Gray Georgia, Saturday, Dec 16

DEATH OF A BRIGHT YOUNG PHYSICIAN.

The following account of the death of one of Jones County's brightest young physicians is copied from the Macon Telegraph of the 10th inst.

Dr. H. D. McKay, who lived at the home of his parents in Jones County, nine miles from Macon, on the Clinton road, died yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock.

The circumstances of his death are peculiarly sad for the reason that it was due to the terrible mistake of his best friend.

The doctor had been suffering all Saturday night with an aching tooth. About 3 o'clock yesterday morning, having suffered so much that he thought relief could only be had by other remedies than those he had been trying, he aroused his young friend and companion, Mr. J. T. Funderbark, and requested him to go to the office, which was on the premises, and make up some capsules of quinine. The young man did as requested, filling six capsules with five grains each, of which he supposed was quinine, but which was afterward found to be more or less of the opium.

Returning to the room he gave Dr. McKay four of them. Mr. Funderbark remarked that as he had a cold he would take some quinine also, and then swallowed the remaining capsules. He then went to bed, but shortly afterward found himself quite sick with nausea. Dr. McKay also complained of the nausea. Mr. Funderbark went into the kitchen and procured some hot water which he drank to produce vomiting. Becoming relieved, he went to the room and found that the doctor was still sick and complaining of peculiar sensations. He asked his friend where he obtained the quinine, and was told that it was taken from a box in the office.

"Then you have fixed us both," said the doctor.

Mr. Funderbark thought the doctor was only joking and went to his room and went to sleep, but not until he saw that the doctor had fallen asleep.

At breakfast time Mrs. McKay tried to arouse her son, but failed. Mr. Funderbark awoke and finding it difficult to wake the doctor, thought of the remark, "You have fixed us both."

The neighbors were sent for and a messenger went to Clinton for Dr. Barron. On his arrival he found that Dr. McKay was poisoned, and a messenger was sent to Macon for a physician. Dr. W. C. Gibson, knowing the importance of promptness, secured a horse and buggy at Davis' stable and started on his way, but was met by another buggy coming after him. Changing buggies, Mr. Davis' buggy was sent back, and he proceeded on his way. When within half a mile of the McKay residence he was informed that the doctor died at 2 o'clock. Dr. Gibson went to the house and found that all was over, and that everything was quiet, under the circumstances, had been done to save Dr. McKay.

Mr. Funderbark, the young man who had made the fatal mistake, is about 22 years of age, and had been with Dr. McKay for four years past. The two were great friends and constant companions. The affection between them was the admiration of the neighbors. When he discovered his mistake he was crased with grief and it is thought by some that he will lose his mind.

Dr. McKay was universally loved and esteemed. He was 30 years old and unmarried. Yesterday the neighbors for miles around visited the McKay home to tender their sympathy to the stricken family.

As to how the mistake occurred, there are several theories. It is thought that the doctor broke the bottle which contained the morphine, and had placed it in the little medicine box. This fact was unknown to Mr. Funderbark, and as morphine and quinine are similar in appearance, it was easy to mistake one for the other. No possible blame is attached to Mr. Funderbark.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Mrs. E. G. HARDMAN, Local Editor.

The HEADLIGHT office is receiving its first coat of paint.

If you have not paid your taxes, do so at once as the time is short.

Master Eugene Morgan is handling the yard stock for R. T. Ross.

Mr. J. H. Morgan is building a house near Gray to be used by a tenant.

Miss Kate Morgan spent several days in Macon this week the guest of Miss Louise Hurry.

Col. W. P. Davis, of Monticello spent Tuesday night and Wednesday in Clinton, on official business, and visited Macon Thursday.

Capt. R. T. Ross and Wiley H. Holenbeck, of Clinton, and D. D. Holenbeck, of this place, spent Thursday in the Central City.

Our town is in a regular boom. The saw and hammer can be heard in every direction. The HARDMAN office, the church and Grano house will soon be completed.

Messrs. Rodgers, Wortham & Co. one of the most progressive and substantial firms of Macon, are having a commodious house built in our town to be used for storing Grano.

We call the attention of our readers to the change in the adv. of Capt. R. T. Ross in this issue. He is certainly selling his goods very cheap. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourself.

Col. Anderson, of the firm, Bates and Anderson of Macon, was in Clinton last Wednesday on official business. Col. Anderson is the son of Hon. Clifford, State Attorney General, one of our most honored statesmen.

TO OUR DELINQUENTS.

THE LAST CALL.

All persons who are in arrears, are requested to call at the HEADLIGHT office and settle or pay Mr. W. W. Barron our Tax Collector the first time you see him.

Fellow citizens and friends, we know that one desire of your heart is that you may provide for your family a paper that is published in your county and one that has visited your homes weekly for over a year. Surely you are not going to disappoint the publisher, who has waited long and patiently for the reward of his labors, having drawn heavily upon enterprises of like character, to support this one, and the time has now come when he must reap that reward, or go to the wall. Each of you owe a small amount, but several hundred small amounts, aggregated make a large one, and it takes no small amount of money to keep the machinery of this paper going and if the money that is due was paid in at the time it was due the paper, alive, and would continue to make its weekly visits to your home, unless this be done it will certainly die.

We want your patronage and support, but you must pay for it. Do not wait for us to see you, for a great many are strangers, but call at this office and settle or remit through the post office. During our absence from the office at this place Messrs. David D. Holenbeck, and James H. Morgan are authorized to receive subscription and receipt for the same. Very Respectfully,
T. R. FARR, Prop'r.

These two lines which look so solemn, are put here to fill out this column.

CLINTON LOCALS.

Hog killing time!!

Mr. H. J. Stewart spent last Saturday in town.

Mrs. Wm. Mallox, of Morton, visited Clinton Tuesday.

Mrs. S. T. Bragg, of Pine Ridge, was in Clinton Wednesday.

Misses Sallie Barron, and Emmie Chiles are spending the week in Macon.

Judge and Mrs. F. M. Swanson of Monticello spent several days in Clinton this week.

Mr. Benj. Finney, of Salem neighborhood, passed through Clinton Monday on his way to the burial of Dr. McKay.

A large crop of sweet potatoes were made in and around Clinton, but many have rotted and we fear that a greater part of the crop will be lost.

Our minister for another year is Rev. Ellison R. Cook, a young divine of great piety and amiability, with whom we feel all will be pleased. Let us give him a warm welcome.

Universal regret is expressed at the sudden and sad death of Dr. Hugh McKay. He was a young man of noble character and much loved by his many friends in the County.

Mary Ann Clower, (colored), grand-daughter of the old blacksmith, Charles Merriweather, was severely hooped by a cow Monday.

Dr. Barron were called in and found her thigh broken. She is suffering greatly.

Ellis C. G. 652 Cherry Street, Macon have something to please every one. They have just received a large lot of "Christmas tricks," handsome useful and ornamental, and guarantee to please the pure and taste of the most economical and fastidious.

Mrs. Ellen Singleton; relief of Judge Leroy Singleton died of pneumonia at the home of Mr. Jno. A. Pitts, near Fortville Tuesday and was buried at the family burial ground near that church Wednesday.

Mrs. Singleton was the last of the Hutchinson family, which was one of the largest and wealthiest in Jones County. She has been well known for years as a most excellent christian woman, and her death will be regretted. She leaves only one child, Mrs. Pitts, with whom the last years of her life have been passed.

A terrible riot occurred in Birmingham a few days ago in which eight or ten men were killed and a number wounded.

Mr. Cohen, one of the victims of the Covington tragedy, has so far recovered as to be able to return to his home in Madison.

What has become of the school house? Is it possible that this community cannot put their shoulder to the wheel, and keep it moving until we get a good one built? Who is the first one to plunk down fifty dollars? Don't all speak at once.

The following is the official Jacksonville bulletin: No new cases, no deaths. Total cases, 4,704; total deaths, 412. There was a heavy frost this morning and the general belief is that no more will be heard of fever, at least in the city. Indications point to the arrival of from three to five thousand people on December 15th.—Macon Evening News

THE LAST CALL.

The Tax House will close strictly on the 20th of December, and after that date, if a tax will issue against all who have not paid their State and County Taxes, for the year 1888.

W. W. BARRON,
Tax Collector Jones County.

AN ALLIANCE DINNER.

The members of the Farmers' Alliance in Jones County held an important business meeting yesterday morning at Hunt's store in Round Oak. Nearly 150 members were present, and after the business had been finished all sat down to an excellent feast. Roast pig, sausage, spare-ribs and the dainties of olden time were served in royal style. Every farmer present knew from the dinner with satisfaction and increased confidence in the order to which he belonged.—Macon Telegraph.

FROM HADDOCKS.

Mrs. E. S. Holt and Miss Moughon are at Marshallville attending the wedding of their Mr. Willie Rice.

Mrs. Richard Bazemore, of Tona, is on a visit to relatives, Mr. Holt and Col. Moughon.

Many regrets are expressed at the intended departure of Mr. Tobe Bonner, who will make his future home in Texas.

Mr. Ed Lester lays aside the plow line and dismisses the butter-nogger for a better thing in the city. Success to thee, Edward, wherever thy lines may be cast.

Even a week's absence tells us how greatly Mrs. Park will be missed when she leaves Haddock's permanently, which event is said to be in contemplation.

Turkey, syllabus and the usual concomitants served by Mrs. Gus Pitts to a number of lady friends recently made an impression not easily removed. When it comes to good eating and genuine hospitality commend us to the above named lady.

Mr. W. H. Anchors, having retired from a clerkship with Mr. John Anchors, will return to his former home in Hancock.

Another enterprise in the shape of a general merchandise store gives us four full-fledged establishments, ready at all times to serve a general public. Messrs. Lee & Batchelder preside over the last.

It is certain couple, upon whom the Gods have smiled, don't hasten the bans there will be a tired expression manifested and a doubt realized. Thus, a friendly suggestion, not intently, would do to link your troubles, young people, and let the future take care of itself, and you, too, if you want to do it.

Our first venture of living at home—killing hogs—has about proved a dismal failure, in this, that it was decided by the other side that I must do the gussing as to weather. Well that's my long suit, for I've guessed at everything that came in eight since away back. I guessed Greeley would be elected to the tune of near 600. Then follows the La. lottery—last turn, etc., and now I braced myself and announced the time propitious. L'homme propose, Dieu dispose, for just as the last one was slaughtered the wind shifted to the south with clouds. I am therefore relegated to coventry for a term.

COVINGTON & MACON R. R.

We copy the following from the Macon Evening News:

It was a coincidence that Macon's other new road should have been completed to Athens on the same day that the Georgia Southern was finished to Valdosta. These two roads are calculated to do great good for Macon and the entire section traversed by them. It is not improbable that these two roads may become connecting links in the same chain of a great system reaching from New York to Florida.

The Covington and Macon, or, as it should be called, the Macon and Athens, has been built under great difficulties. It could be appropriately termed "The Injunction Road," for its indomitable builder, Mr. E. C. Machen, has been met and obstructed by over one hundred injunctions, an average of one and a quarter injunctions for every mile constructed. Such annoyances were enough to crush any ordinary man beyond resurrection.

But E. C. Machen is not an ordinary man.

He has successfully overcome every obstacle and to-day triumphantly and proudly views the landscape o'er. He is entitled to the applause and thanks and praise of the public that he is receiving.

The first regular through passenger train left Macon this morning for Athens at 7 o'clock. On board were Col. E. C. Machen, J. H. Swearer, Esq. of New York, a large dry goods merchant and one of the stockholders of the road, Judge Geo. C. Thomas, the attorney of the Covington and Macon at Athens, Superintendent McEvoy, General Freight Agent Craig and others.

Last Monday a new schedule was placed on the C. and M. and trains began to run into Athens.

The local option election in Newton County last Saturday resulted in a majority of 134 "for the sale." It is claimed however that there were a number of illegal votes and it is probable that a contest will be the result.

Mr. Josiah Sibley, one of the oldest and wealthiest citizens of Augusta, died last Saturday afternoon at the advanced age of 82. The Sibley mill was named in his honor, and he was a director of that mill, besides many other large incorporations.—Macon Evening News.

The following extracts are taken from a long and interesting article, which appeared in the Macon Telegraph of the 7th inst, over the signature, "B. H. J.," in which he beautifully describes the country through which the C. & M. R. R. passes.

Hon. F. M. Swanson has filled the office of ordinary for eleven years without opposition and to the entire satisfaction of his fellow citizens. He is a very pleasant and affable gentleman, and just now is in a peculiarly amiable mood, as he was most happily married on the 23d of November to Mrs. Hamilton of Clinton who is a charming lady and a general favorite. I am indebted to Mr. Swanson for many courtesies, and trust his union will be crowned with the richest blessings.

It is related of Rev. Pinckney Hill, a brother of the senator, that in his early career Rev. Geo. Pierce, afterwards so distinguished as a pulpit orator and bishop, and himself were each called upon to preach in the Methodist church at Monticello. Both responded, and even to this day it is claimed that Hill distanced Pierce. But "one swallow does not make a summer," and in the end the bishop was acknowledged to be the incomparable leader in pulpit and in council of his denomination.
