I Thomas Roberts make this codicil to my will. Whereas I hold three notes on the Robert's Bank for about two thousand dollars assigned to me by John Foley also a mortgage given to said Foley by Mr. Roberts to secure the payment of said notes which is assigned to me and whereas the Robert's Bank one half of the tract of land to his sister Jane Foley intending to retain fifty acres himself. Now it is my desire that this property should be divided between them that is my daughter Jane and my son Thomas in the manner in which they each hold possession of the premises and to that end my will is that after Thomas Roberts executing to Jane Foley a deed of conveyance for fifty acres the tract of land she holds that my executors shall forbear from the collection of said two notes on Thomas Roberts until my daughter releases her dower in said fifty acres held by the Robert's Bank and when she releases dower therein my executors shall proceed to collect from the Robert's Bank such sum of money as in addition to what he has formerly paid as will make one half of the original purchase price of the whole tract with interest. This sum so collected I give to said Jane Foley and the remainder of said two notes my executors are directed to release as also the mortgage on the premises to said the Robert's Bank it is understood that as I receive no consideration from the Robert's Bank and Jane Foley that my estate is not to be responsible if this arrangement by any means whatever is rendered ineffectual.
