GEORGIA PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The twenty-first annual meeting of the above association will be held in the city of Macon on TUESDAY, May 28, at 10 o'clock a. m. J. H. ESTILL, President. J. W. CHAPMAN, Sec. Sec'y.

An unfortunate Maine baby, that happened to be born on the day of her grand-parents' golden wedding was named Anna Versary.

For a newspaper to successfully boom a town the paper must be named first. The game of you tickle-me-and-I-tickle-you is very popular at this season of the year. It takes money to run a newspaper, or run for office.—Montezuma Record.

Newman has produced a thirteen year old boy preacher. He appeared before a crowded house a few evenings since, gave out a hymn, led in prayer and delivered a grand sermon, using as a text the parable of the ten virgins.

There will be a grand military display at Macon, 20th, 21st, of May. The Covington and Macon railroad will sell tickets from all stations at reduced rates. Tickets on sale for train No. 2 leaving Atlanta at one o'clock p. m. May 18th, and continue on sale May 19th, 20th, and 21st, good to return through 22nd. Excellent music by Second Artillery band. There will be five banding men in uniforms. It will be a grand display. Let all attend that can.

To those young men who are dissatisfied with farm life and anxious to rush to the cities, we commend the fact that there are now in the city of Atlanta alone, fully one thousand young men—able, intelligent, and trustworthy—who are out of employment and longing fruitlessly from store to store in search of a situation at wages barely enough to give them food and lodging. Young man, stick to the farm!—Greensboro Herald.

THE MODEL JOURNAL.

The May number of The Southern Cultivator with accustomed promptness is on our table, freighted with an abundance of interesting, entertaining and instructive matter. Emphatically it is a model journal in every respect. The Cultivator gets brighter and better with each issue, commending the confidence and veneration of the people of the South. A pioneer in the cause of agriculture and progress, it has reason to be proud of its grand record. Each number is a volume in itself in intrinsic merit. At $1 per annum it is the cheapest and best journal in the South. Address, The Cultivator Publishing Co., Drawer M, Atlanta Ga.

The following Programme is found in the Macon Evening News of the 18th. The Georgia Press Association meets at Macon on the 25th of May which meeting will be the 21st annual convention. Capt. J. L. Hardeman, son of Hon. Thomas Hardeman, of Macon, has been nominated for the Legislature to fill the vacancy from 18th caused by the death of the Hon. S. C. Chambliss.

The new Military post, near Atlanta, will be known as "Fort McPherson," in honor to the memory of James B. McPherson brigadier general United States, who was killed near there July 22, 1864.

"Will you please give me something to eat?" said the tramp. "We have nothing for you today," said the housewife. "I am sorry," said the tramp, "for it will not be convenient for me to call to-morrow." The New Home Sewing Machine Co's agent are not like the tramp for they will make it their business to call tomorrow if you will only drop a hint that you are thinking of buying a New Home Sewing Machine.

They tell down east of a poor fellow who owned a remarkably fat hog and who also owned a rich man. The hog was about all the property the poor debtor had worth leaving on, and the law exempted a man's only pig. One day the creditor met the debtor said: "You need another pig; let me send you a nice little one." The poor man was astonished. "Why, I owe you for the hog I've got now," he stammered. "Never mind; you need another one, and I'll send it, and he did, and the little pig was put in the pen for the night. The next morning the constable came and attended the fat hog, took it away, and thus the law and the rich man were satisfied.

The stock-holders of the Covington and Macon road held their annual meeting in this city on last Wednesday and elected the following board of directors: John E. Jones, of Macon, J. S. Baxter, of Macon, W. C. Leverette, of Macon; John C. Key, of Monticello; W. B. Ross, of Macon; A. Craig Palmer, of Macon; W. A. Brroughton, of Madison; N. E. Harris, of Macon; R. K. Reeves, C. G. Talmadge and A. H. Hodgson, of Athens.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, John E. Jones was elected president; John C. Key, vice President; A. Craig Palmer, secretary and assistant treasurer.

These gentlemen need no endorsement. They are men of established character, intelligence, practical and successful business experience and have the perfect and absolute confidence of the people of their respective communities, as gentlemen of the soundest integrity and highest standing in social and financial circles.

It is purely Georgia board, and is but another evidence that the Covington and Macon will claim to be, a really Georgia company, organized to develop the material growth of the section of country through which it passes, and be a strong, and important factor in contributing to the prosperity of the people and the solid advancement of the State.

The stockholders can rest assured that the newly elected officers and directors will faithfully and ably protect their interests, successfully manage the C. & M., keep its affairs in healthy condition, and make it one of the most popular and best paying railroad enterprises and investments in the State of Georgia. The Board Congress will meet in Atlanta on the 22d of May, and each county in the State is urged to send delegates to this important meeting.

The negro newspaper men of Georgia are pitching into the present because of his lack of recognition of their race in dishling out spoils.

The croakers always discourage some one whose faith is strong. The way to build up a city is for everybody to pull together, whether their opinions coincide or not.

A man has just died at Tanconia, Pa., after fifty-three years of illness. When a boy of 10 years he became afflicted with rheumatism, and from that time until his death was confined to his bed. His body was that of a boy with the head of a full grown man.

On April 23, 1889, W. W. Taylor, of Crawford county left home, saying that he would return in twenty years. On April 23, 1889, true to his word, Mr. Taylor passed through Macon, and I Teacher Crawford county that afternoon in time to keep his appointment.

D. D. HOLSENBECK FOUND GUILTY.

The boys all over town hung their heads low when the trial of D. D. Holsenbeck was ended, and the solicitor read aloud that we, the jury, find D. D. Holsenbeck guilty of selling goods lower than any house in Gray.

We copy the following from the Jasper County News.

Mrs. B. W. Frobel, of Atlanta spent last Saturday and Sunday in Monticello.

There was hail and considerable wind in the Wilbourn neighborhood last Monday.

Col. W. P. Davis has bought another pocket knife from the delight of his country home friends. He had a ten cent barlow last year but he lost that during Xmas.

Mr. Frank Webb's friends will be pleased to learn that he has been elected Local Editor of the Emory College Phoenix for the ensuing year. A compliment worthily bestowed.

About two o'clock last Monday afternoon the alarm of fire was given and it was soon discovered that the houses owned by Nett Maxey (pl) would soon yield to the mighty flame. It originated in an outer building used for a wash house and the wind being very high, soon the kitchen and dwelling were in flames. The citizens rendered prompt assistance and managed to save all the contents of the house. The loss is estimated at eight or nine hundred with no insurance.

Ten years ago the superintendent of an Iowa railroad booted a tramp out of his office for having the cheek to ask for a pass. To-day the tramp is the superintendent of the same road, while the man who lifted him on his boot keeps a restaurant and sends him over lunches.

A PLEASANT TRIP.

DEAR HEADLIGHT.—At 4:30 a. m. May 10th, at Juliette, 15 people boarded the E. T. V. & G. train bound for Cave Springs. Juliette was the starting point for the excursion and at every station till Atlanta was reached the crowd was added to—big, little, old and young piled in until two trains of eight coaches each were packed. On arrival on such an occasion as this a body expects to be walked over, sat upon, bumped against, toes stepped on, dust begrimed, etc. Girls, as usual, forgot fans, and boys by sticking their heads out of windows lost their Sunday hats. Now as the train stops at some station several never-to-still young fellows must needs get off and run into the little store and thereby see the train move off with them. The train comes a race, the passengers yell, but he "makes it!" Except in "Fatty's" case, instead of jumping on the car he is landed right square on his head in the middle of the side track, turned "summer-sets" and was left in the humble attitude to await the return of the train that evening. At Cunningham Station we enter Vann's Valley, where the railroad runs for miles through a beautiful level where not a spit or fill two feet deep is to be seen, the road lying at the foot of the mountain, with pretty brick residences and big barns, is splendid. Leaving the valley the long train wends their way through the mountains, not running so fast now, sharp curves forbidding this gives us a fine opportunity to take in the lovely scenery. Before we know it the train runs out on a set of table country, of a down grade appearance every way you look. Here the E. T. V. & G. intersects the R. & W. R. by a Y or tram is turned and we make a run of 10 miles on the B. & W. R. to Cave Springs. Here just ahead of our two trains (with their 750 passengers) is one from Rome carrying 500 persons more to join our mammoth picnic. Such the immense crowd of picnickers are hurrying away from the Cave Spring depot through the town to the park. The population of the place is about one thousand and the train is one long street that makes off from the railroad at right angles and extends to a large creek a half mile away. This creek forms a kind of fence for one half of the park, which is oblong, and the mountains on the other side form the other half of the fence. The Spring is indeed a magnificent curiosity, the immense quantity of water could readily run a mill, and a pin can be plainly seen through six or eight feet of water, which is fine to drink. On the side of the mountain, about one hundred and fifty feet (slant height) from the Spring is the mouth of the Cave. An admission of ten cents is paid, and a lighted candle furnished. About 300 had gone down ahead of me and, looking down, the hundreds of little candles seemed like twinkling stars. One hundred feet down from the entrance, at the bottom of the Cave, we see by candle light the subterranean stream that gushes from the mountain, hundreds of feet away. This is the real Cave Spring. A live duck was once dropped into this stream and made its way out unhurt through an underground road of over one hundred feet. In this cave of solid rock are quite a number of rooms, of all sizes and shapes. Passing from one of these apartments to another, we had to crawl through a tunnel of at least thirty feet and in this room we found a bed of dead eels and a pile of snakes, and a certain Jones county man yelled out, "Let's get out, boys, Hades is certainly not far off!" The inspecting crowd, composed of an equal number of gentlemen and ladies, all enjoyed the underground cave and thought the scene-line and cave soon to be forgotten. The air is said to be perfectly pure and is cool, the side walls are "bumpy" and rough, while overhead hangs numerous large frozen icicles, break through the bronzes outside and you find pure white rock. Just outside the cave the air is oppressive in the extreme and one feels faint and pants for breath.

At 4 o'clock p. m. all leave the park and head their way to the depot, with "all aboard" at 4:30 with a whistle and a wizz we are on the return trip. Never heard so many expressions of pleasure at one days holiday by a crowd who were likely and joyful to the end of the trip. No spare for persons.

THE STATE WE LIVE IN.

The negro who assaulted Operator Tripp at Tenuille, has been caught and is in jail.

There are a million dollars worth of new houses going up in Savannah. That is a splendid showing.

It is said that the finny tribe is more plentiful in the streams this season than for many years past, and the fishermen don't fail to bait them almost daily.

John Horn, a negro desperado of Laurens county, who has been doing his law officers for some time, is in jail in Dublin. He was captured after much work by the county bailiff and marshal.

A movement has been started in Hart county to have farmers decline to hire hands unless the hands can show in writing that they have either fulfilled their previous contracts or have been honorably released from the same.

Mrs. Ben Almond, of Elberton, has growing in her yard a lemon tree that is eleven years old and an orange tree that is thirteen years old. Both were planted from the seed, and they have borne fruit several seasons. Though rather dwarfed, they are very hardy and have matured some fruit.

ALL ANCE SAYINGS.

Be faithful to the principles of your order.—Ex.

Learn to make a dollar and live on twenty cents of it.

To get out of debt, lessen your expenses and increase profits.

Study your business as closely as does the merchant, the manufacturer, the physician and the lawyer.

Rely more on your brains and energy and industry and economy and you will work more independent.

The farmer's wives can help out as much as the men. They can save up eggs, butter, chickens, etc., and pay for a great deal of things, and in fact almost everything that a small family would use.

Farmers should give their sons something in the way of a horse, cow, pig, or something of the kind in order to get them in a good spirit, and then something can be done. Try it.

Lewis & Thompson of Lumpkin have two young owls which they propose to tame and keep for pets.

They are of the large horned species and although they are unable to fly they will measure four feet in expanse of wing. Their downy, fluffy covering is just being replaced by the secondary feathers.

Mrs. R. A. Edmonds of Elberton has a cooking pot, that was brought out of the revolutionary war. It was bought by her father from a gentleman that came out of the war, and he used it all through the raising of his children; and she has used it ever since. It is supposed to be over two hundred years old.

Mrs. M. H. Carlton, out at Cloverhurst, in Clark county, has an old goose that has been indulging in the "poetry of emotion" for some time. The boys throw the old goose a piece of bread, and then begin to play on the banjo or guitar or to pat, when the delighted goose will commence to dance and continue at short intervals as the music and patting is kept up.

Judge Philips of America is the Currier, a paper printed in Albany in 1864, by Jones & Dickinson, with Francis L. Wheaton as editor. It contains the local advertisements of seven counties, including Sumter county, and showed up a good local advertising patronage. The judge found several volumes of this paper while moving from the old court house to the new one.

At Americus, about a month ago, Charley Phillips, son of W. S. Phillips, stuck a large splinter nearly through his foot. The doctor extracted the splinter, which measured two inches. Since that time he has been troubled a great deal with the foot, and Friday, while examining the place discovered another splinter which he pulled out himself. It measured 1 1/2 inches in length and has been in his foot all this time.

Some time since at the crib of James and Will Patrick, on the Thrasher farm, in Walton county, there was an immense rat killing. A party of men and boys with three active dogs, on two separate rainy days, saw by actual count 300 grown rats, to say nothing of mice and flying-size rats. It was found in one crib that twelve bushels of shelled corn had been out of the ears the rats having had access to a large pile of shelled corn. In the other crib it was thought even more corn than that had been cut off.

The well on Broad street, Albany, that ventilates the subterranean drain passage, is being cleaned out. This well has a history which is of considerable interest. Twenty-five years ago the bottom fell out of a town well, which occupied that position in the streets, and a large part of the street caved in around it, leaving an ugly and dangerous sink in the middle of the street. This occurrence discovered the subterranean passage now used as a sewer. An opening was effected to it after much difficulty from the vacant lot in the corner of Parker's stables. The well was bricked up from the bottom and the work of filling in around it was begun. It required a long time and a great deal of dirt to fill in the hole, but it was finally filled, and has proved a great advantage to the city by giving it an important subterranean sewer.
