

I, Kitty A. Taylor, of Hartford, Ohio County, Kentucky, do hereby make and publish this as my last will and testament, hereby revoking all others heretofore made by me.

I will and bequeath to my daughter Mary Ellen Tribble Walker, wife of Clarence E. Walker, of Louisville, Kentucky, after the payment of my debts, funeral expenses, and cost of administration, all the property I may own at my death, real, personal and mixed, as her sole and separate estate, not to be subject to the marital rights of her present husband, or any husband she may hereafter have, nor to the claims of any creditor of such husband, she shall have full power to dispose of any or all of said property by deed, will, or otherwise, but if any of it shall remain at her death undisposed of by her, such part shall go equally to such child or children of hers as may be living at her death, and to the then living descendants of any child of hers who may then be dead, such descendants taking the share which the parent, if living would take.

I own land in Ohio County, a house and lot in Hartford, Ky., and desire that my will be probated in the Ohio County Court.

Written and signed with my own hand at Hartford, Kentucky, This the 22nd day of January, 1894.

Kitty A. Taylor.
