Thomas Hill of lawfull age has this day called on me to see the following his last wishes executed. In the first place he wills that all his just debts ~~should~~ be paid after which it is his desire that ^{all} his estate both real and personal be kept together & that his wife and children together with his mother and her young children should live on and be supported by the proceeds of the same

Mr Hill likewise wills that the property which he got by his last wife should at her death be equally divided amongst the children of that marriage. Mr Hill states that as he never got any thing by his first wife he thinks it the duty of Major John Hatcher (who ought to have given him something) to provide for the family products by that connection.

Thomas Hill does not wish that his half Brothers should be supported from his property longer than the age at which they ought to be bound out.

Thomas Hill appoints Tom Hobson John Hatcher and Doct. Ford his executors.

This last now captioned Will of Thomas Hill dec^d was proved by William Randolph & William Clopton two of the Justices of the Peace & ordered to be recorded, and on the motion of Newton Ford who made oath according to law a probate thereof in due form is granted him he having entered into bond according to law
