

Descendants of Laban LANE

The earliest discovered progenitor is Fred Lane, who died in Craven County, North Carolina in 1798, leaving his Last Will and Testament which named his children.

William Lane, a son of Fred Lane, was born 20 Sept 1752 in Craven Co., North Carolina and died 6 January 1834 in Green County, North Carolina. William Lane applied for a revolutionary pension (#R6140) on 12 February 1833, aged 81. He entered service under Col. Samuel Campbell, volunteering for 3 months. In 1776 he went to Craven Co., N. C.; his term expired August 1776. Then, he became a substitute for Rutherford Nelson for 3 months under Capt. Silas Stevenson and marched to Wilmington and Brunswick. He volunteered again for 3 months under Capt. Blackard and was in a skirmish near the Captain's house, near the mouth of the Cape Fear River when his Captain was killed. Then he returned home and volunteered under Capt. Battle for 3 months, going to Georgetown, S. C. He volunteered again for 18 months, marching to Halifax under Major Blount and Major Coleman. He was sent to General Washington to dispatch letters, and when he returned had been injured by a wagon; discharged after 4 months. This was in 1779.

William Lane was a Revolutionary War Soldier. His application for pension states that he was born in Craven Co., North Carolina, about 25 miles from Newbern on 9/20/1752. The application of Elizabeth Jackson, aged 59 on 12/26th next, dated at Duplin Co., North Carolina on 10/18/1847 stated that she was the only surviving child of William Lane, deceased, late of Green Co., North Carolina, who died 1/6/1835 without a living widow or any children.

Another application, this time of William T. Jackson, dated 10/17/1848 in Duplin Co., N. C., aged 47, stated that he was the grandson of William Lane, deceased, who died 1/5/1834 - his grandmother having died before he could recollect and his grandfather left two children, viz: Lucretia Suggs, a widow who died in about 12 months hereafter, leaving two children, one who was dead and the other, Lydia, who intermarried with William Wilson, residents of Onslow Co., North Carolina Elizabeth Jackson, her mother, now living in Duplin Co., North Carolina. That two of the sons of William Lane, viz: James and Laban, emigrated to Kentucky 40 odd years ago and it is over 20 years since they were heard from and 8 or 10 years before the death of Jackson's grandfather they had not been heard of. We now know that Laban Lane migrated probably into Anderson County,

South Carolina, then to Madison County, Georgia about 1817 where he died.
