

Addendum

The following notes provide vital statistics and additional data for historians and genealogists alike. Although much of the data came from Candler's Colonial Records of Georgia, other sources include extractions from colonial correspondence between the Trustees in London and William Stephens, President of the Colony, freeholders; the Journals of John Wesley, Charles Wesley, William Stephens, and the Earl of Egmont.

Although this information is not a complete accounting of all of the above sources, mostly gleaned from the earliest records, it does help to supplement materials not treated elsewhere.

Rae and Mackintosh license to trade with Oakfuskees including Soogapooga's Wichagoes and Illahatchee, 1761.

Struthers, William and J. Morgan issued license to trade with Wewoka including New Town, 1761.

Trewin, William and J. Germany issued license to trade with Mucklasees, Savanalis opposite Mucklasee or shaircula savanalis, 1761. Trewin license to trade with Little Oakchoys, Welonkees including Red Ground, and Puckanaw joining Albama Fort. 1761.

Watson, Joseph had some days past carried on a trade with the Indians not having a license, which was contrary to the Act for maintaining peace with the Indians. Trading with Indians at his plantation called "Grantham". Letter from Mr. Secretary Martin 11 February 1744 "The Trustees are of opinion a license should be granted Joseph Watson to trade with the Indians at Yamacraw if no material objection thereto and if any objections such must be sent over for the Trustees consideration...Reasons for postponing the license were that the place he desires to trade in is no settlement of Indians as it was when he traded there before, it being so very nigh the town....that great disturbances and annoyances happen to the inhabitants from the Indians getting drunk and breaking open houses....that 'tis not two months ago since the Indians in a drunken frolick knockt out the brains of one of their own people in the publick streets... that should a license be granted to Watson to trade any where near this town, the same will clash with the license granted by James Oglethorpe Esr...to John Musgrove Deceased which license is now enjoyed by Mrs. Bosomworth late the widow Mathews before the Widow Musgrove..." 27 April 1744, Complaints to the Board of Trustees

Land Grants After the Charter is Surrendered

12 May 1752 Letter from Mark Carr:

"In the beginning of the year 1739 General Oglethorpe put me in possession of Five Hundred Acres of Land on the Main to the South of Frederica call'd the Hermitage, and in the year following a tract of the like Quatity to my second son Thomas call'd Carrsfield, on both of which I made very considerable

Improvements at a large Expence, but in the Year 1740 while I was in Virginia on His Majesty's Service my whole Improvements with my Stock was destroyed by the Spanish Indians and several of my People cutt off....the General not thinking me safe there, granted me an Island to the South of my former Settlement, which I call'd Blyth, wherein I likewise built two Brick, with several Out Houses, as well as made very large Improvements in Cultivation, but by the withdrawing of the Regiment these Improvements not only became invaluable, but I was exposed and it became dangerous for me and my Servants to remain upon it...

This obliged me to remove into a less exposed Neighborhood and I was advised to fix on Midway River where you was pleased to grant my son Thomas Five Hundred Acres of Land and also another Tract of the like Quantity to me which was granted to, but resigned by Charles Ratcliff...Therefore I request you will grant my son William who is now near twenty one years of age five hundred acres of land on the north side of Newport River about four miles south,...and likewise that you would allow me to exchange the Tract of Land laid out for Lieut. Archibald Don on Midway River which I have made appear to you I purchased from him, for the Quantity on Newport River adjoining the same."
