I, Joseph C. Norman of Haverhill, Hancock County Kentucky, being in feeble health, but of sound mind and memory, do hereby make, publish and declare this to be my last will and Testament in manner and form following, (to wit):

First - I order and direct my wife Virginia as soon after my decease as practicable to pay off and discharge all the debts, dues, and liabilities that may exist against me at the time of my decease. Second - I give and bequeath unto my beloved wife Virginia my entire estate real and personal, during her natural life or widowhood, to manage and control as she may think best. Should it become necessary for her to dispose of any portion of my land for her benefit or for the purpose of educating my little daughter Mary I shall be her privilege to do so, not to exceed however one hundred acres; should my wife marry, in that case my will is that she give up all my estate into the hands of my children, except the home and lot we now occupy in Haverhill which I desire she shall occupy or dispose of during her lifetime, and at her death to be equally divided among my heirs. I wish it distinctly understood that my wife have the privilege and authority to determine what portions of my land shall be occupied or cultivated by any of my children during her widowhood or lifetime, and I wish it to be distinctly understood that my wife Virginia shall not be required to execute any bond to the Court or be required to give any security whatever.

Third - I desire that my children all be made equal at the death of my wife (except Joseph and my will is that he have one hundred Dollars in addition to what he has already received). The amounts received by each heir is as follows, to wit:

Charles C. Norman	$1075. ⁰⁰ / ₁₀₀
William A. Norman (now dead)	1110. ⁰⁰ / ₁₀₀
George W. Norman	1400. ⁰⁰ / ₁₀₀
Joseph C. Norman	400. ⁰⁰ / ₁₀₀

It is distinctly understood that the above amounts be received against each of the four above heirs in a final settlement of my estate. I wish it understood that the four heirs of William A. Norman, namely; Augustine, George Adams, Mary Virginia and Linn Vaden be equal sharers in their father's balance at the final division of my estate. The following is a list of the names of my children, Charles C. Norman, William A. Norman dec. George W. Norman, Annie V. Norman, Joseph C. Norman Jr. Linn A. Norman, Benjamin H.
