

First

I John W. Canan of Ohio County and State of Kentucky being of sound mind make this my last will and testament this the 14th day of June 1893.
I will and bequeath to Florence L. Canan my wife the entire homestead the tract of land about 144 acres, upon which we now reside, to have and to hold her life time, at her death to be equally divided between Alonzo P. Ida P. and Lawrence B. Canan my three children my daughter Florence while having already received her interest in my estate.

Secondly

I will and bequeath to my wife Florence L. Canan, all of my personal property consisting of stock, horses, cattle &c farming utensils & household and kitchen furniture, in fact all of my property for her use and benefit, also to be used by her to raise and to school my two youngest children Ida P. and Lawrence B. I desire that my son Lawrence B. remain with Nancy P. Canan as long as she or he may live or as long as it may suit her to keep him, and when he leaves Nancy P. Canan to be provided for by my wife out of the proceeds of my property aforesaid. I desire that my wife Florence L. Canan be my sole executrix without bond, to settle my business to pay all just claims against my estate.
