THE Inventory here printed is preserved in the charter chest of the Earl of Lauderdale. It came to light in course of the investigations rendered necessary by the recent litigation between Lord Lauderdale and Mr. Scrymgeour Wedderburn of Wedderburn regarding the office of "Standard Bearer." A typewritten copy made for the latter gentleman was produced in the process, and has now by his kind permission been put at the disposal of the Scottish Record Society for the present issue ; and Lord Lauderdale's agents have sanctioned the use of the original Inventory for correction of the proofs. For the present publication therefore the Society is indebted to both the parties to the historic lawsuit.

The MS. is on paper, in a parchment wrapper which consists of the greater part of a charter of the year 1570, being a confirmation by James Scrymgeour, Constable of Dundee, of a charter of sale by Archibald Campbell of Murthlie to Andrew Wentoun of Strichtmertene of the fourth parts of the towns and lands of Pitdragon, Awchinharie and Brigend of Awchrie. There are 100 pages, of which 27 are blank, the blank pages occurring chiefly at the ends of the separate sections indicated by the several headings. The section consisting of "Writs of certain lands whereof the Constable is not in possession" stands at the other end of the book from the rest. Except Nos. 59, 399 and 400, which are later additions, the whole is in one handwriting. The place-names which in the print sometimes begin the entries (e.g., Nos. 483, 810, 852), stand on the margin of the MS.

In all probability the bulk of the documents inventoried has ceased to exist. But many are in Lord Lauderdale's possession, and some of the Benvie writs are now among the Gray charters at Kinfauns. A few were copied by Macfarlane from originals then in possession of Mr. Robertson of Ladykirk ; their present place of custody is not known. One, the celebrated grant by Sir William Wallace, was lent to Mr. James Anderson and facsimiled in Diplomata Scotie; it has not been seen since. The editor has judged it best not to attempt to give a list of extant items; such a course would involve sundry doubtful identifications. Thus an old chartulary of Scryngeour writs in the Lauderdale charter chest contains an indenture corresponding in date and subject with No. 56 of the Inventory, but instead of the constable the party to it was John of Glassereth. Again, No. 626 of Inventory corresponds to a writ preserved by Macfarlane, but the party is not King Robert, but Robert de Brus, Lord of Annandale. Has the maker of the Inventory misdescribed these items? or are his documents different from those thus preserved?

Mistakes, especially of date, are certainly not infrequent. Some of these can be corrected by reference to the prints of documents in the "Standard Bearer" case. For others nothing better than conjecture is available. In undated items it is often impossible to say with certainty what King or what Constable of Dundee is meant; in these cases the indexer has been obliged to hazard a guess, marking it as such by a query.

The inventory makes no attempt at chronological arrangement; and even the arrangement by subjects is not uniformly adhered to.

Appended hereto are (1) a list of misprints; (2) a list of writs obviously misdated, with the correct date given where it can be ascertained or surmised from materials within the editor's reach. Where mistakes other than of date occur the text stands as in the MS.; sometimes the index suggests a possible emendation.

ERRATA.

p. 1, No. 5. The MS. is water-stained at this point, and the date is difficult to determine with certainty. But on re-examination I incline to read it not 1327 but 1325. A writ in the old Scrymgeour chartulary answering the description is dated 15 and 28 May 1325.

p. 6, No. 87. For Pitragon read Pitdragon.

p. 22, No. 326. For naent read anent.

WRITS MISDATED IN THE MS.

- p. 9, No. 127. Date perhaps 1475. John Laing, bishop of Glasgow, is said to have ceased to be treasurer in December 1474, but this is not certain. He had discharges of his intromissions on 11 October 1475 and 3 February 1475-76, the terms of which imply that at the former date he was still treasurer, and by the latter date had ceased to be so (see Reg. Episc. Glasguen.). The confirmation referred to may well have been that granted 30 Jan. 1475-76 (Reg. Mag. Sig.).
- p. 10, No. 149. Date evidently incomplete. Perhaps 1411.
- p. 14, No. 207. 1465 is too late, Sir John having died before August 1463. Read 1455, or possibly 1461.
- p. 21, No. 309. Date probably 1471. Compare No. 295.
- p. 30, No. 460. The true date is 15 March anno regni 39 (A.D. 1368-69). Original in Lauderdale charter chest, partly printed in the "Standard Bearer" process (Appellant's Appendix, p. 8).
- p. 30, No. 465. 1557 is probably a mistake for 1507 (see Reg. Mag. Sig.).
- p. 32, No. 490. The date should be 1528, anno regni 15 (Respondent's Additional Documents, p. 420).
- p. 33, No. 510. The date is obviously wrong, but the editor is unable to suggest any plausible emendation.
- p. 36, No. 571. The notary's name shows the date to be much later than 1503. Perhaps 1553.
- p. 38, Nos. 603 and 616. Both these should be dated 1431. (See Appellant's Appendix, p. 18.)
- p. 39, No. 634. The true date is 1570. Cp. No. 80. Both these Instruments are found in Duncan Gray's Protocol Book, fol. 63 verso; MS. in H.M. Register House.
- p. 41, No. 669. The date should be 1503, as appears from the names of the parties.
- p. 48, No. 785. None of the three King Roberts had a reign extending into the fortieth year, but the true date must remain uncertain. Gilbert Wiseman lived in the time of Robert I. (see Reg. Mag. Sig.).
- p. 48, No. 752. Date wrong (see No. 776.) Perhaps it should be 1508.
