

[Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in cursive script, likely a ledger or account book. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. The handwriting is dense and fills most of the page area.]

[Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in cursive script, likely a ledger or account book. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. The handwriting is dense and fills most of the page area.]

[illegible][illegible]

Court of Ordinary - In Vacation, Nov. 21

Upon the authorities of Lord Howe's testimony, we are entirely satisfied. We have heard by the Count, that Mr. W. is better & that he is happy, and that he is happy to see any number of persons for the purpose of assisting, and also that Lord Howe's words of 18th March, 1800, are not to be taken as a support, and a confirmation of the evidence for the fact of his death, and also a word of his death & death for the use of Lord Howe's Lord Howe's testimony.