Hon. John F. Ficken, Mayor of Charleston :—

DEAR SIR :—The paper mentioned in your note of 24th ulto., is :—"The names, as far as can be ascertained, of the Officers "who served in the South Carolina Regiments on the "Continental establishment ; of the officers who served in the "militia ; of what troops were upon the Continental establishment ; and of what militia organizations served ; together "with some miscellaneous information." It was prepared by my late father, Genl. Wilmot G. DeSaussure, President of "The State Society of the Cincinnati of South Carolina, presented by that Society, as a contribution * * * to the "history of the War of the Revolution in South Carolina," to the State through Governor Thompson, he transmitted it to the Legislature, and under concurrent resolution five hundred copies were printed in 1886, a limited number of these were distributed, the rest remained in the State Library. I believe copies were sent to the Congressional Library, Washington, D. C., but am uninformed whether copies were sent to the War Department.

With the paper was published the letter of presentation dated 28th Nov., 1884, Gov. Thompson's Message, No. 4, of 12th Dec., 1884 ; and concurrent resolution, directing its publication, adopted in 1884.

New Jersey had recently published a list of its soldiers of the Revolution. There was no collected record of the South Carolina troops in that war, neither continental nor militia, their names were scattered through the various histories of South Carolina and fragmentary State papers published ; the official records of the United States do not show what troops South Carolina furnished, showing, I believe, two regiments as its total contingent.

These and cogent reasons led to its preparation and presentation to the Cincinnati Society and by it to the State.

Its general interest historically, the limited edition, and difficulty of procuring copies, seem to render re-publication opportune.

As desired, I enclose a copy of the pamphlet, and suggest the title page remain unaltered save by adding "Republished in Year Book 1893."

I am with much respect, your obedient servant,

HENRY A. DESAUSSURE.

Charleston, S. C., June 14th, 1894.

LIST OF OFFICERS

OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA LINE, UPON THE CONTINENTAL ESTABLISHMENT, DURING THE WAR OF THE REVOLUTION, 1775-1783.

This list is made from the Journals of the Provincial Congress, so far as the same has been accessible; from the Journals of the Council of Safety, so far as the same have been accessible; from Moultrie Revolution, from Ramsay Revolution, from such orderly books of General William Moultrie and General Francis Marion as are accessible; from various books relating to the Revolution, from extracts from the revolutionary muster-rolls, &c., on file in the Department of State at Washington, and from whatever other sources of information on this subject could be gathered.

The list is doubtless imperfect, but so many names as are here gathered, are by this list preserved from oblivion.

In preparing this list, aid has been received from many friends, and acknowledgments are now made for such aid. Mrs. Lucy H. Pickens, Miss S. P. Brownfield, Major Asa Bud Gardner, U. S. A., Col. T. W. Woodward, Major Harry Hammond, Mr. Isaac Ball, Mr. W. Ederington, have all contributed to the names in this list. Major E. Willis, of Charleston, who has probably the largest and best collection in the State, of histories, pamphlets, &c., relating to the history of South Carolina, most kindly placed any and all of his collection at the disposal of the Society, and himself extracted and furnished a large number of names.

TROOPS OF SOUTH CAROLINA, UPON THE CONTINENTAL ESTABLISHMENT DURING THE WAR OF THE REVOLUTION, 1775-1782.

Resolution of the Continental Congress, 15th June, 1775.

"Resolved, That a General be appointed to command all the Continental forces raised, or to be raised, for the defence of American liberty."

Order of General George Washington, 4th July, 1775.

"The Continental Congress having now taken all the troops of the several Colonies which have been raised, or which may be hereafter raised, for the support and defence of the liberties of America, into their pay and service, they are now the troops of the United Provinces of North America; and it is hoped that all distinction of Colonies will be laid aside, so that one and the same spirit may animate the whole, and the only contest be, who shall render, on this great and trying occasion, the most essential service to the great and common cause in which we are all engaged."

"By his Commission, he was invested with the command over all forces raised, or to be raised, by the United Colonies, and with full power and authority to act as he should think good for the good and welfare of the service."

Bancroft's Hist. U. S., Vol. VII., p. 402, Chap. XXXVII.

1775. "Besides the Regiments included in these two armies, Congress had already taken into Colonial pay the three regiments of South Carolina, presently increased to five." &c.

Hildreth's Hist. U. S., Vol. III., p. 109, Chap. XXXII.

1776. "All the hitherto scattered Continental forces were to be embraced in one grand whole, to consist of 88

Battalions of 750 men each. Battalions being substituted for regiments, to get rid of the rank of Colonel, which had occasioned difficulty about exchanges. Hazen's Canadian Regiment was also to be kept up, to be recruited in any of the States, and hence known as 'Congress's own.' Massachusetts and Virginia were each to furnish 15 Battalions; Pennsylvania, 12; North Carolina, 9; Connecticut, 8; South Carolina, 6; New York and New Jersey, 4 each; New Hampshire and Maryland, 3 each; Rhode Island, 2; Delaware and Georgia, each, 1."

Hildreth's Hist. U.S., Vol. III., p. 164, Chap. XXXV.

General Assembly of South Carolina, 20th September, 1776.

"Resolved, That this House do acquiesce in the Resolutions of the Continental Congress of the 18th of June and the 24th of July last, relative to the putting of two Regiments of Infantry, the Regiment of Rangers, the Regiment of Artillery, and two Regiments of Riflemen, in the service of this State, upon the Continental Establishment."

Moultrie's Revolution, Vol. I., p. 187.

Provincial Congress of South Carolina, 5th June, 1775.

On our first meeting, they determined upon a defensive war; and on the fourth day it was resolved to raise two Regiments of 500 men each. * * * The day after the officers of the first and second Regiments of foot were ballotted for, it was resolved to raise a Regiment of Cavalry Rangers of 500 men.

South Carolina had, also, the following enlisted troops in the field from time to time, but whether such troops were upon the Continental Establishment it is impracticable, with the present information, to say.

These troops certainly served under the Continental general officers, and, from such returns as are accessible, seem to have been regarded by such officers as parts of the regular troops. In General Moultrie's enumeration of Continental officers taken prisoners at the capitulation of Charleston, 12th May, 1780, he certainly enumerates as Continental officers one captain and one lieutenant, "Horry's Horse"

General Assembly of South Carolina.

No. 1119. An Ordinance for raising and supporting a Regiment of Light Dragoons for the public service.

Passed February 19, 1779. Too much obliterated to be copied.

Statutes at Large of So. Ca., Vol. IV, p. 470.

1779. Every effort was made to strengthen the Continental Army. Additional bounties and greater emoluments were promised as inducements to encourage the recruiting service. The extent and variety of military operations in the open country pointed out the advantages of cavalry. A Regiment of Dragoons was therefore ordered to be raised, in which the following appointments took place:

Daniel Horry, Colonel.	Hezekiah Maham, Major.
Captains—John Conturier,	Richard Gough,
John Hampton,	Thomas Giles,
Benjamin Screven,	Isaac Dubose.

Ramsay's Revolution, Vol. II, p. 3.

After Major General Nathaniel Greene assumed command in South Carolina, the General Assembly being unable to meet and provide its quota for the Continental army, because the State was overrun by British forces, it became in the judgment of General Greene, necessary to enlist some regular troops for and in the name of the State, which enlisted regular troops should take the places of those troops on the Continental Establishment, which had been annihilated by the capitulation of Charleston, 12th May, 1780.

It is with the information now possessed, impracticable to say how far General Greene was authorized to act, or whether what he did, had the effect of placing such enlisted troops upon the Continental Establishment. He appears to have regarded such troops as in the Continental service. In February, 1782, he wrote to Col. Peter Horry, who had enlisted one of the Regiments of Light Horse under such authority: "You will please make me an exact return of your non-commissioned officers and men, the term of service they are engaged for, and the conditions of bounty and pay; also the number of your horses, clothing and accoutrements of every kind. I am making out a general report to Gen. Washington and the Minister of War of the state and condition of the forces of the Southern Department; the returns are wanted immediately."

Gen. Marion writing on 1st August, 1781, to Col. Peter Horry, says:—"As you are getting clothing for your men on Continental expense."

Gen. Greene, writing to Gen. Marion of Col. Mahan's command, on 16th January, 1782, says:—"My intention with respect to that corps was, that it should stand upon the same footing as Lieut. Col. Lee's Legion, which is called an independent corps."

The troops raised under Gen. Greene's authority appear to have been as follows:—

"In March, 1781, Gen. Sumter, with the approbation of Gen. Greene, raised three small regiments of regular State troops."

About the same time, as appears by the correspondence in Gibbes's Documentary History, 1781-1782, the following regiments of Light Horse were enlisted under Gen. Greene's authority:—

One	under the command of	Col. Peter Horry.
One	“ “	Col. Hezekiah Maham.
One	“ “	Col. Henry Hampton.
One	“ “	Col. Wade Hampton.
One	“ “	Col. — Middleton.

If these enlisted troops are to be considered as parts of the South Carolina Troops upon the Continental Establishment, then during the Revolutionary War, South Carolina furnished fifteen Regiments to the Continental Army.

Resolutions of Continental Congress, 3rd and 21st October, 1780: * * * “That the several States furnish the following quotas, viz.: * * * South Carolina, two Regiments of Infantry.”

Revolutionary Orders of Washington, p. 129.

“By a resolve of Congress, passed when Gen. Gates took command of the Southern Department, power was vested in him to draw from the States within his Department the contingent of men and money which they were bound to contribute to the common cause. * * * The same powers were now transferred to Greene.”

Johnson's Life of Greene, Vol. I, p. 329.

“A little time after we were in possession of Fort Johnson (15th September, 1775) it was thought necessary to have a flag for the purpose of signals (as there was no national or State flag at that time,) I was desired by the Council of Safety to have one made; upon which, as the State troops were clothed in blue, and the fort was garrisoned by the First and Second Regiments, who wore a silver crescent on the front of their caps, I had a large blue flag made with a crescent on the dexter corner, to be in uniform with the troops. This was the first American flag which was displayed in South Carolina. On its being first hoisted, it gave some uneasiness to our timid friends, who were looking forward to a reconciliation; they said it had the appearance of a declaration of war; and Capt. Thornborough, in the Tamar sloop of war, lying in Rebellion Road, would look upon it as an insult and a flag of defiance, and he would certainly attack the fort; but he knew his own force, and knew the weight of our metal, he therefore kept his station and contented himself with spying on us."

"Regimental Orders by Col. Moultrie:

"Every officer to provide himself with a blue coat, faced and cuffed with scarlet cloth, and lined with scarlet; white buttons; and white waistcoat and breeches, (a pattern may be seen at Mr. Trezevant's;) also, a cap and black feather."

Resolutions of Congress, and Orders from General Washington.

"HEAD QUARTERS, SHULT'S HILL, June 18th, 1780.

"As it is, at all times, of great importance, both for the sake of appearance and for regularity of service, that the different military ranks should be distinguished from each other, and more especially at the present, the Commander in Chief has thought proper to establish the following distinctions, and strongly recommends to all the officers to endeavor to conform with them as speedily as possible:

"The Major Generals to wear a blue coat with buff facings and linings, yellow buttons, white or buff underclothes, two epaulets with two stars upon each, and a black and white feather in the hat.

"The Brigadier Generals the same uniforms as the Major Generals, with the difference of one star instead of two, and a white feather.

"The Colonels, Lieutenant Colonels, and Majors, the uniforms of their Regiments, and two epaulets; Captains, the uniform of their Regiments, and an epaulet on their right shoulder ; the Subalterns, the uniforms of their Regiments, and an epaulet on the left shoulder.

"The Aide-de-Camps, the uniform of their rank and corps, or, if they belong to no corps, the uniform of their general officers; those of the Major Generals and Brigadier Generals to wear a green feather in their hats; those of the Commander in Chief, white and green.

"The Inspectors, as well Sub as Brigade, the uniform of their rank and corps, with a blue feather in the hat.

"The corps of Engineers, and that of Sappers and Miners, a blue coat with buff facings, buff underclothes, and the epaulets of their rank: such of the Staff as have military rank, to wear the uniform of the rank and the corps to which they belong in the line; such as have no military rank, to wear a plain blue coat, with cockade and sword.

"All officers, as well warranted as commissioned, to wear side arms, either swords or genteel bayonets.

"By order of his Excellency,

GENERAL WASHINGTON.

"SCAMMEL, Adjutant General."

Moultrie Revolution. Vol. II., p. 361.

On 14th June, (1777) Congress "Resolved, That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." Since that time, we have added a star for every new State.

Lossing's Field Book of the Revolution, Vol. 1, p. 192, note 1.

The New England Flag, under which the battle of Bunker Hill was fought, was blue, and one corner was quartered by the Red Cross of St. George, in one section of which was the Pine Tree.

On the 1st January, 1776, the new Continental Army was organized, and on that day the Union Flag of thirteen stripes was unfurled, for the first time, in the American camp at Cambridge. This Flag bore the device of the English Union which distinguishes the royal standard of Great Britain. It is composed of the Cross of St. George to denote England, and the St. Andrew's Cross, in the form of an X to denote Scotland. * * * It was a year and a half later (and a year after the colonies were declared independent States) that, by official orders, "thirteen white stars upon a blue field" was a device substituted for the British Union, and then "the stars and stripes became our national banner."

Lossing's Field Book of the Revolution, Vol. 1, p. 541, note 1, p. 570, p. 577, note 1*.

Ordered that the officers do immediately provide themselves with leather caps agreeable to a pattern fixed on and left with Mr. Colligan, Saddler, King Street, Charleston, and that they wear no other kind of caps.

Journal of Provincial Congress, 21st November, 1775.

Resolved, That the commissioned officers of the Colony regular troops take precedence of officers of equal degree in the Militia, without regard to prior dates of commissions in the latter: Provided, nevertheless, That a Second Lieutenant in the Regulars shall be subordinate to a First Lieutenant in the Militia, and so on in gradation in the Regulars and Militia respectively; that the precedency in the Regular forces be according to the number and denomination of the regiments of infantry and rangers, and the regiment of artillery, according to the custom of the British army; that all corps of Regulars take precedence of all corps of Militia, and that the regiments of Militia shall take precedence in the following manner:

LIST OF OFFICERS.

OF THE MILITIA OF SOUTH CAROLINA WHO TOOK PART IN THE WAR OF THE REVOLUTION 1775-1783.

The sources from whence these names are obtained are set opposite to their respective names. Very often several of these authorities mention the same officer, and in this list where double authorities are cited, it is because the rank of the officer or the term of service has been of a different grade or different period.

In the citation of the Journal of the Council of Safety as authority, these citations should very frequently have been Journal of the Provincial Congress. When the Congress was in session, the officers were appointed by it; when it was not in session, the Council of Safety appointed; and hence the Journal of the Council is cited merely for uniformity of citation.

This list is doubtless very imperfect, but so many names as are here gathered are by this list preserved from oblivion.

In preparing this list, aid has been received from many friends, and acknowledgments are now made for such aid. Mrs. Lucy H. Pickens, Miss S. P. Brownfield, Col. T. W. Woodward, Major Harry Hammond, Mr. W. Ederington, have all contributed to the names in the list. Major E. Willis, of Charleston, who has probably the largest and best collection in this State of histories, pamphlets, &c., relating to the history of South Carolina, most kindly placed any and all of his collection at the disposal of the Society, and himself extracted and furnished a large number of names.
