TALGAREG, see Capel Cynon.

TALGARTH is a parish and market town, and the head of a hundred and petty sessional division, in the county of Brecknock, with a station on the Cambrian railway. The town stands on the river Ennig, which is here crossed by a stone bridge, and is 1 mile south of the road from Brecon to Hay and Hereford, 17½ miles by rail from London, 2½ from Hereford, 9½ north-east from Brecon and 7½ south-west from Hay, in the Hay union and county court district, rural deanery of Brecon (third part), archdeaconry of Brecon and diocese of St. David's. The town is lighted with electricity supplied by the Talgarth Electrical Supply Company and the Ennig Electric Light and Power Company, and is supplied with water from the Black Mountains; in 1903 the Hay Rural District Council in connection with the Breconshire and Radnorshire Asylums Committee built a reservoir for their joint use. The church of St. Gwendoline is an ancient building of stone in the perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, nave, south aisle, south porch and an embattled western tower containing 6 bells: the tower and some other portions are older than the nave; in the church is a monument to Howell Harris, the founder of Welsh Methodism, but styled in the inscription, "a faithful member of the Church of England": the church was restored in 1873, and in 1898 the tower was renovated at a cost of about £200: there are 400 sittings. The register dates from the year 1695. The living is a vicarage, tithes rent-charge commuted £290, net income £253, with 23 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, and held since 1914 by the Rev. David Williams B.A. of St. David's College, Lampeter. The Parish hall, erected in 1909 at a cost of £200, has 200 sittings. The Calvinistic Methodist chapel here, rebuilt in 1880, at a cost of £1,100, has 350 sittings; the Baptist chapel, built in 1857, 350, and the Congregational chapel, High street, founded in 1806 and rebuilt in 1891, 300, and the Congregational chapel, at TREDUSTAN, founded in 1662, 250. The Market Hall, a building of stone, erected in 1877, is in the centre of the town; the upper part is used as an assembly room and the lower is occupied as a provision market and for other purposes. In 1887 a clock was erected in commemoration of the Jubilee of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, at a cost of about £150. The market is held on Monday, chiefly for provisions. Fairs are held 2nd Tuesday in January, February 2nd, March 12th, April 18th, 2nd Tuesday in May (hiring and pleasure), 31st May, July 10th, August 10th, September 23rd, October 13th, November 2nd (hiring and pleasure), and December 3rd; when these dates fall on a Sunday the fair is held on the following Monday. There is a Drill Hall. The chief hotels are the "Tower" and the "Ashburnham." The National Provincial and Union Bank of England, Barclays Bank Limited, the London Joint City and Midland Bank Limited and Lloyds Bank have branches here. The Mental Hospital for the counties of Brecon and Radnor, on a hill 1 mile south of the town, was built at a cost of £140,000, and opened Feb. 18, 1903; in addition to the main building there is an isolation hospital for 12 patients, a chapel, houses for the medical superintendent, clerk and steward, and 10 cottages for some of the staff: attached is also a farm of 280 acres; water is supplied from a reservoir on the estate; the building is available for 400 patients. The charities include the Wholesale charity, value £10 yearly, Skinner's charity of £1 13s. 4d. yearly, Sybil Williams' charity of £1 yearly, and Webb's charity of £12 13s. for coal at Christmas. Great Porthamal, now a farmhouse, with an embattled tower, was formerly the seat of Sir Roger Vaughan, the first high sheriff of Breconshire, temp. Henry VIII. Henry, Earl of Richmond (afterwards Henry VII.) is said to have stayed here on his way from Milford, where he landed 7 August, 1485, to Bosworth Field, the scene of the battle on the 22nd August following, which ended in the defeat and death of Richard III. Dinas Castle is on the road to Crickhowell; there is an ancient stone circle at Flostill. Tregunter, at present (1919) unoccupied, the property of Mrs. Davidson, was built in 1764, and standing on rising ground, commands attractive views: the grounds are well timbered and have ornamental waters. The soil is clay and red marl; subsoil, clay. The chief crops are wheat, barley, turnips and oats. The area is 12,273 acres of land and 21 of water; rateable value, £12,195; the population in 1901 was 1,466, and in 1911, 1,761, including 316 inmates and 38 officials and their families in the Brecknockshire and Radnorshire Mental Hospital.

COLLEGES & SCHOOLS.

Trefecca College, an institution in which candidates for the ministry of any denomination & other professions are trained for matriculation, is about a mile from the town. The building was erected by Howel Harris, the founder of Welsh Methodism, & was originally the home of a community of about 120 to 150 persons, who settled here under Harris's governance & teaching, & had all things in common. On the death of Howel Harris the property was vested in this community or family, & in the year 1838 it was handed over, by the few remaining descendants, to the Welsh Calvinistic Methodist Connexion, who in 1842 opened it as a theological college, under the presidency of the Rev. David Charles B.A. The college contains a valuable library of Welsh books & also the libraries of Howel Harris & of Williams Pantycelyn, the Welsh hymnist; the Howel Harris memorial chapel, a handsome building of stone, opened in 1873, stands in the grounds: Rev. TALLEY, more correctly Tal-y-lychwan (the head of the lakes), is a parish on the road from Llandilofawr to Lampeter, in the Carmarthen division of the county of Carmarthen, 2½ miles west from Llanwrda and 7 north-west from Talley Road stations on the Llanely and Llandovery branch of the Great Western railway, 7 north from Llandilofawr and 13 south-east from Lampeter, in the hundred of Cayo, petty sessional division of Llanawel, county court district of Llandilo, union of Llandilofawr, rural deanery of Llandilo, archdeaconry of Carmarthen and diocese of St. David's. The church of St. Michael is a building of stone, consisting of chancel, nave, and a tower containing one bell; it was restored in 1890, and affords 242 sittings. In the churchyard are some ancient oak and yew trees, and near one of these Dafydd ap Gwilym, a Welsh bard (1340-1400) is said to have been interred; Thomas Lewis (1759-1842), a Welsh hymnologist, is also buried here. The register dates from 1634. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £224, with 8 acres of glebe, in the gift of Sir James H. W. Williams-Drummond bart. and held since 1914 by the Rev. John Price B.A. of Lincoln College, Oxford. There are Baptist and Calvinistic Methodist chapels. In the north-west part of the parish are two small lakes, in one of which traces of lake dwellings are supposed to have been met with. The ancient Premonstratensian abbey of Talley is believed to have been founded by a member of the Rhys family in the 12th century, and was dedicated to SS. Mary and John the Baptist, and colonised from the monasteries of Hales (Salop) and Welbeck (Notts); the abbot joined Henry, Duke of Richmond (afterwards Henry VII.), on his landing at Milford Haven in August, 1485; at the Dissolution the revenues were estimated at £136, and there were then 8 canons. The only remains of any consequence are portions of the tower of the abbey church, dating, apparently, from the latter part of the 13th century; the names of three of the gateways of the precincts, said to enclose about 25 acres, are preserved in certain fields. Gllanryanell Park is the property and residence of Evan Thomas Griffiths esq. Sir James Hanlyn Williams Williams-Drummond bart. of Edwinstow, Llandilo, is the principal landowner. Soil is loam; chief crops, grass, wheat and oats. The area comprises 7,108 acres, of which 44 are water; rateable value, £4,849; the population in 1911 was 562.

TEMPLETON is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1803 from the civil parish of Narberth, in the civil parish of Narberth South, 2½ miles south from Narberth, with a station on the Pembroke and Tenby branch of the Great Western railway; in the county of Pembroke, Narberth hundred, petty sessional division, county court district and in the rural deanery of Narberth, and archdeaconry and diocese of St. David's. The church of St. John, erected in 1800, is a plain edifice of stone in the Early English style and consists of chancel, nave, south porch and a western bell-gable with one bell; there are 224 sittings. The register dates from the year 1806. The living is a perpetual curacy, net yearly value £213, in the gift of the Crown, and held since 1914 by the Rev. Maurice Morris B.A. of St. David's College, Lampeter, who is also rector of and resides at Ludchurch. The Congregational chapel here, erected in 1818, was rebuilt in 1839 and restored in 1879, and has 400 sittings; adjoining is a small burial ground. The population in 1911 was 403.

Post Office.—Miss Julia Anderson, sub-postmistress. Letters should have Pembrokeshire added. Narberth is the nearest money order & general telegraph office nearly 3 miles distant, though telegrams are delivered to callers at Templeton railway station

TENBY

TENBY is a municipal borough, market and seaport town, a watering place, and a parish in the county of Pembroke, with a station on the Pembroke and Tenby branch of the Great Western railway, 274 miles from London, whence it is reached by the Great Western railway via Whitland and Gloucester, or 263 via Severn tunnel, or by the London and North Western railway via Carmarthen; it is 16½ miles from Birmingham, 108 from Manchester, 184½ from Liverpool, 145 from Bristol, 104 from Cardiff, 30 from Carmarthen, 12 from Pembroke Dock, 20 from Haverfordwest and 15 from Whitland, and is in the hundred and petty sessional division of Narberth, Pembroke union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Narberth and archdeaconry and diocese of St. David's. The town is situated on the western side of Carmarthen Bay, on the summit of a bold promontory of mountain limestone, curving eastwards, and washed on the north, east and south by the sea; it still retains its ancient walls, which, on the landward side, are of considerable height, on the north and west sides they are complete, and include five large and massive drum towers, two square towers, with corbelled out parapets, and one or two of the gateways; the largest of the towers, at St. George's Gate, had originally an opening to St. George's street, and a circular gateway on its north side, which still retains a portcullis groove; one other tower has also been cut through to afford a passage in the street; the walls are continued down to the cliffs on the west side, and were once carried along the cliff, and some portion of this work remains; the north gate is gone, but the wall was here also carried down to the cliff; near one of the towers is the inscription, "An. 1588, E. R. 30," alluding to its repair by Queen Elizabeth. The prevailing currents of air are from the south-west, sweeping across the Atlantic Ocean, and the climate, from physical and geological causes, is remarkable for its equability; from the same causes there is far less difference between the temperature of the day and that of the night than is found in most other places, and with the exception of the innoxious sea-fog, which sometimes precedes great heat, fogs are almost unknown here. Tenby, from being exposed to the influence of the Gulf Stream, has a climate in mid-winter slightly warmer than that of Torquay; in summer, from its more northern position, its temperature is lower; it has long been known to the conchologist as a favourite locality for the collection of many rare kinds of shells; it abounds also in those more usually met with, and upwards of two hundred different species have been obtained from waters immediately surrounding the town. The long and narrow promontory of rock, on which the remains of the Castle stand, divides the beach into two portions called the North and South sands; the latter, almost unrivalled for their firmness, are entirely free from pebbles or shingle, and since the water deepens gradually, without any abrupt descents, Tenby is a most desirable bathing-place, and both sands are amply supplied with bathing machines; the beach is shut in on either hand by bold and irregular masses of rock and high cliffs, above which the town is built, and those on the south side are fringed with trees; but perhaps the most attractive features of Tenby are the beautiful and ever-varying tints of the sea and the translucent calmness of its surface.

The Royal Victoria Pier and Landing Stage, commenced in June, 1895, was opened 9 May, 1899, by H.M. Queen Mary, then Duchess of York, and starts from Castle Hill; the pier head is 54 feet above the sea bed, and is carried on cast-iron columns. The total length of the pier is 350 feet; its direction is north-east-by-east, with the landing stage at right angles, and the depth of the water at that point is sufficient to allow the channel boats to use the pier at any state of the tide. The cost of the structure, erected from plans by Mr. R. St. George Moore M.I.C.E. was upwards of £12,000, £500 of which was given by C. J. Williams esq. J.P. the remainder being provided by the Corporation.

The gas works, belonging to a company formed in 1876, are at the rear of the North Cliff; a short distance northward are three reservoirs of the water works, which belong to the corporation, and have a total capacity of 5,500,000 gallons; these are kept filled in case of emergency, but the water is now pumped direct into the town from springs in the valley of St. Florence, about 3 miles north-west; the pumping apparatus is of sufficient power to supply 30,000 gallons per hour. The town received charters from the de Valences, Earls of Pembroke, but was first incorporated by charter of Henry IV. in 1402, under which it was empowered to elect a mayor and two bailiffs; this charter was confirmed by later sovereigns down to Queen Elizabeth, and was enlarged by Charles I. who appointed several additional officials; on the passing of the "Municipal Corporations Act, 1835" (5 & 6 William IV. c. 76), the Corporation was remodelled, and now consists of a mayor, four aldermen and twelve councillors; the borough has a separate commission of the peace. Tenby, together with Pembroke, Haverfordwest, and three other places, forms the Pembroke and Haverfordwest parliamentary district, constituted in 1833, under the provisions of the "Reform Act, 1832" (2 & 3 William IV. c. 45) and enlarged on the passing of the "Redistribution of Seats Act, 1885" (48 & 49 Vict. c. 23) by the annexation of the former Haverfordwest district.

The church of St. Mary, standing in the centre of the town, is an edifice of stone, in the Early English and Perpendicular styles, and consists of chancel with aisles, that on the north being St. Nicholas chapel and that on the south the chapel of St. Mary; nave of five bays; north and south porches, and a plain but lofty embattled tower of the 12th century, at the west end of the north aisle of the chancel, with an octagonal spire, together 152 feet in height, and containing a clock and 8 bells, 3 of which, together with the clock and chimes, were provided in 1838 at a cost of £385; the church is a spacious structure; there are several stained windows; a striking flight of 11 steps leads from the chancel floor to the sanctuary; in the north aisle are several mediæval altar tombs in richly-ornamented recesses, one of which bears the effigy of an ecclesiastic, and another the effigy of a nun; one other, dated 1610, was erected by Thomas ap Rhys, of Scotsborough, to the memory of his wife; the husband is represented by a kneeling figure in plate-armour, and the wife by a larger sized reclining figure; at the base of the tomb are effigies of their children; against the east wall of the chapel of St. Nicholas is the kneeling effigy of William Risam, 1633, in an aldermanic gown; the finest monument, placed within an arch on the south side of the chancel, is that of John and Thomas White, who were wealthy and enterprising merchants here in the 15th century; the base, of richly-carved alabaster, supports two full-length effigies; the west doorway has a Decorated ogee-arch, with an inscription on the exterior moulding; the north porch is of large size and embattled, and has three Decorated archways; the church was partially rebuilt in 1885, at a cost of £1,610, and was then reseated and a new font provided; there are 1,600 sittings; in the churchyard are some ruins with two Decorated arches. The register dates from 1714 only, and from 1750 has entries intermixed relating to the parish of Gurfreston. The living is a rectory and vicarage, net yearly value £328, with glebe (£4) and residence, in the gift of the Crown, and held since 1913 by the Rev. Bickerton Cross Edwards M.A. of Oxford University, and surrogate. St. Mary's chapel, on the burial ground north of the town, consecrated in 1854, is a building of stone, and may be used for divine service; the burial ground was formed by public subscription to replace the old St. Mary's ground, closed by Order in Council; under the "Burials Act, 1882," Nonconformists have the right of burial therein. St. Julian's chapel, on the Quay, is a plain building of stone, in the Early English style, erected by subscription for the benefit of the seafaring population; the original site of the chapel is now occupied by part of the pier-head. Church of England services are also held at the schoolroom, New Hedges. The three buildings furnish a total of 2,000 sittings. The Catholic church of the Holyrood and St. Teilo, in South parade, opened in 1893, at a cost of about £3,600, is a building of stone, with freestone dressings, in the Late Decorated style, consisting of chancel, nave, and two side chapels; the south or "Holy Cross chapel" contains a fine alabaster altar and a shrine of silver gilt; over the "Lady Altar" is a stained window; in Warren street, erected in 1867, is a building in the Early English style, and has sittings for 700 persons. The Wesleyan chapel in Warren street, completed in 1881, is a building of stone, and will seat 800 persons. The Baptist chapel in Deer park, erected in 1880, at a cost of £3,000, is a building in a Modern English Gothic style, and has 600 sittings. The Presbyterian chapel, in Lower Frog street, is a small and old building, capable of seating 300 persons; in connection with this is a smaller chapel in Marsh road, also used as a Sunday school. The Salvation Army Barracks are in Upper Park road.

The Town Hall, a plain edifice in the High street, was built in 1860, and has the arms of the borough over the entrance; it is used chiefly for municipal and magisterial purposes, the basement forming the meat market.

The municipal insignia comprise two maces, a mayor's chain and badge, and borough and official seals. The larger mace is of silver, and 31 inches in length; it has a plain-banded shaft, and a semi-globular head, ornamented with a shield of St. George, a castle, and a crowned rose; the top is surrounded by a non-regal circlet, enclosing a tall cap to which are affixed plainly ribbed arches, supporting an orb and cross: the other mace is similar, but only 22 inches long. Each mace bears the date 1660, when they were reconverted, and both were repaired in 1884 by, and at the cost of, George Lambert esq. F.S.A. The mayor's gold chain was provided by subscription in 1878: the pendent badge is oval, and bears a device copied from the old seal. The most ancient of the borough seals dates from the reign of Edw III.; it is double and circular in form; the obverse presents a ship in full sail, and the royal arms of the period: on the reverse is an embattled gateway, flanked by two turrets, each with a trumpeter, and above is a shield of arms; both sides have a legend in black letter: a later seal has been lost, but there is a mayor's seal of brass, and a smaller of silver, made in 1853.

The Assembly Rooms are near to and connected with the Royal Gate House hotel; they are licensed for theatrical performances and hold nearly 1,000 persons, exclusive of ante-rooms; other hotels are the "Royal Lion," the "Cobourg" and "The Imperial," and there is a temperance hotel. The Public Hall, in Warren street, is used for auction sales and general entertainments, and will hold 450 people. The Tenby and County Club, in the Croft, opened in 1877, is a building in the Gothic style; it has reading, smoking and card and two billiard rooms; it has about 100 members, and visitors are admitted for periods of one week to three months. The Cottage Hospital, erected in 1871, is a detached villa in Trafalgar road, supported by voluntary subscriptions, and containing 9 beds. The Museum on Castle hill, opened in 1878, possesses a very interesting collection of shells, fossils and other curiosities, mostly local. The Seamen's Rooms, on the Quay, are for the use of fishermen and others. The Tenby Liberal Club is in Tudor square, and the Conservative and Unionist Club reading and billiard rooms are in Belle Vue: there are about 70 members. The Bechabutes meet monthly, at the Charity rooms, St. George street. The Tenby Charity Trustees meet on the first Wednesday in the month at 11 a.m.; the various charities were amalgamated in 1836, and £516 is now available for distribution annually; number of pensioners being at present 67. The National Provincial and Union Bank of England has a branch establishment in Tudor square, and Barclays Bank Limited has a branch in High street; there is also a Penny Savings Bank, in St. George street. There is a Volunteer Fire Brigade, the engine house being in South parade. The Cricket and Lawn Tennis Grounds are in Heywood lane, the latter comprises 2 acres, giving space for 9 courts, with pavilions; a tournament lasting a week is usually held in August, and the South Wales Challenge Cup is annually competed for here; the ground is also used for croquet. The Golf Club links, about 2 miles in extent, are on the Burrows, and include a good pavilion; fortnightly handicap and aggregate cup meetings, with winter and summer tournaments, are held. On Castle Hill, north side, an excellent life-boat is stationed, and a Board of Trade rocket life-saving apparatus is kept on the south side. There is a Freemasons' Lodge (No. 1,177) in South parade; the Odd-fellows' Lodge (I.O.M.U.) is in St. George street. Races, regattas, horse, flower and poultry and dog shows &c. take place annually. Market days, Saturday and Wednesday: a chartered pleasure fair is held on July 31 and two following days. Tenby is the head quarters of the Pembroke (Castlemartin) Yeomanry, and of A Squadron of the regiment. Cargo steamers call here from Bristol.

St. Catherine's fort (now disused), commenced in January, 1854, from plans by Colonel Jervis, is erected on an isolated rock, approached from the South Sands at low tides; the walls are of hewn limestone, partly embedded in the rock; on the summit were once the ruins of a small chapel.

On the top of the Castle hill is the Welsh National Memorial to H.R.H. the Prince Consort, subscribed for by over 16,000 people; the foundation stone was laid 14 December, 1864, and the memorial unveiled by H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught K.G. 2 August, 1865; the statue, of heroic proportions, executed in Sicilian marble by Mr. John E. Thomas, is raised on a pedestal and steps of grey limestone, with panels bearing appropriate heraldic devices and inscriptions: the remains of the castle, to which the town walls were united, are inconsiderable and consist chiefly of the keep, apparently a work of Flemish origin, a circular bastion overhanging the cliff, another embattled tower, which formed part of the entrance, and fragments of the wall inclosing the fortified area, and including the entrance gateway, which is fairly perfect; from the Castle hill pleasant views are obtained of Carmarthen bay and the coast of Carmarthen and Glamorgan as far as the Worms Head, 18 miles distant, Monkstone Point being within a nearer view; to the south-west lie the village of Penally, Giltar Point and St. Margaret and Caldey Islands; on clear days this eminence affords a prospect of about 40 miles in extent, including the town and castle of Kidwelly, the Black Mountains of Carmarthenshire and the Devonshire coast.

Tenby is a meteorological station in connection with the Meteorological office.

The principal landowners are the Corporation, Lieut.-Col. Sydney R. Fothergill J.P. the Charity trustees, the rector and churchwardens, Robert Lock esq. C. W. Rees Stokes esq. and the Tenby Land Investment Corporation Limited. The area of the civil parish of St. Mary in Liberty and municipal borough is 628 acres of land, 1 of inland water and 2 of tidal water; rateable value, £23,031; the population in 1911 was 4,368; the population of the ecclesiastical parish in 1911 was 4,510 (which comprises Tenby St. Mary In and Out Liberties).

TENBY ST. MARY OUT-LIBERTY is a civil parish outside the municipal boundary. The area is 1,477 acres of land and 147 of foreshore; rateable value, £1,607; the population in 1911 was 142.

Parish Clerk, Ernest H. Leach, South parade.
Sexton, Edmund Gunter, 2 Upper Park road.
The number of electors on the parliamentary register in 1914 was 756.

CALDEY ISLAND, 2½ miles south of Tenby, is irregular in form, being about 1½ miles long by three-quarters of a mile broad. From about the 5th to the 11th century the island belonged to Celtic Monks, who probably built the ancient village church. From 1120 to 1534 it belonged to the Benedictine Abbey of St. Dogmael, North Pembrokeshire, having been given to it by Geva, the mother of Robert Fitz-Martin, of Tours, in the reign of Henry I. The older portions of the Priory House formed parts of the Benedictine Priory (chapel, gatehouse, calfactory, dormitory, refectory and tower). It was in secular hands from 1534 to 1906, when it passed into the hands of the present owners, a so-called community of Benedictine Monks Under the present ownership the cottage-monastery, abbey guesthouse and school have been built. Upon the southern point of the island is a lighthouse. The church is served by the community, which also maintains the village school. The land is chiefly pasture.

ST. MARGARET'S ISLAND, which is separated from Caldey save at low-water, is the property of Sir Charles E. G. Phillips bart. of Picton Castle. It contains some remains of a monastic building, and has some fine caverns.

The area of the two Islands is 449 acres; the population in 1911 was 101.

These two places are still reputed to be extra-parochial for civil and ecclesiastical purposes.

TONYREFAIL is a village 4 miles north from Llantrisant, with a station on the Llantrisant and Penygraig section of the Great Western railway. It is an ecclesiastical parish formed in 1912 from Llantrisant civil parish, and comprises Tonyrefail, Coedely, Gilfach Goch and Thomas Town, and is in the Pontypridd division of the county of Glamorgan, hundred of Miskin, petty sessional division of Lower Miskin, union and county court district of Pontypridd, and in the rural deanery, archdeaconry and diocese of Llandaff. The church of St. David's, erected in 1902 at a cost of £3,500, is a building of stone in the Gothic style, and consists of nave, chancel, one aisle, and a turret containing one bell: an organ was installed in 1909: there are 400 sittings. The register dates from the year 1912. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £200, in the gift of the Bishop of Llandaff and four trustees, and held since 1912 by the Rev. David John Thomas Lic.Div. of St. David's College, Lampeter. Here are English and Welsh Baptist, United Methodist, Calvinistic Methodist and Congregational chapels. In this district is the Llantrisant cemetery.

GILFACH GOCH is a hamlet with a station on the Bridgend and Nantmeal branch of the Great Western railway. Here is St. Barnabas chapel of ease.

THOMAS TOWN, a new district in the civil parish of Llantrisant, is about 3 miles from Llantrisant. It was formed in connection with the colliery development in the Ely Valley on the Yn-ys-y-Plwm estate. The colliery is known as the Coedely colliery, and is being worked by the Welsh Navigation Steam Company Limited.

TRIANGLAS, a hamlet near the confluence of the Hydfer and Usk, and formerly in the parish of Llywel, was constituted an ecclesiastical parish in the county of Brecknock in 1890, and is 5 miles west of Devynock station on the Neath and Brecon railway and 14 west from Brecon, in the hundred and petty sessional division of Devynock, county court district of Brecon, Brecknock union, and in the rural deanery of Brecon (second part), archdeaconry of Brecon and diocese of St. David's. The Hydfer river rises in the parish and discharges itself into the Usk below St. Mary's church. Some of the springs which form the source of the Usk are in this parish. Both rivers abound with trout and salmon. The church of St. Mary, erected in 1889-90, at a cost of £1,130, is a building of stone, consisting of chancel, erected in 1903, at a cost of £350, nave, porch and a tower containing one bell: there are 150 sittings. The register dates from the year 1890. The living is a perpetual curacy, net income £130, and residence (built in 1894), in the gift of the Bishop of St. David's, and held since 1913 by the Rev. David James Teague L.Div. of St. David's College, Lampeter. A church room was built in 1893, and there are two Congregational chapels, one at CWMWYSG, erected in 1822, with 200 sittings. John and Roger Jeffreys left £225. 6d. yearly and Miss Gwennllian Morgan left £40, of which £10 is apportioned yearly for the poor of this parish. On the Trecastle mountain is a Roman camp, and coins and other Roman remains have been found in the parish. A large lake exists on the Van Mountain. Lord Tredegar is lord of the manor. The principal land-owners are the Marquess Camden, Mrs. Jeffreys Owen, Rees John Brychan Jeffreys esq. K. Lloyd Downes esq. and E. Storey-Maskelyne esq. The soil is red sandstone. The principal crops are wheat, oats and barley. The area is 16,123 acres of land and 99 of water; rateable value, £3,812; the population in 1911 was 267.

TREGARON, with CARON.

TREGARON is a market town and the head of a union, situated on the Brenig, a tributary of the Teifi, which it joins a quarter of a mile from the town, in the county of Cardigan, and in the civil parish of Caron-is-Clawdd, with a station on the Great Western railway from Carmarthen to Aberystwyth, 18 miles south from Aberystwyth, 10 north-east from Lampeter, 15 east from Aberayron, and 210 from London by road, in Penarth hundred and petty sessional division, Lampeter county court district, rural deanery of Ultra Aeron, archdeaconry of Cardigan and diocese of St. David's. The river Teifi affords good salmon and trout fishing. The parish church of St. Caron is a building of stone dating from the 14th century, and consists of a chancel and nave of equal height and width and a massive embattled western tower containing one bell: the nave and chancel were entirely restored in 1878, at a cost of £1,700: there are 300 sittings. The register dates from the year 1652. The living is a vicarage, net income £260, including 23 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Bishop of St. David's, and held since 1916 by the Rev. David Jones B.A. of St. David's College, Lampeter. The Calvinistic Methodist chapel here will seat 750; the Wesleyan chapel affords about 400 sittings: there is also a Calvinistic Methodist chapel at Berth, seating 400. The Town Hall, in the Square, is a small building. The Poor Law Institution has been converted into a hospital for tuberculosis, a branch of the King Edward VII. Welsh National Memorial Association, the headquarters of which are in Cardiff. A market is held every Tuesday, and fairs are held as follows:—The Tuesday before the first Wednesday in each month

(cattle), Whit Tuesday (cattle), March 16th and 17th (horses) and May 4th (horses). At Cors-goch-Caron, near here, experiments were made in 1898 by certain German chemists with a view of converting the bog peat of this locality into compressed fuel, as has been successfully done at Langenburg in Pomerania. The process, which is protected by a patent, is one of distillation, and besides a large proportion of crude oil, and some vegetable products, the peat has been found to yield rather over 11 per cent. of carbon, which is dried and compressed in moulds, and is then ready for sale in the form of a solid briquette. During the early part of 1897 a flow of a peculiar oily liquid, smelling strongly of petroleum, was noticed in a drain on a farm called Caerllugest, about 5 miles from Tregaron, where it had been cut into a shaly rock to a depth of about 5 feet, and the same or a similar liquid was subsequently met with at a point 9 miles distant in the same direction. This liquid on being analysed was found to contain:— (1) oily matter, and (2) a residue of earthy character, with a fair proportion of carbonaceous matter of organic origin. The oily matter is confidently affirmed to possess a certain commercial value. In the Market place stands a fine statue, erected in 1893, as a memorial to the late Henry Richard esq. M.P. for Merthyr Tydfil, 1868-88, and a native of this town; at Llangeitho is a statue of the late Rev. Daniel Rowland, a Calvinistic Methodist minister, erected in 1888. Twin Shon Catti's Cave, in the midst of the rocks of the mountain between Tregaron and Llandoverly, 13 miles distant, is said to have been the hiding place of Tom Jones, a notorious freebooter. The Earl of Lisburne is the principal landowner. The soil is part peaty and part sandy; sub-soil, gravel. The chief crops are barley and oats, but a large portion of the land is pasture. The area of Caron-is-Clawdd is 14,051 acres of land and 91 of water; rateable value, £5,513; the population in 1911 was 1,408, including 30 officers and inmates in Tregaron union workhouse.

TREHERBERT, see Rhondda.

TREHAFOD, see Pontypridd.

TREHARRIS is now incorporated in the County borough of Merthyr Tydfil, under which place full particulars will be found.

TRELECH-A'R-BETTWS is a parish in the Carmarthen division of the county of Carmarthen, comprising the townships of Trelech and Bettws, 5 miles west from Conuil station on the Carmarthen and Llandybil section of the Great Western railway, 9 north-west from Carmarthen and 7 north-by-east from St. Clears, in the hundred of Elvet, Carmarthen union, petty sessional division and county court district, and in the rural deanery and archdeaconry of Carmarthen and diocese of St. David's. The church of St. Teilo, erected in 1834-5, is an edifice partly in the Gothic style, consisting of chancel, nave, west porch and a turret containing one bell: the church was repaired, new-roofed and rebuffed in 1878, and in 1903 was completely restored at a cost of £960: a stained glass window was erected in 1911, in memory of Mrs. Trafford; a font supposed to be 500 years old was found in the churchyard and taken into the church in 1913: there are 214 sittings. The register dates from the year 1653. The living is a vicarage, net income £200, with 65 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Bishop of St. David's and held since 1909 by the Rev. Eynon Hughes L.Div. of St. David's College, Lampeter. There are three Congregational chapels, and Baptist and Calvinistic Methodist chapels. Davies's charity, left by Mr. William Davies, of this parish and London, in 1804, provides £120 yearly for the education and clothing of poor children of this parish. In the parish is a tumulus or barrow about 6 yards high, known as "Crug-Edeyrn," in which was found a kistvaen, or stone-lined grave, 4½ feet by 3 and covered in with rough slabs, and reputed to have been the burial place of Edeyrn, an early Welsh prince or chieftain. On a farm called "Penceae-veln-bach" are also the remains of an ancient camp. John Howells esq. John Jones Williams esq. and Mrs. Elizabeth Williams are the principal land-owners. The soil is sand. Chief crops are oats and barley. The area is 11,580 acres; rateable value, £6,476; the population in 1911 was 1,110.

WHITCHURCH, near Cardiff, in the Llandaff and Barry division of the county of Glamorgan, is a civil parish with a station on the Cardiff and Pontypridd railway, half a mile north from Llandaff station (which is in this parish), on the Taff Vale railway; there is another station at Tongwladis and a halt at Rhubina. Whitchurch is 3½ miles north from Cardiff, in the hundred and petty sessional division of Kibbor, union and county court district of Cardiff, and in the rural deanery of Caerphilly, and archdeaconry and diocese of Llandaff.

The church of St. Mary, erected in 1883-5, at a cost of £3,559, in place of the old church, from designs by the late Mr. J. Pritchard, diocesan architect, is a building of native stone in the Gothic style, and consists of chancel and nave, south porch and a western tower containing six bells: a stained window has been given by R. Johnstone esq.; the reredos by Mrs. H. J. Evans and the communion table by the late Mr. T. W. Booker: there are 364 sittings. The register of baptisms and burials date from the year 1732; marriages, 1733. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £293, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Llandaff, and held since 1914 by the Rev. Henry Williams; the churchyard was enlarged in 1900 by the addition of 1 acre of land. St. Michael's chapel of ease at Tongwynlais, is served from Whitchurch; there are also Primitive Methodist, Calvinistic Methodist, Wesleyan, Congregational and Baptist chapels. The Free Public Library here was erected in 1904, at a cost of £2,000, defrayed by the late Andrew Carnegie (d. 1919), the site being the gift of the Corporation of Cardiff. Here is the Cardiff City Mental Hospital, completed in 1908, at a cost of £300,000, for 335 male and 414 female patients, with administrative departments; planned to provide for an extension of the hospital to 1,250 patients; there is a chapel attached to seat 900: the buildings generally are of red brick relieved by stone dressings. The fire station is in Bishops road. Here are the iron and tinplate works of the Melingriffith Company Limited, employing about 650 hands, and a foundry and brick works. Greenmeadow (Tongwynlais) is the residence of Col. Henry Lewis O.B.E., V.D., D.L., J.P. and Coryton, of Sir J. Herbert Cory bart. M.P., D.L., J.P. The principal landowners are Lord Tredegar, who is lord of the manor, the Marquis of Bute, Col. Henry Lewis, Maj. Mervyn Edward G. R. Wingfield and Mrs. Mackintosh. The soil is marl; subsoil, clay and gravel. The chief crops are oats, wheat, barley and market gardening. The area of the parish is 3,260 acres, inclusive of 40 of inland water; rateable value, £54,423; the population in 1901 was 4,865, and in 1911, 9,079 civil and 7,108 ecclesiastical, including 712 inmates and 160 officials and their families in Cardiff City Mental Hospital.

WHITCHURCH, with SOLVA and ST. ELVIS

WHITCHURCH-BY-HAVERFORDWEST is a parish, in the county of Pembroke, on the shore of St. Bride's Bay and on the coach route from Haverfordwest to St. David's, 12½ miles north-west from Haverfordwest station on the Great Western railway, 11 miles from Letterston station on the Fishguard and North Pembroke railway, and 4 east from St. David's, in Dewisland hundred and petty sessional division, Haverfordwest union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Dewisland and archdeaconry and diocese of St. David's. The church of St. David is an ancient building of limestone, with blue stone dressings, in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, north transept and a western belfry containing one bell: in the angle between the transept and chancel is an inclosed space, forming a passage between the two, and opening to the chancel by a wide arch, now filled by a plain open oak screen; in the wall of this passage there is a square recess, with an opening to the outside, now built up; the chancel retains a trefoil-headed piscina, and is fitted with oak stalls; the ceiling is wagon-shaped, and ribbed and panelled: the chancel arch and that opening to the transept are both angular and perfectly plain, and the former has a bagioscope on the south side: there is an oak lectern and a plainly panelled oak pulpit on a stone base; on the east side of the church are three stained lancet windows. The font, which is quite plain, consists of an octagonal basin on a circular shaft, with a square base; in the transept are several inscribed floor stones: the church was restored in 1873-4 at a cost of £1,051, and in part under the direction of Mr. Buckeridge, architect; the churchyard is large, and walled in, and contains two upright inscribed grave-stones, imbedded in an isolated stone wall; there are 170 sittings. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1752; burials, 1752; marriages, 1772. The living is a vicarage, with the rectory of St. Elvis annexed, net yearly value £250, with 11 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of St. David's, and held since 1884 by the Rev. Edward Thomas Jones, of St. Bees. The Ecclesiastical Commissioners are lords of the manor. G. H. J. Harries esq David Reynolds esq, Francis Green esq, and M. L. W. Lloyd Price esq, are the principal landowners. The soil is rich sand; sub soil, rocky. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and roots. The area is 3,175 acres of land, 2 of water and 41 of foreshore; assessable value, £2,022; the population in 1911 was 608 in the civil parish and 706 in the ecclesiastical parish (which includes St. Elvis).

SOLVA, or Solfach, is a small port situated in a deep ravine at the mouth of a river of the same name affording an excellent refuge for vessels; it has a quay from which corn is exported, and is the most populous portion of the parish; the place is considered very salubrious and being also exceedingly picturesque, is largely resorted to by tourists and other visitors during the season. A stone bridge of two arches crosses the stream, and a very fine view of the harbour is obtained from the left hill on the south side; a creek between two lofty spurs cutting out seaward, affords good bathing, but the space is contracted, and rather difficult of access; in the promontory on the south side of it are two caves. St. Aidan's chapel of ease at Upper Solva, erected in 1870, at a cost of £1,721, is a building of lime stone and with brick freestone dressings, in a plain Early English style, from designs by the late J. L. Pearson R.A. and consists of chancel and nave under a single roof, north porch, vestry, organ chamber, and a small gable bell-cote of brick at the west end, with 2 bells: at the east end are three stained lancets, and a stone reredos, with a carved cross in the centre, and quatrefoil panels on either side: a low open arcaded screen divides the nave and chancel; the pulpit, of pine wood, is arcaded, and has ebony shafts: the font consists of the Norman basin of the font belonging to the destroyed church of St. Elvis, which has been set on a new shaft and base: there is an oak lectern, and open timber roof: the church affords 150 sittings, and stands in an enclosed churchyard. The Baptist chapel, Mount Pleasant, built in 1863 and rebuilt in 1896, affords 550 sittings, and that at Middle Mill 450 sittings; the Congregational chapel, rebuilt in 1876, seats 350; the Calvinistic Methodist chapel, erected in 1887, is a good building of stone in the Early English style, and has 200 sittings. The principal hotel is the "Cambrian" at Lower Solva. Llanuwnas is the seat of Gilbert Henry James Harries esq.

Post, M. O. & T. Office, Solva (letters should have Solva, Pembrokeshire, added).—Gwilym H. Lloyd, postmaster. No delivery of letters on sundays. Wall Letter Boxes.—Mount Pleasant; Middle Mill & Tremenhire, week days only.

Shipwrecked Fishermen & Mariners' Royal Benevolent Society, Hon. Representative, S. T. Williams J.P. Llanuwnas. See advertisement

Public Elementary School, Solva (mixed & infants), erected in 1838, to which a class room has since been added, for 170 children: William David Evans A.C.P. master; Henry Morris, assistant master; Miss Phyllis Lewis, assistant mistress; Miss Amy Ann Thomas, infants' mistress (certificated)

The school is controlled by nine managers. Clerk & Attendance Officer, John Morris, St. David's. A steamer calls here fortnightly from Bristol

ST. ELVIS is a small parish adjoining Whitchurch. New-gale sands, near here, extend about a mile along St. Bride's Bay, and are beautifully smooth and firm. An enormous number of pebbles of considerable height and width, said to have been formed by the action of the sea, stretches along the sands for some distance; the little isolated inn, called the "Duke of Edinburgh," having been visited by H.R.H. on one occasion when engaged in an inspection of the local coast-guard stations, was washed away by the sea in 1896. The ancient church of St. Ailfwy formerly stood here, and traces of its site still remain; the font stands in the chapel of ease at Solva: the registers are still preserved and are in good condition. The living is a rectory attached to the vicarage of Whitchurch. Near the site of the church are the remains of a double cromlech with a capstone of great length. The site of Pointz Castle, near here, but in Brawdy parish, is indicated by an eminence, but is now chiefly occupied by a farmhouse. Mrs Morgan Lloyd is the principal landowner. The soil is rich sand; subsoil, rocky. The area is 440 acres of land and 20 of foreshore; assessable value, £151; the population in 1911 was 8. The nearest post office is at Solva.

The children of this place attend the Elementary school at Solva

WHITECHURCH (or Eglwys Wen), near Cardigan, is a parish in the county of Pembroke, one mile north-west from Crynamych Arms station, on the Whitland and Cardigan section of the Great Western railway, 7 south from Cardigan and 6 south-east from Newport (Pemb.), in Kemeas hundred and petty sessional division, Cardigan union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Kemeas, archdeaconry of Cardigan and diocese of St. David's. The church of St. Michael, repaired in 1812 and rebuilt in 1872, is an edifice of native stone with Bath stone dressings, in the Gothic style, and consists of chancel and nave, south porch and a western tower with spire containing one bell: there are 95 sittings. The registers date from the year 1704. The living is a rectory, net income £70, with 13 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of Sir Martineau O. M. Lloyd bart. and held since 1912 by the Rev. John Daniel Evans B.A. of St. David's College, Lampeter, who is also vicar of Llanfair-Nantgwyn. There is a Baptist chapel at Bethabara, erected in 1827, with 600 sittings, and a Congregational chapel at Penygroes, erected in 1765, seating 400 persons. Here are burial grounds belonging to the Church of England, Baptists and Congregationalists. On the mountain in this parish are remains of an ancient camp. Sir Martineau Owen Mowbray Lloyd bart. is lord of the manor. The principal landowners are the Misses Yardley and J. P. M. George esq. The soil is light loam; subsoil, rock. The chief crops are barley and oats, and some land in pasture. The area comprises 2,519 acres; rateable value, £1,673; the population in 1911 was 256.

WHITLAND (or Eglwysfair-Glan Taf) is a village on the borders of Carmarthenshire and Pembrokeshire, with a station on the Great Western railway, which is the junction on the Whitland and Cardigan and Whitland, Tenby and Pembroke lines, 259 miles from London, 20 north from Tenby, 28 south from Cardigan and 15 west from Carmarthen. Whitland was formed into an ecclesiastical parish in 1910 from Cyffic, Llanboidy and East Llangan in Carmarthenshire, and Lampeter Velfrey in Pembrokeshire, and is in the Carmarthen division of the county of Carmarthen, Derllys hundred, Narberth union and county court district, Llanboidy petty sessional division, and in the rural deanery of St. Clear's, archdeaconry of Carmarthen and diocese of St. David's. The village is lighted with gas by the Whitland Gas Works. The church of St. Mary is an ancient building of stone in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, south porch, vestry and a turret containing one bell: the stained east window is a memorial to Mrs. Yelverton, of Whitland Abbey: the church was repaired in 1850, and affords 240 sittings. The register of baptisms and burials dates from the year 1783; marriages, 1765. The living, formerly a chapelry to Llanboidy, is a vicarage, net yearly value £165, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of St. David's, and held since 1908 by the Rev. James Evans Jones B.A. of St. David's College, Lampeter, who is also vicar of Llangan East and West. There are Congregational, Baptist and Calvinistic Methodist chapels and a public hall. A free market is held here every Friday in the rear for butter, cheese and eggs, and a cattle mart held fortnightly. About a mile from the village are the ruins of Whitland Abbey (Alba Ianda), founded in 1143 by Bernard, Bishop of St. David's, and refounded by John de Troyton in 1153 for monks of the Cistercian order: this abbey, called "Ty Gwyn ar Tâl," was the mother of all Welsh monastic houses except Neath and Margam. At the Dissolution there were eight monks and revenues valued at £135. Henry VII. rested here on his way from Milford Haven, and in memory of his visit the monks carved his shield of arms on a slab of freestone, which is now placed over the entrance of Whitland abbey: several carved portions of windows and pillars are scattered about. Howell the Good once resided here. Whitland Abbey, the seat of Miss Yelverton, is built in part with the materials of the monastery. The soil is clay and sandy; subsoil, sand. The chief crops are oats and barley, with some grazing. The population in 1911 was 1,362.

WHITTON is a parish in the county of Radnor, 4 miles north-west from Presteigne terminal station, on a branch of the Great Western railway, at the junction of the roads from New Radnor and Presteigne to Knighton, in the hundred of Cefnllys or Kerenlleec, in Presteigne county court district, and petty sessional division, Knighton union, and in the rural deanery of Melineth Sub Ithon, archdeaconry of Brecon, and diocese of St. David's. The church of St. David is a small but ancient edifice of stone, in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel and nave, south porch and a low western tower with spire, containing one bell: in the church is a monument with effigies to John Pryse esq. of Pilleth, ob. 16 Sept. 1597 and to Catherine, his wife, ob. 1589, daughter of Roger Vaughan esq. of Clitherow; this monument, formerly in Pilleth church, was removed therefrom by Lady Milbank, after the fire by which the church was destroyed in 1804, being the only monument left, and suspended on it is a sword and spurs, said to have belonged to John Pryse esq.: the church was restored in 1874 at a cost of £783, when the 15th century east window was removed to the south of the chancel, and a new window inserted and filled with stained glass in memory of William Stephens esq. late clerk of the peace for the county of Radnor: in 1905 the chancel was rebuilt and extended at a cost of £350: there are 90 sittings. The register dates from the year 1600. The living is a rectory, with the vicarage of Pilleth (annexed in 1909), joint yearly value £200, with 7 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Bishop of St. David's, and held since 1919 by the Rev. David Randall B.A., M.C., chevalier de l'ordre de Léopold, croix de guerre, of St. David's College, Lampeter, and hon. chaplain to the Forces. A public drinking fountain was erected here in 1902, by the governors of Dame Anne Child's charity, to commemorate the coronation of King Edward VII. Major Sir Frederick Richard Powllett Milbank bart. who is lord of the manor, and Sir Francis Edwards bart. are the principal landowners. The soil is gravel and loam; subsoil, gravel. The chief crops are wheat, oats, barley and turnips. The area is 1,564 acres; rateable value, £1,192; the population in 1911 was 104.

Parish Clerk, William Wozencraft.

WISTON (or Castel Gwyna) is a parish in the county of Pembroke, 17 miles north of the road from Haverfordwest to Narberth, 2 south from the Clarbeston Road station on the Great Western railway (which is in the parish), 5 north-east from Haverfordwest, in the hundred and petty sessional division of Dungleddy, union and county court district of Haverfordwest, rural deanery of Dungleddy, and archdeaconry and diocese of St. David's. It claims to be a borough by prescription and a mayor and town clerk are still elected every five years. In the report of the Municipal Corporations Commissioners of 1876, it is scheduled as a place which either had not been municipal or had long ceased to be so, and, so far as is known, no municipal insignia exist. The church of St. Mary, originally Norman with additions in the Perpendicular style, consists of a remarkably long chancel, nave, north porch and an embattled western tower of Norman date, containing one bell: the chancel retains a piscina and a monument to a member of the Wogan family: the stained east window is a memorial to John Frederick, 2nd Earl Cawdor, who died 29 March, 1808: the font is Norman: the church was restored in 1864, and again in 1898, and now affords 250 sittings. In the churchyard is a fine avenue of lime trees. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1715; burials and marriages, 1716. The living is a vicarage, net income £200, with 1½ acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the trustees of Earl Cawdor, who is a minor, and held since 1908 by the Rev. John Lloyd-Williams B.A. of St. David's College, Lampeter. There are two Calvinistic Methodist chapels. The ruins of the castle include the keep, a fine archway, and the moat. The trustees of Earl Cawdor, who is a minor, are lords of the manor, and with Sir Charles E. Gregg Philipps bart. and Richard Llewellyn Lloyd esq. the principal landowners. The soil is mixed. Chief crops, barley and oats. The area is 7,186 acres; assessable value, £3,654; the population in 1911 was 640.

YNSAWDRE, including TONDŪ and BRYNMEYN.

YNSAWDRE is a parish on the rivers Llynvi and Ogmore, 4 miles north from Bridgend and 4 south from Maesteg, in the Ogmore division of the county of Glamorgan, Ogmore hundred, Newcastle and Ogmore petty sessional division, Bridgend and Cowbridge union and Bridgend county court district, and is attached to St. Bride's Minor for ecclesiastical purposes. The manorial rights are held by the Duchy of Lancaster, and the principal landowners are the Earl of Dunraven and Mountearl K.P., P.C., C.M.G. and Onslow Powell Treherne esq.

TONDŪ is a populous hamlet, 3 miles north from Bridgend, with a station on the Llynvi and Ogmore branch of the Great Western railway; it is also the junction of the Porthawl and Ogmore branches of the same line. Gas is supplied by North's Navigation Collieries Limited, and water by the TondŪ and Aberkenfig Water Supply of the Rural District Council. Here are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels. The extensive coal and coke works here, of North's Navigation Collieries (1889) Limited, and the engineering works of the Great Western Railway Co. employ a large number of hands.

BRYNMEYN is a hamlet one mile from TondŪ, partly in this parish and partly in that of Llangeinor, with a station on the Great Western railway, which is also the junction of the Garw Valley and the Ogmore Valley branches. The Garw and Ogmore Gas Co. have works here, opened 1913, and supply Ogmore and Pontycymmer. Here is a Welsh Congregational chapel, erected in 1817, with 320 sittings, and a brewery, and in this place are also the offices of the Ogmore and Garw Urban District Council. A colliery rescue station was erected here in 1914 for training rescue parties for the various collieries of Ogmore and Garw.

YSTRAD MEURIG is a parish in the county of Cardigan, the village being half a mile north from Strata Florida station, and 6 north from Tregaron station, both on the Great Western railway, and 13 south-east from Aberystwyth, in the hundred of Har. petty sessional division of Penarth, county court district of Aberystwyth and union of Tregaron, and in the rural deanery of Ultra Aeron, archdeaconry of Cardigan and diocese of St. David's. The church of St. John the Baptist, formerly an ancient building of stone, in the Early English style, and for years in a ruinous condition and disused, has been taken down, and a new church, in the Perpendicular style, erected on the same site; this was opened August 17, 1899, and consists of chancel, nave, organ chamber and a western bell-gable with one bell: several of the tombstones and memorials in the churchyard are of particular interest. The registers of baptisms and marriages date from the year 1796; burials, 1799. The living is a perpetual curacy, annexed to the vicarage of Ys-ptyt Ystwyth, joint net yearly value £200, with residence, in the gift of the Earl of Lisburne, and held since 1916 by the Rev. David John Jones B.A. of Jesus College, Oxford, who is also head master of the Grammar school. The Earl of Lisburne is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The castle of Ystrad Meurig was certainly existing at an early period, but the actual date of its foundation is unknown: in 1156 it was partly destroyed by Owain Gwynedd, but was repaired in 1150: in 1158 it was besieged and taken by Roger de Clare, 3rd Earl of Hertford, who is also said to have borne the title of Earl of Clare, and who, under license from Henry II. ravaged Cardiganshire with a great force, and captured and strengthened several of its fortresses: in 1189 the castle was again attacked and taken, and eventually, after other vicissitudes, it was razed in 1207 by Maelgwyn ap Rhys, and does not appear to have been afterwards rebuilt; portions of the structure remained down to a comparatively modern date, but little now exists except the site. The chief crops are barley and oats, but the land is mostly under pasture. The area is 956 acres; rateable value, £639; the population in 1911 was 127.

 The children of this parish attend the school at Swydd-fynon, Lledrod

Strata Florida Railway Station, John Rees, stn. master
 The Grammar School here was founded by Edward Richard esq. a native of Ystrad Meurig, by deed dated 1 October, 1757, & the foundation was subsequently enlarged & augmented by the founder by further indentures executed in 1771 & 1774, by which provision was eventually made for the education of 32 poor boys of this parish or of the county of Cardigan: Mr. Richard also in 1759 founded a library for the use of the school, to which considerable additions have been made from time to time, & especially by the Rev. John Huwll M.A. sometime vicar of Llanarth, & it comprises several valuable editions of the Fathers. The founder, who died in 1777, was buried within the church, on the north side. The Grammar school of Lledrod, of which he was the first master, was annexed by Dorothea Oliver (the founder) to that of Ystrad Meurig, & the united foundations are now carried on as one school. The school here was at first & for some time held in the church, but afterwards a schoolroom & attached library were built on the north side of the churchyard: this is a plain rectangular structure, with pointed windows & white-washed walls; it has a raised platform at one end, & a gallery at the other, & the desks & trestle forms are ranged longitudinally down it. One or two exhibitions of £15 a year, tenable by natives of Cardiganshire, are vacant annually. This school, though remotely situated, & primitive in its character, has always been remarkable for the thoroughness of the teaching given in it, & many prominent clergy have been ordained from the school without any intermediate instruction: amongst its alumni may be mentioned the Ven. John Jennings, sometime Canon residentiary of Westminster Abbey, & Archdeacon of Westminster, 1863-83; the Ven. Owen Evans M.A. of Jesus College, Oxford, archdeacon of Carmarthen & V. Stanley Jones esq. of King's College, Cambridge. There were in 1919 about 40 boys; the value of the united endowments is about £300 a year, & the school is managed by a body of 14 trustees, consisting of clergy & gentry, the Bishop of St. David's being chairman. Head master, the Rev. David John Jones B.A. of Jesus College, Oxford; Rev. William Hopkins B.A. of Wales, assistant master

YSTRAD MYNACH is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1800 from parts of Gelygaer and Llanfabon, by Order in Council. It has a station on the Rhymney railway, and is 6 miles north-east of Pontypridd and 18 north-east from Cardiff, in the Caerphilly division of the county of Glamorgan, Pontypridd hundred, union and county court district, Caerphilly petty sessional division, rural deanery of Caerphilly, and archdeaconry and diocese of Llandaff. The church of Holy Trinity, erected about 1857, is a building of stone in the Gothic style, and consists of chancel, nave, transept and a tower containing 8 bells: there are 140 sittings. The register dates from the year 1800. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £203, with residence, in the gift of the trustees of the late Llewellyn Thomas esq. and held since 1917 by the Rev. William James Williams L.Div. of St. David's College, Lampeter. The population in 1911 was 2,081.

9 & 10, GREAT TOWER STREET,
LONDON, E.C. 3.

Direct Importers from the Mines of All kinds of

either in the Raw or Ground state.

If, after years of research, you have succeeded in producing a Standard article that you desire shall be kept at the forefront of your Trade, you will be wise to remember it will be Quality that will keep it there—your good name will be but a secondary consideration.

To ensure this, your raw materials must be uniform, and it behoves you to deal with Firms who specialize in the commodities you require.

In these times, you cannot afford to experiment with Indifferent materials, thereby jeopardising the position you have fought so hard to secure in the Markets of the World.

We deal in three allied commodities Only,

PLUMBAGO, GRAPHITE and BLACKLEAD

and we have made a Study of them.

This experience is at your disposal.

If you, therefore, require a material upon which you can always rely and which will always be uniform in every detail,

WE HAVE IT,

and moreover, we can supply at the

LOWEST ROCK-BOTTOM PRICE

procurable in the Trade.

Counter samples and prices upon application.

Telegrams, "PLOMBAGINE, BILGATE, LONDON" (two words).

Telephone, AVENUE 1184.

Codes, A B C 5th Edition and Private.

(See under Trade headings of Plumbago, Graphite and Blacklead.)
