Corner of the Survey, we began and extended a line S. 77° W. 22 p. to a red oak white oak and walnut; in a hollow, S. 37° W. 38 p. to a red oak black oak and mulberry, S. 85° W. 82 p. to three white oaks on the left hand the mansion house and what is called the old tract, together with a piece of one acre and three quarters in the Island on the River separately patented, which is devised to Robert Curran and leaving on the right hand what is termed in the will "the upland place" which is devised to Jonathan Curran; and the devise to Waddy Curran is mentioned in these words, "The ^{part} purchased of Jonathan Ingram" which part is a separate survey of 340 acres patented to Robert Curran on the 11th of Dec. 1797. upon a survey made in the name of the said Jonathan Ingram the 11th of Sept.
