belong to his wife Sarah Drummond to have and to hold after his death and it shall be the duty of the said wife to pay to the said Amos H. Drummond the right of her said husband in the said land that he then lived on and his heirs and assigns forever the said land to belong to them three acres and his last request was to have that the same not to be considered himself entitled to the said land three two shares out of seven being the number of his brothers and sisters and one of the two shares belonging to himself and the other two from his brother John & Drummond and he requested that his wife should not not continue with his brothers and sisters but submit to claims only the two
