Mr. Thomas Shanklin and Jane Houston both of Bullitt County Kentucky, do hereby Commit to writing the declaration of Josiah, or as he may, sometime, called Staple, Staples, tomb. Thomas Shanklin states, that the said Josiah Staples being sick, on his death bed, at the house of John Anderson in Bullitt County where he the said Staples lived, and had for several months previous to his death lived and resided - he the said Staples on his last illness on Saturday evening the 2^d day of this present month May, called to him the said Thomas Shanklin, and declared to him that he must shortly die, and could not live, and that he the said Staples wished his property distributed as follows, to wit: To Dr. P. T. Hornbeck who was one of the Physicians who attended said Staples in his last illness, he devised and bequeathed a sorrel horse which he owned named Jack Patton which he purchased of Isaac Hornbeck of said County. At the said Staples also at the same time, declared to me that he then had in his possession of his own the sum of Forty Dollars, that he wished the said Preston T. Hornbeck to have the same, and out of the money to pay Matthew Wilson Merchant of Shepherdsville the sum of about fifty Dollars which he the said Staples owed to the said Wilson, the remaining twenty five dollars he bequeathed and devised to the said Preston T. Hornbeck. The said Isaac Staples further at the same time and place stated to me that it was his will and desire that Isaac Hornbeck should be at the expense of burying him decently, and that he the said Staples held some notes on the said Isaac Hornbeck, the number of the notes and the amount thereof he did not say, but that they were entitled to a Credit of Thirty Three Dollars and some odd Cents, the amount of Cents not distinctly remembered, but it was his will and desire that these notes should be given up to the said Isaac Hornbeck, and that he should be reimbursed and discharged from the payment thereof.

Jane Houston states that on the 2^d of this present month May being on Thursday evening of said day she was at the house of John Anderson in Bullitt County Kentucky where Josiah Staples then lay sick on his deathbed, and where he the said Staples then resided and had resided for more than ten days previous to the speaking of the words hereinafter stated - At the said Staples called to the said Dr. Preston T. Hornbeck, and requested him to make what he said - At the said Staples then proceeded to state that he wished him the said Preston T. Hornbeck to take some money, about fifty, which he had in his pocket up to day, and out of that sum to pay Matthew Wilson Merchant of Shepherdsville the sum of fifteen, after he Staples was dead, and that he the said Preston should satisfy himself. Now P. T. Hornbeck interrupted him, and replied he hoped he would live to satisfy himself with his own business, and then the said P. T. Hornbeck withdrew from the sick room, and the said Staples came to me and proceeded to state, that he wished after his death Preston T. Hornbeck to have by some horse, He also stated that he wished his clothes given to his brother Fleming Staples, that he could not wear them and that they would do him no good, but he wished him to have them after his said Josiah's death. He further stated to me that Isaac Hornbeck was owing him about the sum of about or near of 200. That after his death he wished the said Isaac to have him decently buried and pay his burial expens - and after that, it was his will and desire that the said Isaac Hornbeck should keep the balance, and that he should be discharged from the payment thereof - This latter part of his Consideration relative to his affairs with Isaac Hornbeck the said Staples again repeated to me in the presence of Dr. P. T. Hornbeck. 7 May 1833.
