While on the march

during the month of June 1862. The applicant D. W. Price was (remember your words) prostrated with heat or sun stroke. The day being extremely warm, a great many of our men were suddenly attacked & some very near by the road side. D. W. Price was carried in the ambulances for some time. He also contracted a case of chronic dysentery during the time we were on the march from Fredericksburg to Gettysburg & on return to Va. I remain his dating day & month but know that D. W. Price was attacked with sun stroke & dysentery as stated, and that he never fully recovered from either while he remained in this state & before he moved to the state of Georgia. I know nothing

That we have personally known the applicant W. Price since about the year 1870. That we know him to be afflicted and disabled so much so that he is unable to earn a support by the ordinary exertion of life. That he has been disabled ever since we first became acquainted with him. That it has been our understanding that applicant contracted the disease that he is now suffering with, while in line of duty as a Confederate Soldier in west Virginia, in the month of June 1863, during the war between the States. We and each of us have lived near the applicant W. Price and have often heard him say, many years ago, that that his afflictions was caused from being overheat and other exposures while in the Confederate Service during the war between the States. We verily believe from the appearance of applicant and from many other things that he complains that he is unable to earn a support by his own labor.
