Senator Brown is steadily improving.

Three colored men were hung in the State of Georgia last Friday.

The evidence in the Woolfolk case has closed, and now for the arguments.

The Eighteenth Georgia Regiment will hold their annual reunion at Conners July 24th and 25th.

A reunion of the Third Georgia Veterans will be held at Fort Valley, Ga., July 31st and August 1st.

A pie eating tournament took place at the Georgia railroad shops last Saturday afternoon, at Augusta, in which the successful eater devoured 12 pies on the match.

Wanted! To borrow a brand new valise, a second-hand long-tail duster and $4 in cash, in order that the editor may attend the Weekly Press Convention in style—New Era.

It is told on the authority of a lady of Richmond county that there is at present living in Columbia county, this state, an industrious farmer, the head of a large family, who was pronounced dead during his infancy. His mother refused to permit his burial, as decomposition never set in after death had apparently visited him, and placed the little coffin, with the body in it where it remained three months. One day his brother was playing in the room and ran to tell his mother that the corpse had stirred over. The body was reinterred, the child lived and thrived and is to day a staunch citizen of free Columbia.—Ex.

Col. J. H. Holland, Sec'y of the Morgan County Farmers Club, sends us the following resolution passed at their last meeting:

Resolved That we challenge through our secretary the counties of Putnam, Newton, Walton, Oconee, Jasper, Greene and Hancock to meet with us on August 30th, 1889, upon the following grounds that each county enter five horse colts foaled in the county entering them, during the year 1888 and five foaled during the year 1889, and that each colt entered be registered with name, age and owner and pay an entrance fee of $10.00; and that the county entering the best made colts for the year 1888 takes all the entrance money paid for that year and half of the money subscribed as a premium by Morgan county; and the county entering the five best made colts for the year 1889 takes all the entrance money paid for that year and half of the money subscribed as a premium by Morgan county; that Morgan county hold its colts show upon same terms as last year, including mules upon same terms as horse colts.

IN THE SUMMER OF SUCCESS.

The June number of the Southern Cultivator is incomparably the handsomest and most interesting and valuable periodical ever published anywhere. Its table of contents covers the entire range of topics connected with every department of farm life, and the practical information imparted in a single number is invaluable. The Cultivator is pre-eminently practical, and its motto is: we strive to make each issue better and more practical than its predecessor. We recommenced it to our readers. Send on one dollar and get it for one year. Address The Cultivator Publishing Co., Drawer M, Atlanta, Ga.

THE GEORGIA PRESS EXCURSION.

Our last letter was at Memphis. We parted with our Memphis friends just as the sun was shining somewhere across the river in Arkansas, but before the transfer boat got our train across the turgid Mississippi it was dark. The party had a long day of excitement and pleasure, and it was not long before they retired thinking of what next day would bring forth until "nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," took them away to dreamland.

We passed through or over the Ozark mountains just about day break, and shortly after arrived at Springfield, Mo. We were received by the mayor and a large concourse of citizens, and a brass band. The breakfast, by the way—and I say it with all due respect to the merits of the many excellent hotels where the Georgians stopped on their trip to and from Kansas City—was the best meal we ate on our trip.

After breakfast the mayor of Springfield welcomed us in a stirring speech and the brass band played "Dixie." The president of the press association was making his reply to the mayor's welcome when the conductor sang out "All aboard!"

Our train was met at Kansas City depot by the usual amount of carriages, and we were driven to "The Midland."

There are two Kansas cities. One on one side of the Missouri River in the State of Missouri, the other on the other side of the river in the State of Kansas. In the latter city the large packing houses are located.

These two cities are connected by an extensive bridge across the river, like New York and Brooklyn. To reach this city we travelled over the Kansas City, Ft. Scott & Memphis Road, which carried us through the rich prairie lands of Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas. This road is the Western connection with the Central of Georgia and their recent connection at Birmingham, enables them to make the trip from Kansas City to New York two days sooner than before. Along this line of road is doubtless some of the finest farming lands in the United States—rich beyond description, and level almost as a table. We thought as we looked over these vast fields of grain, and saw the cattle in abundance grazing on the rich pastures, that if Georgia had such land, with its climate, water, timber and other advantages, it would truly be the garden spot of the world.

The Editors spent the afternoon in sight-seeing and the evening at the rooms of the Commercial Club. President Irwin welcomed them to Kansas City in a cordial speech, and was followed by Mayor Davenport. The president of the association, Capt. T. M. Peoples of Lawrenceville and Rev. J. W. Burke of Macon responded in behalf of the visitors. The evening was spent very enjoyably. It was arranged that a committee of the club should accompany the Georgians the next evening to Armour's packing house and the Kansas City stock yards. Accordingly after breakfast the party took carriages and were driven to the celebrated packing house. To tell what they saw it would take several issues of the HEADLIGHT. This establishment kills, dresses, and prepares for market 800 hogs and 600 beefs a day.

The gentleman who showed the visitors through the Armour establishment stated that everything about the hog was utilized except "the equal." It took the party about three hours to make their hurried inspection, but it was quite interesting to those whose internal arrangements were sufficiently well balanced to witness the process of making bacon and its kindred meats. Leaving the hog and beef factory, we went to the Kansas City stock yards. It is really an exchange where stock is bought and sold.

Our outward trip ended at Kansas City and on Saturday evening we turned our faces southward. Our train made a quick run to St. Louis, where we arrived on Sunday morning, for early breakfast.

After breakfast several editors attended religious services at some of the churches in St. Louis, while others rode about the city and lunched around the hotel. At 11 o'clock the entire party visited Mr. Henry Shaw's wonderful botanical garden and parks—the most attractive places of the kind in the United States. The garden contains 30 acres, and every tree and flower and every variety of shrub or flower to be found beneath the sun can be seen in this enclosure. Elegant hot houses, neat cottages, lovely drives and a magnificent and luxuriantly furnished residence can be seen in this park also, a $40,000 vault in which Mr. Shaw will sleep when he shades off this mortal coil.

Near by is a large box containing a bust of Mr. Shaw, which is to be placed over his resting place when he has passed away. "The old man" is 89 years old, is a bachelor, born in England, lived in St. Louis 70 years, has given millions to benevolent purposes, donated the garden and a 300 acre park to the city. He has always been a ladies' man; was a hardware merchant, is worth twenty-five million dollars and is jovial, hale and hospitable. "You ought to be a happy man, Mr. Shaw," always, and it is best, in my opinion, that no man can have perfect and perpetual happiness on earth, for life would become tiresome and monotonous had we no tribulations while journeying here below," said he, with a far away look in his eyes. Perhaps he is correct.

In the afternoon many places of interest were visited. Other parks and gardens were inspected, while at night many attended church. Early Monday morning we left for Nashville by special train. At right of track over the Louisville & Nashville rail road, and passed through a portion of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The distance from St. Louis to Nashville is 320 miles and our special train rolled into the latter city at 6 o'clock p.m. We lost about two hours on the road, thus making the actual running time a little over eight hours. We received a very cordial welcome from the members of the Press of Nashville and of the Commercial Club to remain over, but we had made arrangements to be in Chattanooga the next day (Tuesday), and the programme could not be changed. A number of the visitors spent a pleasant evening at the club and had the honor of meeting a number of the prominent citizens of Nashville. The city is apparently very prosperous and its people fully alive to the advantages it offers to those who are seeking homes in the south. We parted with our new made friends with the regret that our acquaintance had been so brief.

Concluded next week.

YOU CANNOT AFFORD
At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhoea balm in the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhoea and all inflammation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. LETTER FROM AN OLD FARMER.

Mr. Editor:—Tell every Farmers Alliance to spread themselves in the production of home fertilizers for the next season, and commence at once, and take the advice of an old farmer who has a long experience in preparing stable manure. The only true way is to cover the litter from the stock with good soil, about twice a week—straw and leaves, a failure. Nothing will excel the soil—is the best absorbent.

Col. Jenison told me that his father had tried this plan for 15 or 20 years and had been very successful. It should not be removed from one season to another unless packed down tight. If you wish to compost, do this as soon as the manure is ground fine, then plant it deep. To let it lie in a heap to undergo the heat, when removed and planted it loses too much of its virtue. It should always undergo fermentation in the beds, the plants will not fire when put in deep and will give better results. To fully develop this new plan, get most offensive substance and cover with soil and you will be at once the offensive smell will be gone.

If you will try this plan you will each year get back the value of all food given to your stock, counting the price of commercial manure. Try it with all other substitutes you can get on your farm, and let guano alone. We have suffered greatly by the use of guano. This new plan is worth millions of dollars to the farmers and lives labor than even hauling guano from market. I explain this idea in the following card:

Have the stalls all made high. When offensive the soil apply. Plant fertilizers before decayed. A better plan has never been made. Lafayette, Ala. T. G. Garlington.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Circumstances beyond our control necessitate us to issue a half sheet this week.

Blind Tom was not drowned at the Johnston flood, as reported several days ago.

Five car loads of watermelons passed up the C. & M. R. R. for export to Northern markets.

The Worth County Agricultural association have made final arrangements for their annual fair.

The commencement exercises of the Georgia Female College, at Cornington, has been held during this week.

The first shipment of watermelons, destined for Boston, was shipped over the C. & M. R. R. a few days ago.

Mr. J. F. Daffy of Cumming recently set a hen on seventeen eggs. She hatched eighteen chickens and left four eggs in the nest.

A four-week-old pig belonging to Noah Montgomery of Forsyth county was found frozen to death on the morning of the 1st inst.

A new post-office known as Apalachicola, has been established on the C. & M. R. R., about half a mile from Florence, with Mr. John Knott as postmaster.

Dr. T. A. Cheadam, of Macon, well and favorably known to a great many of our citizens, has been appointed one of the delegates from the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association which meets in San Francisco, California, on the 24th instant.

OUR LOSS.

We are sure that a feeling of universal regret pervaded the minds of our readers, when the card of Mrs. E. G. Hardeman was read in the last issue of the HEADLIGHT. By her ardent devotion to duty and kindness to everybody, she has greatly endeared herself to those who peruse the columns of this paper. We regret exceedingly to part with one who has so ably and willingly given her time and labor to the enterprise, and beginning as we do this issue, alone, we feel more deeply than ever, our great loss. In parting we extend our thanks for past kindness, and our best wishes for a prosperous and happy life.

CLINTON LOCALS.

Rev. Frank Cook, of Augusta, visited his son, Rev. E. R. Cook, this week.

Revs. Frank Cook and E. R. Cook and Capt. R. T. Ross spent Tuesday in Macon.

Miss Kay to Morgan spent several days this week with Miss Pearl Holmes, near Clinton.

Miss Sallie Barron left Friday morning for Round Oak to spend some time with relatives.

Miss Maude Hardeman will leave today for Macon, where she goes to attend Mercer Commencement.

Mr. R. N. Hardeman, of Mercer University, spent last week at home cooperating for Commencement.

Miss Pearl Holmes spent several days in Macon this week and attended Wesleyan Commencement.

Judge J. C. Barron is improving the appearance of his residence by having a new coat of paint applied.

Mr. Charles Williamson was in town this week in the interest of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. R. B. Barron reports the exercises of the Sophomore class at Wesleyan Commencement last week as being splendid.

Mr. Holmes Johnson, who has been attending the School of Technology in Atlanta, was home again to the delight of his many friends.

WHY IS IT?

FROM ROUND OAK.

DEAR HEADLIGHT:—As "et-lit-er-um" seems to be the order of the day, I will say this has been a week of fun, frolic and frolic. Your correspondent, together with a boon companion, has not let the grass accumulate upon the "boulevard" that leads from the city of Round Oak to the hospitable home of Mr. J. M. Hunt, where Misses Gouley and Ward, two of the sweetest flowers that bloom in the sunny glades of Jasper, have for the past week been the guests of Miss Hattie Hunt, who knows so well how to entertain her friends and make home pleasant. Mr. Hunt and his amiable lady turned the house over to the young folks and to say that the week was one round of gaiety and pleasure is putting it very mildly. My companion, the Col., dropped in upon us just the right moment and having come, he saw and was conquered. He expected to remain only a day in our metropolis, but stayed a week and would have been here now, had not his fair conqueror returned to the pastures of their own country, accompanied by their fair hostess. The Col. after looking over the field of battle gathered together his shattered forces, furling his conquered banner and returned slowly across the borders. I am left all alone and will endeavor to be the historian of that memorable battle of hearts. The campaign opened last Monday night and though the Col. and I did our best to capture our fair opponents no serious engagements were brought on. The Col. made several desperate charges, but every assault was successfully ward off. The dauntless Henry H. made one of his strategic flank movements and got in with some very effective work. Frank H. did some fine sharp shooting, tip top skirmishing and admirable retreating and would at times greatly amuse the gang with "charge 'em, boys, charge 'em." Many merry games were played, any quantity of bright funny things said, the memory of which will linger in the minds of all who participated. I learned to play at "Hearts" and was wonderfully successful in capturing them, but the more hearts I caught the more I was beaten. One young lady facetiously remarked that I had won all their hearts and that the multitude of my conquests was the cause of my ultimate defeat. While a game of Euchre was going on, Miss Hattie surprised the players by placing four plates of shortbread on the card table immediately in front of the players. Frank said he would not pass. Henry, that he believed he would take it up. The Col. stretched out his long arm and seized Miss Ward's plate, saying I will take my partners best and go it alone, when she looked up and said Euchre (you cur.) Friday morning we all armed ourselves with hook, line and pole and set out, footsack, for Gouley creek, about a mile away. The day was lovely, every one's spirit at the top notch and oh! the fun we did have. All the hooks were named. When a draw-fish was caught, back out it was the omen. At noon we were joined by Mr. J. T. Hunt, R. H. Mayhall and his charming wife. Under some large trees where the shade was very dense, near the banks of the creek, a substantial lunch was spread, to which was added our catch, something less than a peck of minnows, nicely fried and smoking hot. The ramble had whetted our appetite, as old Bob Barker would say, to a "feather edge," and there was but little talking done till our hunger was appeased. After lunch we cooled ourselves with delicious ice cream that was frozen while the fish were being fried. Such another lot of fun we did have putting ice down one another's backs and playing all manner of pranks. When we reached home late in the afternoon we were full of pleasant memories and red-bags.

Editor HEADLIGHT:—I thought perhaps a short letter from this section might be of interest to some of your readers. Burke, as you will see by reference to the map, is a large county. We have three representatives in the Legislature. Our population in 1880 was 27,129. Burke is bounded on the north by Richmond, on the east by the Savannah river, on the south by Screven and on the west by Jefferson county.

AGRICULTURE.

We have some fine lands in Burke and some large, progressive farmers. A few days ago, I visited one, who made, in 1887, twenty-four bales to the horse. He ran five plows and made 120 bales. He used about 20 tons of standard fertilizers. He paid out $800 to get the stumps up out of his way and says he made the money back the first year.

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES.

We have a good school commissioner, one who takes an interest in the schools. We have about sixty schools in the county. As is the case in many other sections, the schools taught by the colored teachers are better attended than those in charge of the whites. This ought not so to be. I am glad, however, that the white people are waking up on the subject, and say they will do better. As to churches and religion, Burke will compare favorably with other counties. We have in the county about fifteen Methodist churches and a good many of other denominations. I have not yet found a Hardshell church. This climate may not be adapted to them. They are good people, generally, you could spare us a few from Jones county. This county gave 1,255 majority for prohibition.

My heart is made glad and I rejoice as I read of the good meetings and religious prosperity of old Jones. May the good work go on! The writer gets six papers a week, but the HEADLIGHT is read as soon as I get it, and the boys like it too. Allow me to thank you, Mr. Editor, for your kindness in sending me the paper and congratulate you on your success.

Should I have a week to spare this summer I would be glad to spend it among the "hills" of Jones, visiting relatives and friends and the scenes and associations of other days. Bros. Bonner and Thigpen have gone to their reward. Noble men! Let us emulate their example and meet them in heaven.

A TRUE TONIC.

When you don't feel well and hardly know what ails you, give B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) a trial. It is a fine tonic.

T. O. Callahan, Charlotte, N. C., writes: "B. B. is a fine tonic, and has done me great good."

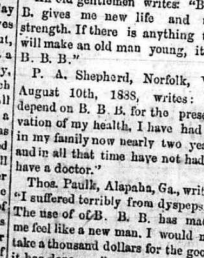

L. W. Thompson, Damascus, Ga., writes: "I believe B. B. is the best blood purifier made. It has greatly improved my general health."

An old gentleman writes: "B. B. gives me new life and new strength. If there is anything that will make an old man young, it is B. B. B."

P. A. Shepherd, Norfolk, Va., August 10th, 1888, writes: "I depend on B. B. B. for the preservation of my health. I have had it in my family now nearly two years, and in all that time have not had a doctor."

Thos. Paulk, Alapaha, Ga., writes: "I suffered terribly from dyspepsia. The use of B. B. B. has made me feel like a new man. I would not take a thousand dollars for the good it has done me."

W. M. Cheshire, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had a long spell of typhoid fever, which at last seemed to settle in my right leg, which swelled up enormously. An ulcer also appeared which discharged a cup full of matter a day. I then gave B. B. B. a trial and it cured me."

The Talbotton New Era publishes the following: "Mr. Rough yesterday was sitting on his back porch sizzling sound in the churn, but thought it of no consequence. All at once the churn exploded with a noise like thunder. Mr. Jones was completely submerged in rich Jersey clabber, and a piece of the churn struck his favorite dog on the head and killed it as dead as a hammer."

Neuritic Persons and those troubled with nervousness resulting from care or overwork will be relieved by taking Broen's Iron Bitters. Genuine has trade mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

Mr. Jonathan Montgomery, of Oconee county has a horse now plowing in the same field on his farm as when he returned from the war. He is now making his 26th crop with him. Mr. Montgomery says the horse's teeth have worn so smooth that he can't grind his food and his wife cooks bread for him. He is doing well and is very fond of bread that has no crust on it. Mr. Montgomery says he would not take any amount of money for him and intends, if he is the longest liver, to bury him if he is able to dig the grave when he dies.

Notice

C & M R R GRAY GA.

My business still goes on and I am prepared to sell to my friends and customers goods at prices that will astonish them. I will sell everything in my line, for the next 30 days cheap for cash; Dry Goods, Notions, Boots, Shoes, Hats and Groceries.

I have in Stock a full line

that I am going to close out regardless of cost. In addition to the above, I carry a Full Line of hardware, Crockery, Tinware, Woodenware, and many other articles generally kept in a first-class store, all of which I will sell at Rock bottom prices.

Give me a trial and be convinced that I mean business.
