FROM HADDOCKS.

Notwithstanding the short crops, and consequent dull times, the Christmas trade was good, and will always be. Not the least conspicuous was the jug business. This however benefits Mason almost solely, for they get the money, and we the oblivion and head-ache.

To be Bonner with his family of eight left for Texas on Monday. John Andrews joined them in Macon with the same destination, ideas and intentions.

Frank Clark, the all-round bailiff, collector, and farmer, has taken the Singleton place for this year.

One of our favorites means a sort of Katie-bar-the-door-expression, caused by the gush of a lady friend who remarked that her "ma knew it before she left home."

Our swells returned from the party at Judge Johnson's full of laudation at the good treatment of the genial host and fair hostess. 'Tis whispered that one who made his declarations too pronounced and was rather gushing under cupid's inspirations, is now trying to weather the storm incident to bonds previously formed.

The marriage of Mr. Charles Moore and Mrs. Whitten took place last week, and resulted in consigning an unsuccessful suitor to far away Texas.

The usual curiosity was manifested last Sunday to see and hear the new pastor Mr. Cook, who made his first appearance at Fortville. From the manner in which he is spoken of, the good will of his congregation is fully assured.

Numerous entertainments in the shape of parties and social gatherings have afforded much pleasure to the young folks and those of the older set, who were fortunate enough to get an "invite." One of which we are not whom.

Miss Annie Belle Glasen spent Christmas vacation at home, and with some of her numerous friends. A welcome is always prepared for one who is such a favorite.

Cary Morris with a few other enthusiastic fox hunters were quite successful in the chase this week. A Red and Gray were brought in to show what was accomplished. It takes some nerve these crisp mornings to launch out after a pack of hounds, but Cary is equal to the emergency, and most generally returns with a trophy.

It was rather diaphanous for that party who failed to return on the afternoon train, Christmas Eve, to say that they were left. We have been there; but long since learned that to lay it on the train was trite.

Good punctuation and an absence of typographical errors, evidences the fact that our recent notes have fallen to the lot of an old Jour. This when we meet O. J. it will be cheepoan has.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Mrs. E. H. HARTMAN, Local Editor.

Sunshine (a little) New Year.

The old year went out in tears.

A. H. Stephens, of Macon was in Clinton Saturday.

Mr. Holmes Johnson also at home on a Christmas leave from Atlanta.

Louis J. Harlow of Macon spent several days last week with Mr. W. A. Card.

Mrs. Maggie Chiles spent last week at home, and was in Clinton several days.

Col. S. A. Reed, of Macon, spent Thursday with Col. Hardman partridge hunting.

Have you seen the pretty office of the Headlight and don't it add to the appearance of Gray?

Mr. J. H. Morgan and son, Hon-ry, of Clinton are spending the week with relatives in and near Monticello.

The Stewards of the Methodist Church met in Clinton on Tuesday, to welcome and arrange for the comfort of our new pastor Rev. E. R.
Cook.

Mr. Chas. Caldwell came over from Macon on Monday the guest of Frank Hardman anticipating pleasant partridge hunt but the rain interfered. We trust "when skies are bright" he'll come again.

Mr. William G. Morgan died at his home in Clinton on Saturday P.
M. 2nd. Mr. Morgan was in his 64th year and had long been an honored and highly respected citizen of Clinton. He leaves a companion who has journeyed through fifty years and joys with him for sixty years, and six daughters and one son. How few of the good and true of our aged are left with us!

CLINTON LOCALS.

1888. How does it look?

Not much property sold Tuesday.

All Christmas goodies eaten and gone!!!!

Mr. J. W. Turk spent Monday night in Clinton.

Election passed off harmoniously on Wednesday.

The "small children" enjoyed a Christmas tree on the 24th.

Mr. Chas G. Conn, of Vineville spent Sunday the 23rd in Clinton.

What a beautiful Christmas we had. Weather as lovely as Indian summer time.

Mr. Eugene Anderson of Macon spent Friday in Clinton the guest of Miss Lois Johnson.

Mrs. F. S. Johnson, of New Orleans has been with her Mother Mrs. Morgan for ten days.

Cadet Johnnie James spent the holidays at home, and with his guest Lieut Skinner of Milldegeville attended the party on Christmas night.

Edgar Glawson, George Parsely, Robert and Gordon Hardman returned to Macon to school the first part of the week and Mr. Landrum returned to Oxford.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. We trust the weather will be fair that a large congregation may assemble and give Bro Cook a pleasant impression. Let all attend that can.

The party at Judge Johnsons was very much enjoyed. Among the pleasant crowd were some of the prettiest and wildest of Jones County's fair daughters and handsome sons.

Rev. E. W. Sammons of Hamburg S. C. spent Monday night and Tuesday in Clinton. He always meets with a kind welcome and is an "admirer" of our Headlight.
He left Mrs. S. and their little four quite well.

Ellis & Co have a New Year greeting for all their good friends from the red hills of old Jones. So be sure and call at their "tony celebration on corner of Cherry and Collin Avenue when you visit Macon.

A few of the young ladies and gentlemen of the village dropped in on Thursday evening and spent a couple of hours with our folks, very enjoyably. Mr. Landrum with guitar gave some sweet selections, while Mrs. E. R. Cook, and Miss Lois Johnson contributed some vocal gems.

Mr. Julius Bazemore is a generous man and has doubly endeared himself to the children and their parents living at Mertons. On Christmas night he invited about 20 of the Juveniles to his home, where with gifts of confectionaries and useful articles and other pleasant accessories he made their hearts glad. The grateful Mothers have requested the Headlight to thus publicly thank Mr. Bazemore for his generosity and his lovely wife for so ably succoring him in his kind acts and desire that they both have a Happy New Year and a pleasant life.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.

A large and enthusiastic meeting lings were elected Secretaries.

ly endorsed, also the appointment of Judge J. C. Barron as County Judge and the selection by primary lowing ticket for County officers was unanimously concurred in and
