

In the middle of April 1777 I received

Private of a Company called Hales's which was composed of soldiers of all ranks with 500 men and 100 horses to be sent to Virginia to be placed in a fort at Yorktown to meet the British.

I am about to take on board the following vessels to be sent to the Scampion and have been informed that it is sufficient for me to use one ship to be accompanied by a company of 150 men and 50 horses to make doings. It will be in a short time to be very late before for them to get to New York to be ready to attack that day or the 1st of April to be found near the fortification of New York where they will be in time to be present at the battle.
