COMMENDATORY

UNIVERSITY OF NASHVILLE:
PEABODY COLLEGE FOR TEACHERS.
NASHVILLE, TENN.

DEAR GENERAL WRIGHT:

September 9, 1907

I have read the manuscript of "Tennessee in the War, 1861-1865" prepared by yourself. I hope you will publish it; it is a work of very great value, and, I doubt not, will have a great sale.

Sincerely yours,

GENERAL MARCUS J. WRIGHT.

TENNESSEE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

NASHVILLE, TENN.

MY DEAR GENERAL WRIGHT:

September 9, 1907.

I read your manuscript entitled "Tennessee in the War, 1861-1865" very carefully and with pleasure last winter. Found it of much value and, while the information was fresh in mind, I addressed a letter to the Governor of Tennessee commending it and stating that it was well worthy of being purchased and published by the State. It was prepared carefully by an expert in our U. S. military records and largely from original sources. It contains a large amount of information that cannot be obtained from our Tennessee and local records and would be expensive to compile. It is the result of many, many months of painstaking labor.

I do not know what has become of the letter I wrote the Governor upon this subject.

Yours most truly,

GENERAL MARCUS J. WRIGHT,
Washington, D. C.

OFFICE OF
SECRETARY OF STATE.
STATE OF TENNESSEE.

GENERAL MARCUS J. WRIGHT,
Washington, D. C.

NASHVILLE, September 13, 1907.

MY DEAR GENERAL:

It gave me great pleasure and interest to examine and read your manuscript of officers in Confederate and Federal armies during the late war, from Tennessee. It is very complete and will be eagerly sought by all old Confederate and Federal soldiers and their families, not only in Tennessee, but throughout the United States.

Trust you may have it put in book form soon and you may put me down for five copies.

I expressed your manuscript.

When I can serve you at any time, it will give me pleasure to do so.

Yours truly,

A. W. WILLS,
POSTMASTER.
NASHVILLE, TENN.

GENERAL MARCUS J. WRIGHT,
Washington, D. C.

September 5, 1907.

MY DEAR GENERAL:

I have read the manuscript prepared by you, "Tennessee in the War, 1861-1865," with very great interest, and I earnestly trust that a publication will be made in pamphlet form or otherwise for distribution and sale. It is the only complete record in existence of the Federal troops from Tennessee engaged in the Civil War. The Adjutant-General of Tennessee compiled a very imperfect record of the Tennessee troops, which was so replete with errors that it was really useless and finally abandoned, and the record that you have prepared, being in every respect perfect, will be a matter of very great interest to Tennesseans for future generations and the Confederacy as well. Your manuscript was submitted to a committee consisting of ex-Governor James D. Porter, General Gates P. Thruston, Captain John W. Morton, and myself and was carefully scrutinized by each and all of us and received our careful and universal endorsement.

Very respectfully,

7 East 36th Street,
New York, October 1, 1907.

MY DEAR GENERAL:

I have just finished reading your "Tennessee in the War, 1861-1865" and congratulate Tennesseans upon the admirable presentation you have given them. My familiarity with the army of Tennessee, beginning with Columbus and Bowling Green, permits me to view the work somewhat as a critic. I find, however, nothing to criticize, and can therefore in all candor heartily praise it.

Thank you for the opportunity to look it through.

Yours very truly,

GENERAL MARCUS J. WRIGHT,
Washington, D. C.

HEADQUARTERS UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS.
OFFICE OF COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

GENERAL MARCUS J. WRIGHT,
Washington, D. C.

COLUMBUS, MISS., October 29, 1907.

MY DEAR GENERAL WRIGHT:

It has given me pleasure to critically examine your MS. entitled "Tennessee in the War, 1861-1865." It is a compilation perfected with great labor and accuracy, with advantages of examination of records in the War Department at Washington and from other sources, to which you have had access for so many years, over and above any other living Confederate.

I regard it as technically most valuable for the State of Tennessee and its citizens, and recommend it as the most valuable compilation I have yet seen for Tennessee in the great Civil War.

The compilation is broad and comprehensive, giving Military Organizations and Officers from Tennessee in both the Confederate and Union Armies,—General and Staff Officers in the Provisional Army of Tennessee appointed by Gov. Isham G. Harris,—General Officers, both Union and Confederate, with Staff Officers, and Statement of previous service or rank in United States Army,—Quartermasters and Commissaries appointed from Tennessee in Confederate Army other than those on Staff,—Officers of Confederate States and United States Navy appointed from Tennessee,—Members of Confederate and United States Congress from Tennessee,—Complete Rosters of Federal Troops from Tennessee which served in the War, 1861-1865,—Campaigns conducted, and Battles, Affairs and Skirmishes fought within Limits of State, with Date and Location. In short, as far as it goes, it is as complete as it can be, and a copy should be in every family in Tennessee.

With kind wishes,

Your friend and comrade,

Tennessee in the War
1861-1865

"I speak for that heroic State who was baptized in her infancy with the sprinkling of revolutionary blood on King's Mountain; who five years afterward struck again for independence under the banner of the daring young State of Franklin; who grappled single-handed and alone for fifty years, with the dusky warriors of the forest, in all their battles from the Kentucky line to the Southern Gulf; who beat back the British legions at New Orleans; who smote the false Spaniards at Pensacola; who rushed with Taylor into the breach at Monterey, and shared in the triumphal march from Vera Cruz to Mexico. Thrice has she furnished to the nation in times of peril a Chief Magistrate, each of signal abilities. To the Senate she has given the eloquence of Felix Grundy, the wisdom of George W. Campbell, the antique virtues and Roman purity of Hugh L. White, the magnificent oratory of the generous Foster, and the far-reaching statesmanship of the peerless Bell. And, although she has so recently laid away beneath the sods of a hundred battle-fields a wealth of intellect and manhood sufficient to enrich an empire, she can still point with pride to a host of living children worthy of their noble lineage." (William H. Stephens.)

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

IN 1856 Isham G. Harris was elected Governor of Tennessee, and reëlected in 1859. In this latter year John Brown made his raid into Virginia, was captured at Harper's Ferry, tried and convicted of murder, and executed.

The presidential election of 1860 created great excitement and much bitter feeling. Abraham Lincoln was elected. On the 20th of December, 1860, South Carolina passed an ordinance of secession, and soon afterwards Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas had taken the same action.

The General Assembly of Tennessee met January 7, 1861, and ordered an election at which the people of the State should vote upon the question of holding a convention, and also elect delegates to serve in case the convention should be held. The election took place February 9th, when there were 57,798 votes in favor of holding the convention and 69,675 votes in opposition, and votes for delegates who favored secession 24,749, and for those who favored remaining in the Union 88,803.

The first decisive action of the war was taken by the firing on Fort Sumter April 12, 1861. On April 15th President Lincoln issued a proclamation calling for 75,000 troops, and other proclamations declaring the ports of the seceded States in a state of blockade and all vessels acting under authority of the blockaded States guilty of piracy.

The General Assembly of Tennessee was convened in extra session April 25th, and resolutions were adopted authorizing the Governor to enter into a military league with the Confederate States. The commissioners appointed were Gustavus A. Henry, A. W. O. Totten and Washington Barrow, who concluded the formation of the league May 7th. On the 6th of May the General Assembly passed the ordinance of secession, or separation, and submitted it for ratification to a vote of the people at an election to be held June 8th. The election was held at the time appointed, the vote standing 104,913 in favor to 47,238 against it. Acts were passed to raise and equip an army of 55,000 men, officers both general and staff were appointed, whose names, rank and duties appear elsewhere.

On the 24th of June the Governor made proclamation that the political bonds were dissolved which bound Tennessee to the United States. On the 31st of July the Provisional Army of Tennessee with all its stores and equipments was transferred to and became a part of the army of the Confederate States, and was placed under command of General Leonidas Polk, commanding Department No. 1, with headquarters at Memphis.

✓ A strong Union sentiment soon developed in East Tennessee, and in that part of the State the leading men, such as Andrew Johnson, Wm. G. Brownlow, Thomas A. R. Nelson and Horace Maynard, espoused the Union cause.

A convention made up of delegates from East Tennessee counties assembled at Knoxville May 30, 1861, with four hundred and sixty-nine delegates representing twenty-six counties, which, with the other counties represented by proxies, constituted the whole of East Tennessee. The convention after two days' session adjourned to meet at Greeneville on June 17th. Resolutions were passed protesting against the military league and the acts of the General Assembly favoring the policy of neutrality which had recently been adopted by Kentucky, and appealing to the people of the State at the approaching election to vote down the proposed ordinance of secession.

The delegates to the Greeneville convention reassembled June 17th. The convention adopted a "Declaration of Grievances" and appointed a committee composed of O. P. Temple, John Netherland and James P. McDonald to petition the General Assembly for the formation of a new State, to be composed of East Tennessee and such adjoining counties of Middle Tennessee as might desire to be included. In the event of the granting of the petition Kingston was selected as the place for the convention of the new State to assemble; but, if the petition was not granted, it was proposed to establish an independent State and raise an army, with John Baxter as commander-in-chief. The new State was not formed.

The Confederate authorities established the line of the Cumberland River, and held possession until late in 1862, when Tennessee became the battle-ground, different portions of the State being alternately in possession of Federal and Confederate troops.

On February 22, 1862, General Grant issued an order suspending civil government in Tennessee and declaring martial law. On the 3d of March, 1862, President Lincoln appointed Andrew Johnson a brigadier-general, and military governor of Tennessee. Thus the whole of Tennessee was placed under military law—Middle and West Tennessee by the United States and East Tennessee by the Confederate States. Governor Johnson arrived at Nashville and assumed command as military governor March 12, 1862.

A Union convention assembled at Nashville January 9, 1865. The convention proposed two amendments to the Constitution of the State; the first abolishing slavery, and the second prohibiting the General Assembly from making any law recognizing the right of property in man. The schedule proposed repealed Section 31 of the Constitution (the ordinance of secession) and the league with the Confederate States, and declared void all acts of the State government since May 6, 1861, ratified the acts of Governor Johnson, and provided for an election February 22d at which the people should vote on the ratification of the proposed amendments and schedule and to hold another election March 4th for choosing a governor and members of the General Assembly. A resolution was adopted requiring all who voted on the amendments to take what was known as the "iron-clad oath."

The result of the election was the choice of Wm. G. Brownlow for governor, Governor Andrew Johnson having been elected vice-president of the United States. Governor Brownlow was inaugurated April 5th.

On July 23, 1866, Andrew Johnson, president of the United States, signed the bill which had passed both houses of Congress readmitting Tennessee into the Union.

The report of the Adjutant-General of the United States Army shows that Tennessee furnished to the Union army, 1861-65, 31,092 men. It is well known that a great number of Tennesseans enlisted in regiments from other States, and it is safe to say that Tennessee furnished the United States army with 40,000 men.

ROBERT E. LEE

General in Chief, Confederate States Army, 1861-1865

High Class PHOTOGRAVURE from Original Photograph Taken in 1863

The Most Life-like Picture of the Great General

MISS MARY C. LEE: "I received the very handsome Photogravure of my father, for which accept my sincere thanks. It is the best full-faced likeness of him, and though, of course, I possess many of him I shall specially value THIS one. It will be, I am sure, much appreciated by the Robert E. Lee Camp and any other Southern Society to which you may present it."

GENERAL STEPHEN D. LEE: "I have your Photogravure of General Robert E. Lee, am glad to receive it; it is now framed and hangs over my desk where I do all my work."

GENERAL FREDERICK D. GRANT: "Accept my warm thanks for the proof copy of the photo' of General Robert E. Lee, which I shall value as an interesting likeness of that distinguished Officer."

HON. JOHN S. WISE: "I think it is one of the best likenesses extant."

GENERAL L. L. LOMAX: "It is decidedly the best likeness I have seen and I intend to have it framed for my own home."

GENERAL GEORGE D. JOHNSTON: "The picture is a splendid one."

GENERAL WILLIAM L. CABEL: "It is a fine picture and I shall have it framed and placed in my parlor where the young people of my country can see it and call to mind his many virtues."

GENERAL G. W. C. LEE: "Your picture is a good reproduction of the original and I value it on this account."

GENERAL SAMUEL G. FRENCH: "I think it the best one of him to be obtained and the one fond memory recalls."

GENERAL R. F. HOKE: "It is very good of him and life-like and recalls him to me as of yesterday."

GENERAL M. C. BUTLER: "It is unquestionably the best likeness of my distinguished commander, as I knew him during the war, I have ever seen."

ROBERT E. LEE CAMP No. 1, RICHMOND, VA.: "Members of this Camp consider it a splendid likeness of our old Commander and prize it very highly. We will frame it and place it upon our camp wall, where, for all time that we may last, it will be a reminder of the noble face of that grand man loved by all."

GENERAL ALEX. P. STEWART: "The picture seems to me an admirable one, certainly as good a one if not the very best of any I have ever seen."

GENERAL MARCUS J. WRIGHT: "I regard the photogravure of General Robert E. Lee which you sent me as one of the finest pictures of him which I have seen."

COMMANDER IN CHIEF (INDIA) LORD KITCHENER: "I am very much obliged to you for the striking likeness of General Lee which you have been good enough to send me and which I much value."
