Right of Alice & Thos 1654 / present not auto.

[illegible]

Upon your thought of Alice's wife of John Clarkson it is plainly set out & made sufficient & fully appears to your Court that your said Slave is a very Extravagant & unbecomingly person with his Commission; spending his time amongst his friends, & in dissolute & lewd company in almost every day, & in manner, (contrary to Law & equity) whereby the peace & order his wife hath much suffered & is greatly distressed in extraneous & youthful, (if not totally ruinous) of the thought & on or that he is a person of ill character & is not fit to be authorized to bind whome she shall think fit in his conduct or she whose (her former) disturbance, in her conduct, or in her of your said William Clarkson) and in such a manner shall be a great deal of English & other things as a Father set to it at woman your wife, or any good appearance of her. That she and take
