A SHORT CENSUS OF VIRGINIA — 1779

By WILLIAM H. DUMONT

A short census of Virginia for 1779 can be found in one of the old loan records of the United States Treasury. Over 4,200 Virginians turned in their paper money to the Virginia Continental Loan office in 1779 and 1780. The amounts ranged from $2.00 to over $30,000 per person. Also listed were a few firms and over 100 women. Several prominent Virginians of the Revolutionary period are included. To mention only a few are: George Washington of King George County, George Wythe and Patrick Henry of Williamsburg, and James Madison of Orange County.

The issuance of bank notes by the Continental Congress was authorized during the Revolution. However, the amount of notes in circulation were so greatly increased that the value of these paper notes was depreciated. To try and overcome this, the Continental Congress called in some of the notes, or as they were then termed "emissions". The first such withdrawal was authorized by resolution of 2 January 1779 which stated that "whereas, many counterfeits have appeared in circulation, of various denominations, of the emissions of 20 May 1777, and 11 April 1778, and counterfeits of these emissions have lately been issued by our enemies at New York, and are found to be spreading and increasing fast in various parts of these United States, whereby individuals are defrauded, prices enhanced, and the credit of the paper currency greatly injured

"Resolved, that the following bills be taken out of circulation, namely, the whole emissions of May 20, 1777 and April 11, 1778:

"That they be brought in for that purpose in the manner hereafter provided, by the first of June next, and not afterwards redeemable:

"That they be received for debts and taxes into the continental treasury, and into the state treasuries for continental taxes, until the first day of June next.

"That they be received, until the first day of June next, into the continental loan offices, either on loan or to be exchanged, at the election of the owners, for other bills of like tenor, to be provided for that purpose:

"That the bills lodged in said offices to be exchanged, to be there registered, and indented certificates thereof given to the owners by the respective commissioners of said offices:

"That the first mentioned bills, as they are brought into the treasuries and loan offices, be immediately crossed and struck through with a circular punch, of one inch diameter, to be afterwards examined and burned, as Congress shall direct."

Passed: 2 January 1779 by 20 "ayes" and 3 "nos" (Francis Lightfoot Lee and Cyrus Griffin of Virginia voted for this resolution while Meriwether Smith of Virginia voted against it). (Journals of the Continental Congress, 1779, Vol. XIII, p. 20-23).

The names of the persons or firms, their place of abode, the date and the amount of the bank notes turned into the continental loan office in Virginia are listed in one of the books of the "old loan records" of the Treasury Department now in the National Archives. The outside of this volume (No. 1077) has "Register of Bills, Va. Continental Loan Office". Of the 4658 entries, 4459 were made between 17 February 1779 and 30 May 1779.

Late in June 1779, the North Carolina Legislature sent a resolution to the Con-

Continental Congress stating that its citizens had not received "reasonable notice", due to poor communications, to turn in their emissions before 1 June. So on 2 July 1779, another resolution was passed by Congress extending the time to 31 December 1779 for turning in the emissions with the provision that the owner of the emissions had to "take an oath or affirmation", to be signed before a magistrate, that the emissions of 20 May 1777 and 11 April 1778 "were my property or in my possession on the first day of June 1779, or at the time of my being informed of the resolution of Congress of the second day of January 1779, for taking the said emissions out of circulation, and were not obtained directly or indirectly at a discount." Under this resolution, 174 entries were accepted between 4 August and 31 December 1779.

On 28 March 1780, another resolution was passed by the Congress which "revised and extended" the resolution of 2 July 1779 to the first day of January next (i.e. 1 January 1781) and "that all bills of the said emissions not brought in by or before the said first day of January next, be afterwards irredeemable." Under this final resolution, 25 entries were listed between 9 June and 30 December 1780. Many of the names of the last 25 entries were duplicates of those previously listed.

The total amount of bank notes deposited was $3,198,614.2/3. Of this amount $808,252.2/3 was paid to the State of Virginia through its treasurer, George Webb, to Wm. Armistead, Commissioner of Stores, or to Major Day, agent. Evidently the State Treasury redeemed this amount of bank notes, but did not list the names or addresses of the persons. Individual Virginians claimed a total of $2,332,427, while non-Virginians claimed $57,435, from the Continental Loan Office in Virginia.

As there were two or more entries for some persons, the number of persons claiming reimbursement is less than the number of entries. There was a total of 4239 persons claiming residence in Virginia (142 of them women), and an additional 43 persons listed as outside of Virginia. Of the latter, 40 were from North Carolina, one from South Carolina, one from Boston, (Massachusetts?) and one who listed himself as a "citizen of the world".

All counties of Virginia that were in existence in 1779 were represented by two or more persons; also three of the present counties in what is now West Virginia: Kentucky County, (later the Commonwealth of Kentucky); and Yohogania County (southwest Pennsylvania) which was then claimed by Virginia. Eight cities were also listed.

A spot check of one county was made to ascertain if the same names would be found in either the so-called 1790 census of Virginia¹ or the 1782-87 Virginia Tax Payers list². The county of Bedford was selected since it was one of the counties which had more than the average number of persons with money. A total of 55 names, out of total of 125 listed in this paper, were found to be duplicated in either Bedford or Campbell Counties. Thus there are 70 names which do not appear in either one of the two above mentioned lists. Of course, some of them may have died or moved to another county or state between 1779 and 1782-87.

The seven columns in the Register were headed: (1) Entry Number; (2) Date; (3) Name (of person or firm); (4) Place of abode (or residence); (5) Amount (in dollars); (6) Amount (in English currency); and (7) a column which showed whether the claim was: Paid, Exchanged, Cancelled, Transferred to Register's Office, or had only a checkmark after the amount. It is not clear whether or not these checked items were paid. It was noted that most of the items marked "Exchanged" had the notation "3/16/91", which meant that these items were not cleared up until 1791, or 12 years after the date of filing. The amounts in English currency (column 6) were reported only for the first few pages, then omitted for the rest of the entries. The rate of exchange was $3.33 1/3 for one English pound.

To save space, the date of each entry (column 2) has been omitted. However, the months when they were deposited in 1779 or 1780 are listed in Table 1. Thus a check of any individual entry number will show that he (or she) was reported as living during that month in a particular county or city.

In Table 2 are listed the total number of individuals and/or firms for each county and city, and the abbreviations for each county and city. Table 3 shows the person's name, place of abode, entry number and the amount in dollars. The six footnotes show whether or not the amount deposited was: "Funded", "Cancelled", "To Register's Office", "Exchanged", "Relinquished", or checked but not marked as being paid. Those amounts without any footnote were marked "paid" in the original list. Table 4 lists those from outside of Virginia who deposited paper money, while Table 5 shows the entry numbers and amount paid to the State of Virginia.

The spelling of the names, or abbreviations, as given in the original record, has been followed and seems to have been phonetic in many instances. For example, James Beauford of Bedford County, seems to be the same person as James Buford of Bedford County. Many other instances will be noted.
