I, Gideon J. Jolly of the County of Breckenridge and State of Kentucky, being of sound mind and memory make this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other will made by me.

First: I will that all my just debts and funeral expenses be paid.

Second: After the payment of my debts & such expenses as may be necessary in the settlement of my estate, I desire that the remainder of my estate be disposed of as the statute laws of my State provides.

Third: I hereby constitute and appoint my wife Eliza Jolly Executrix of my estate, and I hereby authorize and empower her to sell any of my real estate and execute deeds of conveyance for the same, and where I have heretofore sold lands, if the deeds for conveyance of the same have not been executed, I hereby authorize and empower her to execute the same, and to do all and every thing that may be necessary to complete and carry out such contracts, and all contracts that I may have made. My estate part of it, may be difficult of settlement, and I have many notes and claims, due me on persons who are insolvent, and as I have all confidence in my wife's ability, and desire to do the best she can for all parties concern. I do not wish her to be held to a strict legal responsibility, and I request the Court not to require security of her on her bond as my Executrix.

In Testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this the 5th day of December 1894
