I Joseph W. Bandy, of the County of Roanoke in the State of Virginia, being of sound mind and disposing memory, and recognizing the uncertainty of life, and the certainty of death, do make this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all all other wills previously made by me.

I direct that my body shall be decently buried and a monument erected over my grave, and enclosed with iron fence. I direct that all debts or demands due or owing to me shall be collected, and that all just debts or demands against me, either heretofore or hereafter contracted, including those incident to my death and burial shall be paid, and the residue of my personal property, if any, shall be paid or transferred to, and become the property of my brother, John C. Bandy, to have and use the same, or the proceeds thereof during his natural life, and after his death, it shall pass to and become the property of Miss Annie L. Kasey.

I also direct that all the lands and tenements of which I may die seized and possessed, shall be transferred to and become the property of my brother, the said John C. Bandy, to have, hold and use the same, and the emoluments thereof during his natural life, and after his death, the said lands shall become the property of the said Miss Annie L. Kasey, but the said John C. Bandy shall have authority, if he so desire, after my death, to sell said lands or any portion thereof, provided the said Miss Annie L. Kasey shall consent to said sale, by joining in a proper deed of conveyance of the same.

If the death of the said Miss Annie L. Kasey shall occur prior to that of the said John C. Bandy, and she leaves no heir of her body living at the time of his death, then all the above provisions for her benefit shall be void, and all of my property, both real and personal shall pass to, and be vested in said John C. Bandy to hold and dispose of as he may deem proper.

Nothing contained herein shall be construed to deprive me of the right, during my life time, to sell or dispose of any or all of my property, either real or personal, in any way I may deem proper.

I hereby appoint and constitute my friend D. C. Kefauver, the executor of this my last will and testament.

Given under my hand and seal this 5th day of September A. D. 1893.
