their duties as such. As my sons are inexperienced in matters of this kind I advise them to consult with my friend A B Temple and with my friend and brother in law Robert W Scott gentlemen in whom I have the utmost confidence as men of judgment & integrity. I also desire that there shall be no sale of my personal property, but that they shall sell my real estate which may be necessary to pay my debts and maintain the family. I commend to their kind & filial attention my wife that they be to her sons indeed. She may retain such of the household & kitchen furniture as she may find necessary for her comfort. I state here that my son Mason had never drawn or been paid the legacy left him by my father and that my estate is chargeable with the same. I would advise him to make some equitable division of that fund with his brother who would have had a similar legacy if he had been born before my father's death. To whom it may concern - I Edward Dale while in health and strength and in the full enjoyment of my reason do will that in case of accident or sudden death or that I might be deprived of my reason that after my funeral expences is settled that in case my son in laws Gabriel Albin or Break Becknells will pay of the outstanding debts and resume business first taking inventory of all there is both real & personal after paying all debts the balance to be given to my wife Elizabeth Dale to be retained by her so long as she remains a widow. Should she again marry she then has one third, the bal divide equally amongst my children. The portion to my daughter Ellen Turner to be so fixt that it shall be used especially for her and her childrens benefit herself drawing as she need it. In case of her death her portion to be put out on good security for her children when they come of age. That I may be better understood, it is my wish that Gabriel or Break or both in company take the store with its contents pay my wife a rent for the store room and interest on the money invested after paying my debts. In case Sarah Jane Dale my daughter in law gets her fortune in England she will be well provided for and will not need any; then my son Edmunds share that she would be entitled to must be equally divided among the rest of the children as she and her child has had their support while here and could not help themselves while she rest was getting nothing. If Mr R Payne should be near at home I desire him to advise with my family and see that my wish is put out - Wm the Rev^d W J Smith
