

51 Hall veterans of war eligible for land lottery

Fifty-one Revolutionary War veterans were living in Hall County in the early days of the county's creation, or at least these veterans were fortunate drawers in one of the state's land lotteries, and their names were recorded.

There could have been other veterans who were Hall County residents and eligible for the lottery, and their names were not recorded because they drew "blanks."

Some of these men after drawing a lot of land moved with their families to take possession of their property. Others sold the lot shortly after the lottery, and still others passed the property on to sons and daughters.

The Revolutionary veterans who were fortunate drawers in one of the Georgia Land Lotteries while living in Hall County were:
