THE OLD BULLETIN.

I have seen Merritt believed to a race of men now nearly extinct, for only in a few localities in this broad land can there be found at this particularly fast period, a lot but with a foot turn late by which spinning wheels, hand looms, winding blades, warping bars and split bottomed chairs are fashioned from the young hickory that grew along the hills near his humble home and rude workshop. Forty odd long years with their wonderful discoveries and inventions in mechanics, arts and science have banished from our land those time honored old implements by which the industries and hard hands of the mothers and good women of that day and time so dotedly converted cotton and wove into warm, durable garments for their households. Alas! shall we ever see again "home-made" jeans that gladdened our eyes and warmed our backs in the "Auld Lang Syne." The wheels of progress and commerce driven by the almost unbounded brain power of man, are rapidly pushing forward to the glorious dawn of a grander day when all the world shall be neighbors. Being warmed by the speed of these, almost sublime movements we must hasten in our narrative for "Life is too short" to tarry, or toy with the matters that claimed our time and compelled our attention when life's young day was with us. 'Tis sweet to remember, and memory loves to linger amid the scenes, so fondly cherished—that bloomed and blossomed when it was morning with the "old Editor." There is splendid fishing up this branch as Sam Jones says, but I had better stick to the text.

Turning back in our thoughts, we will remember the time when Uncle Ben drove into the old village with his exhort, loaded with an attractive lot of his handmade wares and deposited them in the "saloon," or rather bar room of Jim Kane, who was to sell them for his old friend. It was suggested to the old man that he would do well to see the Editor of the Bulletin, procure space in the columns of his Journal, and a special notice. This was soon arranged and the best work the office could do was promised, to use a thread-bare saying, "Free gratis for nothing."

On the following morning, there appeared in as much display type as could be made in the short time allowed, to a miserable doggerel found below.

Before your readers comment up on this stuff, bear in mind that the Old Editors Pegasus was of the Mustang variety and that he generally threw his rider on a rocky knoll and scampered off with the stirrups in the air, leaving very little of rhyme or reason behind, particularly rhyme.

"Uncle Ben Merritt takes this occasion to notify his numerous friends and customers that they can find at the Grocery of Jim Kane a splendid assortment of his useful articles for sale, at low prices for cash, or its equivalent."

Oh! all good people, come, come, come,

And hear my spinning wheels, hum, hum, hum,

My warping bars are just the thing—

My winding blades, oh, how they sing.

My chairs are smooth, well made and neat.

They'll fit your back and rest your feet—

When forty years are past and gone

The hickory chairs will be holding on.

Oh! pity the sorrows of a poor old man,

Who has done through life the best that he can.

He has labored by day and toiled by night,

And fought for the side, he thought was right.

My story is ended, My tale is told, I need money to keep me out of the cold.

Come all good people, both women and men,

Do, buy, oh, buy of honest, Uncle Ben.

The author defies any number of parties to bring the charge of Plagiarism against him. These lines are not stolen from Childs Harold Evangeline or Paradise lost, but are the coinage of the fertile brain of the old editor, not copyrighted. Any one may appropriate them, without danger of a suit for damages. On the morning of the publication of this flashy edition there came from his office a high-stepping and well known old M. D. on his way to the Post office to have his regular wordy combat with the quick tempered irascible Post Master, from the Emerald Isle, over his mail. The old Malberry was in his path and stopping to gather the latest on this about, adjusted his glasses to his well defined nose, and read carefully over the pages of the Bulletin. After finishing, he raised his right hand and with the index finger pointing straight at the rhyming advertisement, exclaimed with that emphatic manner, so characteristic of him "Honest Uncle Ben," "I say honest Uncle Ben I don't know what foot and finger will do but you've got your last pill from me." He then turned abrupt from the scene and with a snort peculiar to him, passed on. This was a soliloquy, for there was no one near, but the Editor and he was at a respectable distance. The bristles of the old Doctor were up. He well remembered the long rides through heat and cold, sunshine and rain, by night and day he had taken to see this man for which he had received no recompense, and now that he called himself honest Uncle Ben was more than this laborious faithful man in his profession, could tolerate. More than a passing notice is all that can be written of this well remembered Physician, but some day we hope to return to the subject, so brimful of traits peculiar to himself. His was not a negative native. You could always easily find out where he stood on any subject. The good Doctor and Uncle Ben have long since gone to that "undiscovered country that bourn from where no traveller returns." "Dik Dee."

W. E. Brown, of Waukegan Ill., owns a cat that is covered with a fine fleece of wool. He will see how the animal develops, and, if possible, will attempt to raise wool-bearing dairy cattle.

Mrs. Mary Durety, of San Francisco, is 105 years old, and without any one to care for her, having outlived all her family. Some time ago her only son, aged 80 years, died, and a few days ago she lost her only remaining child, a daughter of 68.

A shrewd gambler took a room at a New Haven boarding house, gave the boarders to understand that he was a clergyman, got acquainted with a number of Yale students, finally engaged in games of poker with them, and skipped the town $500 or $600 richer.

One of the most successful orchid growers is a young New Jersey woman, who, finding herself in straitened circumstances a few years ago, began floriculture in a small way on a little piece of pine land. Now she has taken her younger sisters into partnership and is doing a big business.

Boston has just received from Africa the largest gorilla ever landed in this country. His name is Jack, and he is five feet in height when standing erect, and measures seven feet from the end of one outstretched hand to the other. He weighs about 125 pounds, and exhibits enormous strength, compared with which that of man seems like a child's. He arrived in a large box made of planking two and a half inches thick, and when being removed from the ship bore large splinters from the hard wood planks with as much ease as a child would break a twig.

We have this day contracted with Messrs. JOHN MERRYMAN & Co to sell, at all stations on the C. & M. Railroad, their

—CELEBRATED BRANDS OF GUANO—

Merryman's A. D. Bones, Merryman's GEORGIA TEST.

We can say without any fear of contradiction that Merryman's Fertilizers are to-day, as they have been for 30 years, at the very top in excellence, and the perfect satisfaction they give to planters.

While most of the popular brands on the market in past years have changed the grade of their goods by lowering their grade, Merryman has continually improved. We do not make these statements at random. We refer to any planter in Jones and Jasper counties who have used Merryman's Guano, and will stake our reputation on the result.

for composting, which is the highest grade acid on the market. We sell cheaper and phosphates; also Rain t, and are agents for the Macon Oil & Fertilizer Company for the sale of their Cotton Seed Meal.

We can give low prices on these goods, and are ready to deliver now.

Our Agents will call on the good people of Jones and Jasper counties, and we trust will receive their orders.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Mrs. E. G. HARDEMAN, Local Editor.
Mr. Hazenmore, a "section boss" on the C & M R R now resides at Gray's.

Miss Carrie Thigpen, of Devereaux is visiting relatives and friends in and around James.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rice, of Mortons, spent several days this week, visiting relatives here.

Rev Mr. Durham, Mercer student preached a forcible sermon to a large congregation last Sunday at Elam.

A tree was struck by lightning near here last Tuesday. The lightning cut the tree on fire, which caused it to burn three days.

Mr. D. M. Hood, who owns a plantation near Clinton (that he visited often) dropped dead at the depot in Rome, Ga. on the 8th inst.

The poles for the telegraph line are being distributed along the O & M and we will soon be connected with the outer world by electric wire.

The death of Rev. C. W. Smith, of Wesleyan Female College cast a gloom over the city and state generally. He was very much beloved, and his place will not be easily filled.

We are glad to make the announcement that two hundred dollars have been subscribed towards building our school house. So you see the ball is still in motion and we are bound to have a handsome building.

Col. E. C. Maclean has kindly offered a premium of $300 to the county making the best display of Georgia raised live stock at the coming fair, and has also agreed to do all trackage of care going into and from the grounds free of charge—Telegraph.

Mr. Charles T. Griswold, a former citizen of Jones County, died in Valdosta on the 9th inst. and his remains were brought to Macon Tuesday for interment in Rose Hill Cemetery. He had many friends here who will sympathize deeply with his bereaved wife and three bright boys.

The badish boys, somewhat worse than Peck's bad boy nailed up the school house the other day to work in April fool on Mr. Wright. We think they had themselves for a good drubbing when they ought to get. There is fun in innocent amusement and tricks, but none where property is injured and defaced at the expense of trustees and patrons.—Putnam Enterprise.

Next to the famous American Agriculturist, of New York, The Southern Cultivator, of Atlanta, Ga. is the most profusely illustrated purely agricultural publication in America. Each issue is filled with illustrations of practical benefit to farmers and their households, and this feature has made it not only the standard farm journal of the South, but the most popular in the rural homes of the land. The illustrated article on corn culture in the April issue, just out, is worth a whole year's subscription, and yet there are a half dozen other illustrated articles of value in the issue.

NOTICE.
The copartnership heretofore existing under the name of HOLSENBECK BROTHERS, having expired by limitation, and written agreement, dated January 5th 1888, is now styled D. D. HOLSENBECK. This March 24th 1888.

Spring colds are budding.
Next week is Court week.
Monday was a perfect March day.
Tuesday was also cool and windy.
Farmers report a good stand of corn.

S. L. Chiles Jr. visited Macon Saturday.

Miss Sallie E. Barron is at home from Wesleyan.

Mr. R. T. Morton of Mortons was in town Monday.

George Parsley Jr. was at home from Mercer for a few days week before last.

Dr. Ohio C. Gibson was in town Saturday driving a spanking double team, looking quite "as fat."

We are having our cotton lands prepared extra nice and are now having plenty of compost put in.

Mrs. Gus Stewart and Mrs. G. T. Pursey went down to Macon last Thursday and returned Saturday.

Mrs. H. J. Stewart of the Ridge gave us a passing call on Sunday afternoon, as she returned home from a visit to Mrs. Bragg.

Mrs. T. R. Penn, with Master Howard and Tommie, of Monticello visited Clinton and Mrs. J. H. Morgan Friday.

The "Jones County Medical Association," held its regular meeting last Saturday. Why did not more of the M. D.'s put in their appearance?

Ex Gov. McDonald refutes the prevalent idea that the farmers of Georgia are growing poorer every year. By personal observation he finds a yearly improvement in their finances.

Mr. J. H. Blount Jr. with his mother and sisters Misses Dottie and Fannie spent several days at their cottage at Grays last week. They returned to their home in Macon, via Haddock's.

The young Hardeman's are quite happy watching over a "brood" of eleven pointer pups—they are just ten days old and are beautiful every one of them. The puppies we mean, yes and the young H's too.

A good lady of this county appreciating our efforts, says she would willingly pay five dollars a year, rather than forego the pleasure afforded her by the weekly visits of the HEADLIGHT to her home.

Master Charlie Bodell Harvey of Macon is spending the week with Gordon Hardeiman. Charlie formed the acquaintances of a good many Jones county people last year while with Herring & Jahan. He is an exceptionally nice boy.

Mrs. J. R. Chiles is having a serious time, in her efforts to raise geese. Last week she had over a dozen eggs eaten, by bugs, and the mother geese sitting on the two nests badly crippled. She has also lost a good many turkey eggs same way.

Our good subscribers at Haddock's P. O. complain that the HEADLIGHT does not reach that office until Wednesday. The fault is not ours, the papers are mailed to them on Friday (and never later than Saturday) they must lie over in Macon.

Mr. Henry Finney and family of Haddock's passed through Clinton Saturday on their way to visit his sister Mrs. Gus Bragg. He kindly brought thus far "our eldest girl" home. Allow ye Editors to return thanks to the clever Haddockites for many courtesies extended to her, during her stay among them. She returns greatly reacquainted.

SPECIAL.
All parties indebted to this office for their subscription are expected to pay as between now and the middle of April. We shall review our books then and if you have not paid up don't blame us if you fail to get the paper after that date. We must have the money.

CURRENT TOPICS.

BY MRS. E. G. H.
The International Council of Women held a convention in Washington last week. Although most men at the present day look upon women as inferior to them in intellect and business capacity these women are among the most intelligent of the age, and are making capital defense to the idiom: "All men support all women." Laura M. Jones of Kansas, is the President. The papers which have been read before this intelligent body bring to light much of women's work. In Massachusetts alone there are near 300,000 who are earning a livelihood in industrial occupation. Since the war hundreds of women have graduated as physicians, others as clergy-women and lawyers. She is an important factor in the "Grange," a temperance society and a peace society. Mrs. Leonora Barry read a paper on "What the Knights of Labor are doing for the women," she was loudly cheered and came forward twice to bow her acknowledgments for the oration. She said, "we are building around our working girls a wall to defend them from in dignities and humiliations to which they have been subjected to heretofore. Prof. Rees Michael spoke of "Women as Educators," and Laura Holloway gave a dissertation on "Women in Journalism," in which these facts were brought out twenty five years ago only fifteen women were employed in the whole country as editors while now over 200 are engaged in journalistic work in New York city alone! She paid a high tribute to Newspaper editors and proprietors in U. S. and said that the newspaper that attempted to get along without a woman on its staff would be bankrupt in less than five years. (Hurrah for Laura say we!) Dr. Sarah Hackett, as a medical educator thought hers was the noblest missionary field in the world, who could do more good spiritually than a religious physician? and woman should receive equal compensation for her services with the men. We glory in the intelligence of our Yankee sisters, and in the "spinster" they have to bring this intelligence before the world. This is truly a century of advancement in all things.

Europe seems to be suffering from severe rains and floods as well as the United States. In Germany seven villages are submerged. Damages are fearful to property, and are estimated at $30,000,000. Twenty nine lives have been lost and over a thousand cattle. So far this year throughout the United States has been one of calamities. The winter has been mild, but never the less, there has been suffering. Let us hope that the rains may cease and the weather continue as pretty as the past few days.

Since President Cleveland went into the White House he has been four times draped in mourning—for Grant, for Hendricks, for Arthur and for Waite.

Golden Days.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

This admirable weekly for the youth of this great land is now well established, and has an increasingly large and well-deserved patronage.

It is well worthy the examination of parents who wish to provide their children with a large amount of carefully prepared miscellany, at once entertaining, instructive and clean. It is edited with ability, and shows a quick sympathy with the pleasures of the young people, and a clear outlook for their welfare.
