It would appear from his arms that Matthew Bayne was a cadet of the family of Bayne, of Tulloch Castle, near Kingwall, County Ross & Cromarty, Scotland. The same arms, as given above, (with the crest "proper"), were registered by Sir Donald Bayne, 5th Laird of Tulloch, in the Court of the Lord Lyon King of Arms, c. 1672 (Public Register of All Arms & Bearings in Scotland; Vol. 1, p. 249).

The Baynes of Tulloch were a sept, or sub-branch, of the great Clan MacLachlan. They descend from Ian Bheann (i.e., "John the Fair"), nephew of Angus III, Chief of the Clan MacLachlan, (d. 1429). Ian's descendants kept the name "Bheann" (or Bayne) as their family name. The name appears variously as Beane, Bain, Baine, Bains, Baines, Bayne, Bayne & Baynes. Matthew's name appears in the records as Beane, Bayne, & Baynes.

III John Bayne, planter (born in Westmoreland Co., Virginia, in 1760; died in Jones Co., Georgia, in 1840) His Will is dated 26 June 1839; it was recorded 2 Nov. 1840. He leaves all of his property to his widow, "Sarah." His eldest son, Charles, aged 42, was already a large landowner. No doubt he had provided for the two younger sons, John, aged 36, & Henry, aged 19. In his autobiography, Col. Thos. L. Bayne, C. S. A. (1824-1891) writes: — "My grandfather, John Bayne, was from Virginia, but removed early in life to Jones County, Georgia, where he lived to a ripe old age universally loved and respected by all who knew him. . . . I remember to have seen him when I was 8 or 9 years old (i.e., in 1832 or 1833)." — In Col. Bayne's obituary occurs the following: — "He was descended from colonial settlers of Georgia and Virginia, his grandfather having been prominently identified with the early history of Georgia, representing Jones County in the Legislature during sixteen consecutive years." (Archives of the Amer. Bar Assoc., Crownwell Library, Chicago, Ill.)

John Bayne removed from Westmoreland Co., Va., to Warren Co., Georgia, some time in the 1790's. According to Mrs. Jas. W. Fulghum, of Macon (a descendant) he signed several papers in Warren County as Justice of the Peace, and witnessed the Will of Robert Washington (in Milledgeville, Baldwin County). In 1806 he sold his land in Warren County ("near White Plains 'on White's Creek'") to one John Mitchell, and removed to Clinton, in Jones County. — He served as Sheriff of Jones County, and represented the same county in the Georgia State Legislature, 1811-1821, and 1824-1830. — John Bayne married three times. The name of his first wife is unknown; his second wife was a Miss Smith; his third wife "Sarah" is mentioned in his Will. His eldest son (by the first marriage), —

GAR

IV. Charles Bayne, (born in 1798, probably in Warren County; died in Henry County, in 1841). — His Will is dated 15 April 1840. A codicil was added 1 Feb. 1841, and he died the same month. By his will he leaves a fifth of his estate to his widow and a fifth to each of his children. — Charles Bayne, like his father, was Sheriff of Jones County. He removed later to Milledgeville, in Henry County, where he became in time a large property holder both in the town, and in the country surrounding it. — Her grave-stone in the cemetery, at Clinton, tells the pathetic story of his first wife. — He mar. — in Jones County, 28 June 1823, Eliza (1807-1825), dau. of Charles Bowen, planter, of Butler Co., Alabama. Their only child, a son, was born in 1824, and she died the following year, aged 18. (My father once showed me her tiny wedding gown, which he had inherited). — Charles Bayne mar. — (2) circa 1835, Mary Green, by whom he had other children. The eldest son, (by Eliza Bowen), —

V. Col. Thomas Livingston Bayne, C. S. A., (born at Clinton, Jones Co. Ga., 4 Aug. 1824; died in New Orleans, La., 11 Dec. 1891),

Thos. L. Bayne spent his early years in Clinton, but after his father's second marriage went to live with his uncle, Col. Edward Bowen, in Butler County, Alabama, where he was prepared for college by a private tutor, a Mr. William Lowry, a graduate of Auburn University. In his will Charles Bayne appointed Col. Bowen the boy's guardian. - In Sept. 1843 young Thomas entered Yale University, graduating with high honors in 1847. For that occasion he was appointed valedictory class orator by the college faculty.

After a brief return to Alabama, Col. Bayne went to New Orleans to study law with Thos. Allen Clarke (firm of Elidell & Clarke) and was admitted to the Bar in 1850. In time he became Mr. Clarke's partner, and in 1852-53 was acting City Attorney. - In 1861 he enlisted in the historic Fifth Company of the Washington Artillery, was wounded at Shiloh, honorably discharged, and returned to his family to recover. When well enough he journeyed to Richmond, where he was appointed Captain of Artillery, and assigned to ordnance duty with his wife's brother-in-law, Gen. Josiah Gorgas, (father of the famous Sanitarian, Gen. William Crawford Gorgas) Chief of Ordnance of the Confederate Government. He was Commission Major, and then (19 Feb. 1864) Lieut.-Colonel, and appointed Chief of Foreign Supplies. (GAR)

When it became necessary to evacuate Richmond, Col. Bayne left with the other officers of the Government for Danville, Va., where he remained until the surrender of Gen. Lee at Appomattox, and thence removed to Charlotte, N. C., where the Confederate government was virtually dissolved. - He then returned to New Orleans, where he resumed the practice of law with his former partner Mr. Clarke. Clarke retired in 1878. Col. Bayne came in time to be recognized as leader of the Bar in New Orleans. He was offered a judgeship by President Grant on condition that he join the Republican party. He declined. In 1888 he was elected Vice President of the American Bar Association. He was one of the originators, and was for a long time president of the Washington Artillery Association.

"Col. Bayne has for many years been regarded as one of the foremost lawyers of New Orleans, and while his learning and professional ability won for him the respect of the legal fraternity, his sterling qualities as a friend, a gentleman, and a citizen secured for him the sincere esteem and hearty good-will of a very large circle of warm personal friends." (Obituary, quoted above).
