "A Bibliographical Sketch of the Laws of the Massachusetts Colony from 1630 to 1686" (Boston, 1890). In 1843 Mr. Francis Colley Gray, librarian of the Boston Athenæum, discovered a collection of manuscripts, together with "A Coppie of the Libberties of the Massachusetts Collonie in New England [1641]." The name of Joshua Hutchinson, on the inside of the last cover, suggests that Governor Thomas Hutchinson made use of his grandfather's volume, especially as several of the manuscripts are printed in his "Collection of Original Papers."

Mr. Gray printed the manuscripts in 1843, in the Massachusetts Historical Society, "Collections," 3d Series, VIII., 238-242. Extracts had been printed by George Chalmers, "Political Annals of the Present United Colonies, from their Settlement to the Peace of 1763" (London, 1780), 505-507.

The text adopted is that of Mr. Gray.

AT THE COURT AT WHITEHALL, THE 20th JULY, 1677.

PRESENT.

Lord Chancellor,	Earl of Craven,
Lord Treasurer,	Lord Bishop of London,
Lord Privy Seal,	Lord Maynard,
Duke of Ormond,	Lord Berkeley,
Marquis of Worcester,	Mr. Vice Chancellor,
Lord Chamberlain,	Mr. Secretary Coventry,
Earl of Northampton,	Mr. Secretary Williamson,
Earl of Peterborough,	Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer,
Earl of Sunderland,	Master of the Ordinance,
Earl of Bath,	Mr. Speaker.

Whereas the Right honorable the Lords of the Committee for trade and plantations did, in pursuance of an order of the 7th February last, make a report to the Lords of the matters in controversy between the Corporation of the Massachusetts Bay in New England and Mr. Mason, Mr. Gorges touching the right of soil and government claimed by the said parties in certain lands there, by virtue of several grants from his majesties royal father and grandfather as followeth in haec verba :

May it please your Majesty,

Having received your Majesty's order in Council of the 7th February last past, whereby we are directed to enter into the examination of the bounds and limits, which the Corporation of the Massachusetts Bay in New England on the one hand, and Mr. Mason and Mr. Gorges on the other do pretend by their several grants and patents to have been assigned unto them, as also to examine the patent and charters which are insisted on by either side, in order to find out and settle how far the rights of soil or government do belong unto any of them ; in the consideration whereof the Lords Chief Justices of your Majesty's courts of Bench and Common Pleas were appointed to give us their assistance, we did on the 5th April last, together with said Lords chief Justices, meet in obedience to your Majesty's commands, and having heard both parties by their counsel learned in the law, we did recommend unto their Lordships to receive a state of the claims made by both parties and to return their opinions upon the whole matter unto us, which their Lordships have accordingly performed in the words following :

In obedience to your Lordship's order we appointed a day for the hearing of all parties and considering the matter referred, having received from them such papers of their cases, as they were pleased to deliver, at which time all parties appearing, the Respondents did disclaim title to the lands claimed by the Petitioners and it appeared to us, that the said lands are in the possession of several other persons not before us, whereupon we thought not fit to examine any claims to the said lands, it being in our opinion improper to judge of any title of land without hearing of the Tertenants or some other person in their behalf; and if there be any Court of Justice upon the place, we esteem most proper to direct the parties to have recourse thither for the decision of any question of propriety, until it shall appear, that there is just cause of complaint against the Courts of Justice there for injustice or grievance.

We did in the presence of said parties examine their several claims to the government. And the Petitioners having waived the pretence of a grant of government from the council of Plymouth, wherein they were convinced by their own counsel, that no such power or jurisdiction could be transferred or assigned by any colour of law, the question was reduced to the Province of Maine, whereto the Petitioner Gorges made his title by a grant from King Charles the first, in the fifteenth year of his reign, made to Sir Ferdinando Gorges and his heirs of the Province of Maine and the government thereof. In answer to this, the Respondents alleged, that long before, viz. in quarto Car. I. the government was granted them, and produced copies of letters patent, wherein it is recited, that the Council of Plymouth having granted to certain persons Territories thus described, viz. All that part of New England in America, which lies and extends between a great river there commonly called Monomak or Merrimack, and a certain other river there called Charles River, being in the bottom of a certain Bay there called the Massachusetts Bay, and also all and singular the lands and hereditaments whatsoever lying and being within the space of three English miles on the south part of the said Charles river or of any or every part thereof; and also all and singular the lands and hereditaments whatsoever lying and being within the space of three English miles to the southernmost part of the said Bay called Massachusetts Bay, and all those lands and hereditaments whatsoever which lie and be within the space of three English miles to the northward of the said river called Monomak alias Merrimack or to the northward of any and every part thereof, and all lands and hereditaments whatsoever lying within the limits aforesaid north and south in latitude and breadth, and in length and longitude of and within all the breadth aforesaid throughout the main lands there from the Atlantic and western sea and ocean on the east part to the south sea on the west. By the said letters patent the king confirmed that grant, made them a corporation, and gave them power to make laws for the governing of the lands and people therein.

To this it was replied ; that the patent of the 4th Charles 1st, is invalid. 1. Because there was a patent granted 18 Jacobi, of the same thing then in being, which patent was surrendered afterwards and before the date of the other 15 Charles 1st. 2. The grant of the government can extend no further than the ownership of the soil, the boundaries of which are recited in the patent, wholly excludes the Province of Maine, which lies northward more than three miles beyond the river Merrimack.

We having considered these matters, do humbly conceive as to the first matter, that the patent of the 4th Charles 1st is good notwithstanding the grant made 18 Jacobi, for it appeared to us by recital in the patent 4th Charles 1st that the Council of Plymouth had granted away all their interest in the lands the year before, and it must be presumed they then deserted the government, whereupon it was lawful and necessary for the king to establish a suitable frame of government, according to his royal wisdom, which was by the patent 4th Charles 1st, making the adventurers a corporation upon the place.

As to the second matter, it seems to us to be very clear, that the grant of the government 4th Charles 1st, extends no further than the boundaries expressed in the patent, and those boundaries cannot be construed to extend farther northwards along the river Merrimack than three English miles. For the north and south bounds of the lands granted, so far as the rivers extend, are to follow the course of the rivers, which made the breadth of the grant. And the words describing the length to comprehend all the lines from the Atlantic ocean to the South sea, of and in all the breadth aforesaid, do not warrant the overreaching of those bounds by imaginary lines or bounds. Other expressions would (in our humble opinion) be unreasonable and against the intent of the grant. The words of and in all the breadth afterward, show the breadth was not intended an imaginary line of breadth laid upon the broader part; but the breadth respects the continuance of the boundaries by the rivers, as far as the rivers go, but where the known boundary of breadth determines, it must be carried on by imaginary lines to the South sea. And if the Province of Maine lies more northerly than three English miles from the river Merrimack the patent of 4th Charles 1st gives no right to govern there, and thereupon the patent of the same 15th Charles 1st to the Petitioner Gorges will be valid.

So that upon the whole matter we are humbly of opinion, as to the power of government, that the respondents the Massachusetts and their successors by their patent 4^o Martii 4^o Caroli primi have such rights of government as is granted them by the same patent, within the boundaries of their lands expressed therein, according to such description and expression as we have thereof made as aforesaid. And the Petitioner Sir Ferdinando' Gorges his heirs and assigns by the patent third April, 15th Charles 1st, have such right of government as is granted them by the same patent within the lands called the Province of Maine according to the boundaries of the same expressed in the same patent.

RICH RAINSFORD, FRA NORTH.

All which being the opinion of the Lords chief Justices and fully agreeing with what we have to report unto your Majesty upon the whole matter referred unto us by the said order, we humbly submit the determination thereof to your Majesty.

ANGLESEY,	CRAVEN,	J. WILLIAMSON,
ORMOND,	H. LONDON,	THO. CHICHELEY,
BATH,	G. CARTERET,	EDW. SEYMOUR.

Which having been read at the Board the 18th inst., it was then ordered, that the said Mr. Mason and Mr. Gorges, as also the agents for the Corporation of the Massachusetts Bay, should be this day heard upon the said report, if they have any objections to make thereunto. In pursuance whereof all parties attending with their counsell who not alledging any thing so material as to prevail with his Majesty and the Board to differ in judgment from the said report, his majesty thereupon pleased to approve and confirm the same and did order, that all parties do acquiesce therein, and to contribute what lies in them to the punctual and due performance of the said report as there shall be occasion.

JOHN NICHOLAS.

ABSTRACT OF THE TREATY OF WESTMINSTER, BETWEEN CHARLES II. OF ENGLAND AND THE STATES GENERAL OF THE UNITED NETHERLANDS.

MARCH 3/13, 1677/8.

Sources.

The treaty of defensive alliance between Charles II. king of England and the States General of the Netherlands was concluded at Westminster March 3/13, 1677/8. This treaty followed the invasion of the "Duke's Territory" in Maine by the Dutch, and virtually annulled the temporary advantages they had gained in that region; at the same time it strengthened the claims of the English over against the French. An abstract is accordingly inserted in this compilation of documents relating to the history of Maine.

The earliest available source is "A General Collection of Treatys, Declarations of War, etc." (London, 1710), 183-188. An abstract is in "A Collection of Treaties of Peace and Commerce, Containing all those that have been Concluded from the Peace of Munster, inclusive to this time" (London, 1714), 131-133; another abstract, which is the one here and usually adopted as the best available source in English, is in Charles Jenkinson, "A Collection of all the Treaties of Peace, Alliance, and Commerce, between Great-Britain and Other Powers, from . . . 1648 to . . . 1783" (London, 1785), I., 213, 214.

Text.

I. THERE shall be sincere friendship, &c. between the king and states.

II. There shall be a strict alliance, &c. between the said king and states for the mutual support of each other in peace.

III. They promise and oblige themselves to be mutual guarantees of all treaties that shall be produced before the ratifications are exchanged, and of all others they shall make jointly, and to defend one another's territories if attacked.

IV. The mutual obligation of assisting and defending one another extends to the maintainance of all their rights, &c. both by sea and land.

V. The party not attacked shall break with the aggressor within two months after the rupture, using all means to bring things to an accommodation.

VI. If the states be attacked, his Britannick Majesty shall make use of all his power by sea and land to bring the aggressor to reason.

VII. The forces of the king and states shall act jointly or separately, as shall be concerted between them to annoy the common enemy.

VIII. The states are to perform the same in case the King of Great Britain be attacked.

IX. When the two allies are once in open war according to this treaty, it shall not be lawful for either to come to any cessation of arms with the enemy, without it be done conjointly.

X. No treaty shall be begun by one of the allies, without the concurrence of the other; nor peace or truce made by the one, without comprehending his ally.

XI. The ally who is attacked may raise forces in the territories of the other.

XII. The ratifications to be exchanged within four weeks.

DEED OF THE PROVINCE OF MAINE TO JOHN USHER, BY FERDINANDO GORGES.

MARCH 13/23, 1677/8.

Sources.

After the judgment of the Lords of Trade in favor of Ferdinando Gorges as the only lawful owner of the Province of Maine, Gorges soon entered into negotiations for the transfer to Massachusetts of his newly established rights. Although Stoughton and Bulkeley were then in England as agents for Massachusetts, the deed of sale was executed in the name of John Usher, a Boston merchant, who had been at one time the treasurer of the colony. There were rumors that the king wished to secure the Province of Maine for his natural son, the Duke of Monmouth; for that reason the agents hastened to conclude the transaction with Usher for £1,250. The original receipt of purchase money, with Gorges's seal in red wax, is in "Massachusetts Archives," III., 332, and is printed by the Maine Historical Society, "Collections," II., 264.

It is believed that the original deed to Usher does not exist. A certified copy is in the "Crown Commission Book," in the office of the secretary of state in Boston, and a similar transcript is in "Massachusetts Archives," III., 323-328. A certified copy was made by Edward D. Bangs, secretary of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, for a "Statement on the Part of the United States, of the Case Referred, in Pursuance of the Convention of 1827 . . ." (printed but not published, Washington, 1829), Appendix XI., 93-96. From the transcript in the "Archives" it was printed by the Maine Historical Society, "Collections," II., 257-260.

DEED OF THE PROVINCE OF MAINE TO THE GOVER-NOR AND COMPANY OF MASSACHUSETTS BAY,
BY JOHN USHER.

MARCH 15/25, 1677/8.

Sources.

The deed of the Province of Maine to the Governor and Company of Massachusetts Bay, by John Usher, March 15/25, 1677/8, followed the transfer from Gorges to Usher by only two days. The Province of Maine was now by actual conveyance the property of Massachusetts. From that date until the separation in 1820 Masssachusetts exercises all the rights of sovereignty in the territory which, at last, she had legally acquired.

The deed of sale was recorded in the "Crown Commission Book," in the secretary's office in Boston, December 12/23, 1718, and in York, March 10/21, 1718/19. It was printed from the "Crown Commission Book" in a "Statement on the Part of the United States, of the Case referred in pursuance of the Convention of 1827 . . ." (printed but not published, Washington, 1829), Appendix XI., 96, 97; and from the York records by the Maine Historical Society, "Collections," II., 261-264.

ORGANIZATION OF GOVERNMENT IN THE PROVINCE OF MAINE, BY THE GENERAL COURT OF MASSACHUSETTS BAY.

FEBRUARY 4/14, 1679/80.

Sources.

The displeasure of King Charles II. at the purchase of the Province of Maine, which he had designed for the Duke of Monmouth, necessitated some action on the part of Massachusetts that would insure protection of paramount rights in the purchased possessions. To meet the emergency a provincial assembly was arranged, and Thomas Danforth, deputy-governor of Massachusetts, was appointed president of the Province of Maine.

Extracts from "Records of the Governor and Company of the Massachusetts Bay in New England," V., 263, 286, 287, will show the character of the new government.

Text.

[February 4/14, 1679/80.]

This Court, taking into consideration the necessity of a speedy establishing a govern^t in the Prouince of Majne, & the present season requiring a speedy issue of this sessions of Court, the honoured council of this jurisdiction is requested, and heereby empowred, to take order for settling the sajd go^vment, and appointing a praesident, wth justices of the peace & other officers, as is directed in Mr Gorges patent, & to co^mmissionate the same accordingly vnder the seale of this colony; and this to be in force vntil the next Court of Election here, & vntill further order to be taken by this Court therein. . . .

[June 4/14, 1680.]

To the inhabitants of Casco, wthin the Province of Mayne Gentⁿ & loving Friends:—

Wee are informed that some disturbance hath been given yow in yo^r resetling, by the threatnings of some persons whose practises cannot be warranted by his maj^{ties} royall charter, granted to S^r Ferdinando Gorges, Kn^t, who was the first proprietor of sajd province, and the right whereof is now invested in ourselues. These are to signify vnto you, that as wee haue taken order for the settling of government according to sajd charter, so our care shalbe for the protection & prouission in all respects, as in duty wee are bound, & for yo^r better incouragement and security, haue made a grant of a touneship vpon the northern side of your bay, and are consulting the peopling & improovement of the islands adjacent; and on signification from yourselues of what is necessary by us further to be doune for the security of your peaceable settlement, shall giue the same a due allowance in our consultations, and make such concessions as may consist with his maj^{ties} royall grant of sajd charter & your best good. Wee haue no more to add, but commend you to the guidance & proteccon of Him who is God Almighty, and are

Gentⁿ, your loving friends,

SYMON BRADSTREET, Go^un^r.

By the order of the Go^un^or & Company of Y^e Massachusets Bay.

Boston, in New Eng^ld, 4 June, 1680.

[June 11]

It is ordered, that Mr Bartholomew Gidney, Esq, Cap^t Joshua Scottow, & Mr Silvanus Daus be a co^mittee to mannage the affaires of the new plantation granted at Casco Bay, and are heereby impowred, for the bennefit of sajd plantation in building a fort, to sell one hundred pounds worth of land wthin the sajd province. . . .

The Court, hauing read the returne of our present hon^ord Dep^t Go^un^r, Thomas Danforth, Esq, praesident of the Province of Mayne, & other gentlemen imployed in the settlement of government there, doe approve thereof, and thankfully accept of their good service therein, & shallbe willing & ready to manifest the same, as occasion may present, in such suitable retribution as may euidence the reality of our thankfulnes for their extraordinary paines & labour therein, not doubting of his honno^r's readynes to be further serviceable in anything wherein wee may haue occasion & himself oppertunity so to doe.

THE WRIT OF QUO WARRANTO, BY KING
CHARLES II. OF ENGLAND.JUNE 27,
JULY 7, 1683.Sources.

During the Gorges-Mason controversy it was evident that there were schemes on foot to deprive Massachusetts of the prerogatives she had so long exercised. When Edward Randolph arrived with the writ of quo warranto which the king issued ^{June 27} ~~July 7~~, 1683, the blow had at last fallen.

A proclamation, issued in July, assured the colonists that the writ did not affect private interests, and that, on submission and resignation, the charter should be regulated "in such manner as shall be for our service and the good of that our colony;" also that persons "questioned" must maintain suit at their own charges ("Massachusetts Records," V. 423).

Since the writ had failed to intimidate the pertinacious people of Massachusetts Bay, a scire facias was issued and the charter was cancelled by the high court of chancery June 18/28, 1684. After the accession of James II. in 1685 an "Exemplification of the Judgment for vacating the Charter of the Massachusetts Bay in New England" set forth the grounds of such proceedings. The principal causes alleged were the levying of money without authority, the "coyning" of money, and the imposing of an oath of fidelity to their government. The "Exemplification" was published from a contemporary manuscript in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society, "Collections," Fourth Series, II., 246-278.

A Latin transcript of the quo warranto "yt was isued out agt the Goūno^r & Company" is in "Massachusetts Archives," CVI., 301, and is also in the printed "Massachusetts Records," V., 421-422. With the peculiar seventeenth-century abbreviations it is in the present day a legal curiosity rather than an intelligible threat. That the continuity of events may be preserved the writ is included in this series of documents.

The text is that of the printed "Records."

DEED TO RICHARD WHARTON OF LANDS ON THE ANDROSCOGGIN RIVER, BY WORUMBO AND OTHER SAGAMORES.

JULY 7/17, 1684.

Sources.

The deed of lands on the Androscoggin River to Richard Wharton by Worumbo and other Sagamores, July 7/17, 1684, has played so important a part in the controversies of the Pejepscot Company that it is printed entire in this collection.

Richard Wharton was a lawyer who wished to establish for himself a "manory" in New England; with that end in view he procured from the heirs of Purchase and Way all their rights under the Pejepscot patent. He further extended those rights by a deed from Worumbo, which not only included the territory covered by the Purchase claims but gave an "enlargement to the westward." By sale from Shapleigh Wharton also became the owner of Merriconeag and Sebascodegan. Although the Indians denied any transfer to the Kennebec Company, they always acknowledged the validity of the conveyance to Wharton. Depositions state that possession was formally given ^{July 26}_{August 5} by "turffe and twig and bottle of water." This was one of the rare instances in which "seizin" was given according to all the ancient ceremonial. After Wharton died insolvent in 1689, Captain Ephraim as administrator sold the estate to the Pejepscot proprietors, November 5/16, 1714, the deed was recorded that same month at York. It was not, however, until 1814 that the General Court of Massachusetts terminated the long controversy concerning the "Upper Falls."

The Pejepscot "Records" and "Papers," which are in the archives of the Maine Historical Society, contain valuable material relative to the history of the proprietors under the Worumbo deed. A transcript of the deed is in "Pejepscot Papers," VII., 147a; the original, with livery and depositions was recorded in "York Deeds" IV., fols. 14-16; and it has been printed by George Augustus Wheeler and Henry Warren Wheeler, "History of Brunswick, Topsham, and Harpswell, Maine, including the Ancient Territory known as Pejepscot" (Boston, 1878), 12-15.

The text adopted is that of the "York Deeds."

EXTRACTS FROM A COMMISSION FOR A PRESIDENT AND COUNCIL FOR NEW ENGLAND, BY JAMES II. OF ENGLAND.

OCTOBER 8/18, 1685.

Sources.

The commission of James II. of England, October 8/18, 1685, was only the sequel to the writ of scire facias by which the High Court of Chancery had cancelled the "Colony Charter" of 1628/9. The government of a large part of New England was now established on a royal basis, with Joseph Dudley first president of the Council.

A copy of the commission, with the autograph signature of Edward Randolph, is among the "Trumbull Papers" presented to the Massachusetts Historical Society by the descendants of Governor Jonathan Trumbull of Connecticut. It was first printed entire from that source by the society in its "Collections," 5th Series, IX., 145-152; a brief extract was printed, from papers relating to Narragansett, communicated by Francis Brinley in 1798, in "Collections," 1st Series, V., 244-246; another extract is in "Rhode Island Records," III., 195-197.

The extracts in this compilation are reprinted from the Massachusetts Historical Society, "Collections," 5th Series.

Text.

JAMES THE SECOND, by the grace of God King of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

To all to whom these presents shall come, Greeting:
Whereas a writ of scire facias hath been issued out of our High Court of Chancery against the late Governor and Company of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, whereby the government of that Colony and members thereof is now in our hands; and we being minded to give all protection and encouragement to our good subjects therein, and to provide in the most effectual manner that due and impartial justice may be administered in all cases, civil and criminal, and that all possible care may be taken for the just, quiet, and orderly government of the same: Know ye, therefore, that we, by and with the advice of our Privy Council, have thought fit to erect and constitute, and by these presents for us, our heirs and successors, do erect, constitute, and appoint a President and Council to take care of all that our territory and dominion of New England in America, commonly called and known by the name of our Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, and our Provinces of Newhampshire and Maine, and the Narraganset country, otherwise called the King's Province, with all the islands, rights, and members thereunto appertaining, and to order, rule, and govern the same according to such methods and regulations as are hereinafter specified and declared, until our chief Governor shall arrive within our said Colonies.

And for the better execution of our royal pleasure in this behalf, we do hereby nominate and appoint our trusty and well-beloved subject, Joseph Dudley, Esq., to be the first President of the said Council, and to continue in the said office until we, our heirs or successors, shall otherwise direct; and we do likewise nominate and appoint our trusty and well-beloved subjects, Simon Bradstreet, Wm. Stoughton, Peter Bulkley, John Pynchon, Robert Mason, Rich^d Wharton, Wate Winthrop, Nathaniel Saltonstall, Bartho. Godney, Jonathan Tyng, John Usher, Dudley Bradstreet, John Hinkes, Francis Champernoon, Edward Tyng, John Fitz Winthrop, and Edward Randolph, Esqrs., to be of our Council within our said territory and Colony; and that the said Joseph Dudley and every succeeding President of the said Council shall and may nominate and appoint any one of the members of the said Council for the time being to be his deputy, and to preside in his absence, and that the said President or his deputy and any seven of the said Council shall be a quorum. And our express will and pleasure is that no person shall be admitted to sit or have a vote in the said Council until he hath taken the oath of allegiance and the oath hereafter mentioned for the due and impartial execution of justice and the faithful discharge of the trust in them reposed . . .

. . . And lastly, our will and pleasure is, that the said President and Council for the time being do prepare and send unto us such rules and methods of their own proceedings as may best suit with the constitution of our Territory and Dominion aforesaid, and for the better establishing our authority there and the government thereof, that we may alter or approve the same as we shall think fit. In witness whereof we have caused these our letters to be made patent.

Witness ourself at Westminster, the 8th day of October, in the first year of our reign [1685].

EXTRACTS FROM COMMISSION TO SIR EDMUND
ANDROS AS GOVERNOR OF NEW ENGLAND,
BY JAMES II. OF ENGLAND.

JUNE 3/13, 1686.

Sources.

The commission to Sir Edmund Andros, June 3/13, 1686, included Plymouth Colony within his jurisdiction, in addition to the territory previously taken under royal control. During the interval since his appointment as governor of New York in 1674, Andros had been knighted in testimony of royal approval. In New England, where he ruled in the spirit of his royal master, and the "Ordinances" which accompanied his commission were held as the chief constitutional law, charter government was completely overthrown.

A manuscript copy of the commission of 1686 is in "Massachusetts Archives," CXXVI. It was first published in 1838, from the so-called "Usurpation Papers," by the Massachusetts Historical Society, "Collections," 3d Series, VII., 139-149; and again from manuscript by Peter Force, compiler, "Tracts and Other Papers, Relating to the Colonies in North America" (Washington, 1846, IV., No. 8; from the first-named source it is reprinted in "Rhode Island" Records, III., 212-218. The text adopted is that of Force.

ORDER FOR ANNEXATION OF PEMAQUID TO NEW ENGLAND, BY JAMES II. OF ENGLAND.

SEPTEMBER 19/29, 1686.

Sources.

By the "Royal Order" of September 19/29, 1686, the "ffort & Country" of Pemaquid was transferred from the jurisdiction of New York to the government of New England. The arbitrary and unnatural relation between New York and Pemaquid, which had been created for the aggrandizement of the Duke of York, was broken less from a desire to favor Pemaquid than that the Puritan spirit might be humbled by the promotion of Andros.

The "Order" is in the office of the secretary of state at Albany, "Deeds," VIII., 75; from this source it was first transcribed by Franklin B. Hough, compiler, "Papers Relating to Pemaquid and Parts Adjacent in the Present State of Maine, Known as Cornwall County, when under the Colony of New-York" (Albany, 1856), 130, 131. Hough's work is printed both separately and in Maine Historical Society, "Collections," V., Article II. From his text it is reprinted in the "Report of the Regents of the University on the Boundaries of the State of New York" (Albany, 1874), 39.

The text adopted is that of Mr. Hough in the "Pemaquid Papers."

ABSTRACT OF THE TREATY OF LONDON, BETWEEN JAMES II. OF ENGLAND AND LOUIS XIV. OF FRANCE.

NOVEMBER 16/26, 1686.

Sources.

The treaty between James II. of England and Louis XIV. of France made at London, November 16/26, 1686, guaranteed "peace, good correspondence, and neutrality in America."

Jenkinson says, in a note on this treaty with France, that it contributed towards a confederacy to set the Prince of Orange on the throne of England. As the treaty expressly declared that no breach between the two kings in Europe should affect their respective colonies and subjects in America, an abstract of the principal articles is included in this collection of documents.

The text, in French, is found in Jean Dumont, "Corps Universel Diplomatique du Droit des Gens" (Amsterdam, 1731), VII., part ii., 141-143; from that source it is reprinted in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et de ceux de sa majesté Britannique, sur les Possessions & les Droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique" (Paris, 1755), II., 81-89, and Edits, Ordonnances Royaux, Declarations, &c. . . . Concernant le Canada, . . . printed by P. E. Desbarats (Quebec, 1803), I., 288.

It first appeared in English in "A Collection of Treaties of Peace and Commerce, containing all those that have been concluded from the Peace of Munster inclusive to this time" (London, 1714), 160-162. An abstract is in Charles Jenkinson, "A Collection of all the Treaties of Peace, Alliance, and Commerce, between Great-Britain and Other Powers, from . . . 1648 to . . . 1783" (London, 1785), I., 261-263.

Another abstract, in French as well as in English, is printed by Charles Lindsey, "An Investigation of the Unsettled Boundaries of Ontario" (Toronto, 1873), 110-115. The text adopted is that of Jenkinson, which claims to be an authentic version.

Text.

I. It is agreed, that there be a firm peace, re-union and amity between the British and French nations.

II. That no ships on either side be fitted out to attack the dominions of the other.

III. That no soldiers, or inhabitants of the English or French dominions, or others coming out of Europe, shall commit any hostilities, or any way assist the Indians.

IV. That both kings shall enjoy all the rights, &c. they are now possessed of in America.

V. That the subjects of neither shall trade, fish, &c. within the precincts of the other; and if any ship be found so doing, it shall be confiscated.

VI. Ships of either prince drove into the ports of the other, by stress of weather, or otherwise, shall be kindly treated.

VII. Ships happening to be wrecked, or endangered, shall receive all friendly assistance.

VIII. If so many ships be drove into a port as may give suspicion, they shall immediately acquaint the governor or chief magistrate with the cause of their coming, and stay no longer than the said governor or magistrate will allow, and shall be requisite for supplying themselves with provisions, and refitting.

IX. The King of Great Britain's subjects inhabiting the island of St. Christopher, may fetch salt from the saltpits; and those of the most Christian King may fetch water from the rivers of the great road; but both shall do it in the day time, and give notice of their coming by firing three guns; but if either traffic under pretence of fetching salt or water, the ship shall be forfeited.

X. Neither side shall harbour the wild natives, or the slaves or goods taken by them from the subjects of either nation.

XI. The subjects of neither prince shall disturb the subjects of the other in settling colonies, or in their commerce.

XII. All commanders of ships shall be enjoined not to do any injury to the other side.

XIII. To this end the commanders of privateers shall give fifteen hundred pounds security.

XIV. Neither side shall protect pirates, but both be obliged to punish them.

XV. No subject of either king shall take commission, or letters of mart, from any prince at war with the other, under penalty of being punished as a pirate.

XVI. The most Christian King's subjects shall have liberty to take tortoises in the island of Caymanes.

XVII. Differences between the subjects of the two kings to be amicably adjusted.

XVIII. If any breach should happen between the two kings in Europe, yet no hostilities shall be committed in America.

XIX. This treaty shall not derogate from the peace concluded at Breda in 1667.

TREATY OF WHITEHALL, BETWEEN JAMES II. OF ENGLAND AND LOUIS XIV. OF FRANCE.

DECEMBER 1/11, 1687.

Sources.

Since the "Instrument for preventing Acts of Hostility in America," drawn up at Whitehall, December 1/11, 1687, was only a provisional arrangement, although commissioners were appointed to execute the treaty of November 16/26, 1686, the limits were not settled and the treaty of "Neutrality" was of little effect.

The original manuscript of the provisional treaty is in the Dépôt de la Marine in Paris; it was transcribed from that source for the commissioners under the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle, and is printed in both Latin and French in "Mémoires des Commissaires du Roi et de ceux de sa Majesté Britannique, sur les Possessions & les Droits respectifs des deux Couronnes en Amérique" (Paris, 1755), II., 89-92. An English translation is in the "New-York Entry Book," II., 179, and is printed from that source by Edmund Bailey O'Callaghan, editor, "Documents Relative to the Colonial History of the State of New York" (Albany, 1853), III., 505; an abstract is in Charles Lindsey, "An Investigation of the Unsettled Boundaries of Ontario" (Toronto, 1873), 114-116.

The text adopted is the English translation printed by O'Callaghan.

BY JAMES II. OF ENGLAND.

APRIL 7/17, 1688.

Sources.

The commission is in the Public Record Office, London, "New England Papers," XXXIII., 381; from that source it was printed by Edmund Bailey O'Callaghan, editor, "Documents Relative to the Colonial History of the State of New-York" (Albany, 1853), III., 537-542. Instructions which accompanied the commission are printed from the same source, pp. 543-549.

MOTHE CADILLAC, BY THE GOVERNOR AND COUNCIL OF CANADA.JULY 23
AUGUST 2, 1688.Sources.

The grant of the place called "Donaquec" to Sieur de la Mothe Cadillac, ^{July 23}_{August 2}, 1688, contained "two leagues in front by two leagues in depth with the Island of Mt. Desert, lying in front of the land." As this grant of territory within the present limits of Maine was considered valid by the General Court of Massachusetts in 1787, a place is given to the document in this compilation.

The text of the grant is included in "Collection de Manuscrits contenant Lettres, Mémoires, et Autres Documents Historiques relatifs à la Nouvelle-France" (Quebec, 1883), I., 427, 428. The only English text which has been found is in "Titles and Documents relating to the Seigniorial Tenure, in return to an Address of the Legislative Assembly" (Quebec, 1852), 100; it is therefore adopted in this collection.

Text.
