MILEDGEVILLE, JULY 23, 1827.
The last Washington News contains the charge of Judge Crawwood to the Grand Juny of Taliaferro counts. Neither the site, nor the matter of the charge will piel my granification to his malignant to the charge in the first was first his pied any gratineation to too manageant spenies;—for in the first we find his noted case and perspicuity; and in the later, the evidence of a vigor of intellect, which will ensure an able dischare of his official duties. He first maintains the right of grand juries to present as a grierance any injurious and oppossive law, and likewise, the omission of the Legislare to pass any law which the Welfare of ture to pass any law which the welfare of the community may require. He then di-rects the attention of the jury to the ne-cessity of a supreme judicial tribunal—re-fus to several plans of organization points out succinctly the advantages and lisad antages of each, and concludes with shad-antiges of each, and concludes with scientifing to the direction of the jury shelter they will tanke any presentment agen the subject. Thus has first official ordermarked with a solicitude for the im-provement of the judiciary system, and we doubt not that his future course will secure bome to himself and henceft to the commainty. The charge laving been de-hered with no view to literary or legal dysja—or to a selfide ostentation of any fail, does not "swell of the Lemp," but a satisfaculd be, concise, plain, and forci-le. We shall present it to our readers and week.
