Vermillion are to pass and vest in the same manner as the residue of my estate as hereinafter directed, by the seventh clause.

Thirdly; In addition to what I have heretofore given my son James D. Vermillion, I give and bequeath to him, the sum of one Thousand and fifty dollars.

Fourthly; In addition to what I have heretofore given my daughter Mary A. Stone, I give and bequeath to her the sum of Three Hundred dollars.

Sixthly; I give and bequeath to my Grand daughter, Maria Vermillion, my negro girl, Nanna Jane.

Seventhly; I give and bequeath to my son, Wm. Vermillion, all the residue of my estate, of every character and description, provided however, that should the foregoing pecuniary legacies not be fully paid off to the several parties entitled to receive them before my death, then in that event the said Wm. Vermillion is to pay any balance which may remain unpaid at my death, to the party or parties entitled to receive such balance within five years from the happening of that event. And all payments and advancements made by me after this date to the said pecuniary legacies, are intended and to be regarded as being made towards the payment of the legacies herein devised to them. It being my intention, that the said pecuniary legacies shall only receive after this date, out of my estate, the amounts hereinbefore devised to them respectively.

Lastly; I hereby constitute and appoint my son Wm. Vermillion, Executor of this my last will and testament and desire and request that the Court before which it may be exhibited for probate, will not require him to give any security.
