A Census is an Enumeration of the "Inhabitants of a Country" taken by order of the Legislature. In the first three chapters of the "Book of Numbers" is given the Mosaic Census in the Wilderness of "Sinai,"—the earliest on record, and numbered "every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war."

All the 12 Tribes numbered 603,550 males, from 20 years old and upwards, showing in relative proportion the "Israelites" in the Wilderness to have been about 3,621,300 Men, Women, and Children,—a number by far exceeding the present population of "London," to be supplied with daily food and raiment.

"Great cities represent the civilization of their age, and offer great facilities for the study of masses of mankind under singular circumstances. But the materials for this study have been only recently collected. Little more than the stony monuments of the cities of antiquity remain. Babylon had vast walls and palaces; Thebes had a hundred gates, out of which, Homer tells us, twenty thousand chariots issued. But what was the condition of their People? The numbers are unknown."

"At Rome itself, in later days, the citizen gave in his name and age, with the name and age of his wife and children, to the Censors* in the curule chairs;† but the slaves of the City figured only among the property; so that while the Census has supplied history with the numbers of Roman citizens, it has left no records of the Population."

In those Empires, Monarchies, and States that have a settled form of Government, and advance in civilisation, a Census of the People is considered to be indispensable, and is taken at intervals of ten, seven, five, and even at two years apart, although it is comparatively only in recent times that the Legislature of the "British Empire" has sanctioned the Enumeration of its Inhabitants.

The first Census of "England and Scotland" was taken A.D. 1801, and the first Census of "Ireland" A.D. 1821.

In GREAT BRITAIN and IRELAND, by an Act of the "Legislature," the Enumeration of its People is taken decennially, or once in every ten years.

The Local Machinery employed in "ENGLAND and WALES" for taking the last Decennial Census on the 8th of April, 1861, and also on two former occasions, was the 634 "Superintendent Registrars" of Districts generally co-extensive with the "Poor Law Unions," or with single "Parishes" which were divided into 2,194 "Registrar's" sub-districts, each having a local Registrar of Births and Deaths Pursuant to the Act 6 and 7 Will. IV., c. 86.

* Censor.—A magistrate of great power and authority in Ancient Rome, whose business was to take an account of the number and classes of the citizens.

† Curule chair.—A state chair among the Ancient Romans in which the chief magistrates had a right to sit and be carried. This chair was richly adorned and fitted to a kind of chariot, from whence it received its name; it was also used by successful generals in a public triumph.

Under the supervision of the Superintendent Registrars, it was the duty of the Registrars to divide their sub-districts into Enumeration Districts, in accordance with directions furnished by the Census Commissioners, Major George Graham, Registrar-General for England and Wales, Dr. Farr, M.D., D.C.L., F.R.S., and James T. Hammick, Esquire, F.S.S. Accordingly we find in the Census Report the sub-division of the Registrar's Districts to consist of 30,329 Enumerator's Districts, for "England and Wales," and 300 for the "Islands in the British Seas," to each of which an intelligent Enumerator was appointed; and there were also in addition 533 Public Institutions, with a separate Enumerator to each—forming in the aggregate the large number of 33,990 persons employed in the Enumeration of the People on one day, the 8th April, 1861, exclusive of the Official staff, exceeding 100 persons at the Central Office in London under the indefatigable supervision of George Wyatt, Esquire, Chief Clerk, and Messrs. Bacon, Williams, and Keith, officially belonging to the "General Register Office," but who were especially appointed to superintend this most important and responsible duty, and further aided by the experienced services of a large staff of official employés, in the office of the Registrar-General, who were engaged in classifying and tabulating the Census Returns, under the able superintendence of William Clode, Esquire.

The POPULATION GAZETTEER is literally a complete Census of every Place in "England and Wales" and the "Islands in the British Seas;"—which has been obtained from the united exertions of this large number of intelligent persons, presided over by the Commissioners appointed by the Legislature, and some idea may be formed of the magnitude of the work,—in completing a Census of every Place;—when it is stated that nearly 100 persons were employed fully a year and a half in perfecting with official accuracy a revision of the Enumerators' Returns, and in the collating and arranging Alphabetically every Place that had recognised boundaries wherein a resident Population was enumerated, at the last Census,—from the "Hamlet" to the "City,"—and from the "Parish," "Town," "Borough," "District," etc., to the "County," "Diocese," and "Province."

All alike are placed in their Alphabetical position,—forming a complete Population Gazetteer, of every Parish, Town, and Place, in "England and Wales,"—exceeding 16,000 Names; and, remarkable as it may appear, it is ascertained from official sources, that for every Place that is given in this Alphabetical nomenclature and separately returned to the Census Commissioners, that the cost for collecting the information was the small amount of about £6 on an average for each,—with a wide range, where there were 100,000 or more people located,—and where there were but 100 or less domiciled,—and we find the average cost for enumerating each person, Man, Woman, and Child in England and Wales at the last Census of 1861 to be only 1½d. per head; at the former Census of 1851, 1¼d. per head, and at the prior Census of 1841, 1½d. per head;—or per thousand of the population the cost was £5 9s. in 1841;—£5 4s. in 1851;—and £4 15s. 5d. in 1861, when the inquiry was greatly extended.

In extracting the numerical results of the last Census, so admirably arranged in the "Official Returns" of 1861, published by authority of the Registrar-General (Major George Graham), and presented to Parliament,—extreme care has been bestowed on this most important portion of the Publication,—collated and authenticated by the Official Returns of the Census of 1861, and the valuable assistance rendered by Mr. J. W. Maunders, in revising the numerals and letter-press, is here duly acknowledged,—in the earnest hope that the Population Gazetteer of the Census of 1861 may be found to be complete in every respect—comprehensive,—authentic, and minute in its details, and alike valuable in combining a vast amount of reliable information—derived from official sources,—which is here arranged with every facility for reference.

THE TERRITORIAL DIVISIONS

OF

England and Wales

AND THE ISLANDS IN THE BRITISH SEAS:

INTRODUCTION.

The name of ENGLAND is derived from Engle, the Angles, and land; meaning the land of the "Angles," a very important tribe of the Saxons, who conquered the Country. They called the British whom they conquered Wealas, which means Foreigners; and from that term has arisen the name of that part of the country in which the "British" most resided, viz., Wales, which thus means the foreign country. The Welsh call themselves Cymry; their country Cymru or Cambria; and the name of the language, Cymraeg, from which they are supposed to be from the Cimbri of Jutland.

The invading chieftains established seven co-temporary Kingdoms in Britain, called the Saxon Heptarchy.

"While undecided yet which part should fall,
Which Nation rise, the glorious lord of all."—Creech.

After a series of wars, the whole of the Heptarchy became subject to the power of Egbert, King of Wessex, who caused himself to be Crowned at Winchester, at that time considered the capital of "England," by the title of King of England, about A.D. 827, or nearly 400 years after the "first arrival of the Saxons,"—and thus was laid the foundation of the "English Monarchy."

Presented to Parliament.

Islands.—"The greater part of the islands, and of points on the coast terminating in ey, ay, a (island), ness (promontory), holm, as well as others, bear names which the Northmen gave them;* and were seized, partly for the purposes of commerce, but more commonly as naval stations, from which they could harry and tax the coasts and inland country."

"An 'island' was a market, a warehouse, and a castle to these Northmen, who, bred round the sinuosities of the Danish peninsula, the recesses of the Baltic, and the Fiords of Norway, practised their arts as udal farmers, fishermen, and merchants—forged anchors, built ships—that lived in the Atlantic, fought incessantly along their own coast, from the Elbe to the Naze, to Drontheim, Lofoden Islands, Cape North; and in the eighth century and the centuries following, sailed in fleets, at one time down the east and west coasts of Great Britain; at another either round France, Portugal, and Spain into the Mediterranean, or to Iceland and the coasts of North America. Men of the Atlantic in their ships, their sea-horses, their ocean-skates—as they called their craft—braved the dangers of the rocks and the waves at sea—where their foes never met them (the arms of Celts, Gaels, and Saxons, on land) and succeeded in effecting permanent settlements in France and England."

The Northmen in the Islands.—"As the Jutes and Saxons settled on the south coast, so the Danes held and have left the most permanent traces in Suffolk, Norfolk, Lincolnshire, Yorkshire, and the lowlands of Scotland. The Norwegians for some time made the Orkneys the great centre of their expeditions. Rollo, from whom William I. was the fifth in descent, was some time in the Orkneys before he conquered Normandy; and the Northmen from these islands extended their power over the Hebrides, Ireland, and the coast of France, and in 1066 conquered England, and added the Channel Islands 'Jersey,' 'Guernsey,' 'Alderney,' 'Sark,' 'Herm,' and 'Jethou,' to the newly conquered Country."

Descendants of the Scandinavians.—"The Scandinavian race survives in its descendants round the coasts of the British Isles; and the soul of the old viking still burns in the seamen of the British fleet, in the Deal boatmen, in the fishermen of the Orkneys, and in that adventurous, bold, direct, skilful, Mercantile class, that has encircled the World by its peaceful conquests. What the Greeks were in the Mediterranean Sea, the Scandinavians have been in the Atlantic Ocean."

Counties.—"The division of England into Counties, each having an Ealdorman, discharging civil and military functions under the King and his council, was evidently based on the old divisions of the Country.

Two small Kingdoms became the Counties of "Kent" and "Sussex"; the Kingdom of the East Saxons became "Essex" and "Middlesex;" of the East Angles "Norfolk" and "Suffolk." The lands of the Wilsætan, Dornsætān, Sumorsætān (from Sætān, settlers), became "Wilts," "Dorset," "Somerset,"—to which shire was perhaps unnecessarily added. Damnonia and Cernaw, wrung successively from the Welsh, as they retreated first beyond the Exe and then over the Tamar, were named "Devonshire" and "Cornwall." The district of "Berkshire," whose men, under their Ealdorman, fought and put the "army" of Northmen to flight in A.D. 860 and 871,* was, it is said, so named from the character of the country.

Another class of Counties was evidently constructed on different principles: thus the County containing Winchester, the capital of Wessex, was called Hamtúnscir, from Hamtún, now Southampton."

"All the Counties into which Mercia was divided were named from their large central towns, which became the County Towns:—thus it was with Hertfordshire, Buckinghamshire, Oxfordshire, Northamptonshire, Huntingdonshire, Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire, Gloucestershire, Herefordshire, Shropshire [Scrobbesbyrigscir, also Scrobsetan], Worcestershire, Staffordshire, Warwickshire, Leicestershire, Nottinghamshire, Derbyshire, Chestershire, Lancastershire."

The termination in bridge, ford, and chester, cester, or caster, in wick, ton, ham, bury, by, clearly indicate town names, which, by extension, served to designate a shire, share, division of the kingdom. Lincolnshire, Yorkshire, Durham, are also named from the county towns; Rutland, Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmorland are not named from towns, but like the counties in the south, from the people, and the locality—after the analogy of England, Scotland, Ireland."

County Boundaries.—"All the estuaries, and the large, as well as some of the small rivers on the east coast, serve to mark the bounds of extensive Counties; the Tweed, Tyne, Tees, Humber, Wash, Yare, Stour, Thames, separate Northumberland, Durham, Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, and Kent, which were at one time or other of the Saxon period, separately or conjointly, small kingdoms.

"Rivers arise! whether thou be the son
Of utmost Tweed, or Ouse, or gulfy Don;
Or Trent, who like some earth-born giant spreads
His thirsty arms along th' indented meads;
Or sullen Mole, that runneth underneath,
Or Severn swift, guilty of maiden's death,
Or rocky Avon, or of sedgy Lea,
Or coaly Tyne, or ancient hallowed Dee,
Or Humber loud, that keeps the Seythian's name,
Or Medway smooth, or royal tower'd Thame."—Milton.

"On the south coast, the smaller rivers appear to have been disregarded in fixing the bounds of Kent, Sussex, Hampshire, Dorset, and Devon; but the 'Tamar' divides Devon from Cornwall."

"The 'Bristol Channel' and the estuary of the 'Severn' separate Somerset and Devon from Glamorganshire and Monmouthshire; the indentations of the coast by estuaries, mark, on the west coast, the divisions of the Welsh counties; the 'Dee' divides Flint from Cheshire, the 'Mersey,' Cheshire from Lancashire; which now extends over the Ribble and Morecambe Bay, to the Duddon and Windermere, where it touches Cumberland and Westmoreland."

"The 'Thames' is a boundary from its mouth almost to its source; it separates Essex, Middlesex, Buckinghamshire, and Oxfordshire, on its north bank—from Berkshire, Surrey, and Kent on the south bank. The arrangement on the 'Severn' is different; the county towns of Gloucester, Worcester, and Shrewsbury, are on its banks, and the Counties extend to the hills on both sides. Herefordshire, in like manner, extends over the middle portion of the basin of the 'Wye.'"

Sub-division of Lieutenancy.—“The laws relating to the Militia may be said to affect, directly or indirectly, every man in the country. At the present time the Militia force for England and Wales is fixed at 80,000 men, who could be called out and embodied upon a short notice. But in order to meet the contingency of a falling off in voluntary enlistment, a machinery is provided for procuring a sufficient number of men by means of the ballot.

“The several Sub-divisions of Lieutenancy in many Counties are identical with the Petty Sessional Divisions. Assuming the exempted classes to be pretty equally distributed, the total male population will afford a basis for computing the proportionate number of Militiamen to be raised in each Sub-division of Lieutenancy.

“The persons liable to serve in the Militia are those between the ages of 18 and 35; but the following, amongst others, are exempt:—Army, Navy, Marines, and members of any corps of Yeomanry or Volunteers; resident members of the Universities, Clergymen, Ministers of registered places of worship, Attorneys, Constables, and other Peace Officers, Articled Clerks, Apprentices, Seamen, or seafaring men, Artificers in H.M. dockyards, Ordnance Artificers, and ‘any poor man who has more than one child born in wedlock.’” See 43d sect. of 42 Geo. 3. c. 90.

Hundreds, Tithings, Hides.—“Sub-divisions of the shires have existed since the age of Alfred; and ‘hundreds,’ ‘tythings,’ and ‘hides,’ are named in the early Saxon laws, charters, and other records.

The simplest view may be thus stated: England was divided into hides—about 274,950 in number;* and a hide of land, containing 100 or 120 acres, supported a free family; ten such free families constituted a tything; ten or twelve tythings a hundred; an indefinite number of hundreds, a shire. The hundred is used in the Domesday return (1086), as a well-defined territorial division of the county.”†

“Sir Henry Ellis cites passages from ancient records, in which the Hide is said to contain 120 acres—sexies viginti acras terræ. He adds, “The circumference that six score went to the hundred, is countenanced by an entry relating to the mansions in Lincoln. ‘Ex prædictis mansionibus quæ T.R.E. fuerunt hospitale, sunt modo waste cc Anglieo numero—ccXL.’ Domesd. tom. i. fol. 336. So before, in the same folio, ‘In civitate Lincolnie erant tempore regis Edwardi novies centum et lxx mansiones hospitale. Hic numerus Anglice computatur i centum pro cxx.’ Hence, probably, the old saw—

‘Five score of men, money, and pins,
Six score of all other things.’

Introduction to Domesday, vol. 1, pp. 147–9.”

Wapentake.—The name had its origin in a custom of touching of lances or spears when the hundereder, or chief, entered upon his office; the custom originated with the Danes. “In naming the districts corresponding to hundreds in Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, and Nottinghamshire, the term ‘hundred’ was abandoned, and wapentake was used.

“The Danes, like the ancient inhabitants of the North in general, elected their chiefs, and signified their assent to any proposition at the Things, by Vaabentag, or Vaabentarm (sound, or clang of arms). Vaabentag (wapentake) might thus have become the name of a small district, having its own chief and

† Palgrave, English Commonwealth, vol. i. p. 97. He quotes Hickes' Gram. Isl. p. 43, to show that in the North a hundred was six score; and that the decad in their numeration contained 10 or 12 units. “Hundrade—usurpatur pro numero cxx. . . . Causa istius computationis hac est, quod istas gentes duplex est decas, nempe minor, ceteris nationibus communis decem continens unitates; et major, continens duodecim, id est, tolf. unitates.”

its own Thing. A law of King Ethelred's 'ordains' that there shall be in every Wapentake a Gemot, or Thing.

"In Scandinavia, and particularly in the south of Norway, provinces or Fylker (petty kingdoms) were not only divided into halves (hálfur), and fourths (fiórthungar), but also into thirds or tre-dinger (thridjungar), which completely answer to the north English 'thrithing' [riding]. It was, moreover, to the Tredings-things that all disputed cases were referred from the smaller district Things.—The Danes and Northmen in England, by Worsaae, pp 158-9."

Rapes.—The Rapes of Sussex were military governments at the time when Domesday Book was compiled, the Conqueror having stationed his principal captains there in such manner as to secure a ready passage to and from the coast, and thereby his communication with Normandy.

Lathes.—The Lathes of Kent seem to have been civil jurisdictions and of earlier date, connected perhaps with the Cinque Ports, and for defence of the coast against invasion.

Sessional Divisions.—"The divisions existing in all the Counties of England and Wales for the purposes of special and petty sessions, are in general based on the hundreds and other ancient County Sub-divisions.*

Municipal Cities and Boroughs.—"When the 'Anglo-Saxons' first invaded England, 'the woods' were no longer 'the towns' of the natives. The Britons had been collected in cities, polished but subjugated by the Roman legionaries, who lived in villas, and towns on taxes which their publicans collected. Unlike the adventurous Colonists and "Pilgrim Fathers," who planted the British race in America, they did not find nations less civilized than themselves.

"The 'Saxon' borough was a modification of the 'Hundred,' the burgesses were freemen bound to each other as neighbours, responsible for each other to surrounding communities, sharing common burthens; classified further in Guilds of Trades, or Companies, which sprang up with the divisions of labour; and banded firmly together for the defence of their walls, and dwellings."

"It must be clearly understood," observes one of the ablest of our constitutional historians, "that a Saxon Burgh was nothing more than a Hundred, or an assemblage of Hundreds, surrounded by a moat, a stockade, or a wall; and the name of the Hundred was actually given to some of the most considerable cities, burghs, and towns of England [as Norwich, Thetford, Chelmsford, Maldon, Colchester, Winchelsea, Canterbury, Faversham, Fordwich, Exeter, several of them on Roman foundations]."[†]

Boroughs in Domesday, An. 1086.—"London, Winchester, Abingdon, and some other boroughs of importance are not entered in 'Domesday,' and were probably not surveyed by the commissioners of William I. The customs of 41 cities and burghs are noticed with some detail.

"The eleven cities of London, Bristol, Canterbury, Chester, Exeter, Gloucester, Lichfield, Lincoln, Norwich, Worcester, York; and the five towns of Kingston-on-Hull, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Nottingham, Poole, Southampton, in England: and two, Carmarthen and Haverfordwest, in Wales, are 'Counties of themselves,' as was also the city of Coventry until lately.

New Municipal Boroughs.—"Eleven Towns have received Charters of Incorporation since 1851, namely, Aberavon, Brighton, Burnley, Dewsbury, Hanley, Margate, Middlesborough, Rochdale, Stalybridge, Wrexham, and Yeovil.

"The Municipal boundaries of the Borough of Salford have been extended, and made coextensive with those of the Parliamentary Borough; those of Stockton have also been enlarged by the Stockton Extension and Improvement Act, 1852.

Townships, Parishes, Manors.—Re-distribution of England after the Conquest.—"In 1066, the Conqueror seized, besides the Crown lands, the lands of the Anglo-Saxon or Danish proprietors, who fell in the battle of Hastings; and, in the course of his reign, acquired the estates of many rebellious Thanes. He distributed a large portion of these lands as the pay of past and of future services, among the chieftains in his army, who retained large domains for themselves, and distributed the rest on similar terms among the officers and men under their command.

"The Estates of the Church, and of the chief Monasteries also, passed into the hands of the Norman clergy.

"The tenants who held immediately of the King, including ecclesiastical corporations, amounted to 1,400 the under-tenants to 7,871, at the time of the great survey (A. D. 1086),* which exhibits an apparently new division of the country into manors."

"In the Domesday Record the Kingdom is divided into Counties; the Counties into the lands (terras) of the King, Bishop, and tenants-in-chief (tenentes terras); and these again into manors, under the respective Hundreds; which generally included the whole or parts of several Manors."

"The ancient demesne of the Crown consisted of 1,422 manors; Earl Moretaine, the Conqueror's half-brother, held 793 manors; Alan Earl of Bretagne, 442; Odo Bishop of Baieux, 439; the Bishop of Coutance, 280; Roger de Busti, 174; six other tenants, 174, 164, 162, 150, 116, 100 Manors;† thus 4,416 Manors were held; 1,422 by the King, and 2,994 by eleven of his followers.

"Villa was another term for manor (manerium) or Lordship; and in the Exeter Domesday, mansio is almost constantly used for manerium. The Manor was what Bede had called the 'place' (locus), in the midst of which the churches were built,‡ or the old temples had stood; the village and surrounding neighbourhood, where the people lived for the sake of society and of defence, with their headman or Thane, dwelling in his capacious hall, built of wood by the bondmen from his demesne, covered with reeds and straw, or a roof of wooden shingles, through which the smoke from the hearth ascended.§ This hall often became a stone mansion, and the home of the chief tenant a castle, in the period immediately following the Norman Conquest."

"The Kingdom was held securely; there was a Military chief and a strong post in every Parish

* See vol. ii. of Sir Henry Ellis's valuable introduction to Domesday, p. 511, et passim.

† Enumerated by Lord Lyttelton, Brady, Hutchins, Kelham, and collected in Introduction to Domesday, vol. i, pp. 225-6. Ed. 8vo. The tenants in chief and the under tenants have been enumerated by the diligence of Sir Henry Ellis.

‡ The Scotch missionaries, about A.D. 635, came to Britain. "Construebantur ergo ecclesiae per loca, confluebant ad audiendum verbum populi gaudentes, donabantur numere regis possessiones, et territoria ad instituenda monasteria." Hist. Ec. iii. 3.

of the Country ; surrounded by 60,215 knights, in the possession of as many fees or portions of territory. Of forty-nine castles which are mentioned in 'Domesday,' only that of Arundel existed in the time of Edward the Confessor : eight it is known were built by the Conqueror, ten by great barons, one by an under-tenant : and the numbers increased so rapidly that 1,115 'adulterine' castles were counted at the close of Stephen's reign (An. 1153)."

"The lord, resident, either in a Castle with its keep and mount—in a hall, or in a fortified house (domus defensabilis),—and his court encroaching on the hundred court,—for a time gave a new character and name to the Township, the priestshire, or the parish ; but it is much more probable that the old sub-divisions, which had existed for centuries, and are sometimes named vills in the reign of Edward the Confessor, were chosen as the limit of the manor, than that the country was wholly recast and divided into the same number of new districts in the reign of William I.

"Manors underwent changes, and new manors were frequently created, until the Statute Quia emtores put an end to their increase in the reign of Edward I. (A.D. 1290) : the lords of new manors probably erected churches and appointed clergymen—according to the common theory ; but the parish boundaries, surrounding the old township—guarded by the spiritual supervision of the priest, and by the tithe-owner—were not originally derived from the manor ; and only assumed their legitimate importance in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, when they were made the area of the district which by rates maintained its own poor."

Dioceses.—"The division of the Country ecclesiastically into Dioceses, Archdeaconries, and Deaneries, took place in very early times. Most of the present Bishoprics were founded in the Saxon period. Originally there were three Archbishoprics—of 'Canterbury,' 'York,' and 'Caerleon,' in Wales ; the latter was suppressed by Henry I., and the Territory annexed to the See of Canterbury. Most of the Dioceses, on their first formation, had their limits coextensive with the boundaries of the Kingdoms of the sovereigns who formed them ; sub-divisions soon, however, were discovered to be necessary, and the Council of Hertford, convened by Archbishop Theodore, decreed that, as the faithful grew to be more numerous, the number of the Sees should also be increased."

"Archdeacons anciently were only members of Chapters without territorial jurisdiction. The assignment of specific limits for 'Archdeaconries' took place soon after the Conquest.*

"The Act of 6 & 7 Wm. IV., cap. 77, gives power to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to re-arrange the boundaries of the ancient, and to form certain new, Archdeaconries. The new ones formed in exercise of this authority, are Bristol, Maidstone, Monmouth, Westmoreland, Manchester, Lancaster, and Craven."

Deaneries.—"Deans are principally of two kinds : (1) those attached to Cathedrals, who are the heads of the different Chapters ; and (2) Rural Deans, who perform certain functions as assistants to the Bishops, in particular definite portions of the several Dioceses.

"These Rural Deaneries were recognized Ecclesiastical Divisions of a Diocese in Saxon times. They seem to have been designed to correspond with Hundreds in the political division of the country, as Archdeaconries were possibly intended to correspond with Counties."

"The etymology of the word (Decanus) favours this idea ; and it is not improbable that all such Deaneries originally embraced Districts with ten churches, and no more ; their boundaries, once settled, never having been disturbed, although increase of population caused an increase in the number of religious edifices. Some of them still contain ten churches only. These Deaneries gradually fell into disuse from the period of the Conquest ; but recent Legislation tends to their revival." (See 6 & 7 Wm. IV., cap. 77.)

* The first assignment was by Archbishop Lanfranc, A.D. 1165.

“Parishes.—The Parish, although an Ecclesiastical Division, was early adopted by the State as a circumscription for civil purposes both in Great Britain and Ireland; and unless in the centres of population, the Parish, more or less accurately defined; is the object of primary interest to its inhabitants, especially in Religious and Educational matters, that the interest of almost every man is attached to the concerns, civil and spiritual, of his own ‘parish,’ before it diverges to those of the Country at large.”

The population of every Parish is returned in the present publication; and in the northern counties, where the parishes are of vast extent, and are sub-divided into well-defined townships, the population of each township is separately returned, and also each Ecclesiastical District.

Dioceses, Ecclesiastical Districts, and New Parishes.—“By the Census Act it was required that the account to be taken should include not only, as at former Censuses, the population of Parishes and Townships, but also the population of ‘Ecclesiastical Districts’ in England and Wales.

“The ancient primary division of the land, for ‘spiritual purposes,’ was exclusively into Parishes; but, in the course of time, as Population increased and additional Churches were erected, certain portions of particular Parishes came to be assigned by custom to the newly Established Places of Worship; and these at length, under the name of Chapelries, acquired boundaries as definite and generally recognized as those of the parent parish.”

“This is especially the case in the more Northern Counties, where, the Parishes being of very large extent, while the Population has increased with great rapidity, the need for such a further sub-division soon became apparent. The number of such Chapelries throughout England and Wales is not exactly ascertainable, but it must be very considerable.”

Ecclesiastical Districts.—“The term ‘Ecclesiastical District,’ as employed in the Census Act, was not intended to apply either to these merely conventional districts or to the ancient Chapelries, but to that considerable number of districts which have in late years been formed under the authority of the various Acts of Parliament providing for extensions of the Establishment.

“By these Acts, which commence in 1818, power is given to the Commissioners for building new Churches (established by 53 Geo. III., cap. 45) to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners (established by 6 & 7 Wm. IV., cap. 77), and to the Bishops of the various Dioceses (authorized by 1. & 2 Wm. IV., cap. 38), to assign appropriate districts to any New Churches for which an adequate endowment is secured, either by the Sub-division of single Parishes, or by the consolidation of parts of several Parishes.

“The Acts contain various provisions defining the precise Ecclesiastical character of these new Districts: some of them being merely subordinate portions of the original Parish, while others are, under certain circumstances, to become ‘New Parishes,’ being, for all Ecclesiastical objects, entirely independent of the mother Parish.”

“In 1856 the Act of 19 & 20 Vict. c. 104 (commonly known as Lord Blandford’s Act) was passed, for the creation from time to time of new Parishes for all Ecclesiastical purposes, with the same status as those created under Sir R. Peel’s Act of 1843. The Act comes into operation on the avoidance of the living of the mother-parish, or sooner; and it is expected that the removal of many anomalies will be effected through its operation.”

Districts (Unions), and Registrar’s Districts.—“The Act for ‘the Amendment and Better Administration of the Laws relating to the Poor, empowered the Poor Law Commissioners 'to declare so many Parishes as they may think fit to be united for the Administration of the Laws for the Relief of the Poor.*' The united Parishes were designated Unions, which generally are co-extensive with Superintendent Registrar's Districts.

"The Act also provided for the Election of a Representative Board of Guardians; and for the appointment of Officers in every Union, by whom the Local rates for the relief of the poor, and for many other purposes, are collected and expended.

"The 'Unions,' under the Act for Registering Births, Deaths, and Marriages in England (6 and 7 Will. IV., c. 86, 1836), were sub-divided into as many smaller Districts as the Commissioners, subject to the approval of the Registrar-General, thought fit.

"The whole of England and Wales under the Registration Act is divided at the present time into 634 Superintendent Registrar's Districts. A district comprises on an average three or four sub-districts (in all 2,194, to each of which there is a Registrar of Births and Deaths.

New Poor Law Unions and Superintendent Registrar's Districts.—"During the last ten years eleven 'New Poor Law Unions' and 'Superintendent Registrars' Districts,' have been formed, either from the severance of Parishes from large Unions (as in the case of Birkenhead taken from the Wirral Union), or by bringing into Unions parishes previously in Gilberts' Incorporations, or under the Act of Elizabeth. The new Unions, or Superintendent Registrars' districts, are Bedwelty, Birkenhead, Dulverton, Gower, Great Ouseburn, Hartlepool, Kirkdeighton, Mile-End Old Town, Wetherby, Wharfedale, and Whitechurch."

Wards.—"Under the Metropolitan Local Management Act, 19 Vict., c. 120. The Population is given according to the Census of 1861 in the several Wards formed for the Election of Vestrymen in metropolitan parishes."

(The boundaries are given in the Supplement to the "London Gazette." No. 21,802, Oct. 20th, 1855.)

* * As a guide to the Official Alphabetical Name of Places, the following is an extract from the Census of England and Wales, 1861—Vol. I. p. 752:—

"Owing to the still unsettled orthography of the Names of Places, and to the number of 'compound names,' it is not easy to supply a ready and unfailing reference. The difficulty is increased in the case of Places having additional names for the sake of distinction; as Great, or Little, East, West, North, or South, and the like. In some instances these prefixes become entirely incorporated in the Name; as in Easthampstead, Northallerton, Littlehampton; while in others the distinctive and the principal names are arbitrarily written separately or not, thus: New Church or Newchurch, Old Swinford or Old-swinford, and so on.

"In the present arrangement the principle has been adopted of inserting every 'name' in the order indicated by its ordinary pronunciation in the locality; thus, East Ham, West Ham, Little Bampton, Nether Witton, &c., will be severally found under the letters E, W, L, and N; but as in some cases the distinctive name might not be known, and as in others the search would perhaps be given up when the place was not found where it was sought for, the second name has also been inserted in its alphabetical order, as Molton, South ; Shields, North, &c."

"Superintendent Registrar's District, Union &c.—The Districts are generally co-extensive with the Poor Law Unions of the same name, but in some instances two or more Unions are combined to form one Registration District. In cases where the Union differs from the District, the name of the former is also inserted."

"For Parishes (in cities and boroughs) known only by the name of a Saint, search should be made under the letter S, where the abbreviation St. is classed as though written Saint in full.

"The Ecclesiastical Districts are usually inserted under the name of the Parish or Place out of which they have been formed, unless they have a clearly defined name. It is further to be observed that I and J, U and V., are deemed distinct letters.

"Should any place not be found on a first reference, it should be searched for under some probable variation of spelling. In some cases the words in the column headed 'Name of Place' have been abbreviated to reserve space."

"When the same word occurs as the principal name of places in different Counties, the alphabetical order of the county settles the priority of insertion, and in all such cases a departure from a strictly alphabetical arrangement has been deemed allowable.

"Before quitting the subject of our "Territorial Divisions," it may be useful to point out how necessary it is, when citing the Population of a Place, to state explicitly what limits are referred to. For example, the term 'Manchester' may mean the Parish, the Township, the Parliamentary Borough, the Municipal Borough, the Registration or Poor Law District, or the City in a popular sense, including suburban places. A want of precision in speaking of places which give name to several local sub-divisions not unfrequently leads to mistakes, and when such Places are compared with others, without proper care being taken to apply the comparison to corresponding boundaries, erroneous inferences are drawn."

EXPLANATION for REFERENCE.

Union.—The “District” of the same Name shows the Population of the “Union,” when not otherwise expressed, as under the supervision of the Superintendent Registrar of the District. Appointed Pursuant to the Statute 6 and 7 William IV. cap. 86.

District.—“Superintendent Registrar’s Districts”—are generally co-extensive with the ‘Poor Law Unions’ of the same name, but in some instances two or more Unions are combined to form one Registration District. In cases where the Union differs from the District, the Name and Population of the former is also inserted.

“For Parishes (in Cities and Boroughs) known only by the name of a Saint, search should be made under the letter S, where the abbreviation St. is classed as though written Saint in full.

“The Ecclesiastical Districts are usually inserted under the name of the Parish or Place out of which they have been formed, unless they have a clearly defined Name.

Spelling.—“Should any Place not be found on a first reference, it should be searched for under some probable variation of spelling. In some few cases the words in the Column headed ‘Name of Place’ have been abbreviated to reserve space.

Counties.—“When the same word occurs as the principal Names of Places in different Counties, the Alphabetical Order of the County settles the priority of insertion, and in all such cases a departure from a strictly Alphabetical arrangement has been deemed allowable.

Boundaries.—“Before quitting the subject of our ‘Territorial Divisions,’ it may be useful to point out how necessary it is, when citing the Population of a Place, to state explicitly what limits are referred to. For example, the term ‘Manchester’ may mean the ‘Parish,’ the ‘Township,’ the ‘Parliamentary Borough,’ the ‘Municipal Borough,’ the ‘Registration or Poor Law District,’ or the ‘City,’ in a popular sense, including Suburban Places. A want of precision in speaking of Places which give Name to several local sub-divisions not unfrequently leads to mistakes, and when such Places are compared with others, without proper care being taken to apply the comparison to corresponding boundaries, erroneous inferences are drawn, and thus the Parish may be taken for the Town of the same Name, and vice versa the ‘Town’ for the ‘Parish,’ etc., unless care is taken to define the ‘Territorial Limit’ or Area.”

^a Grouville includes the ancient village of Gorey, but a considerable and populous portion of the modern Gorey extends into the adjoining parish of St. Martin. This latter portion embraces Gorey Harbour, and includes the crews of the oyster fishing vessels (205 persons) who were afloat on the night of the 7th April, 1861, also 71 persons on board of Her Majesty's Ship "Dasher," stationed there for the protection of the fishery.

Peel.—The increase may be attributed to the general improvement of trade, and especially the increase of ship-building.

Lezayre.—Increase from contiguity to the increasing town of Ramsey.

Ramsey.—Many English residents have recently settled in this town.

Douglas is rapidly rising as a watering-place and as a place of trade.

Glossary

Of the Prefixes and Affixes to the Names of Cities, Towns, and Places.

* * The present Glossary is an extension of that printed in the Enumeration Abstracts of 1831 and 1841. Most of the Welsh appellatives (distinguished as Br., British) are given on the authority of the late Mr. Rickman; for the signification of the others the following works have been consulted:—Bosworth's Anglo-Saxon Dictionary, Jamieson's Gaelic Dictionary, Kemble's Saxons in England, and Carlisle's and Lewis's Topographical Dictionaries.

The following abbreviations are used:—A.S., Anglo-Saxon; Br., British; Cel., Celtic; Fr., French; Gael., Gaelic; Lat., Latin; Scan., Scandinavian; Sax., Saxon; but as many of the Names are common to several dialects, it is not intended to convey that they are all of the precise origin suggested.

The term County was given to these divisions because they were governed by Counts, that is Earls. They were also called Shires, which means Divisions, from (A. S.) sciran, to cut or divide. The County Town is that in which the general business of the County is transacted, and the assizes held. Before the passing of the Reform Bill, it was the only place for polling at County Elections.

Bedfordshire—formerly Bedianfordshire. Bedianford is from (A. S.) bedician, to fortify; and ford. It means the ford near the fortress.

Berkshire—a contraction of bare-oak shire, so called because meetings were held at a bare or polled oak in Windsor Forest.

Buckingham—(A. S.) boc, a beech tree; and ham, a dwelling.

Cambridgeshire—from the bridge over the Cam, on which river the town stands.

Carlisle—from caer, a fortified place, and Luil, a contraction of Luguvallum, the Roman name of the town.

Chelmsford—the ford of the Chelmer, the river it stands on.

Cheshire—formerly Chestershire. Chester is only the altered form of ceaster, a fortified place. It received the name from its strong fortifications, and the city now contains the ruins of more Roman defences than any other town in England.

Census of England and Wales, 1861.

Cornwall—from Brit. cernyw (pr. kernoo), a horn; and (A. S.) walli, foreign. The first part of the name was given by the Britons, from its jutting out into the sea in the shape of a horn; the latter by the Saxons, because it continued to be inhabited by the Britons, who were foreigners to them.

Cumberland—from Comb, a valley. This county abounds in hills, and consequently in valleys. It was a part of the old British kingdom of Cumbria, which extended from the mouth of the Clyde to the S. of Yorkshire, on the W. side of the Island.

Devon—land of the Damnonia.

Derbyshire—from deor, a wild animal, and by, a dwelling. Or it may be a contraction of Derventby, the town being on the Derwent.

Dorsetshire—a contraction of Dorchestershire—the land of the Dornsætan, from Sætan settlers.

Durham—from (A. S.) deor, a wild animal, and ham, abode. It was also called Dunholm, from Dun, a hill, and holm, an island; the city being on a hill, and almost surrounded by the river Wear. The Bishop now signs himself Dunelm.

Essex—from East, and Seaxe, Saxons.

Exeter—formerly Exchester, from Ex, the river on which it stands, and ceaster, a fortified place.

Gloucester—perhaps from British glow, splendid, or strong; or Welsh gleaw, strong, and ceaster.

Hampshire—a contraction of Hamptonsire, i. e., the shire of Hampton, the old name for Southampton.

Herefordshire—from (A. S.) here, an army; and ford, i. e., where the army went over.

Hertford—(A. S.) heart, a stag; and ford. The arms of the town are a stag in the water.

Huntingdonshire—means the hunter's hill, from hunt, and (A. S.) dun, a hill.

Ipswich—formerly Gyppenswich, from Gipping, a tributary of the Orwell, on which it stands, and wic, a dwelling.

Kent—from a Celtic word meaning projection, on account of its jutting out so far into the sea.

Lancashire—formerly Lancastershire. Lancaster is from the Lune (the river the town stands on), and castra or (A. S.) ceaster, a fortified place.

Leicestershire—from Leir, the old name of the R. Soar, on which it stands, and ceaster, a fortified place.

Lewes—from (A. S.) leswes, pastures.

Lincolnshire—from (Brit.) llyn, a lake or pool, and (Lat.) colonia, a colony. It was formerly called Lindum, from llyn, and (Brit.) dinas, a hill. The full name, Lindum Colonia, means the colony on the hill near the water. The old part of Lincoln is high, and in the event of a flood the neighbourhood is even now covered with water.

Maidstone—a contraction of Medway's town; it being on that river.

Middlesex—the Middle Saxons, so called as being between the E. Saxons and W. Saxons.

Newcastle—from a castle built by Robert, the son of William the Conqueror. It was formerly called Monkchester, on account of its numerous monastic institutions.

Norfolk—North, and (A. S.) folc, people.

Northamptonshire—from (A. S.) ham, an abode, and ton, town. It was formerly called Hamton or Hampton, as many places in England are still. Such places were originally named merely ham, but as they increased in size the term ton was affixed to them. This town was called Northampton, to distinguish it from another flourishing hampton, which was called Southampton.

Northumberland—land North of the Humber. This county retains very nearly the name of the (A. S.) kingdom, which extended from the Humber to the Forth.

Norwich—from Nord, North, and wic, a dwelling, probably so named to distinguish it from Sudbury, i. e. the South bury or town.

Nottinghamshire—formerly Snotenga-ham, from ham, a home, and possibly Snotenga caves, which are numerous under and near the town, excavations having been made by the people for various purposes. It may be remembered, that the murderers of Mortimer, Isabella's paramour, entered the castle by a subterranean passage.

Oxford—the ford of oxen.

Rutlandshire—from (A. S.) rude, red, and land. The soil is in many parts of a reddish colour.

Shropshire—Scrobbsbyrigscir, also Scrobsætan (from Sætan, settlers). Shrewsbury is from (A. S.) scrobb, a shrub, and bury, a town, i. e., the town amongst shrubs.

Census of England and Wales, 1861.

Somerset—the land of the Sumorsætan.

Staffordshire—from (A. S.) staef, a staff or pole, and ford, from faran, to go. It may mean the part of the river which could be gone over by means of stilts. This mode of going over a river was once not uncommon.

Suffolk—(A. S.) Suth, South; and fole, people.

Sussex—from Suth, South; and Seaxa, Saxons.

Surrey—from Suth, South, and ea, land near water; so called from being south of the Thames. Some think the last part of the word is from rica, a kingdom, in which case it would mean the southern kingdom.

Taunton—from Tone, the river it is upon, and ton, a town.

Warwickshire—Warwick is an abbreviation of Waeringwic, which means a fortified place; vering being a bulwark, and wic, a dwelling.

Westmorland—from (A. S.) mor, a moor or heath. The West moor land, i. e., the land in the West abounding in moors.

Worcestershire—the etymology is very uncertain. It was formerly called Wigraceaster, which may be connected with (A. S.) wig, war; if so, it would mean war city, but this is very doubtful, for no reason can be assigned for such a name.

Wiltshire—a contraction of Wiltonshire. Wilton is a town on the Wily, from which it is named the land of the Wilsætan (from Sætan settlers).

Yorkshire—York is probably from Ure, (a part of the river now called the Ouse, seems to have been once called the Ure and Wic, a village.) It is called in (A. S.) Eurewic. The old Roman name was Eboracum. The Archbishop still signs himself Ebor.
