The last Will and testament of Patrick Glynn.

I, Patrick Glynn of the County of Franklin and State of Kentucky, by occupation a Stone Mason, fully aware that next to my duty to my God, I owe to my family the duty of leaving my worldly affairs in proper shape, and my earthly house in such good order that all cause for any trouble that may occur because of my will with reference to the disposition of my worldly effects, and being of sound mind and unassisted by any undue influence, do of my own free will and accord, make this my last will and testament.

I hereby give and bequeath unto my beloved wife, Ann Glynn, all my property, both real and personal (which so far as I am aware of is all in the County of Franklin and State of Kentucky) during her natural life, and at her death I will and desire that said property go to be divided equally between my two Daughters, Bridget Glynn and Catharine Callaghan, and I hereby give and bequeath unto said Bridget Glynn and Catharine Callaghan, all of said property to be divided equally between them and unto their heirs, and assigns forever, said estate to vest in them at the death of the said Ann Glynn.

My intention and desire is that my wife, the said Ann Glynn shall have a life estate in all of my property, and that the remainder, forever, shall vest in my said Daughters, Bridget Glynn and Catharine Callaghan. My main reason for giving my said Daughters the whole of my said estate is that they are both unmarried and have no settled home of their own, and are therefore more helpless in their condition than the balance of my children.

As being my greatest desire to die, leaving all my children as near as it can be done in equal circumstances, I make this bequest to place my two homeless children above married, or nearly as I can, in a condition that will enable them to support themselves. This bequest is made to my two children, Bridget Glynn and Catharine Callaghan.
