

POLITICAL.

The present number of the Field and Fireside contains valuable matter. The communication of Dr. Goss on medical science is ably written and of the highest interest.

When the national democracy repents as Mr. Thurman says, of sectionalism, State rights and Calhounism, and pledges itself to the broad patriotism of Washington—the democracy of Jefferson and the nationalism of Jackson, it will deserve success, but not until the purgation is complete.

Wade Hampton said in the Senate that the South, especially Louisiana and South Carolina, were deeply indebted to President Hayes for the restoration of local self-government; that he had the right to veto the bills lately acted upon, and that appropriations should not be withheld from the support of the army as necessary to the south as the north.

The democrats in Ohio nominated Gen. Ewing against Foster in the hope that his Greenback bias would secure the support of that party. But it was made of sterner stuff and the Greenbackers have nominated their own ticket and there is danger that the democrats have alienated the hard money faction of the democracy. An animated campaign, the progress of which will be watched with interest by the whole country is now opening in Ohio.

Where is the danger to-day? Gentlemen, it is not in the men that have survived the war, but in the men who are 30 to-day and who were in their teens when the fearful lesson of war was read. The men who are 25 or 30 to-day know nothing of that terrible experience. It is the men who were in their baby-clothes or just out of their cradle when the great lesson was God-given to the men in 1861. They hold the balance to-day.—From Wendell Phillips' recent speech.

The democracy of Georgia is not as harmonious as it should be. There are divisions, caused by the independent movement in the mountains, which must be healed to insure success. In the election of all the officers to be chosen, party harmony must prevail. True men must stand shoulder to shoulder, lest bad men again assume control of our public affairs.—Albany News.

You would have Georgia solid. No independent thought or action, but bound by cliques and rings, controlled by an organized head centre of the party.

"Bayonets at the polls: bumcombe in the councils of the nation; a dictator knocking at the golden gate; the republic tottering to its fall; the effete monarchies of the old world smiling softly in their sleeves. 'Tis a pretty picture of freedom after a century of experiment."—Pennsylvania Democrat.

Now, if this stalwart will add sectionalism, under the guise of "state rights," as the moving cause of all our woes in 1832, 1850, 1860 and now, the picture will be complete and the reason apparent why "a dictator is knocking at the golden gate."

thousands of negroes are in camps on the Mississippi, waiting transportation—that many are returning but more are going—that they sacrifice property, no matter what its value if they can realize $30, a fund, it is believed by them amply sufficient. Thousands are looking for free transportation—free mules—free lands and free rations. There is no mistaking the fact that the movement is one of magnitude and the question is now seriously discussed up and down the Mississippi "where can we get a substitute for their labor?"

The Macon Central Georgia Weekly says that during the war Hon. Henry Watterson was editor of a paper called the Southern Confederacy, and that one Sunday afternoon, while in a fit of desperation, he was with difficulty restrained from throwing himself into the Ocmulgee from "Lover's Leap." This is a story we never heard before on the now distinguished editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Before meditating upon his bath in the Ocmulgee he edited a dingy little sheet in Marietta known as the Chattanooga Rebel.

When Gen. Sherman occupied Atlanta with the Federal army, anxious for peace—eager to terminate the desolation of war, he engaged Mr. Wm. King to carry a message to Gov. Brown and Mr. Stephens with a view to the restoration of peace; not between Georgia and the Union, but between the Union and the Southern States and on a basis looking, on the one hand to the preservation of the Union and on the other to the restoration of all the rights of the Southern people. Mr. King thinks the rejection of the overture by Governor Brown was a great blunder; but, it was the same blunder that Jeff Davis and Ben Hill committed afterwards at Fortress Monroe when the same terms were offered and rejected. The facts is the whole secession movement, from the time of its conception in the brain of Calhoun, up to its collapse was nothing but a series of political blunders; blunders which will never cease until history records the end of the reign of the Bourbon dynasty.

At the last session of the Georgia legislature two measures were introduced of more or less interest to the State at large. These were a bill to lay a direct tax on dogs and another to tax whiskey ad valorem after the manner of the Moffer register. These bills will come up before the legislature at its coming session in July on a final reading, and will pass or be lost. We see from the Atlanta Constitution that Hon. Gustavus J. Orr, State School Commissioner, has been actively interesting himself in favor of both these measures, as it is proposed to give the proceeds of the revenue from them to the State School fund of the State. Mr. Orr visited the State last week, except a strong opinion in both cases, by the State School Commissioner.

lies: yet, as the case stands, she buys more from either Great Britain, France or Germany, than from the United States. For the first time in her history, she proposes to have an international exhibition, and for the first time the United States has an opportunity to give evidence of its great resources, under the best circumstances and where competition can only come from abroad. It would seem as if some little time should be given during the present session to subjects as important as Mexican exhibition. It is to take place in a few months, and should the invitation to co-operate be accepted, there will be none too much time in which to prepare. Some energetic, experienced men should be selected and funds enough appropriated to secure such an exhibit as will result in convincing the Mexicans that it is largely to their advantage to trade with this country, where articles are better made cost less, can be delivered more promptly, and at a lower charge for freight than from any other. Will not some public-spirited members act upon this suggestion!—National View.

A Hong Kong, China dispatch says: General Grant's visit absorbs public attention everywhere. His party reached Hong Kong on the evening of April 30th. The ship was immediately boarded by U. S. Consuls Mosby, of Hong Kong; Lincoln, of Canton; Charge d'Affairs Holcombe, and deputations of citizens of various countries, including Japan. The same evening the visitors preceded to the U. S. Ship Ashuelot, where they were received with a salute of twenty-one guns. After partaking of refreshments they went ashore in the colonial government launch, and renewed salutes from the Ashuelot and the Japanese corvette Nishin. They were received at a decorated landing pier by Governor Hennessy and staff, members of the legislative council, head of the military and naval service, guard of honor, and a multitude of American European and Chinese spectators, and were escorted to government houses. A public reception to Gen. Grant, a state dinner, etc., followed the next three days. They were received at Canton May 6, by the consular officials, and conducted to the Viceroy's yamen, three miles from the point of embarkation. At least one hundred thousand persons witnessed the little procession. The visitors were greeted by the Viceroy attendant officers with great form and ceremony. Artillery salutes were fired and troops were stationed in every available locality. The visitors partook of a luncheon, consisting of eighty courses, which were served in rapid succession. A Yokohama dispatch says: Preparations continue for the reception of Gen. Grant on a grand scale. The entire party will be invited to leave the Ashuelot, and take up quarters on board the Japanese flagship as guests of his imperial majesty. The present expectation is that Gen. Grant will proceed from Nagasaki to Higo, and thence through Kyushu to ancient capital, by land, 300 miles. Nothing however, is possible. From present appearances it will reach the Japanese seat of government before July.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

New York, June 6th 1879. Notwithstanding the fact that in this age of steamships and telegraphs, it is not possible to keep the world in ignorance of what is going on abroad, yet it is not surprising that the Japanese seat of government before July.

Apart from his world-wide literary reputation, the Duke is a blueblood, a mong the bluebloods, his rank and ancestry running back into the dark ages and his titles of nobility numbering nearly twenty. Beside all this, the Queen of England and Empress of India is his sons mother-in-law, and his wealth is enormous. One would hardly suspect so much greatness to lurk in the small framed man with gray-red hair and whiskers, high cheek-bones and thoroughly Scotch aspect who was met by a crowd of the curious as he disembarked from the Scythia last week. His stay in New York was limited to one day and he is now enjoying the hospitality of the Governor-General of Canada and his royal wife.

It will be remembered that I devoted a letter, a couple of months ago, to the great Woodruff scientific expedition which was to have started from this port last month. The failure to secure sufficient members to cover the vast expenses of the undertaking prevented its execution as proposed, and this week its energetic projector and head, Mr. James O. Woodruff, died in this city from acute brain disease, induced by overwork in connection with his favorite scheme. Mr. Woodruff was a remarkable embodiment of courage and persistency. He seemed to know no such word as discouragement, and after the failure of this attempt, in which he had put a great deal of money, he at once set about organizing a new expedition, similar in principle, but better guarded to insure against contingencies. There is a good prospect of success for this later scheme, under the management of Mr. Arthur B. Proal, who was Mr. Woodruff's able associate in the former enterprise, and who survives to carry into effect the useful and magnificent plan to which Mr. Woodruff gave his life.

Coaching as a pastime is an exotic in America, but it seems to have taken a pretty firm hold and bids fair to become something of a national institution. It was generally supposed that the fever would be a short one, and that last year would witness its peaceful decrease; but the Coaching Club's first parade of the present season, which took place on Thursday last, gave proof that quite the contrary is the case. On that day, eleven elegant drags formed in line at Madison square, and with four impatient blooded horses in front of each, and the tops filled with gaily dressed members of the club, and daintily attired ladies, the parade presented a brilliant picture. Probably $60,000 would be a low valuation of the participating teams.

Any attempt to chronicle even the series of the ordinary crimes in New York would exclude every other topic from my letter and would become pretty tedious reading. I must mention, however, two cases that have been disposed of this week, which are noteworthy, both from their similarity, and their terrible nature. A woman disappointed in love was the criminal in each case, and the instrument of revenge in either was a bowlful of vitriol thrown by the "woman scorned" into the face of the unsuspecting victim. Both men were terribly burned and disfigured for life, and each lost the sight of an eye. Both women were promptly tried and convicted. One was sentenced to five years and the other to one year in the penitentiary, which result will, it is believed, prevent the recurrence of this offence.

On Thursday night last the Knights of Honor and Knights & Ladies of Honor of this city gave one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever remembered in the history of this place. The fact of the matter is, we do not feel capable of doing the affair justice, but will give the programme as we understood it and leave it to those who attended to fill in with pleasant recollections.

First of all we were summoned by music from the Cornet Band, to the courthouse, where we were treated to a concise history of the organization of the order and its work and objects, by Capt. W. J. Hudson. It was expected by some that the Captain would address the audience at length, but such was not the intention of the committee appointed to procure a speaker or his own, he, having only been notified of the necessity of appearing before the assembly a few hours previous to the opening of the entertainment.

We next repaired to McCutcheon's Hall, where refreshment and dancing were served. To make the occasion doubly enjoyable, J. C. Rogers' String Band was brought in and the festivities continued. The lateness of the hour admonished the happy throng to desist. Among those present, not of our city, we noticed Capt. J. C. Moore, M. L. Perry, J. J. Payne and the Messrs. Rogers of Anyena. The occasion was a most successful one.

gobbler just a little ahead of anything in the turkey line in history or tradition. Last week the turkey was a gobbler in all the pride of his gobblerhood; now he is a turkey hen, and as proof of his change of sex laid three eggs on the day succeeding this monstrous metamorphosis. This tale will seem almost incredible, but the owner has the eggs to show for themselves. How can such an unheard-of change be accounted for? What do the scientists say, and what's to become of us when turkey gobblers turn against their own sex in this way and settle down into laying hens. Oh, it is awful!

The Atlanta Evening Dispatch of the 9th has this to say of the verdict of the jury in the trial of Drewry Tye for the killing of Sparks, his father-in-law, in Atlanta May 1st:

"At an early hour this morning a stream of people began to pour into the court house, and by half-past eight the room was crowded to suffocation. Judge Speer called the court to order and asked for the jury. As they filed into the room every ear was attentive and a solemn stillness prevailed.

Solicitor-General Hill received the verdict from Mr. Peck, the foreman, and in clear distinct tones read: "We the jury find the defendant not guilty." Immediately the vast audience gave deafening applause, and a little son of the prisoner leaped upon his father's neck in wild joy. Mr. Tye, who had preserved an anxious air during the morning, was now overcome with emotion, and as his friends gathered around him in congratulation, was frequently compelled to sit down. Those of his most intimate friends embraced him, and it was then that it seemed almost impossible to restrain his tears. His brother was constantly at his side and fully shared in his joyful deliverance. Order was restored, and the Judge announced the prisoner a free man. So great was the desire to congratulate him that it was with great difficulty that the large crowd could pass down the stairway.

Thus endeth an important trial. The verdict seemingly met the approval of everyone present.

There are in this country but two "tornado belts," and they are so closely defined that their limits can be easily traced. One of them extends from the southern end of Florida in a northeasterly direction, either to Cape Hatteras, or to Cape Cod, or to the southern coast of Newfoundland. This is the minor belt. A larger one extends up the Mississippi from its mouth to Manitoba. A strong wind blowing in either belt from the north, especially the northeast, is liable to be a gale, while a southerly or southeasterly wind is usually associated with a tornado.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Philanthropists now own several manufacturing of musical instruments and give away thousands of dollars annually to provide the South with their wares. This must be so for their agents claim to be selling below cost. Other manufacturers, which have been extensively advertised for years, are now through their agents offering "introduction (?) sales at greatly reduced prices." Do not be humbugged by such catch-penny artifices. Manufacturers who sell through branch houses pay their salesmen large salaries and their expenses are double those of regular dealers. Pianos and organs which have to be sold at greatly reduced prices in order to introduce them can not be worth much. Buy of a responsible and well known dealer like Mr. Guilford, whose reputation as a musician will give you confidence in his judgment. He buys in large quantities and strictly for cash, and manages his business very economically. A moment's reflection will show you that he can, therefore, sell better goods for less money than branch agents or philanthropical manufacturers.

Agriculture and Science.THE GERM THEORY OF DISEASE.

BY J. J. M. GOSS, A. M. M. D. MARIETTA GA.

I see an essay this week in the FIELD AND FENCE, headed 'Ozone and its uses,' in which the writer speaks of the bioplasm disease germs, but does not clearly define this new discovery. He says, however, that this discovery compels the abandonment of the former system of physiology, and enables the scientist to construct a new one upon the enduring basis of facts. This ought to be the case, but it is not. The old Paracelsian system of pathology and practice remain the same, ignoring all new discoveries of physiology and pathology. The followers of the immortal Wooster Beach adopted all the recent discoveries, both in pathology and physiology. The old system of medical science is based upon the idea that disease is produced by certain unknown morbid influences and pathological conditions, that are to be expelled from the system by purges, emetics, diaphoretics, expectorants, diuretics and alteratives, and some give tonics, anodynes, narcotics, and stimulants. That these views are erroneous we have only to notice the fatality of yellow fever, cholera, cancer, consumption, diphtheria and many other diseases. Yellow fever was demonstrated to be of germ origin by two microscopists, one at Savannah, Georgia, and the other at New Orleans. It is caused from the entrance into the blood of minute spores emitted from a certain species of parasitic fungi that is developed upon decaying animal, or vegetable matter, under high temperature, and a want of ozone in the atmosphere of the section. The spores of this peculiar form of fungi are so small that they readily pass through the pores of the skin and mucous membranes into the blood which they decompose, and produce the well known phenomenon known as yellow fever. And to cure this disease, ozone must be supplied, together with such powerful antiseptic remedies as will utterly destroy the spores of this fungi in the blood before it is decomposed. Typhoid fever, Dysentery, Diphtheria, Dyspepsia, Cancer, Syphilis, Catarrh, Scarlet fever and most epidemic diseases, are thus produced, and spread in such localities as are deprived of ozone.

To illustrate these facts, we may take our microscope, and watch the spread of the botritus—the potato mould, which causes the potato to rot, also the uredo—the lemon mould, the puccinia—growing upon wood, causing dry rot. It is true—that these forms of fungi are much larger than those that cause disease in man, yet their mode of action is similar. Dyspepsia, a disease that troubles many persons through life is generally first produced by over eating, or hasty eating, causing fermentation, which is the generating of torula Vorticuli—the yeast plant. Various forms of the animal parasites called fasciola generate rapidly in the body, and producing disease. It is a well known fact now to all good microscopists, that skin diseases are caused by varieties of the parasitic fungi, called achorion schouleinii. Cancer is caused by a parasite called diatomis estrichoni, which permeates and destroys the flesh.

forms of parasitical fungi can be destroyed by proper antiseptics. No man can investigate disease without a good microscope. And it is passingly strange to see what prejudice medical men cultivate to every new discovery, either in pathology or therapeutics. When Schoubien, a celebrated German chemist, forty years ago, discovered a new reform substance which he called ozone (a greek name for odor) no one seems to have noticed his discovery, or assisted him in utilizing this very superior antiseptic. Such is its germ-destroying power, that upon mountainous situations no epidemic pestiferous vapors can long remain. Such localities are exempt from yellow fever and other like diseases, not only does ozone destroy all the small forms of parasitical fungi, but there are other medicines that destroy many of them. Sulphur is well known to destroy many of them. Sulphuric acid, and the sulphites made from it, also destroy many of those living entities. Eucalyptus Globulus is known to destroy many septic germs, such as form on the tonsils in diphtheria, and upon wounds in gangrene. Many skin diseases are caused by living parasites, and only to be cured by using such mineral and vegetable remedies as destroy these parasitical formations. Sulphur is known to destroy many of them, such as Itch and dry tetters. Sulphuric acid, and the sulphites, cure prurigo, and other diseases of like nature; they also destroy the torula Vorticuli in dyspepsia, and thereby arrest fermentation. Fermentation cannot be produced, or maintained in a moderately strong solution of the sulphites of soda or potash. Quinia, Eucalyptin, Arsenic, and some other chemicals, destroy malaria, and thereby cure marsh fevers. This fact has been demonstrated for many years and the anti-parasitical remedies above named, act with as much, or more certainly than quinia, and we have only to apply them to be convinced of the truth of the assertion. Sabadilla veratrum has been lately proven to destroy the amaba, and thereby arrest hay-fever at once. Permanganate of potash destroys putrescence anywhere.

HOW IT WAS CULTIVATED.

As Governor Drew has received numerous letters from different parts of the country asking him to give the method of cultivating corn and the kind of fertilizers used, by which he was enabled to produce one hundred and thirty bushels of the aforesaid cereal upon one acre of land last year, he has concluded, for the benefit of all interested in such things, to have published a statement of the manner of preparing the land, and the kind of manures used, by which he was enabled to produce the above yield:

"The land was first plowed and harrowed, and then the subsoil plow was used to a depth of one foot. These two plows were used thoroughly, five or six times. On or about the first of March, the land was laid off as follows: One half acre was laid off in two and three feet rows alternately; about seventy-five bushels of cotton seed were placed in the drill and a light furrow turned on it. The corn was then planted in the drill, about twelve inches apart. After the corn came up, it was thinned out to two stalks in the hill. After this, the corn received the common ordinary cultivation given corn in this country, except that it was cultivated with sweeps, and was plowed rather shallow. The other half acre was cultivated in the same way, except that the land was laid off in rows three feet apart. About the time the corn was shooting to tassel, there was a severe drouth, that continued for five weeks, which did not seem to effect the corn in the least. Sometime in September, the corn was harvested from the two different lots and weighed. The result of the first half acre was seventy-five bushels of shelled corn, weighing sixty pounds to the bushel. The second half acre yielded fifty-five bushels, making a total for the whole acre of 130 bushels of corn."

SPROUTING POTATOES.

It is a fact perhaps not generally known that sprouting the white potato will advance the maturing of the crop at least two weeks. The Germantown Telegraph suggests the following methods:

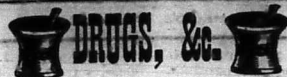

They should be cut so that about two eyes are allowed to each piece, and these should be planted in hot beds, with very thin covering of soil; or it is better to plant in boxes and set these in a hot bed, so that after they are properly sprouted they can be at once carried to the place of planting. If the nights should be any way cold, protect with a thin covering of straw when the plants make their appearance above ground. Some persons, who want a large quantity sprouted, cut the potatoes as desired, and spread them on boards, boxes, or crates, in a dark place, and, when sprouted, say from an inch to an inch and a half, expose them to the light, moistening two or three times a week with tepid water. They should be planted out so that there is no more than two inches of soil over the top of the sprouts.

SOUTHER FARMER'S MONTHLY FOR JUNE.

We are in receipt of the June number of that excellent magazine, the Southern Farmer's Monthly. It is brighter if possible than its predecessors and contains a new feature, an illustrated Fashion department, which will make it still more welcome, especially to farmers' wives. This number is replete with interesting and valuable agricultural and miscellaneous reading, comprising just such articles as are suitable for a farmer's paper. It should be on every farmer's table in our country, and we trust that on this important day it will be. Price, 6 cents; 12 months, $2.00. Sample copies will be sent on receipt of 3-cent stamp to Messrs. J. H. Estill, Savannah.

JOHN RYAN,

WHITEHALL STREET, ATLANTA,

HAS NOW OPEN FOR INSPECTION HIS SECOND
SPRING STOCK OF DRY GOODS, CARPETS, SHOES, HATS AND TRUNKS.

Business in New York this spring having been very dull, has left a great many importers and manufacturers with a large surplus of goods, and the market being deserted by buyers and with poor prospects of unloading, they have been forced to slaughter goods at any prices they could get. John Ryan, seeing the condition of the Dry Goods and Carpet market, and the great cutting in freight rates, sent at once his buyers to attend the great trade sales, and being the only representative from Atlanta at this time, to him only can the citizens look for some of the bargains. He has now the pleasure to state that he has succeeded beyond his most sanguine expectations, and will offer

15 pcs. Black Gros Grain Silk at 65c. worth $1.33 pcs. Black Gros Grain Silk at 75c. worth $1.15; 17 pcs. Black Gros Grain at $1.00, worth $1.40; 21 pcs. Black Gros Grain Silk at $1.25, worth $1.75; 45 pcs. Striped Silks, Black and Grey, Black and Brown, and black and Blue, from the great failure on White st., at 45c. worth 65c; cannot be equalled in the United States for the price; 23 pcs. Check Silks in fancy colors and mode shades at 45c. worth 75c; 65 pcs. solid colored Silks, beautiful shades, front 75c, 85c, $1.00 to $1.35 per yard; 7 pcs. Satin Striped Silks at $1.50; 5 pcs. Damasse in Blue, Cardinal and Plum, from the great fire on Worth st., where so many barely escaped being crushed by the falling walls, was saved by those gallant firemen and sold by the underwriters special sale to John Ryan. 70 pcs. all colors Grass Cloths at 8c. worth 12c; 62 pcs. genuine Brown Linen, for dresses, at 12 1/2 c, worth 20c; 18 pcs. genuine Brown Linen, for dresses, 15c. worth 23; 20 pcs. genuine Brown Linen, for dresses, at 20c, worth 30; 9 pcs. Bleached Table Damask at 50c. worth 65; 6 pcs. Bleached Table Damask at 75c. worth $1.10; 6 pcs. Bleached Table Damask at $1.00, worth $1.50; 13 pcs. left of that Irish Linen slightly wet at 40c. would be very cheap at 75c if not wet.

From the tremendous peremptory sale of Wilmanding, Hogue & Co. for cash was received: 13 pcs. double width, all wool, Black Cashmere at 50c. worth 70; 12 pcs. double width, all wool, Black Cashmere at 65c. worth 80c; 19 pcs. double wool Black Cashmere at 75c. worth $1.00; 15 pcs. double width, all wool Black Cashmere at 85c. worth $1.25; 713 pcs. fancy Dress Goods, pretty styles, at 8c. worth 12 1/2 c; 74 pcs. fancy Dress Goods, new styles, at 6c. worth 10c; 76 pcs. fancy Dress Goods, light shades, new designs, at 12 1/2 c. worth 20c; 1476 pcs. Damasse Cretole Salade Tesphescore and Satin Stripes at 25c. would be cheap at 40c. To enumerate this stock would require fifty times the space.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes!

For the last month John Ryan has been negotiating with three parties in the Eastern market to purchase their entire stock of Boots and Shoes, and having succeeded most satisfactorily, and having bought and paid CASH for 1450 cases of shoes got them at his own prices. This is a tremendous stock of shoes—just imagine as large as any four shoe stocks in the State—he finds that he has not sufficient room to store them all, and now to make a great rush and clear out these three great bankrupt stocks he will offer shoes at about half the cost of manufacturing. See his bargain counters, tremendous leaders!

1752 prs. Ladies', Misses', Children's and Gents' Shoes and Slippers at 50c; 2264 prs. Ladies', Misses', Boys' and Gents' Shoes and Slippers at 75c; 2176 prs. Ladies', Misses', Boys' and Gents' Shoes and Slippers at $1.00; and thousands of shoes on his other counters at prices that will astonish all who see them. Ladies' and Gents' fine shoes a specialty. 60 cases Men's and Boys' Straw Hats—new spring styles from 10c to $2.50. You will find by inspection that these hats are from 25 to 50 per cent. cheaper than at any hat store. 70 Cases Men's Black Wool Hats at 40 cents, worth 75; 63 Cases Men's Black Wool Hats 75c. worth $1.50; 27 Cases Men's Black Fur Hats 1.00, worth $1.75. Call early and see these Hats, as they are decided bargains. These are the prices that stun, stagger and dumfound the respectable regular tramping along the old fashioned course of six months time.

PARASOLS, PARASOLS, PARASOLS.

Something new, pretty handles at prices 35 per cent lower than last season. This department, one of the largest in his establishment, contains more different styles and a greater variety of handles than any stock South of Philadelphia. 75 Scotch Gingham Umbrellas at $1.00, cheap at $2.00. 112 Scotch Gingham Umbrellas at $1.25, cheap at $2.50. 130 Scotch Gingham Umbrellas at $1.50, cheap at 2.75.

UMBRELLAS, UMBRELLAS, UMBRELLAS.

John Ryan has made special contract with manufacturers for their sale in Atlanta, and will sell them at the same prices asked by the Company.

ROBBERY, GLOVES, NOTIONS, RIBBONS, BUCHINGS, ZEPHYR AND FANCY GOODS

Department is immense, covering a space of 125 feet by 40. This department is at all times filled with the novelties of the season, and nothing can be asked for that he has not; and for prices, it is a well known fact throughout Georgia that John Ryan always leads with low prices.

SHIRTS, SHIRTS, SHIRTS, SHIRTS, SHIRTS.

From the United States Manufacturing Company, on consignment for short time. 900 Unlaundried Shirts, which will be sold at the wonderfully low price of 60 cents each. This shirt is linen Bosom and Cuffs and three ply. This shirt was made for a Baltimore merchant, to retail at $1, but he, not coming to time with the required cash, they were shipped to John Ryan, Atlanta, to be sold on account of shipper.

Carpets! Carpets! Carpets!

Grand opening of Carpets, Lambrequins, Lace Curtains and Window Shades this Spring. Who has ever heard before of a merchant being compelled to purchase two stocks of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings in the Spring! No one.—But such is the case with John Ryan, having adopted the same course in his Carpet Department as in Dry Goods, of selling under every one, he has succeeded in building up a trade for Carpets in Atlanta only equalled in New York.

115 pcs. Tapestry Brussels just opened, new designs, fresh goods from the Factory at prices still lower. 75 pcs. Extra Super Ingrain, new and beautiful designs just out, embracing the well known brands of Hartford, Lowell, Auburn and others. 66 pcs. Ingrain Carpeting from 25 to 50 cents. 35 pcs. Hemp Stripe from 15 cents up. 67 pcs. of Matting in fancy colors plain white and check from the great Matting sale on Church street.

What chance! In the name of heaven, with their long-winded, aristocratic quotations, when brought into the glare of this honest, earnest and unanswerable logic, these silent, solid, stubborn and matchless figures that will not and never that will unlearn for you that now hidden success—it is the power that will place you, head and shoulders above your competitors, and instead of leading you along the quagmire of the lowlands, will at once place you on the shining heights that command the plaudits of your patrons and the admiration and respect of your competitors—wearing the deserved and enduring honors of final triumph. Send all orders for Dry Goods, Carpets, Shoes and Hats to the great house. Samples sent on application.
