59. I Stephen Holton the old and impotent yet rational have directed my clerk to write this Instrument of writing to be Recorded as Publick Registes as a perpetual testimony of this my last Will and testament which I now make in the Presence of god and the subscribing Witnesses. Next I commit my spirit to my god who gave it. and I desire that the frail body when I die may be decently entred by my surviving friends and neighbors.

Second. I bequeath all I possess both real and personal to my beloved wife Eliza and son William to be held by them in common, but on the condition that my wife may at her death have the disposal of the personal Estate but the real Estate shall forever appertain to my son.
