I, William A. Forman, make this my last will and testament in the presence of the undersubscribed witnesses, viz:
I will bequeath to my wife Eveline M. Forman my entire real and personal estate my land consisting of 45 2/3 acres more or less upon which we now live. And all the personal property consisting of two mules and one mare, and fifteen head of cattle and forty five head of Hogs. And all the household and kitchen furniture also, all the crops of Tobacco and corn and hay and two wagons and all the farming utensils. Also all notes and accounts due me to have and to hold and to dispose of as she may deem proper. It is further understood that my wife Eveline M. Forman is to be my Executrix and that no bond shall be required of her. I also will and bequeath my daughter Nancy J. Snyder one dollar in cash, and to my son Charles A. Forman one dollar in cash, and to my son James W. Forman one dollar in cash, and to my son John O. Forman one dollar in cash, and to my son Edward P. Forman one dollar in cash, and to my son Cater W. Forman one dollar in cash, to be paid to them at my death by my Executrix. It is also understood that after my Executrix having paid to my daughter and sons the amount bequeathed to them, then my wife Eveline M. Forman is to have all the balance of money that I may possess.

It is my will that my Executrix shall pay off all debts and claims that are just against my estate said claim to be proven according to law
