I Thomas C. Taylor, citizen and resident of Ohio County, Kentucky, being of sound mind and disposing memory and recognizing the uncertainty of human life do hereby make this, my last will and testament.

I have heretofore, to-wit: on the 9th day of April 1890, deeded and conveyed unto my son Richard H. Taylor my farm and one half my live stock, which said deed is recorded in deed Book #10, page 3, Ohio County Clerk's office, and the considerations of which deed are expressed therein and which said deed and the terms and considerations thereof
I desire to be fully carried out.
It is my wish and desire that the present way and manner of conducting my household shall be observed in the future and my wife, my said son and daughters so long as the latter may remain unmarried, may abide and live there at their own pleasure, and my said son Richard H. and my wife Margaret, are requested and directed to so manage the old homestead as to observe the provisions hereof.
I hereby will and bequeath my one half of the live stock and all my other personal property of whatever kind and wherever situated to my beloved wife Margaret Taylor.

I hereby designate and appoint my son, R. H. Taylor as my sole executor and request the County Court permit him to qualify as such without bond Given under my hand this the 27th day of October, 1893, and witnessed by S. C. Taylor and Q. S. Taylor who sign their names in my presence, and in each other's presence and at my solicitation and request.

In the name of God, Amen!

I, Wesley Crowe, of Ohio County Kentucky, in view of the uncertainty of life, and being of sound mind and memory, do make and publish this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills, testaments and bequests heretofore made by me.

In the first place, I have already advanced to my following named children, Nancy Elizabeth May, W. V. Crowe, Mary Matilda Jesse D. Crowe, James W. Crowe, Joshua A. Crowe, Delilah Mitina Nance, and Charles M. Crowe Eleven hundred Dollars or its equivalent to each.

To my youngest child May Crowe, an infant of tender age, I have advanced nothing, nor have I as yet reared her as I have the others.

(Art 1st) Now I do will and bequeath to my said infant daughter May Crowe, Eleven hundred dollars ($1100⁰⁰) at my death and to make her equal with my other children before named in rearing. I do will and bequeath to her the use and benefit of the homestead, the place on which I now reside together with my beloved wife, Mary E. Crowe, to be used and enjoyed jointly with her until she my daughter arrives at the age of 21 years, or until she marries in case she marries before that time, in the event of my wife Mary E. Crowe leaving and giving up her homestead, and accepting in lieu of same the provisions of Art. 2 of this instrument, then my said daughter May Crowe I will shall have the use and benefit of said homestead solely until she becomes of age or marries.

Art 2nd

I will and bequeath to my beloved wife Mary E. Crowe such part of my household effects as the law would give her as my widow were I to make no will and further I will and bequeath to her the sum of Two Hundred Dollars, payable at my death or as soon thereafter as my executors hereinafter named can conveniently do so. This bequest is made by me and is to be accepted by my said wife if accepted at all in law of any and all her dowerable interest in any lands of which I may die seized of or may have been seized of at any time during our married life.

I further bequeath and will unto my said wife Mary E. Crowe the sum of Four hundred and fifty dollars in the event she shall determine at any time within eighteen months after my death to abandon her homestead and shall fully and completely relinquish her right thereto and shall actually cease to occupy said homestead, and my executors shall pay her said sum as soon after she shall come to a determination in the matter and relinquish her claim to said homestead and cease to occupy same as they can conveniently do so. In the event she shall prefer to do so however, I will and bequeath that my said wife occupy my said homestead on which I now live jointly with my daughter May Crowe until she (my daughter May) becomes of age or marries as set forth in Art 2nd herof and afterwards that she have the sole use and benefit of same for her natural life, in which case the bequest of $450⁰⁰ is annulled.

Art 3rd

"I will and bequeath to the daughter of my wife Mary E. Crowe by a former marriage, to-wit: to Mattie Stewart my step daughter the sum of Fifty dollars in token of my love for her and her mother.

Art 4th

My executors hereinafter named are directed to pay the bequests made herein, first, out of any money on hand at my death not required to pay my debts; if that be not
