I, James P. Taylor, being of sound mind and memory, but knowing it is appointed unto all men once to die, make and declare this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills by me made.

First: I give my soul to God. As to the goods with which it has pleased God to bless me, I give as follows:

I give to my son, Robert C. Taylor, after my debts and funeral expenses be paid and settled, my Brown horse saddle and bridle.

I hereby appoint my wife to be my executrix. I allow her to pay to Emma J. Beck, my eldest daughter one dollar ($1.00) also Margaret Carson, one dollar ($1.00) Martin N. Taylor one dollar ($1.00) Mary Lee, one dollar ($1.00) James L. Taylor one dollar ($1.00) Martha Thomas one dollar ($1.00) and Nancy Ann Taylor one dollar ($1.00). I allow my wife, my executrix, to pay to those seven the specified one dollar ($1.00) each is all I allow or intend them if it please God my wife live after my departure I give to her, my wife everything that I own or possess her life time provided she remain unmarried to another man. I do not allow my wife to give or sell to any of those seven that has received their part and portion except the one dollar ($1.00) each unless she may necessarily need means for her support which if she trade with them they shall pay her the value of such property as she may sell to them.

And at her death after all expenses be paid I allow and give to William M. Taylor, my youngest son, his share of my land to which he is entitled against Robert C. Taylor's share. After which I give to Robert C. and William M. Taylor's my two youngest sons all of my estate and property equal partners and shares, despoiling them to sell or trade any land except to me or another.

I have here appointed my wife, Mary Ann Taylor, my executrix, to settle my business according to this my last will and testament.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal on this the 22nd day of November, in this year of our Lord 1883.
