

187
 When the application of Samuel A. Bunker, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, was received by the Board, it was ordered that the Board of Trustees be authorized to receive the same and to make such disposition of the same as they may see fit.
 Passed & Voted, March 2, 1872.
 Wm. B. Bunker, Secretary.
 When the application of Elizabeth J. Bunker, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, was received by the Board, it was ordered that the Board of Trustees be authorized to receive the same and to make such disposition of the same as they may see fit.
 Passed & Voted, March 2, 1872.
 Wm. B. Bunker, Secretary.

[illegible]

of Ordinary - In Vacation, March 12, 1860

440

I am very glad to hear that you are well and hope you are happy. I am well and hope you are happy. I am well and hope you are happy.

Yours truly,
J. W. F.

[illegible]

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st inst. in relation to the matter of the estate of the late John C. Smith, deceased. I am sorry to hear that you are unable to attend to the matter at present, but I am glad to hear that you are well. I am, Sir, very respectfully,
 Yours, Sir, very respectfully,
 J. C. Smith

[illegible][illegible]

The first of these is the Journal, which is a record of the day's work, and is written in a simple, plain, and unadorned style. It is the most important of the three, and is the one which is most often referred to. The second is the Diary, which is a record of the day's feelings, and is written in a more personal and more expressive style. The third is the Sketchbook, which is a record of the day's observations, and is written in a more descriptive and more pictorial style.

First of Continuity - In Vacation, December

87
 The first of these is the fact that the estate of the deceased is not a single entity, but is divided into several parts, each of which is subject to a different set of rules. The second is the fact that the estate of the deceased is not a single entity, but is divided into several parts, each of which is subject to a different set of rules.

Post of Ordinary. - In Vacation December 24, 1866

[illegible]

Monday Morning of October 8 1867
Continued from the 7th

The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 9 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 10 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 11 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 12 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

Monday Morning of October 8 1867
Continued from the 7th

The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 9 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 10 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 11 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.

October 12 1867
The weather was very fine and the day was very pleasant. I went out for a walk in the park and saw many beautiful flowers. The children were very happy and played for hours. I also saw many beautiful birds and insects.