The nuncupative will of Charles W. Valerigen dec^d made in the last sickness of the deceased at the house of Enoch Polton in the Town of Alexandria, and where the Testator had resided about two years and who called on the undersigned Witnesses to bear Testimony that such was his will, and reduced to writing this thirteenth day of April 1819. The Testator declared, that after the payment of all his just debts, as well that due to Enoch Polton as all others he gave all the residue of his personal property to the Children of the said Enoch Polton to be equally divided among them, and that he was determined no heir of his the Testator should inherit or have any of his property. That the Testator gave as a reason for this disposition of his property, that the said Enoch Polton and his family had been so very kind and attentive to him the Testator it was the only compensation he could make them.
