HARRISON

GENERAL HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

The name Harrison is of Danish extraction; indicated by the use of the syllable "son" as the ending of the name. This was customary of the Danes and has been in constant use in England since the Danish invasion. The name is still found in Scandinavian countries in the original form of Arysen.

Well down into Tudor times, closely-knit settlements of descendants of these restless Danish sea-rovers survived in England. They were surrounded by, but not absorbed into, the population of the kingdom.

Such a conclave existed in the Lake District of Cumberland and Westmoreland Counties. To this group the Harrison family belonged.

In the 14th century a new impulse to migrate seemed to sieze these decendants of Danish "pirates". In a swarm, they began to leave their homes.

One branch of the Harrison family went due East and settled down again in what is now Durham and Yorkshire Counties.

Another branch of Harrisons traveled due South and came to rest in Derbyshire where they soon intermarried with families of gentle birth. There had been Harrisons in the Royal Service at Court since the first Tudor.

After two centuries in Derbyshire, that branch of Harrisons again split. One branch settled in Northhamptonshire and became known as "Gobion Manor" Harrisons. The other branch settled in and around London and became known as the "Goldsmith" Harrisons.

Both branches of the Harrison family used the same coat of arms.

By the 15th and 16th centuries, Harrisons were scattered all over England.

It is probable that John Harrison of Cambridge, with whom this booklet begins, was from Derbyshire and was the common ancestor of the Derbyshire, and Durham and/or Yorkshire Harrisons.

The descendants herein charted were of the "Goldsmith" Harrison branch of the family.

THE FIRST HARRISONS TO AMERICA

A number of Harrisons settled Virginia in the 17th Century. The connection between but few of them is known. Those who emigrated before or around 1630 apparently died without issue.

Just because they were interesting and deserve to be remembered, a few of their stories are herein told.

1. Richard Harrison, Master's Mate of Bartholomew Gilbert's expedition to America. Richard and Gilbert were killed by Indians. It is interesting to think of the brief, shining hour Richard spent on the shores of America. He must have been a young and personable man to have secured the coveted position of Master's Mate with the nephew of Sir Walter Raleigh, Bartholomew Gilbert. Either this or his connections in England were extremely good. The Gilbert family had long been noted for their sea conquests and merits. Perhaps just serving with a man of Gilbert's ilk was reward enough for Richard. Be that as it may, Richard has the doubtful distinction of being the first Harrison to be killed by Indians in America. Richard was related to the branch of Harrisons with which this booklet deals.

2. Harmon Harrison came to the colonies about 1608. Harmon probably died of yellow fever and lies in some unmarked grave. He was born in Holland but of a family descended from the Colchester, Essex County, England, Harrisons. He came to Jamestown in the ship "Gift of God". It has been assumed he died without a family but a Harmon Harrison showed up in records of North Carolina later on - possibly he lived longer than was originally thought.

3. James Harrison, Ensign. At that time, the rank of Ensign was applied to the British Army, not the navy. James lived in Virginia from 1618 to 1622. He married Anne Oliffe who came to Virginia in 1618 at age thirteen. James was killed in the Indian Massacre. Anne escaped. Fifty-two people were killed in the particular massacre, including women and children. The colonists were caught unprepared as the Indians showed outward signs of friendship and hospitality. Anne later married Justinian Cooper.

4. George Harrison lived in Virginia six years and died in 1624. George was the brother of Sir John Harrison and they were sons of William Harrison of Lancaster, England. George was in the England jail on a charge of horse stealing (knew there had to be one!). Horse stealing was a serious crime in those days. Through the influence of his brother, John, his sentence of hanging was reduced to bandishment to the colonies never to return. He was undoubtedly financed by Sir John as he soon was a man of influence and means in Virginia. He married Margaret Fanshawe. George escaped the Indian Massacre that took so many colonists. He seemed to have a very disagreeable disposition as he was in several court suits with his neighbors. After a violent quarrel with Captain Richard Stephens, which resulted in a duel, George died of wounds. George and Sir John were also related to the Harrisons charted in this booklet.

5. Ralph Harrison, of the Staffordshire Harrisons. Ralph, too, survived the Indian Massacre but died in Elizabeth City, Va., in 1623. A plague was rampant then; probably the cause of his death.

A MURDER MYSTRY

There is absolutely no excuse for this story except no booklet is complete without a murder mystry.

A William Harrison (older brother of Benjamin Harrison of "Gobion Manor") at age 70, walked out one day to collect the rents from his estate. He just didn't come back. This was in 1660 in England.

His servant, John Perry, appeared the next morning telling a confused story of being waylayed and robbed.

Edward Harrison, William's son, accused the Perry family of murdering his father. Mrs. Joan Perry, John, and another son were executed; she as a witch.

Two years later, William came back and told an involved story of being attacked, wounded, robbed and put aboard a Turkish ship and sold as a slave. William escaped and, after many adventures and hardships, made his way home.

History generally agrees that Edward procured his father's abduction in order to reap the fruits of his stewardship.

INSERT ON THE ANCESTRY OF PRESIDENTS HARRISON

The ancestry of William Henry Harrison, 9th President of the United States, and his grandson, Benjamin Harrison, 23rd President of the United States, has never been settled to the satisfaction of historians.

There are many claims, counter-claims, opinions and stories - none of which can be proved beyond question.

That a relationship existed between the Presidents branch of the Harrison family and the branch about which this booklet is written is not questioned. How it existed is open for argument.

A direct descent is not possible. This is well documented. The relationship is distant and finds its base in England, not America.

Just as a matter of interest, a brief history of the known ancestry of the Presidents follows: and some theories on the unknown ancestry.

KNOWN ANCESTRY OF THE PRESIDENTS HARRISON

Benjamin Harrison came to Virginia before 3/15/1633-34; when he was signed as Clerk of the Council. He was young - in his thirties - and a well educated man. He was said to have a brother. Some say the brother's name was Peter, some say Richard. Some say the brother came to the colonies and some say he stayed in England. Anyway, Benjamin married Mary. Mary's last name is questionable also. The Flood family seems to have the most evidence to back up a claim to her.

Benjamin, Clerk of the Council, and Mary had two sons: Benjamin and Peter. Benjamin died about 1645 and his widow, Mary, married Benjamin Sidway of Surry County. They had one son, Thomas Sidway. Mary's will, dated 3/1687-88, mentioned only her sons Benjamin Harrison and Thomas Sidway. Evidently Peter died young without issue.

Benjamin, son of Benjamin and Mary, was born 9/20/1645 and died 1/30-1712-13. He married Hannah, born 2/13/1651-52, died 2/16/1698-99. They had children: Sarah, Benjamin, Nathaniel, Hannah and Henry.

Benjamin, son of Benjamin and Hannah, was born about 1673, and died 1710. He married Elizabeth Burwell, daughter of Lewis Burwell. Elizabeth died 1734, age 57. Their children: Benjamin, Elizabeth, and Nathaniel.

Benjamin, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth, died 1744. He married Anne Carter, daughter of Robert Carter. He and Anne had nine children: the third child was Benjamin.

Benjamin, son of Benjamin and Anne, was born 1726, died 1791. He was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. He married Elizabeth Bassett. They had seven children; the youngest was William Henry.

William Henry, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth, was born 2/9/1773 and died 4/4/1841 while President of the United States. He married Anna Symmes, daughter of John C. Symmes. They had ten children; the fifth child was John Scott.

John Scott, son of William Henry and Anna, was born 4/4/1804, and died 5/1878. He married Elizabeth Irwin. They had nine children; the second child was Benjamin.

Benjamin, son of John Scott and Elizabeth, was born 8/20/1833, and died 3/13/1901. He married Caroline Lavina Scott and they had two children. Russell Benjamin and Mary. Caroline died while Benjamin was 23rd President of the United States. After Caroline's death, Benjamin married a widow, Mrs. Dimmick, and had one child: Elizabeth.

UNKNOWN POSSIBLE ANCESTORS OF THE PRESIDENTS HARRISON

Since Benjamin Harrison, Clerk of the Council of Virginia in 1634, is the earliest certainly known ancestor of the Presidents, his identity is the one in question and the identity of a possible brother.

1. One theory is that this Benjamin Harrison was the son of the regicide, General Thomas Harrison, who was instrumental in the beheading of King Charles I of England; and who was himself beheaded later on. Charles P. Keith in his book, "Ancestry of Benjamin Harrison" discredits this by proving General Thomas Harrison was a contemporary of the Benjamin who emigrated to America. Any son of General Thomas Harrison's would have been too young to qualify for Clerk of the Council in 1634. These two Harrisons were, however, related.
2. A Rev. Joseph Harrison brought this tradition to New York early in the 19th Century: Four brothers from Yorkshire, England, emigrated to America during the reign of Charles I. They were: Thomas, Richard, Benjamin, and Nathaniel Harrison. A fifth brother, Edward, a member of the Clergy, remained in England. Nothing has been found to connect this family with Benjamin, Clerk of the Council in Virginia. There were Harrisons of the same names in America at that time, but they were accounted for and living in different parts of the country.
3. There was a Benjamin Harrison of Aldham, England, considered a possibility. He was the son of Rev. Francis Harrison who died in 1632. Benjamin of Aldham had brothers: John of London and William. Records show that six years after Rev. Francis died, his widow and sons William and Benjamin were living in Ipswich, England. Benjamin of Aldham had a son, Benjamin, but he was too young to be Clerk of the Council in 1634.
4. J.H. Harrison, in his book, "Settlers by the Long Grey Trail", tells of three brothers who lived and died in England: John, Benjamin and Thomas.

The brother Thomas, born 1695, married Hannah Morrison and had six sons: John, Benjamin, Thomas, Samuel, Daniel and James. All the sons came to America. All enlisted in the Revolutionary War. All had families except Thomas, Jr. All but John and Thomas, Jr., were killed in the war.

The brother Benjamin had sons: Benjamin and Robert; both sons came to America. Robert settled in Maryland and had a son, Governor Robert Harrison of Maryland. Benjamin settled in Virginia and is said by some county histories (History of Audrain County, Mo., for one) to be the ancestor of the Presidents.

While Harrisons of this name did all these things, their claim to the ancestry of the Presidents Harrison is late in time and not recognized by authorities.

5. Worth S. Ray, in his book "Tennessee Cousins", thinks Benjamin Harrison, Clerk of the Council, was son of Richard Harrison, the Master's Mate who was killed in 1603 by Indians on the Virginia coast. Richard left money with a brother, Peter Harrison of Warmington, only for a son, Peter. No mention was made of a son, Benjamin. There is a strange coincidence to back up Worth S. Ray's claim. Richard Harrison married Margaret Pilkington. A Margaret Pilkington and her husband, William, were found living next to Benjamin Harrison, Clerk of the Council, in Virginia - as a mother or a close relative, would follow to a new country and settle nearby.

Francis Burton Harrison, writer and scholar, spent many years in England attempting to solve the mystery of the identity of Benjamin Harrison, Clerk of the Council. He submitted possible answers:

6. There was a family of Harrisons of Stationer Company of London. One member of this family, John, left a will in 1612 and mentioned four sons: John, Philip, Josias, and Benjamin. Of all the members of this family and of all of John's Sons, Benjamin is the only one who did not appear later in the records of the Stationer Company of London as apprentice or freeman. As a member of this company, this Benjamin would have been a well educated man as was Benjamin of Virginia.

John, the son, left a will in 1652 in which he mentioned an "unkind son, Richard", who left him in old age to go to America. This Richard was identified as Richard Harrison of New Haven, Conn. Some authorities claim this Richard was the brother of Benjamin, Clerk of the Council in Virginia. This Harrison family was related to the Cambridge Harrisons.

7. Many authorities believe that Benjamin Harrison, Clerk of the Council in Virginia, had a brother, Peter, who was Clerk of the Peace in Cambridge, England, in 1632.

This Peter, Clerk of the Peace in Cambridge, was born in 1607 in Belton Co., Rutlandshire, England. He married Eleanor Ryvers in Cambridge in 1627-8. A daughter, Ellen, was born 1630 and a son, George in 1632-3. North Harrison, grandson of John of Cambridge, assisted Peter to this appointment as Clerk of the Peace.

Peter Harrison of Warmington left a will in 1605. In this will were mentioned sons John and Peter; a daughter, Eleanor; and Peter, son of Richard Harrison, deceased.

In 1632, Eleanor, by then widow of the Bishop of Ross, wrote the Privy Council of England with complaints about Irish land grants and also stated that her nephew, Peter Harrison, Clerk of the Peace of Cambridge, had improperly withheld funds from her.

These children of Peter of Warmington are interesting and their stories are worth the telling:

The elder son, John Harrison, was Governor of Bermuda in 1623. In about 1600, he was with the ill-fated Earl of Essex in the campaign against Ireland. The Earl of Essex returned to England in six months to lose his head under Queen Elizabeth. John, however, stayed three full years and returned on the ascension of King James to the throne. John entered the service of James' eldest son, Prince Henry, and stayed with him ten years until the death of Prince Henry. After this time, John became acting Governor of Bermuda. John was either very careless or a poor judge of money matters as he returned to England in debt and never recovered his fortunes. As a man of influence, however, in Bermuda, John would have been influential in obtaining the post of Clerk of the Council in Virginia for a son or kinsman.

The younger son, Peter Harrison II of Hindley Co., Lancaster, was born 1591 and died 1673. He was twice married; the first time to Elizabeth Ashton who died 1626-7. Peter was an attorney and sent all four of his sons to the University of Cambridge. After Peter's death, his two older sons by Elizabeth, sued their step-mother for a larger share of their father's estate. Soon after this, the two sons, Peter and John, removed to Virginia. The one son, Peter, was identified as Rev. Peter Harrison of Cheadle. He was born 1615 and would have been too young to have been Clerk of the Peace in 1632.

The daughter, Eleanor (Ellen) Harrison, like her brother, John, entered court service and attended the frivolous Queen of King James. She subsequently married David Lindsay, Bishop of Ross, as his second wife. The Bishop of Ross had sons by his first marriage. One, David Lindsay, later became Rev. David Lindsay of Lancaster Co., Va. Eleanor and the Bishop lived at an outpost and, when people visited (as they and their servants were wont to do in those days), there was no place further to go - so they just stayed and ate the Bishop and Eleanor out of house and home. Eleanor urged the Bishop to ask the King for aid. The Bishop was genuinely fond of King James; having fought with him in his youth, accompanied the King to claim his bride, and baptized the little Prince Charles - later to become the unhappy King Charles I of England. Bishop Ross was reluctant to make demands of his King; so Eleanor petitioned for land grants in Ireland. The King refused but later granted the Bishop's oldest son, Sir Jerome Lindsay, vast lands in Ireland. By 1613 the old Bishop was dead. Some twenty years later, Eleanor bombarded the Privy Council; reciting the story of the Irish land grants and complaining about her nephew, Peter Harrison, Clerk of the Peace in Cambridge.

So - Eleanor's brother, Peter Harrison II of Hindley, had a son, Peter, but he was too young to be Clerk of the Peace in 1632. Richard Harrison, the Master's Mate killed by Indians, had a son, Peter, but Richard was thought too old to be another brother of Eleanor's; thus precluding his son, Peter, from the position of Eleanor's nephew. By process of elimination, this leaves only John of Bermuda as the father of Peter, Clerk of the Peace in Cambridge and, if tradition is to be believed, the father of Benjamin, Clerk of the Council of Virginia and ancestor of Presidents Harrison.

8. When the Derbyshire branch of Harrisons split, one branch became known as "Gobion Manor" Harrisons and the other branch became the "Goldsmith" Harrisons. A descendant of Stephen Harrison of Westmoreland Co., Thomas Harrison, married Elizabeth Bernard. This was in the time of King Henry VIII. Thomas and Elizabeth were "Gobion Manor" Harrisons and had seven sons: Thomas, Jonathan, Joseph, William, Richard, Francis, and Benjamin. After Thomas died, Elizabeth married one Henry Travel of Warwick and the family seemed to disappear. The one son, the youngest, was born in December of 1594. In 1628, a Benjamin Harrison in Bermuda signed a "Poor Planters' Petition" along with other planters including a Robert Harrison, possible son of North Harrison. All evidence points to the fact that this Benjamin was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth of "Gobion Manor". Dr. Alexander Brown and Charles P. Keith both agree that the Benjamin who signed the petition in Bermuda was the same Benjamin who showed up in Virginia a few years later and became the Clerk of the Council and the ancestor of the Presidents Harrison.

Take your choice of any of these stories. One nice thing is - no one, at this writing, can prove you are wrong!

HARRISON

- I JOHN HARRISON - of St. Andrews, Cambridge, England. His will was recorded in 1538. In the portion of this will that is known, only one son is identified with certainty: Peter.

Children:

1. PETER HARRISON - Died 1593.
2. *Hugh - This was Sir Hugh Harrison, curate of Wilmslow Parish in 1548-50. One of his sons, Peter, was alive in 1584. At that time, Peter was made heir of Hugh's brother's widow, Elizabeth.
3. *George - His will was recorded in 1582. He married Elizabeth and they lived in St. Andrew Holborn. Elizabeth made her will on 8/13/1584 in which she left property in London to Peter Harrison, son of her deceased husband's brother, Hugh. It is assumed George and Elizabeth were childless.

*Hugh and George Harrison were definitely brothers and were probably sons of John: if not, certainly his nephews.

Hugh had at least one son, Peter. It is thought that this was the Peter who lived for a time in London and later in Warmington. He married Margery. Margery's last name may have been Legh or Molineaux as in Peter's will he mentioned his brother-in-law, Mr. Legh, Rector of Standish; and also gave an inheritance received from William Molineaux, gent., to Margery.

This will of Peter of Warmington, made in 1605, is most interesting in light of family relationships. In this will, Peter mentioned his elder son, John (identified as John Harrison who was Governor of Bermudas in 1623), his son, Peter (identified as Peter Harrison II of Hindley) and a daughter, Eleanor (Ellen) (identified as the second wife of David Lindsay, Bishop of Ross). There also was mention of another Peter Harrison, son of Richard Harrison, deceased.

Just what relation this Richard was to Peter of Warmington was not stated in the will. It is thought they were brothers as Richard would seem too old to be another son. A close relationship, surely, as Richard entrusted Peter of Warmington with money for his son, Peter.

This Richard Harrison is identified as the one who married Margaret Pilkington at Standish in Lancashire in 1583. He was Master's Mate of Bartholomew Gilbert's expedition to the New England coast. In a search for the lost colonists of Roanoke Island, Richard and Bartholomew were killed by Indians on the coast of what is now Virginia. This was in 1603; four years before the founding of Jamestown.

II PETER HARRISON - Died 1593. Peter lived in Cambridge although his son, William, was born at Swavesey in Cambridgeshire. Only two of Peter's sons are definitely established: William and Peter of Swavesey.

Children:

1. William - His will, dated 4/1/1620, mentioned his brother, Peter of Swavesey, and Peter's children. William also mentioned his own son, John, and left a legacy to John if he returned "from beyond the seas" within five years. William was an attorney for the Town of Cambridgeshire. Along with North Harrison (either his brother or his cousin), he was church warden of Great St. Mary, Cambridge, for many years.
2. Peter - Lived at Swavesey. It is known he had a family.
3. *North - Served as Town Clerk in Cambridge and as church warden at Great St. Mary, Cambridge. In 1628, North was influential in obtaining an appointment as Clerk of the Peace in Cambridge for young Peter Harrison, nephew of Eleanor, wife of the Bishop of Ross. Two of North's sons went to Virginia and one, possibly, to Bermuda.
4. ANTHONY HARRISON - Born 1563 at Over.

There may have been other children.

*North Harrison was definitely the grandson of John of Cambridge. It is most likely he was the son of Peter of Cambridge but he may have been a nephew.

III ANTHONY HARRISON - Born 1563 at Over. Swavesey and Over adjoin one another and Anthony was born while Peter of Cambridge was living in Swavesey. It is known they were related; probably son, possibly a nephew. All members of this family designated themselves as "gent." Anthony did likewise. Anthony was a lawyer and, as such, wrote and was remembered in, the will of a Thomas Cropley in 1608. It is highly probable there was a relationship through marriage between the Harrisons and the Cropleys. Francis Burton Harrison, an authority on the Harrison family, commented that this branch of Harrisons was noted for its strict sense of piety and nonconformity.

Children:

1. ANTHONY HARRISON - to Virginia by 1650.

There were undoubtedly other children.

Note: It is very difficult to be sure of the exact relationship of this family. Related they all were but the degree sometimes is in question.

IV ANTHONY HARRISON - To Virginia by 1650. Anthony was in Northumberland Co., VA. in 1653, but he may have arrived in the colonies much earlier. He was induced to come or came with Samuel Bonnam. They may have been related through inter-marriage of the Harrison-Rust-Bonnam families. Decendants of Thomas Copley and other families related to the Harrisons in England - the Raynes, the Dinleys and the Tomlinsons - were found living around and about Anthony in Virginia.

Children:

1. RICHARD HARRISON - Patented lands in 1664.
2. Andrew - Died 1686. He married Thomasin Rayne, widow of Rowland Rayne who died in Accomac Co., Va., in 1639-40. Thomasin had a son, Andrew Rayne, by Rowland. Andrew and Thomasin lived in Westmoreland Co., Va.
Children:
 - (A) Robert - Born 10/23/1674.
 - (B) William - Born 5/14/1677.
 - (C) Anne - Born 1/25/1679.
 - (D) There were probably three other sons: Andrew, Thomas and John.

Note: There may have been other children of Anthony's. At least one authority believes there were two other sons: George and James.

More authorities agree that George, at least, was the son of John Harrison who came to Westmoreland Co., Va., in 1654 with his brother, Dr. Jeremiah and Dr. Jeremiah's wife, the former Frances Wingreave. John and Jeremiah were sons of Henry Harrison of St. Nicholas, Colchester, England. They were related to Anthony; although they were "Gobion Manor" rather than "Goldsmith" Harrisons. Dr. Jeremiah bought land in Queen's Creek, York Co., Va., near his close kinsmen but he did not live long. His widow, Frances, married Giles Brent as his second wife. There was no issue either marriage. George married and had children: Samuel, Thomas, George (married Anne Rust), John, William, James and Peter Willoughby Harrison.

James married Elizabeth Mott, widow of George Mott, in 1664 and lived in Richmond Co., Va. Much evidence can be gathered to support the probability that James was another son of Anthony's rather than a descendant of John's; this through association and inter-marriage with known family friends of Anthony's branch of the Harrison family. Known children of James and Elizabeth:

- (A) Jael - Died 1733. Married (1) William Williams who died in 1712 and lived in Essex Co., Va. Jael married (2) Richard Johnson who died 1726 and lived in Spotsylvania Co., Va. Jael left the plantation in Spotsylvania to her son, James Williams.
- (B) Robert - Married Mary and died 1720.
- (C) Andrew - Born 1685, died 1730. Married (1) Mary Ball Rosier, widow of John Rosier, Jr., in 1706. Married (2) Mary Lovell (born 1699, died 1745), daughter of Robert Lovell and the former Ursula Nicholas. Mary married Christopher Erdington as his second wife after Andrew's death. Andrew had twelve children in all; most of them lived in Albemarle Co., Va.

V RICHARD HARRISON - Patented lands in 1664. These lands were in New Kent County on the Mattaponi River and a branch of Dragon Swamp; one of whose headrights was a son, Andrew. Very little else is known about Richard. Records were few in those days and not many survived the years.

Children:

1. ANDREW HARRISON - Will 1718.

Note: There were probably other children. Lack of court records of Richard would indicate that he probably died rather young; before he had many children.

VI ANDREW HARRISON - Will 1718. Andrew lived in the Rappahannock Valley by 1704 in St. Mary's Parish, Essex County, Va. He married Eleanor.

Children:

1. ANDREW HARRISON - Died 1752.
2. Elizabeth - Married Thomas Munday. Children:
 - (A) John.
 - (B) Harrison.
 - (C) Edmund - Married Ruth. Moved to Mercer Co., Ky., and had children: Harrison, Thomas, William, James and Reuben Munday.
3. Margaret - Married Gabreil Long. Children:
 - (A) Henry.
 - (B) Edward.
 - (C) Phillip.
 - (D) Richard.
 - (E) William.
 - (F) Gabreil - Married Miss Kirtley, Culpepper Co., Va., and had at least one son: Nicholas Long of Halifax Co., N.C.
4. William - Married Hannah Christopher, daughter of William Christopher. Children:
 - (A) Andrew - Married Jane Dillard in 1759.
 - (B) Charles.
 - (C) Benjamin - Married Pricilla Cary.
 - (D) Thomas.
 - (E) Margaret.

 - (b) Andrew.
 - (c) Christopher - Married a Shelton.
 - (d) James.
 - (e) Benjamin.
 - (f) Charles.
 - (g) William - Married Phoebe Smith.
 - (h) Abner - Married Jane Sims of Henry Co., Va. He moved to Orange Co., N.C. and was prominent in Revolutionary War days. Children:
 - (aa) William - Born 1787.
 - (bb) Ignatius - Born 1789.
 - (cc) Reuben - Born 1792.
 - (dd) Rachel - Born 1794. Married Thomas Cain of Jefferson Co., Tenn., in 1811.
 - (ee) Jane - Born Person Co., N.C., in 1796. Married Abraham Lillard, Dalton, Ga.
 - (ff) Benjamin - Born 1801.
 - (gg) Abner - Born 1803. His children: Philadelphia (married Joel Yancey Cain), Martha (married a Cain), Susan (married Cornelius Cain), Isaac, Rachel Ann (married Melville Russell Jones of Saline Co., Ark., and parents of William Mattison Jones, Austin, Texas), William, Jacob, Joseph, and Sarah.
 - (hh) James - Born 1805.
 - (ii) Samuel - Born 1812.

V ANDREW HARRISON - Died 1752. Married Elizabeth Battaile, daughter of John Battaile and the former Elizabeth Smith. The Battailes and Harrisons were neighbors and close friends. Andrew was a witness to the will of John Battaile in 1707 and in 1708 became the guardian of Elizabeth who was under age. The Longs, Whites, and Taliaferros seemed to live nearby and inter-married. This was in Essex Co., Va.

Children:

1. Charles - Born 1717. Married Sarah Smithers who was alive in 1753. They lived in St. Thomas Parish, Orange Co., Va., until 1758 and then moved to Pennsylvania. The burial ground of many of these Harrisons is on John Sterling's farm in Green Township. Fayette Co., Pa. Their children:
 - (A) John - Born Orange Co., Va., in 1754, died Louisville, Ky., in 1821. Lived in Pennsylvania with his father. When in 1776, war broke out, John took his father's gun and joined Capt. John Stevenson's Rifle Regiment. He became a Major and served in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth. He spoke the Delaware Indian language as well as French and served in Dunmore's Campaign against the Shawnees. He later went to Kentucky with his cousin, Benjamin, son of Lawrence. There he married Mary Ann Johnston, daughter of Dr. Benjamin Johnston on their estate now known as Cave Hill Cemetery. Five children:
 - (a) Sophia Johnston - Born 1788. Married Robert A. New.
 - (b) Benjamin Johnston - Born 1790. Married a Miss Crane.
 - (c) Charles Larkin - Born 1793. Married Amelia Oldham. He was an Ensign in War of 1812.
